LISTEN TO LUKE

Statewide politics is getting hotter by the minute. During the past two weeks there has been plenty of mud-slinging from various candidates. It sounds like some of the old Trumanism type of campaigning in which everybody who is for the other fellow is a crook.

The latest and best yet is Candidate (perennial) Ralph Yarborough. Last week he referred to Gov. Shivers as pulling a "tidelands steal" simply because Shivers fought the sox off some Washington big-wigs and Texas traitors to retain what was rightfully the property of Texas. Now if Yarborough wants to be elected governor he will have to get his votes in some other state or change his tidelands stand, because the Texas voters approved of Shivers' action in that matter.

In all the history of Texas, there has never been a governor who has a record, both political and personal, that will stand higher than that of Gov. Allan Shivers. This column has resolved, on many occasions, to refrain from comments to be construed as leaning toward politics, so we don't want our readers, if any, to infer that we are mixing into any political campaigns. It is of vital importance to Texas, however, that we keep a man of integrity and a man who will, if necessary, sacrifice his political future for principles which are right and honorable.

Shivers, along with our able Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey, and others, has lead the people of this state against such things as the tidelands steal, Communist-led unions on the Coast, Parrism and low stands on his firm beliefs in states' rights as regards the recent anti-segregation rulings by the Supreme Court in holding that segregation is a matter for the states to decide, and Federal aid to schools. He has done these things while promoting one of the best highway systems in the nation, advocating better facilities in plemesary institutions, a clean-up of the state's penal institutions and a beginning of better facilities in the institutions for the mentally ill, the state sanitariums and many other details with which the citizens and voters of Texas should be familiar.

We think that regardless of what some opponents of the incumbent state officers are saying, the records show that their actions in and out of office are to be commended and should deserve a vote of thanks and confidence in the coming election.

Since most voters make up their minds to vote one way or another by what somebody says, promises or advocates, we think we have a right to put in our two cents worth in the way of advice. We would much rather all voters would check thoroughly into all the records of actions of men, both incumbents and aspirants, and decide then how to vote.

The Little Leaguers of Sanderson are having a hard time getting the necessary workouts since only coaches are trying to coach several teams at one time. It is regrettable that there has been so little interest on the part of adults, and the results prove a handicap for the faithful coaches and the happy lads who are entering into this sport with all the enthusiasm that can well up in a little body and soul. Some day they will be the adults and we hope they will do a better part by the example of tomorrow than we are doing by them. Every boy in Sanderson deserves the attention of every adult here if that boy is to get the training that is coming to him.

And let's not hear anything about delinquency of these juveniles from anyone who is not willing to devote anything to provide wholesome amusement and recreation for a sportsman and a naturally nature in the proper

LOCAL RANCHERS, HUNTERS AGREE WITH GAME OFFICIALS IN DEER, QUAIL SEASONS

Approximately 50 ranchers and hunters were on hand at the court house Friday night of last week to hear recommendations of game officials and game department biologists concerning game laws in the Trans-Pecos area.

It was noted that the attendance at the local meeting had far outnumbered the attendance in any of the neighboring towns and the officials seemed very appreciative of the interest shown by the attendance.

Biologists Tom Moore, and P. B. Uzelle, Game Warden Supervisor A. R. Williams and Warden Ed Lacy, all representatives of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, were present to conduct the meeting.

It was the recommendation of the game department officials that deer and quail should be hunted this winter in the Trans-Pecos region, but the antelope situation is very poor and those animals, the officials feel, should be given a year of rest.

It was pointed out that the ranchers of the area, were solely responsible for the game animals and birds which the hunters sought and had been practicing good conservation methods. They could control the number of animals or birds taken off their places by controlling the number of hunters, and would probably not permit hunters, friends or lessees, if the condition and quantity of game would not warrant the efforts of the hunter.

Speaking of quail specifically, Uzelle said that predators and cold winters were far worse enemies of quail than hunters and recommended shooting the birds in areas where they are plentiful.

