

"It is easier to believe a lie that one has heard a thousand times than to believe a fact that one has never heard before."

... Robert Lynd.

That poor dog is still looking for its master. He is out in front of my office now (Wednesday) and every few minutes, he will make a circle around the street and look at all the cars in hopes of finding the one he is looking for. He has apparently been abandoned.

His presence here is a bit unusual, so I shall relate it.

Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Juanita Shannon, a nurse at the hospital, came in and asked if we could get the dog out of the back of her pickup. She said that he had jumped in the back last Sunday at the hospital and had refused to get out.

She said that he would eat any food brought him, but he simply refused to leave the vehicle. He is a good looking dog, too. I am not an expert on dog breeds but I would say that he has some Collie and Saint Bernard blood in him. I would also say that he is not very old.

Anyway, Pete Mace and I went out and, after a cautious approach, found that the dog was not exactly unfriendly. After coaxing failed to get the dog to leave the pickup, I lifted him out and we held him while Mrs. Shannon drove away.

Alas, as soon as we released the dog, he ran to the nearest white car and tried to leap up on the back of it--in much the same way he leaped back into the pickup after the first time I lifted him out and placed him on the ground.

After he discovered his mistake, he circled around looking for his vehicle. When he couldn't find it, he sought refuge under one of the cars and started making checks of all cars in the area at approximately 30 minute intervals.

This all started Tuesday afternoon at about 4:30. At 2 a.m. Wednesday when I left the office for a short time, he was still looking for the right vehicle. And he was still at it at press time.

You may wonder why I am spending so much time on this subject, I will tell you.

It seems a shame, to me, when a dog with such strong devotion is simply deserted. From all appearances, it is doubtful if he will accept another master.

I wish the owner would come and get him.

One more thing, the pickup was purchased in Hereford about a week ago.

THE DOG

General Telephone representatives finally appeared at a city council meeting.

Not one, but six executives came. After listening to two hours of discussion, I am of the opinion that if the men put their minds to it, we could have a most effective phone system. They demonstrated their ability to organize the facts and plan an attack upon a situation at the meeting.

If all this skill were concentrated on improving the phone system, I have no doubt but what our service would be very good.

In addition, I was told by one of our local businessmen that the phone service had been much better recently. Two months ago, this man turned red in the face when the subject was mentioned.

Therefore, I shall drop the subject for a short time and see what develops.

New Fire Truck Heeds First Call

A new fire truck made its debut in Friona Tuesday. It rolled in answer to a call from a farm home in the Rhea community.

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the former Albert Drager home, which was owned by Associated Growers of Friona. Residents of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Adams and daughter, Carla, moved into the house about ten days ago.

The truck was purchased as a replacement for the old truck garaged in the west part of town. The pump from the old truck was transferred and a new tank with a capacity of 798 gallons was constructed and mounted. The side panels from the old truck were then attached to the sides of the tank. The old tank held only 356 gallons of water.

At the time of the fire Tuesday, the truck was without fenders on the rear and the tank was not painted. "It wasn't very pretty, but it worked," Ralph Shirley, fire chief, said.

It is estimated that the new

Two Announce For Trustee

Candidates for two positions on the Friona School Board have filed at the superintendent's office. The filing period closed Wednesday at 5 p.m., without opposition being filed.

Walter Mabry of the Hub Community filed for re-election and Ellis Tatum of Black filed for the position being vacated by John L. Ray. Ray is not seeking another term on the board.

Vacancies on the board will be filled at the April 7 election. Some competition will occur in the county trustee at large race. Bill Shirley, Lazbuddie, has filed for re-election and Paul Fortenberry, Friona, has filed as opposition. Fortenberry is a former trustee of the Friona Board and is associated with Black Grain Company.

Stores Close For Morning Church Service

Friona stores will close from 10 until 10:45 a.m. each day next week as a courtesy to the city wide efforts of the evangelistic Crusade being conducted by six local churches.

Only two had indicated intentions to remain open in the mornings last Monday.

The crusade is similar to the religious emphasis week which was observed two years ago at this time. Outside speakers were scheduled for all churches with the exception of the Congregational Church.

In addition to the services in the churches, each church will sponsor one assembly program at the school during the week.

The six churches will have simultaneous meetings at 10 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m. each day during the next week. Churches participating in the program are Assembly of God, Calvary Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, First Baptist and La Mission--Bautista.

Club House Plans Given Green Light

Members of Friona Country Club met at the community room of Friona State Bank Tuesday evening. Following group discussion of plans for construction of a building, directors were authorized to have plans drawn up and secure bids.

Board of director members are H. K. Kendrick, Bill Sheehan, Paul Spring, Andy Hurst, Charles Allen, John Renner and W. L. Edelman.

Cost of the building is not to exceed $15,000. Andy Hurst Jr., president, says the group will be able to pay cash for the club house if everyone who has signed an intent to become a member pays his dues.

truck will cost $3,000 before it is completed, excluding labor donated by firemen. The equipment changes and construction was done by the firemen during their afternoon and night hours. Free tools and space for the work were provided by Taylor and Sons Welding, Friona Battery and Electric, Reeve Chevrolet, Fred White Electrical Service and Bainum Butane Co.

