I hardly know who is worse for wear -- John Glenn or the millions who watched his history-making whirls around the globe Tuesday.

I for one, was a nervous wreck before he was plucked from the sea. After he was jerked from the launching pad and started his tour, I thought that I could forget him for a short time and get a little writing completed for this issue. I was wrong.

Every time I started to pound out a few words, I caught myself taking dictation from the announcer on the radio in the office. (I could have turned off the radio but then I wouldn't have known what was happening.) I finally had to give up until Glenn was back from the outer reaches.

Glenn may have thought he was alone up there in that small cone but he was not. The hearts, hopes, prayers and good wishes of almost every man, woman and child in America, the free world and a portion of the communist section (from all indications) rode with him. And a sigh of relief could probably have been heard as high as his orbital path of 100 to 160 miles above the earth when the news of his recovery was flashed around the world.

Regardless of what any man says, Glenn is one exceptional person. Training can't give a man control of his nerves, fears and voice when coming under new and awesome experiences. I can visualize a man doing such a job and doing it well but I cannot feature anyone being free of a nagging doubt as to his chances of living through the flight. If Glenn had doubts, they didn't show.

It appears as though we may have a group interested in learning a little of the Spanish language organized and underway.

I was very pleased to have 16 people appear at the meeting room in the hospital Sunday afternoon. If there are others who would like to come down and mix in, now is the time to start. We will meet every Sunday at 4:30 p.m. and try to get away in plenty of time for church services.

The highest price you can pay is a little time and study. There is no charge for participation. There is a book that could be bought to make things easier but I will endeavor to impart all that I can without making the book an absolute necessity.

Students at the school are going through that period again. It is time for second six weeks tests. And as usual, some of the students are not too happy.

For one thing, social activities are cut to a minimum or cancelled completely.

But, without tests, even the student couldn't tell how much he had learned.

I would like to remind readers again that I WILL NOT publish a letter if it is not signed.

I received a short note this week which was signed "Disgusted fan." As for the contents of the letter, I could easily publish it. But I might not be so fortunate next time so I simply will not start the practice.

Besides, I don't think there is any grounds for the contents of the letter. It said that one of our coaches planned to leave the school this year.

No such announcement has been made at present and the coach is not ready to confirm the statement.

I will venture to say that this has been the quietest week which I have experienced in Friona. I have seen some weeks when I didn't think there was enough going on to fill up one page, but I always seemed to have something turn up at the last moment. Not so this week.

Everyone seems to be spending a week relaxing. Maybe I should do the same.

Frionans Roll II For Better Living

Since the origin of the printed word, and possibly before that time, various numbers have been given more significance than others. This has been the basis of many superstitions and has caused much study and comment.

Any student of the Bible knows that numbers are very important in different scriptures. The number seven is used many times in the scripture to denote completeness, such as seven days make a full week.

The number thirteen has long been considered very unlucky number and somewhere down the line Friday was added to it. Hence, Friday the thirteenth was considered very unlucky.

Possibly the number eleven gained its popularity with the advent of rollicking dominoes.

Even though a lot of Frionans probably don't roll dice, the number plays an important part in their lives.

In fact, anyone living here can almost eliminate using the telephone directory by remembering this number and two other digits.

In fact, anyone living here can secure just about any necessity of life or death without the aid of a telephone directory by remembering this number and two other digits.

Suppose, for example, you are hungry. All you need do is dial 2111 and someone from Johnson's Corner Grocery will deliver food to you. If you are ill or get hurt and need a doctor, you can call 42 or 94 and add the magic 11 to either one. Soon Dr. Paul Spring or Dr. Lee

Spring, depending upon the first two digits you dial, will soon be on hand to administer medical aid.

If you want to get married and need the services of a minister, you can dial 4711 and contact Paul Smith. On the other hand if you are considering a divorce, you can deduct the seven from this sequence of numbers and secure the services of Bill Sheehan, an attorney, whose number is 4011.

Any rural resident who gets up on a below zero snowy morning and finds he doesn't have any heat in his house can dial 8211 and soon a Balmum Butane truck will be on its way to fill the tank. Then if he can't get his car started, he can dial

Burglars Return To Crime Scene

It is said that a criminal always returns to the scene of his crime. In Parmer County, the old adage seems to be the rule rather than the exception. Burglars broke into Helton Oil Company in Farwell last Thursday night for the second time in less than a month. But they didn't get away with anything.

They gained entrance to the yard by cutting the two strands of barbed wire at the top of the storm fence and using an oil drum and chair to climb over the fence.

Ten truck tires were then rolled out of a small shed at the north end of the yard and placed near the east fence. The thieves then cut some six feet of storm fence and opened up an exit large enough to drive through.

What happened next is pure guesswork but it is thought that the thieves were either scared off or were unable to steal suitable transportation in time.

A short time back, Grady Dodd's warehouse in Friona was burglarized for the second time last year. Sizeable hauls were

District Judge E. A. Bills confirmed his schedule for the trial early this week and the jury panel was notified. Forty-eight residents have been called for prospective jury duty.

In addition, Judge Bills will appoint a jury commission for the purpose of selecting a new grand jury and jury panel for the next court term. The new term will start March 5 and continue until Sept. 3.

The commission will consist of from three to five members and will present the judge with a new grand jury and petit jury panel.

Political Candidates Visit County Gas Users Meeting

Parmer County Gas Users held a review of the growth, purpose and accomplishments of the organization Monday night in the Friona School Cafeteria.

W. T. "Bill" Millen, candidate for state representative, and Andy Rogers, state senator, were also present at the meeting.

Although several of the men present had worked to secure passage of gas legislation during the past session, a considerable amount of discussion was devoted to the subject.

Bruce Parr opened the meeting and gave a sketch of the organization's history. John Aikin, attorney for the group, discussed the legislative efforts of the association. Senator Rogers, one of the sponsors of the gas bill during the special session, gave a short address at the close of the meeting.

"You have been taught to believe that right will win. I don't agree entirely and after the show some of you went through in Austin, I don't see how you can," Rogers began.

Local Reaction Calm After Orbit Success

Friona residents, like those of the rest of the nation, sat glued to television sets or radios for five tension filled hours Tuesday while America's John Glenn calmly whirled around the globe three times.