Moore stated that there was every indication now that deer would be more plentiful than last year, because of the recent heavy and beneficial rains.

Warden Williams went into detail to explain the reason for the recommendation to not hunt antelope this fall, but mainly, he noted, was the decrease in count, which in some areas was as high as 76 per cent.

The recommendations gathered from ranchers and hunters over the Trans-Pecos area will all be considered prior to establishing a recommendation for the Texas Game and Fish Department.

Dove did not enter into the discussions because of the fact that they are a migratory bird and controlled by the Federal game laws.

Deer season, if opened, will be from Nov. 20-25 with a limit of one buck, and quail season from Dec. 1-31 with a limit of 12 daily.

Javalina will also be hunted from Nov. 1 to Dec. 31 inclusive with a bag and possession and seasonal limit of two.

Following the discussions, two movies by the Texas Game and Fish Commission were shown: "High and Wide" a pictorial review of wildlife west of the Pecos and especially big-horned sheep in the Guadalupe Mountains, and "Master Whitetail", on the whitetail deer, its customs and habitat.

Plans have been completed for the installation of the officers of the Sanderson Lions Club and barbecue to be Friday night at the Kerr well west of town. The barbecue will begin at 7:30.

All members of the local club and their families are invited.

The officers to be installed are: Greene Cooke, president; Eddie Nations, first vice president; Marlon Batson, second vice president; W. W. Sudduth, third vice president; Ruel Adams, secretary-treasurer; Phil Cherry, lion tamer; W. F. Frazier, tail twister.

C. G. Riggins was elected as director to fill the unexpired term of C. W. Burdett.

ROY BOGUSCHES RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bogusch and sons returned home Monday from their vacation trip to Miami, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Max Bogusch of Del Rio accompanied their son and family on the trip.

After taking Mr. and Mrs. Max Bogusch home, they went to Fort Worth to visit her relatives.

Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell arrived home last week from San Antonio where she had spent several weeks.

Use of the youthful energy that stacks up in these lads.

In national politics we have a hot race brewing between Lyndon Johnson, the incumbent U. S. Senator, and Dudley T. Dougherty of Beeville.

We never were much of a hand to be "for" somebody just because he was "against" "something", but we think this case is justifiable even if we could think of no other reason to be "for" Dougherty.

We have seen Johnson change his spots so much and so frequently that we don't know whether he is showing his true colors now or not. Which reminds me of a story of a returned veteran of WW II told me about how natives of one country would wear a lapel flag of the country under whose domination they were at a particular time to be sure that they were looked upon with favor by the new conquerors. — And we are all familiar with the habits of the chameleon.

Dougherty is busy beginning a series of indictments — over 50 of them — against Johnson to which he is coming pretty close to identifying the true colors that Johnson has been masquerading under since he played and won the state open under Parr.

City-Wide Clean-Up Starts Next Monday In United Drive

Every organization in Sanderson has pledged its full support as a united front in the coming week designated as Clean-Up-Week here.

At a meeting at the Turner Hotel Monday night, C. G. Riggins, chairman of the Sanitation Committee of the Terrell County Chamber of Commerce, presided when delegates from civic clubs, women's clubs, churches and individual citizens gathered for the purpose of orienting and planning the work to be done prior to a general spraying campaign.

The need for these steps of sanitation was stressed by chairman Riggins and Dr. John E. Carter, county health officer. The health of the community depends upon the response and cooperation in this drive, Dr. Carter stated.

Area supervisors were appointed to be responsible for getting block captains to contact every resident in their block and ask their cooperation. Donations of any sum will be accepted to help defray the expenses incident to purchasing the spraying material and other incidentals.