Steel used to build the tank and complete the truck is being purchased through Taylor and Sons at cost, according to Shirley.

Phone "Bugs" Aired At Council Meeting

General Telephone Representatives told the city council Monday that phone service in Friona should be greatly improved now and in the future when compared with past performance.

A brigade of six executives lined up in front of the council to explain recent changes in the system and to answer questions pertaining to telephone operations in Friona.

Division Manager Harry Elam headed the group and presented the results of a recent company survey made in Friona. He also stated the cause of troubles found and what corrective measures were taken.

According to Elam, 80 customers were contacted in the survey and results were compiled.

"I will be the first to say that we have a service problem here--and other places," Elam said. "But it can be worked out."

The survey indicated that "wrong numbers" was the most frequent complaint. Dust and dirt in the switching equipment was cited as the cause for much of this trouble. Workmen who were making changes in the apparatus in the Friona office were said to have left the door open while working and allowed the dust to enter the structure. This source of trouble is supposed to have been corrected.

Another problem was the frequent reports of phones being out of order. Elam said that a "selector control" was found to be defective and was replaced. This instrument was reported to affect some 100 phones in Friona.

In addition, a complete routine was made of the system. This consisted of checking every part of the system for trouble spots. This checking is usually carried out on a scheduled basis under regular operations.

Slow answers by the operator were also discussed. General

Classic Play Staged Here

The Progressive Study Club is sponsoring the presentation of Robert Browning's "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" at the school auditorium next Tuesday at 2 p.m.

The poem will be enacted by the Children's Theatre of Eastern New Mexico University. Due to the church programs during the week, only one presentation will be made.

Tickets for the play will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for school children.

Local Cars Must Bear County Tags

County residents are required to register their automobiles in this county before April 15. Persons who maintain a residence here and have out-of-state license plates will be filed upon by county and city officers, Ben Moorman, city police chief, warned this week.

Persons moving to Texas and accepting employment are required to obtain Texas license plates for their cars within the same length of time allowed for immigrants in the state from which they moved. Texas is one of the few states with a reciprocal law in this area.

Several persons in Friona have already been warned and a few have been charged with law violations.

License plates may be obtained from the tax collector's office in the courthouse in Farwell. Plates will also be sold at the Friona City Hall on March 17 and 24.

Texas residents also are required to register their vehicles in the county where the car is principally garaged. In other words, it is illegal for a Parmer County resident to register his car in any other county.

Motor Vehicle Laws Apply To Scooters

With the coming of spring, the urge to "break out the old motor scooter and go for a spin around town" becomes almost unbearable to many youngsters.

But before kicking the scooter into life, operators should heed the warning issued by Police Chief Ben Moorman this week.

Current safety stickers and license plates must be affixed to the scooter and the operator must possess a valid operators permit.

"Any scooter driver who does not have license plates, safety sticker or operators permit will be charged with violation of the law just as the driver of an automobile would be charged," Moorman said.

Scooter operators and scooters are subject to the same regulations which governs all other motor vehicles.

Operators permits may be obtained from the Texas Department of Public Safety tester at the city hall on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

Safety stickers may be obtained at any safety inspection station and, providing no repairs are needed, will cost one dollar. License plates must be obtained from the county tax office.

Citations will also be issued for operating a scooter with an excessively loud muffler. Moorman warned.

Volleyball Match Benefits Exchange Student Program

High school boys and girls will get "under" the ball March 22 at 6 p.m. in an effort to raise the funds needed to meet their 1962-63 foreign exchange student goal.

A volleyball tournament, sponsored by the Student Council, is planned as a means of raising the approximate $1,000 needed to finance the community's exchange student program and transport two foreign students to Friona next year.

Each of the four classes will enter a boys and girls team in the tournament. Winners of the sophomore--senior and freshman--junior classes will compete for the championship.

Students approved the idea, as a means of raising the funds, by an overwhelming majority in a school referendum last week. It is hoped that enough tickets can be sold--at $1 for adults and $.50 for students--that another project will not be necessary.

Students are flooding into the gym each day at 12:30 p.m. to practice for the event. According to present plans, every student who wants to play may participate in the tournament.

The first student obtained for the community, Anni Jensen of Denmark, is now attending school here but will return to her home, after a tour of the nation, following dismissal of school in September.

At a meeting of the exchange student committee, it was decided that efforts would be made to obtain two foreign students for the next year. Transportation of the students from their homeland to Friona must be furnished by the community.

10 Nominated For Chamber Board Spots

The board of directors for the Friona Chamber of Commerce nominated 10 candidates to fill four places on the board, which will soon be vacated, during their meeting last Thursday.

The ballots will be mailed to each member and should be completed and returned to the Chamber office by or before Saturday, according to Martell LeVeque, president. All names except the four preferred for the positions should be scratched through.

Placed on the ballots were Bill Bailey, Dr. William Beene, Marion Fite, Woody Fleming, Steve Messenger, Jack Moseley, Porter Roberts, Allen Stewart, Weldon Springer and Gerald Wright.

Positions are being vacated by Ralph Roden, Kenneth Williams, John Wilson and Ralph Taylor.

The Chamber of Commerce banquet was scheduled for March 30 at the high school cafeteria but further plans were not completed.