Local reactions to the space feat were almost identical. D. C. Herring about summed up the feelings of Frionans in his statement: "I think it will ease things a little and give the United States a little more prestige. I am sure glad he made it okay."

More residents seemed to be of the opinion that the orbit should straighten out a lot of countries who were doubtful of our ability to send a man up and return him safely.

"I think we are definitely in a space race and the shot was a big step in the right direction," Harold Lillard commented.

Teenagers and adults alike agreed that "blastoff" was the most tense moment of the flight. Several persons also indicated that their hearts began to pound during the landing period.

Most everyone agreed that the flight was worth the slightly over $2 per person in the United States which the project cost. Walter Cunningham wondered (jokingly) why he couldn't get a ticket also for his $2 and go along on the trip.

John Glenn seems to have just a little more of what it takes than most of us do," Mrs. Harold Lillard summed up the opinions of Glenn. "Of course, he has had three years of training for just this job," she added.

No person indicated any sincere wish to trade places with the space pilot.

The operation was broadcast through the intercom at the schools for the classes where teachers approved. A few teachers used the event in conjunction with lessons.

Stolen Auto Stopped Here

Ed Duke, Friona policeman, intercepted a stolen automobile at 12:05 a.m. Saturday after receiving a radio bulletin less than an hour before.

The car was reported stolen from Canyon. Dempsey Sanders, 38, of Roswell, was driving the vehicle according to officials.

Sanders was returned to Canyon Saturday.

Millen States Platform For Representative Race

W. T. "Bill" Millen announced to the Star this week his candidacy for Representative of the 91st District of Texas on the Democratic ticket.

Millen was raised in the Muleshoe area, graduated from Clovis High School and has been a Bailey County farmer since 1934. He is active in many local farm organizations and has actively participated in such controversial issues as the defense of the bracero program by the Plains Cotton Growers. He now serves as legislative director of this association and has made several trips to Washington, California, Kansas City and across Texas in this capacity.

Millen's statement read: To the people of the 91st District: "I am soliciting your vote for State Representative of the District as I feel that it would be an honor and a privilege to represent the people of this area with the purpose in mind to work for honest, integrity and economy in government.

"For many years I have spent much time and money working with various farm groups for a better agricultural climate for our area.

"Serving in many capacities in these farm groups has, I feel, qualified me to represent you as a man of the people. Among the area organizations which I have had a part in promoting are: The High Plains Water Conservation District, The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, the Plains Cotton Growers, the West Texas Agricultural Employer's Group and I now serve as director of the Plains Cotton Co-operative Association, the South Plains Soil Fertility Committee, and the

Farmers Investigate Gin Possibilities

A second meeting of area farmers to investigate the possibility of starting a new Co-op Gin for this area is set for tonight at 8 p.m. in the Friona School cafeteria.

Approximately 2500 acres of cotton committed toward the establishment of a new Co-op Gin at a meeting in the Black Community Center Feb. 12.

A minimum of 5,000 acres are needed to support the project, Charles Myers reports. Location of the gin has not been established at present.

"We will put it where it will do the most good," Myers said,

"From present indications, it appears as though it will be installed near Friona," he added.

The proposed plant has a capacity of 16 bales per hour and is equipped with dual suction for each trailer. Twin lines lead to the feeder where it reduces to a single stand.

A guarantee of at least 5,000 bales per year will be needed to make the project worthwhile.

Cost of purchasing the gin and putting it in operation is anticipated to be near $250,000.

Coffee and cake will be served at the meeting tonight.

Editorial Comment:

-Tied Hands-

Law officers in the Panhandle are not getting the cooperation from the merchants and citizens which should be their due.

Within the past year, there have been a number of tire thefts within a 90 mile radius of Friona. Three of the burglaries have been in Friona. The latest theft occurred in Tulsa last week.

But, even if the officers locate a few of the tires and can trace them back to the thieves, they cannot prove that they were stolen or that the tires were part of the loot from any one burglary.

Therefore, there is no way that officers can obtain enough evidence in connection with the burglaries to make an arrest unless they are fortunate enough to catch the burglars in the act--which is very unlikely. Very few, if any, of the serial numbers of the tires are kept by a dealer. No special markings are stamped on the tires. Hence, after a wash job, the tires are no different than a thousand other tires on the road.

Even when a passerby sees something which does not appear to be on the up and up, he will usually go on about his business and never give a thought about reporting it to an officer. Then, if he later hears that the place was robbed, the general reaction is to shrug the shoulders and mumble, "Too bad. Has the sheriff caught them yet?"

The answer is, "NO." The sheriff has not caught them yet and he has very little chance of doing so until the residents realize that casting their vote for the sheriff does not take all the responsibility from their shoulders.

Each shipment of tires should be marked with a special mark. The mark should be small enough not to be too noticeable, but permanent enough not to be removed without leaving tell-tale marks and distinctive enough to identify the dealer. Citizens should call the local officers when they suspect illegal proceedings. If it turns out that nothing is wrong, the officer won't be too angry. In fact, most will be very grateful that someone is concerned enough to notify him when something looks out of line.

The duty of every individual in this country is to assist the duly elected officers in any way necessary for the preservation of law and order.

It is the duty of every law officer to take that action necessary to protect the lives and property of the citizens and maintain law, order, and peace in the community.

Let us all work together and stop crime in Parmer County--and elsewhere.

Bailey County Farm Bureau. Along with others, I have spent much time and money promoting legislation at Austin for the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association and I am a member of the founders committee of the Cotton Producer's Institute. "My years of experience as a farm leader have seen into being such programs for the good of Bailey County as the Good Neighbor Cotton Seed Program in which irrigation farmers gave cotton seed to dry land farmers who had been hard hit by drought.

"I have fought for the farmers on numerous occasions for a better FHA program with lower interest rates and have fought much bad legislation in Austin. "In listing these activities, I hope I have not seemed boastful. It seemed to me in each case that a job needed to be done with few people to take the time to do it. I have accepted these duties, usually resulting in much loss of personal time and money.