F. M. Weigand, commissioner of Precinct 1, has promised that trucks will be available to haul all trash that will be placed in some reasonably accessible place next week. Every can, bottle, jar, lumber pile, piece of discarded furniture, weeds, grass, trash of all kinds around the premises affords a breeding place for flies and mosquitos. The spraying will not be done until there is a united effort to do away with all accumulations of trash on every vacant lot and at every residence in Sanderson. Citizens are also requested to make a check for leaks in their septic tanks or cess pools.

Monday is the day the clean-up begins and the committee will meet again that night to ascertain if any measures or suggestions are available to contribute to the success of the clean-up campaign.

AN EDITORIAL

Sanderson being situated in the very heart of the sheep country of West Texas — on a main line transcontinental railroad, should be the site for the location of the Texas A & M wool scouring and processing plant.

The plant has to be moved from the Blue Bonnet Farm near McGregor. The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association in session at Alpine last week, resolved to name a committee to investigate possibilities for locating this plant in the sheep country. Sanderson can offer the most accessible location to the most wool growers. Sanderson can offer better transportation for the processed wool to be shipped to mills. Sanderson is now progressing with a live-wire group of citizens who are awake to the needs of the community. Sanderson can and will welcome industry of any kind with a spirit of cooperation. Housing facilities here are inadequate for rapid expansion, but there can easily be housing units provided if and when the need arises.

The industrial committee of the Terrell County Chamber of Commerce is acting promptly and wisely in placing our resources at the command of the committee from the T&GRA for their consideration in making the recommendation to the proper people.

It stands to reason that the location of such a plant in West Texas will possibly draw associated industries. Water seems to be the greatest necessary natural resource involving the operation of such a plant and we have the assurance of the Community Public Service Co. that they will do all they can to procure a sufficient water supply if the assurance of the plant can be established.

The plant's location in this part of Texas will also reduce transportation costs involved in shipping wool to mills.

Sanderson and Terrell County cannot afford to let this opportunity pass without making an attempt to locate this industry here. The effort and money expended in this direction will be the best investment offered in many years.

Texas TB Association Endorses Project Of Local Organization

In a letter received this week by Mrs. H. E. Ezelle, secretary of the Terrell County Tuberculosis and Health Association, interest in the naming of Miss Antonia Cardenas as executive secretary of the group was expressed.

The letter from Miss Pansy Nichols, executive secretary of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, stated: "You are to be congratulated on the plan worked out for Miss Cardenas to serve as executive secretary. The rehabilitation of tuberculosis patients is a most important part of our program and this instance of mutual help Miss Cardenas and the Terrell County Association may be to each other is very gratifying."

Sanderson Children Could Be Victims Of Ice Box Deaths

Between January, 1948, and January, 1954, 79 small children crawled into discarded iceboxes, refrigerators or home freezers, closed the doors and died tragic deaths by suffocation. In one case, five children died in a single abandoned refrigerator.

Furthermore, the potentiality for this type of tragedy is on the increase. There are more than 50 million iceboxes, refrigerators, and freezers and other such airtight cabinets in use today. They are being discarded at the rate of two to three million a year. Once discarded, these airtight containers make inviting places for games by small children who have not been warned of the danger.

The above figures have been released by the National Safety Council in connection with the "Discarded Refrigerator and Freezer Safety Drive", which got underway this week.

Community action and city ordinance or state laws are being used to combat this hazard in many places. Parents should cooperate by warning their children of the dangers. Owners of discarded airtight boxes should cooperate by destroying them or rendering them harmless.

Unfortunately, old refrigerator hazards are numerous. Persons who purchase new refrigerators today find that many dealers, even those who have given them "trade-in" value, have no use for their old boxes. It is costly for the owner to have his box carted away. Consequently, many old refrigerators may be found today in backyards, garages, dump yards and the like.

An essential condition for a refrigerator or freezer is that it must be airtight. Once the door is closed, which automatically latches it, whatever air is inside the box will be exhausted in a relatively short time. The child cannot be seen nor his screams heard. The abandoned refrigerator becomes a death trap.

