Lions Plan Party For Local Kids With Santa Claus' Visit

The annual Christmas party for small children of the community is being planned again this year by the Sanderson Lions Club. The party is planned for the week of December 20, prior to the dismissal of school for the Christmas holidays.

Containers have been put out in many local businesses to receive contributions by local citizens to help defray expenses of the party.

Santa will make his annual visit to Sanderson on that day and will visit with the children who are invited to come to the party. The party is planned every year for the pre-school child and other small children of the county who place all of their hopes for reward for their actions throughout the year in Santa Claus.

Older children of the county are invited to the party, but are asked to please permit the smaller children to go through the line first. The Lions are planning to have Santa Claus give away a bag of fruit, candy and nuts to all of the children of this age group in the county who attend the party.

Your contributions to the Christmas party fund will be appreciated by the sponsoring club and by the children of the county who enjoy the opportunity to visit with Santa Claus and give him their list of wants for Christmas.

Approximately 600 bags of delicacies are handed out by Santa Claus and his Lions Club helpers each year.

The party will be on the corner by the Turner Hotel and Santa is expected to arrive about 3 o'clock.

The exact details of the party will be announced later.

Passenger Conductor Retires After 56 Years Service With T&NO

Clay T. Garner, who celebrated his 70th birthday on November 6, took his retirement from the T&NO Railroad employment after serving with that company since April 16, 1898.

Mr. Garner was born in Del Rio and lived there for 50 years. He and his family moved to San Antonio 20 years ago and have lived there since that time. He has been running into Sanderson for the past 51 years.

Clay, as he is called by his many friends here, has some interesting memories of incidents in early railroading between here and Del Rio and later from San Antonio to Sanderson since he went on a passenger run. He has made friends with all whom he has contacted. His smiling, pleasant manner will continue to win the friendship of many as long as he lives. Friends here have contributed to a fund to give Clay a nice set of luggage for his retirement.

Garner made his last run from Sanderson on No. 6 Sunday morning. A large group of citizens was on hand to see the veteran conductor board his train for the last run on duty.

In talking to The Times staff, Mr. Garner asked that we express his sincere thanks to all his friends here and at El Paso, Del Rio and San Antonio for their beautiful gifts to him and more than all else for their friendship over the years. He said he wanted us to print his address and telephone number in this story so that any one who may be in San Antonio would call him or better still come by and visit with him. His address is 821 Chicago Blvd., San Antonio; and his telephone is LEhigh 3-5341.

Mr. and Mrs. Garner live alone at the above address. They have two sons, Clay, T. Jr., of San Antonio; and Robert L. Garner of Albuquerque, N. M.

Mr. Garner started working for the T&NO as a messenger boy before he went into road service.

Dr. Kincannon Heads Texas Council of Royal, Select Masters

Dr. J. L. Kincannon, optometrist of Fort Stockton and formerly in business in Sanderson, this week was named Most Illustrious Grand Master of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of Texas.

Dr. Kincannon, long active in the affairs of the Masonic Lodge, has progressed through the elective offices of the Grand Council to the highest office in that particular branch of Masonry.

He became a Master Mason in 1927, being raised as a member of Covenant Lodge No. 1178 in El Paso. He transferred his membership to Pecos Lodge No. 736, AF&AM, in 1933 and took dual membership in Fort Stockton Lodge No. 1022 in 1950.

He was Worshipful Master of the Pecos Lodge in 1943-44 and served as Grand High Priest of Pecos Chapter No. 218 and Thrice Illustrious Master of Pecos Council No. 154. He was elected Commander of the Monahans Commandry No. 102 in 1949, and for the last 12 years has held a certificate for proficiency in instructing in Masonic work.

In 1949 Dr. Kincannon was elected to receive the York Cross of Honor at the Grand Commandry, El Paso meeting. He was appointed for life as Grand Representative of the State of New Mexico near the Grand Council of Texas, and also was appointed Grand Representative of the Grand Royal Arch Chapters of New Brunswick, Canada, near the Grand Council of Texas.

Dr. Thomas Brewster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Fort Stockton, was appointed as Grand Chaplain of the Royal and Select Master body in Texas by Kincannon.

Both were installed at the annual meeting of the organization in Waco this week.

