LISTEN TO LUKE

Halloween has come and gone... there was a minimum of vandalism reported in the town.

Usually it is easier to see what might have been done rather than to foresee the future. This column would like to make a suggestion for future Halloween's.

Every effort should be made to have the party or parties who cut in on the car and cut up a motor scooter. It is not pranksters who did that; it is vandals and they were not small children either.

Light Vote Here Opposes Four Amendments; Elects Write-In

EAGLES, WINK IN SIX TO SIX TIE

The Sanderson Eagles held their third-rank post and surprised many West Texas fans in their game with Wink Friday night of last week. The game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Both teams were said to be very stoned defensively and, with just a little break going toward the Eagles, it could have been a different ball game. Sanderson had a touchdown run called back because of a clipping infraction and a pass interference ruling decision mix-up by the officials might have put Sanderson on the top side of the score.

Higinio Pena made the touchdown run that was called back. The play originated on a kick-off with Pena as the receiver.

Sanderson tallied in the second period when Gary Harrell, half-back, went over from the 2-yard line following a 68-yard run. Wink's score came in the third period when Wilhelm bowled over from the 3-yard line to climax a 75-yard drive.

Sanderson was doggedly holding Wink on the 1-yard line when the final whistle blew.

Fans who went to Wink with the team, stated that the Eagles seemed to lack a little of the spark on their offensive plays which they had witnessed in previous games, with the possibility of the reason being that the Eagles had cool remembrance of the mighty Wink Wildcats of last year and of the decisive drubbing that were dishied out to the weaker teams of this section who went again them. They found that only a spark remained where a blazing fire had been, but were not able to capitalize on any of the breaks of the grid game.

The Eagles and local fans will turn out in force this Friday night to go to Fort Stockton to watch the Eagles play in their closest away-from-home game in district competition. The Fort Stockton Panthers have been rolling over teams thus far in their district games and will not meet their real foe — McCamey — until the final game of the season. Fort Stockton has built up higher difference in points over teams than have the Eagles in mutual foes. They will be relying on their fleet (Continued to page 4)

A very light vote was cast in Tuesday's election in Terrell County with the county vote following the trend of state-wide balloting except for the 'women voters' proposal which carried state-wide, but was disfavored locally. Also defeated locally was the proposal for four-year terms for certain county and district officials.

The state, district and county officers in the Democratic column were elected with overwhelming results.

T. H. McDonald, write-in candidate for constable of precinct 1 garnered 141 votes to 75 for the incumbent, George W. Gann.

In precinct 2, Billy Holland got 29 write-in votes to 46 for John Harrison, the incumbent.

In the constitutional amendments proposed, local voting indicated the following:

Old age assistance, for, 130; against 135.

Retirement credits, for 153; against 107.

Employee benefits, for, 140; against 115.

Confederate pension fund, for, 173; against 89.

State salaries, for 139; against 119.

Four-year terms, for 104; against 162.

SP Coaches Get New Color Scheme

Historic "pullman green" is disappearing from passenger cars on Southern Pacific. J. J. Moor, general manager, said today.

The new color scheme calls for two tones of gray, set off by lighter striping and will be the new standard for all conventional passenger equipment. It will not affect the SP streamliners such as the Sunset Limited and Sunbeam which have their own color schemes.

The "pullman green" was reportedly developed about 1885 and has been standard for most railroads for more than half a century.

Stumberg Writes Of Australian Visit

In a letter received last week by Mrs. S. L. Stumberg from her husband, he enclosed notes that he had taken during his first two weeks' visit in Australia. Stumberg is a guest of the Australian government to study sheep raising, wool and sheep marketing and related industries in that country. Five other men from ranches in the U. S., and a representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are also on the tour.

On the trip by plane to Australia from the West Coast, the party stopped in Honolulu and during the lay-over there, they had time for a brief look-around in that city.

When the plane arrived in Australia, they were met by government officials and representatives of the sheep industry and reporters and photographers from Australian newspapers. Following an extensive interview by the reporters, they were whisked away and began their tour of the "stations" (ranches), and livestock shows and industries connected with ranching.

One of the things that impressed Stumberg most about the ranches is the fact that few or practically none of the ranchmen own the country they occupy rather they rent it from the government at a very low rental rate compared with the price of land in the U. S. Most of the rentals are renewed every seven years and rentals usually run for 28 years. The land generally carries 5 or 6 sheep per acre and 14 acres and rent for from 3c to 10c per acre, he said.

Merino sheep are a popular breed in Australia and the breed that is probably best known in this country. He mentioned some Southdowns, Lincoln and Polworth breeds.

At the "stations" Stumberg visited, it was not uncommon to find from 12,000 to 70,000 sheep and from 300 to 700 cattle. Very high prices are paid for stud sows, he reported.

Most of the roads away from the cities are dirt roads, not too well-improved and the rides between the "stations" were often very dusty and hot. He reported seeing some kangaroos in his first few days there.

Visiting the "stations" in the day time and being entertained by dignitaries of the various towns they visited at night had kept the party so busy at the time of the letter that they had not been in a town or area long enough to have any laundry or cleaning done and all of the party, it was reported, were down to their last decent garments, and even they weren't clean.