Those responsible for discarded refrigerators, in the communities where specific arrangements are not provided for hauling them away and destroying them, can render the abandoned boxes harmless in one of several ways. The door may be removed or the latch stop taken off. In cases where the old cabinet is being used for some sort of storage, holes should be drilled in the cabinet and the gasket removed.

It is better, of course, to destroy the box altogether. Above all, parents are urged to warn their children of the hazards involved in playing around these death traps. It should not be hard to persuade any parent to do this when he realizes the dreadful danger involved.

Now is the "season" for abandoned refrigerator accidents. May through September have proved to be the critical months, when children are out of school and playing outdoors. Citizens of this community are urged to give their wholehearted support to the "Discarded Refrigerator and Freezer Safety Drive", whose slogan is, "The child you save may be your own."

Lt. Walter Loomer visited here for several days last week with Miss Mary Ann Belcher. He was stationed at Laughlin AFB, in Del Rio and was enroute to Phoenix, Arizona, to continue his jet training.

Mrs. Hollis Haley and two daughters spent the week end here with Mr. Haley and relatives, returning to Del Rio Monday.

Zeke Haley of Valentine is visiting here with friends this week and with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haley.

No Sale!

Right in front of Granny White's beautiful old house on Maple Avenue there's a brand-new sign: "Antiques. Inquire Within."

Now—don't get excited. Granny explained it all the other night—after we settled down in her parlor, me with my temperate beer, Granny with her tea.

I asked her if she was really going in the antique business. "Oh, no," says Granny. "I wouldn't oof anything. I put that sign up so folks would come in and talk—and look around. If they insist on a price, I tell them some outrageous figure! I guess I just like people," she said.

From where I sit Granny can be excused for her little ruse. She may be in her eighties, but her mind is young—and open. She's the kind of person who's made this town so wonderful. Granny not only likes people—but she respects them and their preferences and opinions. Come to think of it, "liking" and "respecting" mean much the same thing, don't they?

WRITING "FOR FUN" SHE ACHIEVES FAME

By R. E. Fitz-Gibbon

Wichita, Kans.: Minnie Jane Forster, 1425 Park Place—an amateur—has finished her fourth novel and is writing another!

Two previous books—"Lost Creek" and "Was The Hill Barren?"—already are available, nationally, through book-shops; a third—"Love's Interm"—is to be serialized by regional magazines; the latest—"Ozark Fiddler"—is being offered by her writers' cooperative in San Antonio.

Minnie Jane Forster

"Writing is fun," she states, "and the good, the true and the beautiful still are basic to life in America. My characters—all normally vital and interesting—never become violent nor involved with the police. I intend to keep them that way!"

"Lost Creek," an example of her unblemished story-telling, is a romance—not a war story—of the days when Lincoln and Davis represented the North and the South of a divided Republic. Even though cannon may be heard in the distance, it is a saga of two young people who surmount almost insurmountable obstacles ultimately to find that tranquility to which all lovers should be entitled.

It begins and ends in a valley of a little stream emptying into the Neosho River in Southwestern Missouri; in the Ozarks, its humanitarian hero, later involved in the War Between the States as an aide to President Lincoln, is taken prisoner by the Confederates, eventually is released; leaves for India (thinking that his beloved has married) from whence he travels to Burma.

Meanwhile, the heroine—whose rugged and headstrong father has intercepted the "young renegade's" letters—successfully founds the school which together they had planned, and each is busily happy in his or her own remote corner of the world until thought of the other intrudes. Eventually, of course, they come together. John returns, through nostalgia, and learns the truth . . . The telling—in which there are glimpses of mountains and unforgettable characters—is so well paced that no brief review can convey its vibrant life to those who prefer wholesome reading. In it—as an enduring contribution to Americana—is implicit that understanding, that "deep and abiding faith," which marks those who themselves are "true and good and beautiful" and who understand (and, consequently, forgive) the rest of us.