SENIORS READY TO PRESENT PLAY NEXT THURSDAY

Tickets went on sale Monday for the senior play, "Backwoods Romeo" to be presented in the high school auditorium on Thursday evening, December 9.

The comedy in three acts is being directed by Mrs. W. H. Savage.

There are three male and seven female characters in the play and four female furniture movers.

Stanley Sullivan plays the part of the "backwoods Romeo", Romeo Montague, a young man of 21 who has never seen nor talked to a girl.

After the death of his parents, when he was a small child, Romeo's uncle, a scientist, took him into the wilds of Canada, where he reared and educated the boy.

Two young Americans on a hunting trip to Canada, ran across Romeo just after his uncle's death and invited him to visit them in the States. Many young ladies suddenly come into his life after his arrival in the McNeil household for a visit, and problems arise which leave an air of mystery and hilarious moments for the audience.

The admission price for adult tickets will be 60 cents and 30 cents for children.

Wide Screen Gets Approval of Public At Princess Theatre

The installation of the new wide screen at the Princess Theatre has been given wide public approval, according to Carlton White, manager of the local theatre. He stated that the theatre-goers of the area had praised the new pictures highly and have made him feel that his efforts and expense in the installation of the wide-screen feature were justified.

The complete renovation of the local movie house included refinishing the seats, changing of the concession stand in the lobby, the installation of rest rooms and an office for the management, plus the installation of the new screen.

Most of the acclaim for the new screen, according to White, is because the larger screen makes possible a much more distinct picture, and, in films that are shown in technicolor which feature the scenic beauty of many parts of the world, the theatre-goer is given a much clearer and more distinct view of the background as well as a larger portrayal of the principal points of interest in each frame which makes for more enjoyable viewing of the picture.

White stated that he was glad to be able to bring to the people of the area this improvement and would install CinemaScope facilities and Vista-Vue facilities soon after the first of the year to bring to theatre audiences the very latest in movie projection techniques.

He added that his expenditure in the improvements was an expression of faith in the future theatre business in this area and that the patronage of his movie-house by the people of the area over the many years he has managed the business has been responsible for this expression of his faith in the future.

Winter Weather Pays Brief Visit

Winter weather visited Terrell County the middle of the week when heavy overcast skies and a cold wind blew in from the north. No moisture accompanied the disagreeable weather.

Heavy dew was noticeable on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings accompanied by heavy fog which the sun penetrated about the middle of the morning.

The forecast for the weather is colder, but very little promise is offered for any moisture.

Thursday morning dawned cold but clear with the temperature ranging in the low 40s Wednesday night.

The cold-front that was predicted for West Texas failed to cover this particular area.

Three Prizes Offered For House Lighting In Yule Holidays

The Sanderson Garden Club is sponsoring a Christmas lighting contest again this year.

Prizes are to be awarded for three groups — the best yard, the best window and the best door. Judging will be on Saturday evening, December 18.

It is not necessary that a lot of money be spent for elaborate decorations to enter the contest. Originality of design, color, adaptability and many features will enter into the judges' decision and consideration. Many local residents participated in the contest last year and it is hoped that many more will provide decorations for the contest this year.

The beautiful Christmas decorations in homes, yards, doors and windows add much to the beauty of the community at the Yule season as well as emphasizing the spirit of Christmas.

Football Banquet To Honor Eagles Monday Night

The 1954 Sanderson High School Eagles and their coaches will be the honored guests at the football banquet Monday night to be given by the local Lions Club. Mike Brumalow, athletic director of Texas Western College, will be the principal speaker. This is the third year for the local club to ask Mr. Brumalow to address the group and he has won popular acclaim from the club members for his sincerity and the message he gives to the boys.

The banquet will be served in the band hall.

One of the highlights of the annual football banquet is the presentation of the "most valuable player" award to the squad member chosen by the players. The trophy is a gift of the Lions Club and will be presented by Coach Carlton Smith.

THE EISENHOWER WAY

For nearly two years the men who constitute the financial brains of the Eisenhower Administration have been wrestling with vital problems affecting the present and future economic welfare of our 165,000,000 American citizens. The experience has strengthened in their minds the conviction that the greatest measure of economic well-being for all the people will be achieved through the wholesome, normal growth of America's production facilities within the framework of the private enterprise system. This is the essence of the report given to me in person by Marion B. Folsom, Under Secretary of the U. S. Treasury and one of the key members of the President's cabinet-rank financial "team."