"To represent you in Austin, would probably again mean financial losses to me, personally. But I feel a dedication to the proposition that we must have men in government that will vote for what is right and good for our country, with the interest of future generations at heart, instead of political expedience to further their own selfish ambitions and moral degeneration--a condition I see so

He was referring to a previous statement that right would win out despite strong financial power of opposing elements.

"I didn't expect that we would come as close to succeeding with the bill (Senate bill 39) as we did because of the limited time," Rogers commented. "The fact that we did come close is evidence of the quality and work of the people who came in support of the bill," he added.

He also stated that the methods used to kill the bill were not new and had been used many times.

1. Correction of the irregularities in the new sales tax law.
 2. I believe that the Ad Valorem Tax should be abolished or turned over to the towns or commissioners courts.
 3. Work for a fair deal for the farmer Irrigation Natural Gas Users. (In which they would have the same privilege as the towns and villages.)

Something To Think About

6th. Street Church of Christ
Box 515 -- Friona, Texas

Albert Schweitzer, famed medical missionary, urged that we "Create for yourselves an auxiliary task, a simple end, if possible, a secret one. Open your eyes and try to see where a man needs a little time, a little sympathy, a little company, a little card. Perhaps he is a solitary, an embittered, a sick and awkward man, to whom you can mean something. Perhaps he is an old man, perhaps a child. Who can enumerate all the possible uses of the valuable operation called man? He is needed in all parts. Therefore, seek you for an opportunity to set your humanity to work. Do not avoid the auxiliary task in which you give yourself as man to another man. One is surely destined for you if you but really want it." Too many people lose the real joy of life, and miss the real purpose of life, when they strive only to do something "big" and in that striving pass up the multitude of opportunities to perform the "little" services that make life worthwhile. Our Lord stated it like this, "For I was hungry, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger and ye took me in; Naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me." These were the things that led to an inheritance of the kingdom. "Lord help us to live from day to day in such a self-forgetful way, that when we kneel to pray, our prayer will be for others."

Come To Church Sunday

"Living on Two Levels"

We are dual creatures--curious, complex combinations of the spiritual and the physical. We have all the appetites, passions and characteristics of others of God's creation, but we also have God-like, spiritual attributes. If we ignore either plane of this existence, disaster will be the result. We need to harmonize our lives by paying proper attention to both planes of our existence.

One who makes little effort to develop his spiritual capacity and is content to live on the level of his physical urges - food, sex, riches, pride and power - will find himself increasingly unhappy, even though he attains full gratification of these appetites.

The Scripture tells us that we have the capacity to become the sons of God, that we are made in the image of God, and that our very natures strive for the perfection of Heaven itself.

"As the heart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God." (Psalm 42:1)

Require Income Tax On Home Sale Profit

If you sold a personal residence during 1961, then you'll want to hear what Internal Revenue Service has to say about its tax angles. John J. Sloan, Administrative Officer, IRS, Lubbock, Texas is doing the talking.
The general rule, he explained, is that any profit from the sale of your home, or any other personally owned item of property such as an automobile, furniture, securities or real estate, is subject to tax.
On the other hand, the IRS representative said, federal tax law does not permit a deduction for the loss from the sale of a home or other personal asset which was not held for the purpose of producing income.
He added:
"There is a special rule which allows you to defer paying a tax if you sell your personal residence at a gain and, within either one year before or one year after the sale, you buy and occupy another residence costing as much or more than the adjusted sales price of your old residence."
"The same rule applies, if instead of buying, you begin construction of a new home within one year before or within one year after the sale of the old residence and occupy it within 18 months after the sale."
"If the adjusted sales price of your old residence exceeds the cost of your new residence, the gain on the sale is taxable to the extent of the excess. For example, if you paid $10,000 for your old residence, sold it for $15,000 and invested only $13,000 in a new one, you would pay tax on a gain of $2,000 ($15,000 minus $13,000)."
"The adjusted sales price if computed by deducting any sales expenses or commissions and any expense of redecorating and fixing-up the property for sale. The work of redecorating and fixing-up must be done within the 90-day period before the house is sold, and must be paid for within 30 days after the date of the sale," he advised.
Taxpayers with questions on this tax subject, or any other, may telephone the IRS office.

Top Dress Wheat NOW

... the easiest possible way with

SPENCER URA-GREEN Nitrogen Solution:

This wheat grower is applying nitrogen the fastest, easiest way yet—with Spencer URA-GREEN solution.

Why It Pays To Top Dress Wheat Early:

Wheat craves a fresh nitrogen supply to resume growth as soon as the young plants awaken from winter dormancy. This is the crucial stage at which the nitrogen URA-GREEN gives is converted into extra bushel-building power.

Wheat responds more profitably to fertilizer than virtually any other crop, according to leading agronomists. That's why it's important to apply URA-GREEN early for a fast spring come-back and a nitrogen growth-boost that lasts clear through to harvest. A Spencer URA-GREEN top-dressing now will pay off in a bonus yield that can easily average 10 extra bushels an acre!

Why It Pays To Do It With SPENCER URA-GREEN:

One application lasts all through the growing season when you rely on URA-GREEN's special blend of all three nitrogen forms. URA-GREEN combines: (1) quick-acting nitrate nitrogen for a fast start, (2) ammonia nitrogen for lasting nourishment, and (3) urea nitrogen that clings to the soil to resist leaching. It's the perfect blend of nitrogen grow-power.

George W. Maxey said, "Society profits from every useful invention and from all the beneficent creative activities of individuals. The more good things others produce the more there is for us to share."

The world profited more from Christopher Columbus' discovery than he did. The world has profited more from the inventions of Thomas A. Edison than he did. We are all beneficiaries of the achievements of the creative and business genius or talents of others."

Maybe times have changed since that statement was made, but it is still true. The discovery made by Columbus and the inventions of Edison were both partially instrumental in the success of John Glenn's orbit of the earth.

Possibly more persons were listening to the radio or watching television while Glenn was making his rounds than know about Christopher Columbus or Thomas A. Edison either one.

It would be impossible for anyone to even attempt a partial explanation of the effect Tuesday's experiment will have on this and future generations. It is certainly going to be interesting to watch developments during the next few years.

A few years ago I clipped the following paragraph from some publication and thought the idea expressed was very timely and as I watched and listened to reports of Glenn's progress yesterday I began to appreciate the idea even more.