Stumberg was amazed at the accommodations available in the best hotels in Australian towns and cities. He said that he had not had a room with a private bath since he had been in that country. The bath was located usually at the end of the hall on each floor for the use of occupants of that floor, and he stated that at times the patrons were obliged to use a "Chick Sale" in the rear of the building. He said that running water in houses was a little more than uncommon and

Armando Aliberti

In his fourth Wagner Opera tour, Vienna-born Armando Aliberti is conductor for "Madame Butterfly" to be presented in Alpine November 9 at the Sul Ross Auditorium.

At the last moment it was found that the entire troupe of the Wagner Grand Opera Company, fifty singers and twenty-five musicians, could be brought to Sul Ross to present "Madame Butterfly."

This is the first time Grand Opera is being presented in English.

West Texas music lovers are extremely fortunate in having this opportunity come our way. Sul Ross College has gone to tremendous task in this undertaking and all local clubs are urged to assist in this venture. Only downstairs tickets are available and are priced at $2.00. Dr. Virginia Link of Sul Ross College is chairman of arrangements.

that a drink of water in public eating places was practically impossible. He stated that he had drunk plenty of tea since he had been there.

One evening while in Sydney, the group of Australian visitors were entertained by the Prime Minister of Australia, the U. S. Ambassador and members of the houses of Parliament. He stated that they were all asked to make speeches at every meeting they had attended and that he had made one speech over the Australian Broadcasting Corporation, the radio network of that continent.

The group all reported the best type of cordiality had been exemplified by the people of that country—ranchmen, business men and government officials alike, and while they were enjoying their trip and visit, they still liked their own country best.

Stumberg expects to arrive home about November 15.

TURKEY SHOOT . . .

The turkey's head and three shot or one turkey for $2.

At the range this year a table will be set up to accommodate all the guns that shooters bring for their own use. This precaution is being taken to possibly prevent a very serious accident. The high-powered rifle that most of the shooters use could cause serious effects if an accident occurred and the firemen are trying to prevent the possibility of such an occurrence.

All shooters this year are asked to bring their rifles directly to the table furnished as soon as they take the rifle out of their car. If they desire, they may stand at the table with their rifle until it becomes their turn to shoot.

The firemen are asking the cooperation of the shooters in this respect this year not because of the past carelessness on the part of any one, but in order to prevent anyone being careless in any way.

W. W. Sudduth, fire chief, stated that the shoot was held annually for a fund-raising venture for the firemen, as well as to furnish the sport for local nimrods, but added that an accident could prevent the staging of any future shooting events and certainly be serious to one who might be a victim of such an accident.

Every precaution will be taken to protect the spectators and marksmen and the cooperation of all is sincerely sought. Parents of small children are asked to prevent their children from nearing the firing line, thus exposing them to possible injury and interfering with those who happen to be shooting at the time.

POWER COMPANY WINS NATIONAL SAFE DRIVING AWARD—The fleet of Community Public Service Company won first place in the National Safety Council's 1953-'54 fleet safety contest (Public Utilities Division, Group II) and were honored by NSC in ceremonies at the La Salle Hotel in Chicago October 21. W. J. Millican of Fort Worth, safety director for Community, is shown here (at right) receiving the trophy from M. A. Kraft, chairman of the NSC Traffic and Transportation Committee. Local personnel of the power company helped win the honor by contributing to the CPS fleet's fine safe driving record.

CPS Wins Fleet Safety Driving Award

The fleet of Community Public Service Company was honored by the National Safety Council at ceremonies in the La Salle Hotel in Chicago October 21 as winner of first place in the Public Utilities Division (Group II) of the Council's 1953-'54 National Fleet Safety Contest.

It was the second consecutive year that Community has carried off this coveted honor. In October 1949, and October 1950, the power firm was awarded first place in this contest for the Public Utilities Division, Group I. The "group" is determined by total number of miles driven by company trucks and pickups.

More than 1,400 fleets, operating more than 256,000 vehicles and traveling over three billion miles and representing all types of bus, taxicab, truck and passenger car fleets, competed in the NSC contest.

Community Public Service operated a total of 165 vehicles (pickups and trucks) for a total of 1,979,177 miles during the contest period and held their accident rate to only .404 accidents per 100,000 miles.

Following are safety driving records of Fort Stockton employees of the company who helped in making this record possible: Powell Hodges, 16 years of driving without an accident, with 171,762 miles covered; J. G. Walker, 14 years without an accident, 113,366 miles driven.

backfielders to carry the mail for them, not having shown much in the way of pass offensive.

The relations between the Sanderson and Fort Stockton teams has always been a very clean type of rivalry, with the Stocktonites looking to Sanderson rather like scuffling a bothersome little brother away from more grown-up activities. The two teams have always played good, clean, hard football against each other and local fans are anticipating a good exhibition of the grid sport.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Maples and children visited in Lubbock last week end with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Batson and family. The Batsons, former Sanderson residents, are parents of a baby girl, Patsy Ann, born on October 2.

SANDERSON STATE BANK PRESENTS INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT TEXAS

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN
In 1820 the dying request of Mose Austin was that his son, Stephen F. Austin, carry out his plans for establishing a Texas Colony. In 1821, at Columbus on the Colorado and Washington-on-the-Brazos, the first settlements were made. Austin's first grant was for 300 families — known as "the First Three Hundred," and having a place in Texas history somewhat similar to that of the Jamestown and Plymouth settlers in the United States. Among these first families were many who were later prominent in Texas history.