The U. S. Government's important function in shaping the nation's economic welfare is, in the view of Under-Secretary Folsom, two-fold: (1) the creation of a stimulating "climate" in which industry and business will make new investments creating more and better jobs and new wealth and, incidentally, a broader tax base; and (2) the establishment of governmental policies, including tax reforms, which will make it possible for Tom, Dick and Harry consumers of the nation to provide a spending impetus challenging to the competitive spirit and ingenuity of American producers.

How It Works

As he sketched in the details of this fundamental economic philosophy of the Eisenhower team, and noted how it has worked in the first two years, we sat in the old Treasury building across from the White House. Ornately framed portraits of William Crawford of Georgia, Secretary of the Treasury in 1816, and Ogden Mills of New York, Secretary in 1932, looked down soberly on Mr. Folsom's broad walnut desk.

How has it worked? "In the third quarter of this year (July, August and September)," Mr. Folsom said, "the nation experienced the largest personal expenditures in history. More people spent more money than ever before, and living costs leveled off. Both of these factors benefited the people; they had more money to spend, and the dollar, plagued so long with inflation, was becoming stabilized in its worth."

Improving Welfare

Added to this improving picture was the whopping $365-billion national product, the continuing expansion of production facilities in industry and business, steadily increasing wage rates, and believe it or not, a decrease in the expenses of government — permitting the first tax cut in years. It seemed to me, as I told Mr. Folsom, that all this was on the good side of the ledger. But now about the national debt I, for one, had been disturbed by the Administration's failure to balance to balance the budget.

Here's the way Mr. Folsom explained this failure: The No. 1 problem was to avert a depression as the nation cut down its huge expenditures and switched from a predominantly war economy to a peace-time economy. There were predictions of a depression by expert economists, and in fact the first symptoms of recession actually appeared. With the large cuts in spending, it was both feasible and prudent to proceed with tax cuts. These tax reductions increased the capacity of individuals to spend, save or invest and enabled business enterprises to increase their expenditures on modern plans and equipment and develop new and better products.

Balanced Budget Promised

"We couldn't reduce taxes and at the same time eliminate a $9.4-billion deficit in the last Truman year," Mr. Folsom said. "A very rapid drop in expenditures without tax reduction would have caused too great a dislocation in the economy which was artificially supported by very heavy Government spending. We cut Government expenses and began to trim down the budget deficit; then we put more dollars in the hands of the public by cutting taxes. Inflation began to taper off, the dislocations of production and employment were cushioned, and we're beginning now to see a stable and healthy economic situation."

"Tax reductions this year totaled $7.4-billion, the greatest dollar reduction in any one year in this country's history. At the same time, the size of the deficit has been greatly reduced. With the nation's economy healthy, and standing more and more on its own feet we certainly are sticking to our goal of a balanced budget, and are continuing to work for it. We look forward to a growing national income, which will improve the general welfare for everyone, the Government included."

The flags of the three countries India, Pakistan and Ceylon, were displayed on the corner of the altar which had a large world map and burning white tapers in the background and an open Bible in the foreground.

Going—Going— But Not Gone!

Saturday they got set to auction off "Sis" Brown's house for non-payment of taxes. Buck Stone was the auctioneer. Everybody who came to the auction knew that "Sis" is a war widow.

When Buck began the bidding he said, "Anybody can bid. Just remember 'Sis' and three nice kids live here. Now who's going to start the bidding?"

There was silence. "Sis," standing in back, got the point. She reached into her purse for just about all the money she had in the world. "I'll bid $75," she said.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT TEXAS

TEXAS RANGERS

The Texas Rangers have played an effective, valiant and honorable role throughout the early years of conflict within its borders. Stephen F. Austin employed them as early as 1823 to protect frontier colonies against the Indians. Each Ranger provides himself with a good horse, a rifle and a brace of pistols. One of the most celebrated exploits came in 1871, with the killing of Sam Bass and his robber band at Round Rock. The Texas Rangers of today are charged with the enforcement of laws governing major crimes.