In spite of her writing activity, Mrs. Forster travels widely, still finds time for church work, charities and assistance to struggling authors. Upon request, she will donate copies of her books to public and school libraries.

What Was This Call Worth?

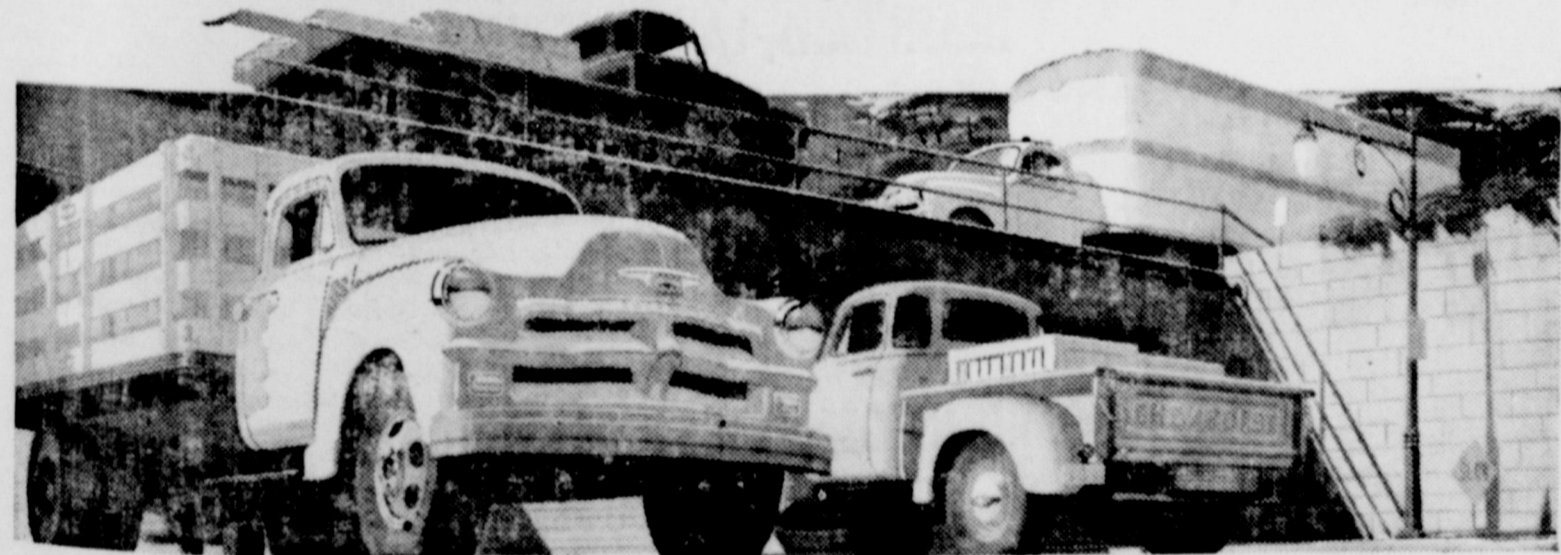

"Mommy, can I stay at grandmother's tonight?" That was little Carol's very first telephone call — a real thrill that can hardly be measured in dollars and cents. Yet, Mrs. Caroline Niemeyer, Carol's grandmother, can tell you what that call cost. She is one of a group of customers who kept day-by-day records of calls made for a week — a total of 30 calls covering 133 miles. Then she broke her telephone bill down into the actual cost per call. "I was amazed," she reported, "at how little my telephone service cost for all the convenience and happiness it delivers." SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY . . . Travel US 90 Group Urges Attendance At San Antonio Meet To Assist 4-Lane Drive

Four-laning of highway US 90 proceeds apace in Texas, according to the report of progress of the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Safetyway written by E. H. Ramsey in the May-June issue of Down South magazine published by the coast-to-coast four-lane highway proponents. Edward Ball, president of the Atlantic, Gulf & Pacific Safetyway Association and recent visitor in Del Rio writes: "If each of the communities and the individual counties and cities along the route who have not yet 4-laned through their particular communities, will take a fresh look at the situation and start talking and agitating for the completion of the 4-laning in their communities, it seems reasonable to believe that the entire route from the Atlantic Ocean along the Gulf of Mexico and out to the Pacific will be completed in a very short space of time, when not only the sightseer and the tourist may travel in comfort from the silver sands of the Atlantic to the golden sands of the Pacific, but the most important transcontinental military highway in the United States will be available in time of war for the rapid transportation of men, machines and other materials to insure the safety of our country."