Remaining members of the board are Frank Spring, Wesley Foster, Paul Fortenberry, J. G. McFarland and LeVeque.

Fire Chief Ralph Shirley stands by ready to hand needed equipment to L. D. Taylor as he repairs place rack on new truck currently being overhauled to add to Friona's fire-fighting equipment. Members of the volunteer fire department have done all labor on remodeling of the truck.

Editorial Comment:

Inflation Cheats Us All

Some of our problems develop so gradually that it is difficult to realize the seriousness of their impact. One such is inflation. Oscar Schisgall tells in the March Reader's Digest, for example, how when his son was born in 1931 he arranged to have $2,000 for his college education. At that time tuition costs at major private universities ran to about $500 a year and it seemed a reasonable idea. But by the time the boy was ready for college tuition costs had more than doubled as a result of continuing inflation. Despite U. S. cost-of-living figures which show only an average rise of 23.1 per cent over the past decade, Schisgall writes, many essential costs have risen from 100 to 300 per cent. Medical costs have gone up 47.4 per cent. The poor and aged, many of whom live in rooming houses and eat in restaurants, face similarly spiraling costs. A pencil that cost two cents ten years ago now costs six cents, Schisgall writes; a typewriter which cost $210 ten years ago, was replaced this year by a new one costing well over $200. The article, titled "Hidden Hazards of Inflation," also notes that the tax collector profits on the 23.1 percent increase in the cost of living; the man who earned $4000 ten years ago, must get about $5000 this year just to keep up. Yet he paid 20 per cent income on his $4000 salary and must pay 22 per cent on the higher figure, with no increase in his real income. "Inflation," Schisgall concludes, "is a national problem, a national hazard which affects the lives and fortunes of each of us." Those who wonder how wild inflation can become may well recall that in Germany in 1923 it took a trillion paper marks to equal the value of just one in 1914. Thus, all Americans should read this article now - or be prepared to weep later.

VANISHING FARMER

Each year thousands of farmers pack their families and belongings into a pick-up truck and leave the land to seek a living elsewhere. Attesting to this exodus, are the thousands of abandoned farm houses lining rural roads. Ironically, these families are not the victims of poverty, but of plenty. The small farmer is finding it tougher and tougher to make his farm pay. While, on the other hand, the farmer who operates a large farm using the latest equipment and scientific methods has discovered that his profits are soaring. When the farmer moves out, the rural community suffers. Towns, for the lack of business, dry up and die. This is a real American tragedy. There are no easy answers to this problem. But the first step is to alert the American people about the farm problem. What better way than a national television program? "The Land," latest of the "Westinghouse Presents" series of television "specials," investigates the farm situation on Tuesday, March 13th over the NBC-TV network. The parade of situation comedies, cowboy programs, and cops-and-robbers shows, which make up the bulk of material on TV, reinforces Commissioner Newton M. Minow's assertion that television is "a vast wasteland." It is indeed reassuring to the thoughtful television viewer to see that sponsors like Westinghouse refuse to follow the herd. Their series of eighteen television "specials" consists of public affairs programs, original dramas and musical revues.

Castin' -- County residents will have an easy opportunity to see some of the prime livestock in the area at the Farmer County Junior Livestock which begins today and runs through Saturday.

At last report Wednesday, 69 steers, 50 sheep and 138 barrows were entered in the show. Sheep and barrows will begin arriving at the bus barn in the west side of town at about 2 p.m. today and sifting will start Friday morning. A good crowd for the events would be appreciated by all concerned. The steer show will begin Saturday morning and the sale will be that afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Osborn are attending a R.E.A. meeting in Atlantic City this week.

Phone "Bugs" --

and Bell representatives reportedly met on Feb. 26 to determine the cause and possible solution to this problem. It was found that certain toll circuits were switched off in Hereford but were still operative in Friona. Such action was frequently the result of repair or trouble in the line. By leaving the Friona end open, it would seem that the local party was ringing the operator but was not actually getting through. Elam reported that a local number was assigned so that these circuits could be "cut out" on this end also when the circuit is out of order. In addition, plans include the installation of equipment here so that Bell operators can check all circuits each day and assure that all are operative.

"We know that during busy periods of the day, slow operators answers will continue, but we don't think it will be of a critical nature," Elam told the council.

General Telephone has received authority to install another toll circuit to Hereford. This line will be the ninth such circuit. The study did not indicate that another circuit was needed but, on the basis of personal observance of the circuit loads, Elam said, the decision to add the line was made.

"Our study indicated that 10 per cent of the customers here were not following the proper procedure in reporting malfunctions," Elam stated.

All trouble should be reported by asking an operator for Enterprise 166 and explaining the trouble to the trouble desk in Littlefield. The local service man is supposed to call Littlefield at least every hour to report the clearing of trouble spots and pick up new reports.

As for extended area service, the size of the circuit groups to Hub and Parmer were doubled recently, Elam reported.

"Contrary to some beliefs, the equipment here is not Army Surplus. It is some of the best equipment available, although it is of a different type than some," Curtis Scott, division plant superintendent, stated in answer to a question from Wright Williams. "Our biggest problem area is dust and dirt reaching the delicate parts of the equipment. Dust is death to us," he added.