"We must drop the idea that change comes slowly. It does ordinarily—in part because we think it does. Today changes must come fast; and we must adjust our mental habits, so that we can accept comfortably the idea of stopping one thing and beginning another overnight. We must discard the idea that past routine, past ways of doing things, are probably the best. On the contrary, we must assume that there is probably a better way to do almost everything. We must stop assuming that a thing which has never been done before probably cannot be done at all."

Read those two paragraphs through a couple of times and maybe it will be easier for you to keep up with what's going to be going on in the world.

Without a doubt, the girls are in the majority in our newspaper family this week. Bob and Dolores Hamilton of Plainview and the Plains Farmer have a new baby girl. She was born Friday and was named Kay Dean. Think in that family Ks are also in the majority. Their

the Television shows the blast-off of the rocket carrying John Glenn into orbit.

Depicting the many who were caught in the tenseness of the moment Tuesday, Carolyn Herring gently gnaws at finger tips as she stares at the TV screen. "Blast-off" was the most tense moment she said.

older children are Kim, Kelly and Kevin.

Then Sunday Dolph and Sue Moten of the Bovina Blade became parents of a baby girl. She was named Lady Beth and has a brother, Mat.

There may be some areas in which the many complaints about mothers not being interested in the activities of their children are justifiable, but there's at least one exception. One day last week Tom Jarboe, principal of the junior high school, issued invitations to parents of 101 eighth graders to attend an organizational meeting for that group.

As has been the custom for several years, the library was selected for the meeting place. I'm not sure how many can be seated in the library, but it was filled almost to capacity. There must have been 70 mothers present and several who were unable to attend asked others to volunteer their services wherever they were needed.

When about 75% of any group is represented at an organizational meeting, there's definitely not a lack of interest.

Mention of openings at the rear of Bi-Wize, Jarrell's and Allen's in this column several months ago probably had nothing to do with the re-arrangement of Jarrell's, but when their re-modeling project is completed, customers will be able to enter from the east or west.

With the all weather parking lot at the rear of these stores, we will probably feel that we are in a shopping center in a much larger town.

Of course, many of us use Ralph Roden's back door all the time, so he may soon decide to up date the entry.

Something to think about until next week: Talking comes by nature; silence by wisdom.

66 Casualties Noted During 1961 Hunting

Reports of 66 hunter casualties were received from wardens of the Game and Fish Commission for the calendar year 1961, according to T. D. Carroll, coordinator of information and education of the Game and Fish Commission.

Of the 66 reports, all but three involved guns—shotguns, rifles, or pistols. One hunter was the victim of a heart attack, one lady fell from a hunting stand in a tree and was badly bruised, and one male hunter fell from a tree and broke his back.

Twenty youths (under 21 years of age) were victims of shooting accidents—seven of them fatal.

In 36 of the 63 shooting accidents, the victims were also the shooters. Included in this number were eight pistol victims, most of whom were practicing the "quick draw."

Rifles were the firearms involved in 33 of the accidents—shotguns in 22.

Nineteen, or 30 per cent, of the shooting accidents reported by field men were fatal. Women were listed in two of the accidents, though only one was involved in a firearm accident. The other fell from a tree.

The reorganization of the Game and Fish Commission went into effect September 1, 1961, at the beginning of the hunting season. Many field personnel were shifted to new areas and this, no doubt, influenced the efficiency of their reporting.

A check of news clippings from the various newspapers published in the state revealed 10 hunting accidents reported for the months of November and December which were not reported by Game and Fish Commission field men, who reported 30 during that same period of time.

Of those 10 additional casualties, six were fatal and, of the six, four were known to be youths.

During the months of November and December, eight hunters reportedly fell victim to fatal heart attacks while hunting. The average age of these victims was 54.4 years.

Several unusual accidents occurred. One man broke his ankle stepping from a jeep. In another instance, a jeep overturned and the hunter's leg was lacerated when he fell on his gun.

Two youngsters were injured in target practicing—one the victim of a ricochet. Another youth, a 15 year old lad, was fatally shocked when the water pipe he was lifting to dislodge a rabbit came in contact with a power line.

Most of the accidents were the result of careless gun handling. However, in six instances, according to Game and Fish Commission reports, victims were mistaken for deer. One hunter mistook two hunters for deer and injured both of them at the same time. Of the six "mistaken for deer" casualties, one was fatal.

One accident concerned a 14 year old boy sitting in a tree, who was mistaken for a bird and fatally wounded by an adult hunter.

Although the official Uniform Hunter Report of the Game and Fish Commission was recorded as received (66 accidents, 19 fatalities), there is no doubt that the totals were appreciably higher and that 25 or more Texas hunters lost their lives in hunting accidents during 1961.

Financial Status Changing For Local Governments

General expenditures of local governments in the United States are increasing substantially year by year, but these costs of local government are considerably lower as a percentage of national income than thirty years ago.

In 1960, general expenditures of local governments -- cities, counties, school districts, special districts, etc. -- were $33.9 billion compared to $5.8 billion in 1932. The 1960 local expenditures, however, took only 5.1 percent of the national income as compared with 13.6 percent in 1932.

Significantly, local expenditures now represent 65.4 percent of the combined state and local general spending as compared with 74.7 percent 30 years ago. In terms of 1954 prices, the per capita general expenditures of local government are now $151.80 compared with $117.03 in 1932.

The significance of this may be interpreted as a resurgence of local responsibility for civil governments as part of a long-term trend away from reliance upon the Federal government. The local expenditures since World War II have remained below the pre-war level as a percentage of national income. However, the curve is upward.

Local expenditures in 1946 took 4.4 percent of the national income. During the first five years of the 1950's, local expenditures remained in the 6.1 to 6.8 percent range. The level in 1956 was 7 percent and in 1957, 7.3 percent. Since 1958, local expenditures have hovered at or near the 8 percent level.

The present 8 percent of national income level equals the 8 percent figure attained in 1940 and approaches the 8.4 to 13.6 percent range established during the 1930's. The principal increases in local government expenditures have come primarily for education and payment of interest on general debts. The local outlay for education has increased 160.6 percent from 1950 to 1960. Local government outlays for debt interest increased 224.9 percent during the same period.

