Celebrating the 75th Anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's Invention of the Incandescent Lamp

Down through the ages, Man has ever turned to Light-for vision, for protection, for communication.

But not until Thomas A. Edison perfected the incandescent lamp in October, 1879, did Man have a truly efficient and economical source of light.

Edison's historic invention ushered in the Golden Age of Light and Electrical Living. For Edison did more than invent the incandescent lamp. He built the first central station electric system and contributed many other electrical inventions that made possible the great power systems that serve Mankind today.

So, on Light's Diamond Jubilee, we are proud to join the nation in a salute to Thomas A. Edison. His genius has powered America's progress and brought better living to us all.

Cure for Pliaht Of Area Ranchmen

By Alton Wilhite, Jr. Soil Conservation Specialist

Pounds of meat, mutton and wool, rather than the number of livestock sound the real goal of properly stocked rangeland.

Producers conscious of this are faced with poor distribution of the rainfall, drought and just plain

Many ranchmen in the district favor conservation grazing o proper stocking of their ranges, but there is a difference of opinion as to what constitutes proper stocking and to the amount of the right kinds of forage that should be left ungrazed. Some of the reasons for this difference of opinion Oran Belcher, 2 mutton lambs or attitude about the degree of

1. Lack of knowledge about the of the Joe Kerrs, Jr. grasses and other vegetation found in the district.

of cured grass in the fall at the end of the growing season and failing to consider that this amount of feed usually has to carry livestock through the winter.

3. Looking at the total volume of grass without making a distinction between the amount of good quality feed and that of poor quality.

4. Estimating the amount of grass by looking at the more favered high producing areas and not averaging the production of the entire ranch.

5. Basing the stocking rate on the average instead of the amount day and he is reported to be imof feed available and condition of proving. each pasture or range site.

6. Using the condition of livestock as the basis of judging the condition of the range. In most instances, range deterioration precedes any lowered condition of the livestock. This is particularly true dler. with sheep because of their "close red grazing is the best method of John Burchett, and family.

At the Sonora Experiment Sta tion "moderately" grazed pastures gave more pounds of meat per acre and resulted in the greatest range improvement when compared with heavily stocked grasslands. Deferred-rotation grazing, however gave even faster improvement and

About one-half of the an forage growth should be left for reproduction and maintenance. This means, leave about one and one-half to two inches of the sod grasses, two and one-half to three inches of the small bunch grasses and about five inches of the tall bunch grasses

Any rancher desiring any vegetation information or help in evaluation of his present range condition can secure this information from the local Soil Conservation District or technician.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Cor-A poration presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America-and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car-a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955-a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged-its basic idea-to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday-Oct. 29 or 30-you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea-you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.