In addition to Elam and Scott, W. P. Holeman, district plant supervisor; W. J. Nichols, division traffic superintendent; Roy Priest, division com-

Mayor Raymond Fleming asked if, on the basis of what they had learned from the survey and after the changes had been made, there would be any more of the long periods of general havoc in the phone system like had been frequent in the past.

"If there is, you will see a bunch of new faces at the next meeting, (a replacement for) mine," Elam stated firmly.

In other business, the council approved the purchase of a new Galaxie Ford from Friona Motors on the basis of their low bid of $1,376.35 and the old Police car. The new vehicle will replace the present police patrol car.

Resignation of Ed Duke, city patrolman, was accepted and employment of Rex Cowart, 26, of Dimmitt was approved as a replacement. Cowart has served on the Hereford and Dimmitt police. Duke's resignation is effective March 15.

Who ever thought a car that saves like this could have so much sizzle? Chevrolet engineers, that's who! Liveliness and luxury for a low, low price were exactly what they had in mind to begin with. And they began from scratch with a whole carload of ingenious new ideas designed to give you more for your money. That spunky 6 with gas-sipping stinginess is just one example. Another: a new unitized Body by Fisher that's fit for a full-size family inside, easy to park outside. Still another: tough but gentle one-piece Mono-Plate rear springs that outdo many a bigger car for quiet comfort. Any wonder Chevy II won Car Life magazine's 1962 Engineering Excellence award hands down? ### Garrison Firm On Deadline For Stickers

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today there will be no extension of the April 15 deadline for inspection of all motor vehicles in Texas.

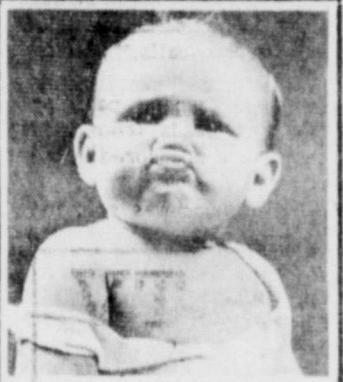

"The April 15 deadline this year falls on a Sunday, a day when most inspection stations are closed," Garrison noted. "We are not asking these stations to remain open on that day, and, under the law, there can be no extension of the deadline."

He said approximately 2,000,000 vehicles in the state remain to be inspected during the remaining 10 weeks of the 1962 inspection period. He urged motorists to get their inspection stickers early, pointing out that as the deadline approaches waiting lines will begin forming.

"We would like to point out that the purpose of motor vehicle inspection is to discover any defect that might become a link in a chain of events leading to an accident," the DPS Director said.

"It is encouraging to note that since the inspection program began in 1951, vehicles having a defect that was a causative factor in fatal accidents decreased from 13 percent to three per cent."

Under the law, persons operating vehicles without the 1962 inspection sticker on and after April 16 are subject to arrest. Authority to enforce the provisions of the Texas Motor Vehicle Inspection Act is vested in the patrolmen of the Department of Public Safety, Sheriffs and their deputies, and city policemen.

Bowling Tournament Winners Announced

Hub Grain bowling team took the $65 first place prize this week in the Friona Bowling Association tournament with a total of 3084 pins.

Members of the team are Gary McLaughlin, Bob Ivy, Dean Bingham, Darrell Buske and Don Jones.

Taking second prize of $42.50 and scoring a total of 2902 pins was Jarrell's team. Members are Leon Massey, Philip Weatherly, Clyde Renner, Donnie Waller and Don Jones. First place winners in the doubles are Donnie Waller and Leon Massey. They won the prize of $25 with 1299 pins. Second place went to Randy Dickson and Glendel Jones. They received $18 with 1275 pins.

There may be some things lacking in And Around Friona this week, but activity certainly isn't one of them. This is Public Schools Week, Girl Scout Week, 4-H Week and maybe another special week or two.

Attendance at the annual Girl Scout Father-Daughter banquet Monday evening was unusually good. Think there were only five girls absent in the entire organization. This is a record to be proud of.

Visitors at school have been numerous and the programs have been well attended. Members of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture are busy with final plans for the annual 4-H-FFA livestock show.

Someone once said, "The happiest people are those who are too busy to notice whether they are or not." If that is a safe rule to go by, just about everyone in the vicinity is happy this week.

All of us have heard the old "Sing A Song of Sixpence" time and again, but how many of us have ever heard the following version? This was copied from Cheer Magazine.

"We all know it. Many of us knew it from our mother's voice long before we knew anything else. But how many even today know what it all really meant?

The four and twenty "blackbirds" are the twenty-four hours of the day. The "pie" is the earth and the sky overarching it. The opening of the pie is the dawn, when the birds begin to sing, and surely such a sight is fit for a king!

The "king," sitting in the parlor counting out his "money," is the sun and the gold pieces that slip through his fingers are the golden rays of sunshine. The "queen," who sits in the dark kitchen, is the moon, and the honey with which she regales herself is the moonlight.

The industrious maid, who is in the garden at work before the light--the sun--has risen, is the light of day, and the clothes she hangs out are the clouds. The "blackbird," which ends the son so tragically by "nipping off her nose," is the sunset hour.

So we have the song of the day, not in a nutshell, but in a pie.

Little Lisa Balmum of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Balmum, came up with a new kind of pie and gave members of her family a joke they are not likely to forget soon.