The costliest government function of local government is education. In 1927 education took 34.6 percent of local general expenditures, but in 1960 education accounted for 44.7 percent of local government costs nationwide. The dollar increase was from $2 billion in 1927 to $15.1 billion in 1960.

Interest costs increased from $501 million in 1927 to $1.1 billion in 1960. Other functions of government which increased sharply in cost during the decade of the 1950's include local parks and recreation, up 153 percent; police and local fire protection, up 121.1 percent; health and hospital, up 137.1 percent; sanitation, up 107.1 percent. Public welfare costs increased only 58.9 percent from 1950 to 1960 for local governments. Highway outlays during the same period increased 92.4 percent. Local housing and community redevelopment activities increased 88.1 percent over the decade, rising from $452 million in 1950 to $850 million in 1960.

In fiscal year 1960, state and local governments spent $51.9 billion for general government purposes and received about $7 billion in grants and shared revenues from the Federal government. The Federal government's role in relation to local government responsibility is, however, undergoing a significant although little-noticed change.

In fiscal year 1960, Federal expenditures for civil government activities -- apart from the $7 billion financial to state and local governments -- amounted to less than $11 million. In 1950, the corresponding outlay of the Federal government for purely domestic activities was $7 billion. In that same year, state and local expenditures were approximately $23 billion. This means that between 1950 and 1960 the outlays of the state and local government increased 128 percent, while Federal expenditures for domestic activities -- exclusive of grants-in-aid -- increased less than 50 percent.

Stated another way, the cost of all civil government in the United States in the year 1960 was $63 billion. Fifty-four percent of that expenditure took place at the local level. The states provided for 28 percent. The Federal share amounted to only 18 percent.

At the present time, for every dollar which is spent at the local level in the United States, only 70 cents is raised from current local revenue sources. This accounts for the growing indebtedness of local governments. Local governments are now issuing about $6 billion yearly in new bond issues. Annual debt retirement exceeds $2.5 billion. However, between 1950 and 1960, the indebtedness of local government increased $18.8 billion to $51.2 billion -- and a growth of total local liabilities amounting to $32.4 billion, equal to about one-half of the $65 billion invested by local governments in capital improvement over that 10-year period.

Of the $32.9 billion local revenue available to general government function at the local level in 1960, 48 percent came from property taxes, 30 percent from state and Federal aid, 7 percent from non-property taxes, and 15 percent from non-tax sources, such as licenses, fees, etc.

SWPS Begins New Area Plant

A. R. Watson, President of Southwestern Public Service Company, has announced that the Missouri Valley Constructors, Inc., of Amarillo, has been awarded the contract to build a 210,000 kilowatt turbine-generator unit at the company's Plant X, located 7 miles north of Amherst, Texas.

Construction will begin this week, with completion scheduled for June 1964.

The new unit, manufactured by the General Electric Company, is the largest single turbine-generator ever installed in the area served by Southwestern Public Service Company.

In making the announcement, Watson stated that the new addition represents an investment of $15,000,000 and is dramatic evidence that this region continues to be one of the fastest growing sections of the country.

This will be the fourth generating unit at Plant X, and will bring the capability up to 487,500 kilowatts, and the total for all 12 of Southwestern's plants, to more than 1,200,000 kilowatts.

The electrical construction will be handled by Service Electric Company, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

What Is Bill Of Rights

How many Americans know the answer to this question? Each day brings forth on the radio, the television, and the newspapers new suggestions and observations about Communism, what it means, what it stands for, and how to defend against it. When I was in high school our football coach told me one day that you could not win a football game unless you could get your hands on the ball. In other words, you can't make a touchdown so long as the opposition has the ball. I began to wonder recently if perhaps we were not giving too much free advertising to Communism and paying too little attention to the price-less heritage that we have. Hence, I set out in a limited way to find out what the average American knows about his country. Feeling that the key to Americanism is the Bill of Rights, I chose it for the key question to be asked. I made a point of asking total strangers in different areas of our economy this question: "Where could I find the Bill of Rights?" The right answer is simple. It is, "The Bill of Rights is the first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States." Out of thirty times that I posed this question, I got the right answer seven times.

F.T.A. Members Attend Convention

Friona Future Teachers Association members attended the 13th F. T. A. annual state convention held in Austin February 16-17.

Attending were Karen O'Brian, Kay Johnson, Brenda Deaton, Gayle White and Cordella Parr, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Benger and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Parr and Roscoe Jr.

Topic meeting was "Teacher Guardian of Tomorrow," and every session carried out this theme. Two of the principle speakers were Governor Price Daniel and Dr. John W. McFarland, supt. of schools at Houston.

Gov. Daniel's subject was "Texas Salutes its Future" in which he pointed out the need of education today more than ever before, and that education is what makes the difference between our way of life and that of other countries. He also pointed out the need of good teachers, quoting, "tho they won't get rich financially, the most valuable pay is in what they can do for others and the lasting influence to the future."

Dr. McFarland's speech was "Teaching, What a Challenge". He stressed how fortunate young people of today are and that the best way they can repay mankind for their advantages is to prepare to teach happily, conscientiously and thoroughly. Their biggest challenge is service to others and that education is the high road to the future. He gave the ethical code of Texas teaching and urged teachers to live by that.

Friday night the group attended a stage show, "High Hopes", an exaggerated and humorous expose of teacher training presented by the University of Texas T. S. E. A. group. This was followed by a reception and dance.

The final session was election of state officers; Texas Mr. F. T. A. and Miss F. T. A.; presentation of awards on scrap books, year books; ten top projects and scholarships.

A burgerfest in the basement of the municipal auditorium, closed the meeting and was provided by the Austin F.T.A. club.

Friona girls returned with high hopes and filled with inspiration and ambition for a teaching career.

Other places visited on the trip included a tour of the Capitol and the University campus.

Vegetable Crop Prospects Good

Farmer County Vegetable farmers will begin work on the 1962 crops shortly providing the favorable weather continues.

Present conditions appear very favorable for vegetables at present although several additional factors will affect the produce this year.