Many photographs showing 4-laning in Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and California are shown in the 40-page issue of the magazine Deep South. Included are views of the 4-lane bridge over the Sabine River which is the dividing line between Texas and Louisiana and the old and new Neches River four-lane freeway between Orange and Houston, the traffic improvements made by the City of Houston to facilitate traffic in and around the South's largest city, and the thirty-three miles of four-laning on US 90A from Houston westward towards San Antonio with all the communities working energetically to push on to San Antonio.

"An expressway development inside San Antonio is in the definite planning stage with about 1 1/2 miles completed; and an excellent two-lane highway from San Antonio to the outskirts of El Paso, with a few four-lane sections in congested areas."

But as every driver knows, the San Antonio expressway leads south to Laredo and northwest to Kerrville, Junction, Sonora, Ozona, Fort Stockton, and finally joins US 80 just east of Kent and then proceeds as US 80 into El Paso and beyond. The San Antonio expressway does not take the motorist on to US 90 but onto US 290 and eventually onto US 80 after bypassing Castroville, Hondo, D'Hanis, Uvalde, Brackettville, Del Rio at the Mexican Border, Langtry, just west of the Pecos canyon, Dryden, Sanderson, Marathon, Alpine, Marfa, and all that is scenic on what we know from official Texas highway maps is the "shortest, scenic, easy way," an officer of the Travel US 90 Association declared this week.

West of San Antonio on US 290, approximately ninety miles north of relatively ice-free US 90, there are some 4-lane sections around the hills between Roosevelt and Junction. There are also a few 4-lane sections of US 90 around Dryden and just as Edward Ball says, it is up to the local communities to urge four-laning if they are to have the transcontinental Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific safetyway go their way. Lack of such local support has resulted in the Safetyway by-passing the picturesque Evan-

W. F. FRAZOR NAMED S. P. T. SUPERVISOR

W. F. (Pete) Frazor received word Wednesday of his election to a new job, supervisor of the Southern Pacific Transport. He left Thursday for San Antonio to receive training and instruction for three weeks before assuming the duties of the new job. His division will be from Uvalde to El Paso. Frazor was a T&NO brakeman for the past seven years, coming here from El Paso. The Frazors plan to remain in Sanderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Nance spent the weekend in Marfa with her sister, Mrs. W. E. DeVolin, and family.

geline country in Southern Louisiana in favor of a four-lane highway leading westward via Baton Rouge. Lack of such local support finds our four-laning proceeding on US 90A between Houston and Seguin and bypassing Columbus, Luling, and other towns on US 90. Lack of such local support will find the Safetyway proceeding westward via 290's route through the hill country and will leave this part of 90 a completely forgotten highway.

Every business and professional man and woman on US 90 from Castroville to Marfa should support the Travel US 90 Association and its program to bring the four-lane Safetyway via US 90 out of San Antonio. This participation in long range planning for our Mexican borderland and Davis Mountain-Big Bend communities cannot be delayed or left to others.

Greene Cooke, local chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee, and Earl Pierson, vice-president of the Travel US 90 Association, stated that on Sunday morning, July 11, the bi-monthly meeting of the association will be held in the offices of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce in San Antonio. A full discussion of the vital problems affecting US 90 will be the first order of business. New members and anyone desiring to know more about the work of the association will be most welcome. It is hoped that a large attendance from Terrell County will be on hand, Cooke said.