On George Washington's birthday her daddy had a holiday and her mother baked a genuine cherry pie complete with a hatchet. Since Wayne is an air force officer, his holidays are generally national holidays and Lisa wants to know the significance of each one.

Her mother, the former Ruby Shaffer of Friona, took an objective view of the situation and explained to Lisa that her daddy's holiday and the pie had to do with George Washington's birthday.

Of course, Lisa didn't know who George Washington was, so her mother further explained that he was the first president and wound the story up with "like Kennedy is our president now."

After her history lesson, Lisa went to take a nap. Her first words after the nap were, "Mother, can I have some more of the Kennedy pie?"

Construction will begin soon on the new residence of James and Sue Procter and sons. When it is completed, they will be at home on Fifth Street instead of Sixth Street. I'm not sure timing of the project was affected by the weather, but feel sure none of them has forgotten their last move.

Just in case they decide to move when the weather isn't at its best, the move will be a short one--just across the alley--so they can't possibly encounter as much difficulty as they did when moving into town from the farm.

Probably by the time you are reading this there will be signs of an addition to the present Sixth Street Church of

Brownies--Scouts Sell Cookies

Brownie and Intermediate Girl Scouts of Caprock Council are "Ready to Roll" on their cookie sale for 1962. They hope to sell enough cookies to make their dream of a swimming pool at Camp Rio Blanco come true. The local neighborhood cookie chairman is Mrs. Edith Johnson.

They will be selling vanilla thin, creme filled sandwich and chocolate covered mint cookies for 50¢ per box from March 8 through March 22. Twenty-one cents of this amount will be received by the Council for camp development and eight cents from every box will remain with the troop for its own use. One troop will also sell nuts.

There is so much joy in receiving, that many of us lose sight of the joy of giving. In fact, there is a constant danger that we may become so intent upon receiving that we assume the characteristics of the Dead Sea. It is constantly receiving, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." Life is much more than eating, possessions, entertainment - things that satisfy self. Real living is giving. Most of us who profess to be Christians know very little of sacrifice. # Come To Church Sunday

Investigation of Public School textbooks this week indicated that parents do not want their children to receive an education without a knowledge of God. Yet, in many science class rooms God has almost been denied completely while others give a possibility to God as Creator. Many try to disprove God by saying if He cannot be proven by scientific methods then He does not exist. Science has not been able to prove or disprove love, yet, most scientists experience love. Faith cannot be proven in test tubes but most everyone has experienced faith to some degree, such as faith in parents, fellow-man, business, and God. God did not intend for the Holy Scriptures to be a science book but a revelation of Himself. Therefore, man has been busy since, trying to outsmart God by proving Him wrong. So it was when King Herod recognized the Christchild as a threat to his Kingdom and sent the decree out for all male babies to be put to death, thus a record of a foolish man trying to outsmart God. What can we say about the possibility of man reaching the moon and his circling the globe three times in 296 minutes? Is this a conflict with Scripture? No! The Scriptures tell us "And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it;" (Genesis 1:28). We need not fear that man will go beyond the Will of God, he is only obedient to the Word in subduing the earth. A good example is pointed out in Genesis 11:1-9 as the sons of Noah began to build the city and tower of Babel, God would not allow it, so their tongues were confused and the people scattered abroad. Therefore we can place our faith in a God who is Creator and who holds the world in His hand. A simple, childlike, but vital faith in Jesus Christ the Son of God will change anyone's contention that there is no God. Try it and prove Him.

Wild Young Should Be Left Alone

A warning against picking up young wildlife has been made by J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of law enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission.

This is the time of the year when young of the wild has a tendency at times to stray from the mother, and persons are inclined to want to make pets. This is particularly true of young deer.

Persons who capture and attempt to confine wild animals as pets are subject to arrest for violation. In addition, many of these young animals turn out to be not such good pets, and many times they revert to nature and injure their benefactors.

An additional risk in picking up these youngsters is in the rabies threat, which has been spreading, particularly among skunks. Skunks should be avoided for this, among other reasons, and domestic pets should be kept away from them at all times.

He also advised dog owners to keep them in control, so that babes of the wild will not be destroyed by roving dogs.

The football team had fumbled all afternoon. When a substitute, warming up in front of the bench, dropped a ball, it was too much for a rabid fan. "Send him in, coach!" he yelled from the stands. "He's ready."

Two Place In Houston Stock Show

Craig Coon and Maynard Greeson showed two steers each in the Houston Stock Show last week and placed three of the animals in the sale.

Coon entered his calf but it failed to place. He also showed Bill Weatherly's heavyweight shorthorn which placed second in its class.

Maynard placed 24th with his lightweight Hereford and won 6th with Joe Bob Johnson's shorthorn.

Clyde Weatherly and David McVey accompanied the students. The grand champion sold for $12,600 in the sale Friday morning.

A total of 224 steers were entered in the show.

Seeing all these new 1962 cars on the road makes you realize that you certainly have to give the American people a lot of credit.

