The World supply of wool for the 1953-54 season is expected to be about the same as for 1952-53. A slight increase in world producprobably are lower. Although total stocks in the major consuming countries are up, the increase probably is somewhat less than the reduction in holdings of unsold wool in the Southern Hemisphere exporting countries.

United States production probably will be lower next year. The rate of sheep and lamb slaughter this year suggests a reduction in the number of stock sheep and in shorn wool production in 1954. If sheep and lamb slaughter declines next year as now appears, production of pulled wool also would be reduced.

World consumption of wool during the first half of this year is estimated to have been about onefifth over early 1952. After the rate of consumption reached a post-World War II low in the third quarter of 1951, it increased for successive quarters.

Highway 90

THE instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling.

Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting.

Here is that rarity of rarities-a completely new line of automobiles.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep-in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield - in the lowered roofline - in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity.

They upped all horsepowers to the highest in Buick history.

They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL - and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

BUICK the beautiful buy

They brought to market a sparkling newcomer with a famous name, the Buick CENTURY - a car with phenomenal horsepower for its weight and price - a car with more pure thrill per dollar than any Buick ever built.

And they did all this without change of the price structure which, for years, has made Buick the most popular car at its price in the world.