One of the main problems which vegetable farmers in this area will be faced with is the changes being instituted by the Labor Department. Should the department repeat its recent action of raising the minimum wages paid to laborers, many of the local vegetable growers will probably feel the financial pinch.

Wage for lettuce harvesters was set at a minimum of $2 per hour recently.

The heavy freeze in the Rio Grande Valley which destroyed a portion of the produce in that area is expected to raise the price of most types of produce in this area.

The change in cotton acreage determination will also affect produce--specifically, it will affect potatoes. Cotton planted with two rows in and two rows out will not be measured by total area in determining allotment as has been done in the past. The two rows not planted will not count on total allotment this year.

The Potato Growers Association at Shafter, Calif. reports an approximate 18 per cent reduction in potatoes in that area as a result of the two in, two out change.

It is also anticipated that farmers in the Imperial Valley in California will not raise as much produce as in the past because of "labor problems."

"Prospects for a good county crop look very good at present, but changes in the labor situation could change the picture a great deal," Deryl Coker, county agent, said.

W. D. Buske keeps the wheat leveled in the truck as the farm stored grain is brought out for moving. Wheat prices are approximately 20 cents higher than when the wheat was stored last spring. Storage payments plus the possible increase in price at a later date makes farm storage appear profitable. Buske moved approximately 30,000 bushels of wheat from his storage barn last weekend.

To Control Screwworms

Sterile Fly Drop Launches Program

Texas' multimillion dollar screwworm control program is underway. It was launched Wednesday morning (Feb. 14) when sterile male screwworm flies were air-dropped over Hays county.

The release -- first of its kind in the Southwest -- was timed to coincide with a meeting of the Southwest Animal Research Foundation in Austin. More than 400 livestock producers and sportsmen from Texas and adjoining states attended the kick-off meeting. The fly release climaxed the efforts of thousands of stockmen and sportsmen who have worked on the program for many weeks.

C. G. Scruggs, president of the SAHRF, said the program involves the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Texas Animal Health Commission, Texas A&M College and the research foundation. He reported that sportsmen now totaled approximately $1,400,000. An intensive drive will be continued, SAHRF officials said, until the $3 million goal is reached.

Scientists, capitalizing on freeze-out of overwintering screwworms in January, believe there is an opportunity for lowering -- if not totally eradicating -- screwworms from Texas this year.

The program will follow the pattern of the successful eradication effort in Florida and the Southeast. Millions of artificially raised male screwworm flies, made sterile by exposure to radioactive material, will be released in the overwintering area in South Texas and in a "buffer zone" along the southern border of the state. A giant screwworm producing plant will be constructed in South Texas with an expected capacity of 50-75 million flies per week. Facilities at Kerrville Lab will eventually produce 20 million flies each week.

Dr. S. Gartman, who has charge of the Kerrville fly facilities, will head operations at the new plant.

Speakers at the kick-off meeting included Dolph Ericson, Jr., Uvalde, president, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Dr. F. J. Mulhern of USDA's animal disease eradication division, and Dr. R. S. Sharman, ADE staff officer, who explained how the program will operate.

Release of sterile flies is only half the job, they said. The remainder is up to the stockmen. If maggot infestation is found, stockmen are asked to remove 10 from the bottom of the wound and report to their county agent for a positive identification.

County FU Group Visit Washington

Sam Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Davis, of the Lazbuddie-Muleshoe area, represented Farmer County Farmers Union in Washington during the week of Feb. 5.

They were participants in the 13th Annual Farmers Union Bus Trip program, organized and conducted by the Texas Farmers Union in cooperation with the national branch.

Members from North Dakota and Illinois were also in Washington.

Members are provided with an opportunity--through participation in the bus trip program--to visit judicial and executive branches of government and to talk to their congressmen and senators about issues and policies important to farmers. The representatives from Farmer County Farmers Union met with Walter Rogers, George Mahon and others.

Some of the issues that were discussed were adequate loan funds for the Farmers Home Administration and Rural Electrification Administration, extension of the Social Security system to provide health care for the aged, and the taxation

Hale Tests Prove Soil Test Value

Result demonstrations in Hale county have shown the value of a soil test in determining fertilizer need. The demonstrations were conducted by Charles Cyfert, associate county agent, together with farmer co-operatives in the county.

On the Charles Bucy Farm, the soil test recommendation called for 60 pounds of nitrogen and 30 pounds of phosphorus as P205. Mr. Bucy's crop yielded 602 pounds of lint per acre without fertilizer. With the application of 60 pounds of nitrogen, the yield was 678 pounds per acre. The 60-30-0 rate increased the yield to 731 pounds of lint per acre.

Treatment with nitrogen alone returned $18,00 additional profit per acre, while treatment with the soil test recommended rate returned an extra $30,50 per acre.

The demonstration on the Bert Lane farm yielded 558 pounds of lint per acre without fertilizer. Application of the soil test recommended rate of 60-50-0 raised the yield to 965 pounds of lint per acre. Per acre yield where 10 pounds of nitrogen and 50 pounds of P205 were applied was 691 pounds of lint.

Added net return due to the application of the recommended rate was $112,00 per acre. The increase from nitrogen alone resulted in a net return of almost $100,00 per acre, while application of the 10-50-0 returned $33,00 per acre.

Rural Hero Still Sought

Nominations are limited to persons who live in rural areas or in communities of 2,500 population or less. The act of bravery performed might have been in the removal of a person from a burning building, rescuing someone in danger of drowning or rescue work carried out in connection with storms or floods.

A brief written report covering the deed and a short statement about the nominee along with news clippings, if available, should be mailed before the deadline date to Texas Rural Heroism Award, 546 Rio Grande Building, Dallas 2, Texas.

By recognizing heroic rural service in this manner, the Council believes the award will help rural residents see the need for improved safety conditions in their homes as well as where they work and play.

are movable for a purpose. If the foot wasn't elastic and mobile it would be rigid, without yield on weight-bearing. When you walked, with every weight-bearing step the foot would feel a clump-like shock. You couldn't walk two blocks without having to stop because of the constant jarring to your whole nervous system. Thus, the elastic or mobile foot comes with a built-in shock-absorbing system. The "give" to the foot--thanks to all those muscles, tendons, ligaments and joints--enables one to walk with ease and pleasure. But that same shock-absorbing system also requires a constant change of shape and size in the foot.