Friona and Bovina residents filled all available space at Friona Lanes Monday evening to see the "tackily" dressed women bowlers. Fern Harris, left, and Patsy Sherrill, both of Bovina were chosen winners of the tacky party contest. Members of the league, which bowls regularly on Monday evenings, dressed appropriately for an old fashioned tacky party. Ed Hicks, owner, reported that there were so many clever costumes that judges had difficulty selecting winners.

BLACK NEWS

The Black Home Demonstration Club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Beryl Fish for a regular meeting. The president, Mrs. Presley, called the meeting to order, roll call was answered with household tips, poems and jokes. The minutes were read and approved and the financial report was given. The program was turned over to Dr. Lena Edwards, a guest speaker from Hereford. She is formerly from New Jersey, but is now the doctor for the labor camp in Hereford. She told of three main projects now underway to help the Latin American people there; promote more medical care, establish a credit union and forming a co-op to teach the migrant women to sew. A hospital is now under construction for the camp, it consists of two four bed wards, one two bed ward and one private ward for isolation downstairs and four bedrooms upstairs for the nurses. Dr. Edwards, who is a negro, has been a doctor for thirty eight years, she stated that she had seen more rat bites and burns in her eighteen months in Hereford than during her entire career. She has taught in colleges in Washington D.C. and also in Mexico, among other places; she will also help teach

Apply Nitrogen NOW, Before You Plant Cotton:

The easiest way yet to put nitrogen on your cotton land.

Why Applying Nitrogen Ahead of Planting Boosts Cotton Profits:

Cotton plants start using nitrogen to grow on the moment they sprout. That's why it's important to have the URA-GREEN on in time to get them off to a strong start. This early supply of nitrogen helps each plant to develop a long, healthy root system that reaches further into the sub-soil where moisture is more plentiful. It's smart to get this job out of the way early, any way you look at it—avoid the spring work rush and rains that keep you out of the field. Now is the time to Spencerize your cotton land with URA-GREEN to get that extra-profitable, extra yield!

Why It Pays To Do It With SPENCER URA-GREEN:

One application of Spencer URA-GREEN, the non-pressure nitrogen solution, gives crops an all-season supply of nitrogen. The secret is URA-GREEN's special blend of all three basic forms of nitrogen plant food: (1) quick-acting nitrate nitrogen for a fast start, (2) ammonia nitrogen for lasting nourishment, and (3) urea nitrogen that clings to the soil to resist leaching. The smooth, even release of nitrogen that Spencer URA-GREEN gives adds up to perfect grow-power. Cotton plants respond with big extra yields—usually enough to pay for the Spencerizing several times over! You can apply URA-GREEN with any tank equipment, or we will even do it for you.

Body Shop Opens Here

A new automobile body shop opened for business in Friona this week.

The construction of the A-1 Body Shop reached the stage of completion suitable for the commencement of business this week. Mrs. Jean Gilliam, bookkeeper for Friona Battery and Electric, is the owner of the new business.

The building formerly occupied by H & M Fertilizer in the northwest part of town on Highway 60 was chosen for the location.

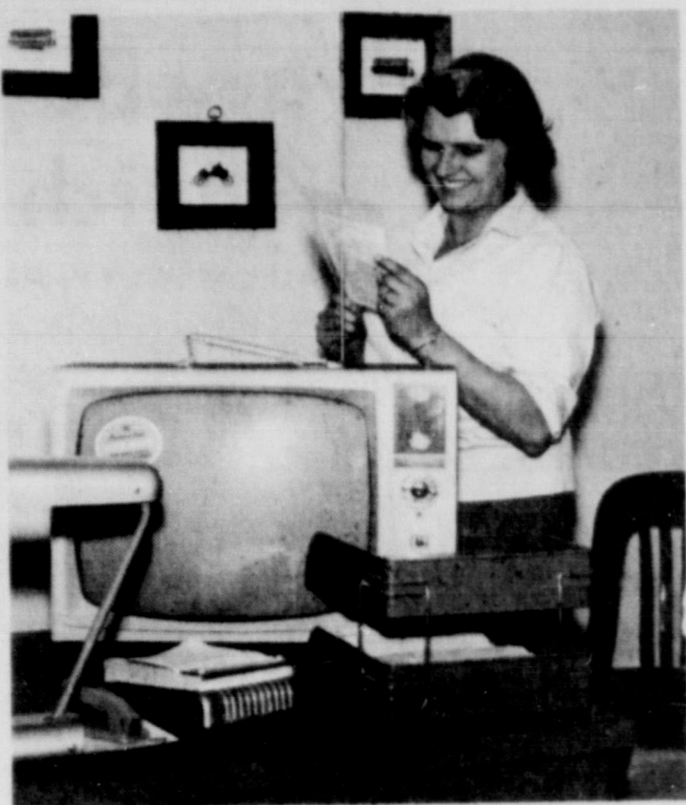

A new 17 inch Packard Bell television and a free paint job will be given away at the formal opening within the next two weeks. Coffee, Cokes and donuts will also be on hand.

"We will offer all types of body work and 24-hour wrecker service," Mrs. Gilliam said. She has worked for automobile stores for the past ten years.

Al Meeks, Pampa, will manage the business. He is married and has three children.

Don Chesser, Amarillo, will serve as wrecker driver and head the Auto Color Service Department.

Robert Dickey, Friona, made the required construction changes in the building.