Several people have been in the office wanting to know more about the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, which is an organization that was formed recently to eradicate the screwworm in the Southwest. As you know, this organization was asking each person with livestock to make a donation of 50¢ for each adult cow and bull and 10¢ for adult swine and sheep. The Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation still needs some more funds, so as to have plenty to do the job.

They are already releasing male sterile flies in the overwintering area of South-Texas so as to take advantage of the severe winter we have had, but they will need a little more money to finish the job. If you would like to donate drop by the office and leave a check made out to the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation or give the check to Joe Jones, who is secretary for the organization in Farmer County. Joe is located at Security State Bank in Farwell. It definitely is going to be a great help to people with livestock to know that they will not be bothered with screwworms this summer.

We, also, have plenty of back-tags available in the office, so if you plan to sell any female cattle over three years of age, drop by the office and pick up some tags. We all worked hard to get our county a modified certified brucellosis free county, so it will be to your advantage to participate in the hacktag testing program and keep Farmer County a brucellosis free county. We are clean, so let's stay clean.

The results of the 1961 agriculture demonstrations in Farmer County are available for anyone who would like to have a copy.

These results can serve as a guide to you, or maybe can answer some of your questions pertaining to fertilizer.

We feel it would be worth your time to look at these results, as it could be a help to you in planning your fertilizer program for 1962.

Remember that results for a one year period do not necessarily give a sound basis for changing a practice already proven successful on your farm. Results obtained over a three to five year period are necessary for reliability and proper evaluation. Also, the success of any production practice is dependent on good management of tying it in with other practices.

The members of the Farmer County Program Building Committee, Farmer County Crops Committees, farmers conducting demonstrations, and business concerns who contributed to the success of these demonstrations by their efforts in planning, furnishing seeds, fertilizer, equipment and supplies are certainly to be commended.

Persons deserving a great deal of credit are the farmers who conducted these demonstrations. Keeping yields and other results accurate involved extra time and effort on the part of the farmer and shows his interest in helping his neighbor, community and county.

All of these efforts of these people have, and will contribute materially to the county economy.

NEWS FROM THE

FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

Some local people have expressed concern about the federal government providing tractor driving schools for unemployed men of the industrial areas who are later supposed to be shipped to farming areas for employment.

They have expressed the opinion that possibly these men from union areas may be the men intended to do some union organizing among farm workers as well as driving tractors. They also said that they thought farmers would be as good at teaching them how to drive a tractor as the government, and at the same time they could be doing the farmer-teacher some good, if they are really interested in a farm job. Then, of course, there are other things to do on the farm besides sitting behind the steering wheel of a tractor, and if the tractor driving students are not interested in the off-the-tractor jobs, they don't have much business talking to farmers about a job anyway.

We have experienced "selective service" requests for jobs here in the Farm Bureau Office for several years. Men come in during harvest looking for jobs driving trucks, but are not interested in shoveling grain or setting tubes for irrigation or anything like that because they are bothered by dust or back trouble. A man who really wants to work can find a job around here in these Texas counties right now, we believe.

The letter from the gas company--to the irrigation farmers who were asking for a method of talking over gas prices who the gas company didn't think were representative of irrigation gas users--was a masterpiece, wasn't it? (Of stupidity, that is.) If you are not a member of the Association referred to, we hope you'll join right away. And you are welcome to join Farm Bureau right away if you are not already a member, too.

Farm Bureau people believe in less government controls and more opportunity for a higher net income by means of a non-government controlled market for their products. Freedom, silly as it apparently seems to some government people, is still one of the most important things where farm people are concerned.

There's lots of honey on the market this season. According to marketing information the busy little bees really worked overtime last summer. The bees produced 33 million pounds above an average crop last summer.

Honey is at its best uncooked as a spread, a topping, or as a beverage sweetener. It also adds special goodness to many baked products. Have you ever tried using honey in preparing puddings, custards, or pie fillings instead of sugar?

Honey adds extra flavor and a beautiful golden glaze when brushed on ham during the last half-hour of baking. It is also used on baked apples, salad dressings, cinnamon toast, and many other appetizing dishes or snacks.

Largest U.S. Seed Collection

The largest general seed collection in the world, if not the only general collection, is the property of the United States Department of Agriculture and is located at its Plant Industry Station and Agricultural Research Center in Beltsville, Md.

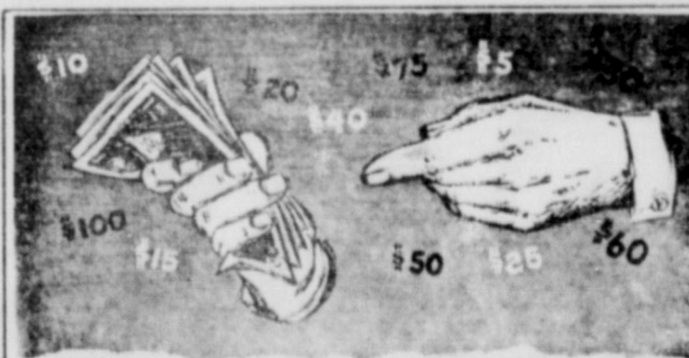

Started just before the turn of the century in a more or less haphazard manner, the present collections were officially inaugurated in 1908. At present the two collections contain about 100,000 samples of seeds of over 250 plant families (which are very large groups and not comparable to human families). Gardeners are more familiar with plant species than with plant families, so the figure of over 17,000 species is probably more meaningful to them.

This vast collection includes seeds of all sizes, from the minute seed of the double coconut which may weigh 50 pounds down to the dustlike seeds of various orchids. The smaller seeds are stored in glass vials, the largest simply laid on horizontal spaces available.

Most of the samples are of plants which have been introduced into this country from other countries. There are, however, samples acquired from many sources, which are included as reference material.

Tech Schedules Conference On Grain Drying

Requirements for keeping grain in good condition during storage will be highlighted at the eighth annual Grain Drying and Storage Conference March 8-9 at Texas Tech, Lubbock.

The first morning session will feature talks on such subjects as problems in bin flow, economics of grain storage, maintaining grain in good condition, aeration system requirements, and others.