Mrs. Jean Gilliam checks instructions on the television which will be given away at the formal opening of her new business, the A-1 Body Shop.

The study club is backing the presentation in an effort to make one of the classic events in the entertainment field available to the community.

Forward into the future

The second half-century of Girl Scouting in the United States begins with March 1962. It offers opportunities and challenges as great as any our organization has ever faced. As we move forward into the future, it is good to remind ourselves of the strength that lies in our heritage from the past. I believe we can also draw from the achievements of our predecessors a sense of continued direction.

We are fortunate in the vision of the men and women who built our movement. The character of Scouting as informal education was established at the very beginning. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, well in advance of most professional educators, founded his new "game" for boys and girls on the principle that young people learn the things they want to learn, become responsible through taking responsibility. In the first edition of Scoutmastership (1920), Baden-Powell wrote: "Happy citizenship developed through impulse from within rather than through imposition from without, individual efficiency encouraged and then harnessed for the good of the community—that is our scheme. At first Scouting used for these ends—now by experience we know where properly handled, it gains them."

The Girl Scout program as we know it in the United States is Baden-Powell's basic concept developed and adapted by a long line of amateurs like Juliette Low (whose rule of thumb was, "If it isn't right, the girls won't take to it, and if the girls won't take to it, it won't last") and distinguished educators like Dean James A. Russell of Teachers College, Columbia University. Specialists from other organizations have played a great role, contributors to the first completely American Girl Scout Handbook in 1920 and as consultants on sub-handbooks; in the two major studies of the program, begun in 1935 and 1955 respectively on smaller projects as needed. The happy combination of intuition and technical expertise applied in practical terms of girls' needs

d-expertness, always girls' needs and interests, has kept our program not only in step with but a bit ahead of the times.

We can be proud of the leadership our organization has taken, through the years, in many areas of American life. Perhaps most important is the matter of preparing girls for the dual role of twentieth-century woman: motherhood and homemaking plus active citizenship outside the home. Baden-Powell in England and Juliette Low in this country were among the first to recognize that training in the traditional womanly virtues could and must be combined with training for responsible participation in civic affairs. Not only the content of the Girl Scout program but the way it is carried out in troops contributes to this end. It is no accident that from Brownie age onward, Girl Scouts learn to govern themselves in the troop with increasing effectiveness, to take initiative in planning their own group activities, to evaluate the results of their planning, to share the work.
Girl Scouting was also among the earliest groups offering an opportunity for women and girls to serve others in an organized way, on a large scale. In the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive during World War I, Girl Scouts were sixth among sixty-five women's organizations in total bond sales. We have continued our efforts to discover more and better opportunities for meaningful service by girls--ranging from mass efforts like the "Clothes for Friendship" drive after World War II, which provided clothing for more than 150,000 children in Europe and Asia, to the Service Aide programs for Senior Girl Scouts, which make it possible for teen-agers to volunteer as individuals for work at an almost adult level in community agencies.

Camping comes to mind at once in a list of Girl Scout "firsts." In 1912 it was a distinct novelty for girls to do any kind of camping--and Girl Scouts did. In 1921 Girl Scouts pioneered in organized day camping, now such a commonplace for our children. In 1923, Girl Scouts were in the vanguard of the movement to set health and safety standards for camping. The Girl Scout philosophy of camp self-government, of small living units, of program stemming from the resources of site and campers, has profoundly influenced the thinking of many other agencies, and of private camp operators as well. Girl Scout experiments with a variety of elements in camp program--vocational exploration, language units, conservation projects, back packing, wilderness camping, and many more--have demonstrated to the nation an ever-widening range of possibilities for enrichment through outdoor activities.
Our record in the training of volunteers is equally noteworthy. Girl Scout leaders have always been eager learners, and the effort to give them the best possible grounding in both philosophy and skills began early in the organization's history. The first National Training School was held at the Winsor School, Boston, in the summer of 1917. Since that time the National Organization has varied its training program to suit different stages of growth. Leader training through special college courses--a network of national training schools--"flying squads" of national trainers--these and other devices have been used in many different combinations. But by far the greatest training job is, and for many years has been, done by local Girl Scout councils. Today the national training effort is largely concentrated on providing councils with suggestions and materials, keeping them in touch with the latest and most effective techniques of instruction. Courses are given by national staff members at Edith Macy Training School, in three other national centers (Asilomar, California, Yellow Springs, Ohio, and Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania), and in cities visited by the Camping and Arts Caravans. In this direct training, there is increasing emphasis on reaching council administrators, both volunteer and professional.

Part of our unique heritage is our membership in the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. We have the privilege of sharing ideas and activities, as well as the Promise and Laws to which we all subscribe, with sisters in more than fifty countries around the world. The Juliette Low World Friendship Fund, started in 1927, has made possible a lively exchange of visitors, both girl and adult, between this country and others in the World Association. By meeting and talking with these exchangees, by contributing to the Fund, by reading about and corresponding with sister Guides and Scouts, millions of girls have discovered international friendship as a living, personal reality.