Four seminars will be held that afternoon. They will be on aeration, drying, instrumentation, and structures. Seminars will be one hour long, allowing conferees to attend all four if desired.

Speakers the second morning will discuss evaluation of the wheat sedimentation test, grain sorghum feeding qualities, soybean storage and marketing, and other topics.

Seminars that afternoon will be fumigation, special problems, management, and materials handling and equipment. These will be given only twice, which means conferees may attend any two.

The final session will center on problems and opportunities in world trade and a report on the Commodity Credit Corporation. The program will close with a conference evaluation and a look ahead.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL * OUR STRENGTH

The construction of flood detention structures along Running Water Draw is a feasible project, according to the preliminary investigations made by the Soil Conservation Service team from the state office in Temple, Texas.

This was the information presented at a meeting of Soil Conservation District Supervisors, county commissioners, local farmers and interested business men in Dimmitt. All of this came as result of an application submitted to the Soil Conservation Service by the board of supervisors of the Hale County Soil Conservation District. The soil conservation districts in Lamb, Swisher, Castro and Farmer Counties have agreed to co-sponsor this application with Hale County. Curry County in New Mexico has been asked to join in the project since Running Water Draw heads in that county.

For a project like this to be justifiable under the Watershed and Flood Detention Act, the damage that has been inflicted to property, both on farms and in towns, must equal or exceed the cost of such a project. The damage to the city of Plainview along with the damage to farms along the draw well exceeds the cost of 10 to 12 structures that would be needed to halt another flood like the one in 1960.

Even though there is very little damage from flood water here in Farmer County, this is an excellent opportunity to build structures and impound water for recreation, irrigation or even municipal water supply if the people of this county want it.

Let's say that a land owner has an ideal site for construction of a dam on his land. If he does not want the structure on his land, then other sites will be sought for either upstream or downstream. Let's say again that this landowner that has an ideal site on his land gives an easement for construction of a dam. After construction is completed this land owner still has full rights of the land as before, with exception that qualified persons would come in occasionally to inspect and maintain the structure as needed. The land owner may pump the water for irrigation, stock the lake with fish or do as he pleases since the land still belongs to him.

The growing water shortage in the Southwest is something that needs to be taken seriously. This is a chance to hold some of our runoff water that is being lost to the downstream areas. We need all the water that can be held here in the Farmer County Soil Conservation District.

Jack Glenn, Farwell, receives the first layout payment check under the 1962 feed grain program at the Farwell ASC office. Prentice Mills, office manager, looks on as Dorothy Gast presents the check. Mills reports that 458 farms have been signed and payments of $631,000 had been made by Tuesday.

Feed Grain Price Support Eligibility

How does a feed grain producer become eligible for price support on his 1962 crop?

County Agent Deryl Coker says that although the 1962 Feed Grain program is voluntary, corn and grain sorghum producers must participate in it if they want to be eligible for price supports on this year's corn and grain sorghum crops. Also, Coker points out that oats and rye will be eligible for price supports only if the farm participates in the barley or the corn-grain sorghum programs.

Thus, eligibility for 1962 - Crop Price Support, says Coker, is determined as follows:

- (1) For corn and grain sorghum there must be a minimum reduction of 20 percent from the 1959 - 60 average acreage of these crops, and the producer (other than certain producers of malting barley) must not exceed the farm's barley base.
- (2) For barley there must be a minimum reduction of 20 percent in the average 1959-60 barley acreage, and the producer must not exceed the farm's corn and grain sorghum base. The required reduction does not apply to certain producers of malting barley.

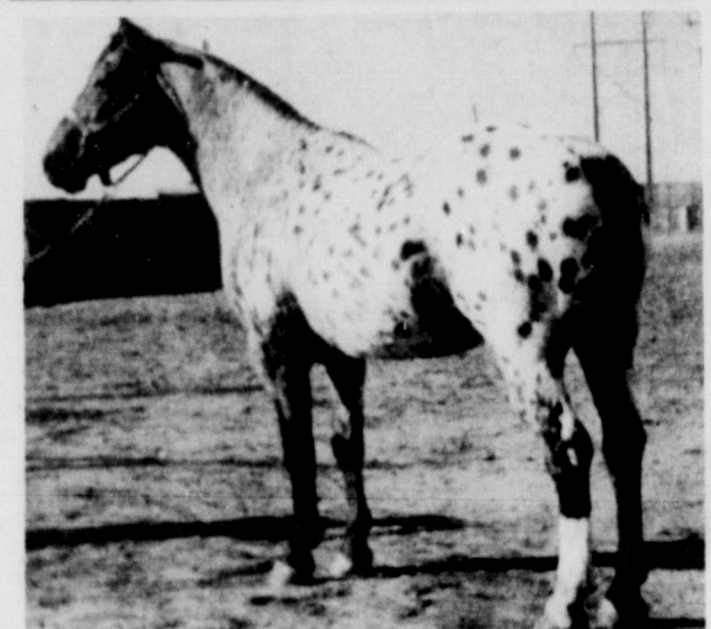

Anyone interested in the use of data processing for keeping beef cattle production records should get a copy of the recent Extension Service publication B-978, "Using Data Processing Equipment To Keep Beef Cattle Records." This bulletin contains a thorough discussion on the use of this service, as well as information on what is necessary to employ it. A copy may be obtained from the local county agent.

WHEAT SUPPLY AND DISTRIBUTION

Price Supports Affect Income

"Farmer County farmers should study how participation in the 1962 Feed Grain Program will affect their net farm income," says County Agent Deryl Coker.

He can now provide budget forms to county producers of corn, grain sorghum, and spring barley. Farmers can use these forms in estimating net income if they participate or don't participate in the program. By comparing these estimates, Coker says, farmers will have a better basis for making their decision.

Under provisions of the program, farmers will receive payments for diverting to conservation use 20 to 40 percent of their feed grain acreages. In addition, feed grain crops raised on remaining land will be eligible for price supports. So farmers have several alternatives on extent of participation. Each will have a different effect on their net income, Agent Coker points out.

Copies of the budget form are available at the county agent's office, Coker says he will be glad to assist farmers in use of the form in considering the alternative choices.