Clearly, our plans for the immediate future are simply the next giant step in a long line of progress. For the task that will occupy us in the months to come is nothing less than preparing for program change; change growing out of the needs expressed by girls and leaders in the recent study of Girl Scout program. In the fall of 1963, for the first time in our history, we shall have a complete set of new handbooks, providing one program designed for continuous progression through its age levels. Opening this treasure chest will be one of the greatest adventures that Girl Scouting has ever offered. You will find in it the means of continuing and extending our leadership.
Congratulations to all of us on this forward-looking Fiftieth Birthday! THE END

AT COUNTY MEETING

Specialists Give Views On Vital Farm Topics

George Warren, grass specialist; Jack Patterson, chairman of county program building committee; and James Murphey, farm management specialist.

Vital farming information gleaned from years of experience and experimentation was packed into a two hour presentation by four farm specialists at a county meeting in Hub Friday at 2 p.m.

Although the weather was favorable for farm operations, 49 area farmers attended the meeting which was scheduled by County Agent Deryl Coker.

Billy C. Gunter, area agronomist, stressed the importance of soil testing in determining the proper fertilizer needs. Proper balancing of nitrogen and phosphorous is needed for the particular crop and will not be the same for wheat, grain sorghum or cotton. Grain sorghum uses a lot of nitrogen where cotton needs more phosphorous, according to Gunter.

Since phosphorous will not move in the soil with the moisture as will nitrogen, is most efficient to "bake in" phosphorous so that it will be within a few inches of the plant roots and deep enough to remain below the dry topsoil, Gunter continued.

Dave Sherrill, area irrigation specialist, was then introduced by Coker. Sherrill, like the other three speakers, projected slides, charts and diagrams to demonstrate his points.

He stressed the value of cotton burrs as keeping soil open and aiding in water saturation while at the same time serving as a fertilizing agent. Application of six tons of burrs per acre resulted in an increase of 228 pounds of cotton lint per acre over a five year period, Sherrill stated.

Sherrill showed color slides of various irrigation practices. One such slide showed a field with a high spot in the center which was flooded on both ends. "Water is being wasted at all points here," he said in referring to the picture. Water was penetrating far below the root zone in the flooded places while it was not reaching the roots in the high area.

"Water is too valuable for us to enjoy its waste," he concluded.

Jim Murphey, farm management specialist, discussed the economics of farm management and necessary considerations when seeking maximum net return on farm investment.

"It is sometimes desirable to grow a crop at a loss if it fits in with the overall picture," he said. For instance, barley could be grown at a loss if it resulted in profit when fed to cattle.

"We must consider each crop on the basis of how it fits in with the total farm program and not on its individual crop merit," he said. "Each farm should have check plots so that changes in fertilizer and irrigation practices could be checked and measured as to results in terms of dollars and cents return," he added.

George Warren, grass specialist concluded the meeting with a discussion of the uses of various grasses both as pasture and for erosion control.

Proper grassing of tailwater and drainage ditches will greatly reduce the cutting erosion of soil.

Coffee was provided by Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply.

trip to National 4-H Congress, too. Four - H members are now making plans to present 12 to 15 method demonstrations in the County 4-H Method Demonstration Contest, March 31, in the Courthouse in Farwell.

First place winner will compete in the District Contest in Canyon on April 28. First and second place winners in the Senior division will compete in the State Contest, June 6-7. State winners will compete in the National Contest in November.

Method demonstrations may be planned and presented in the following awards programs. More details can be obtained from organization leaders and Extension Agents.

Besides these contests Farmer County 4-H members take part in Dress Revue, Bake Show, Favorite Foods Show, Livestock Shows, National 4-H Club Week activities, Achievement Awards Program, Crop Production Contest, and picnics and recreation.

Yes, we salute all 4-H members, their parents, organization leaders, subject matter leaders and friends of 4-H.

James Murphey, farm management specialist, discusses the economics of farm operation at the county meeting Friday at Hub. Charts and diagrams were used to demonstrate means of balancing costs and returns through a well planned farm program.

Did you know there is now a meat ball press on the market. This simple little gadget forms round, uniform meat balls in seconds. It is a real time saver when you're cooking meat ball dishes for the family or for large groups.

This cup shaped meat ball press has easy grip scissor action handles and double scoops. Your hands stay perfectly clean and the uniform size and shape of meat balls adds to the attractiveness of your dish.

A number of new items have been developed since the advent of the bouffant hair styles, created by leading hairdressers. Two of them would be most convenient for any homemaker, but especially for one who does her own hair.

There is a specially constructed hair brush which is called a "bouffant tease brush." It has a curved handle and thumb rest, which gives a person greater control for manipulation.

With this brush you can copy the bouffant hair styles very easily. It is especially designed for roughing hair for fullness then teasing outer hair into place.

The other is a turban that is almost magic. It stays in place without a pin or clip. The material of which it is made clings to itself and keeps hairdos unmessed. When worn outdoors this turban protects your hair from wind, spray or fog. In the bath tub or shower it guards against moist air.

Think such a turban can be purchased for about $1.

Clubbers Meet In Coffe Home

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

by James E. Edwards

If one vital fact stands out from All this it's that personalized shoe fitting is absolutely essential in the case of children. To assume that the shoe is simply a foot-covering, and that if there's ample grow-room at the toes it's an adequate fit is obviously a serious mistake. In fact, right here is the root of a good deal of child foot ills stemming from improper or ill-fitted shoes, or self-fitted shoes. If the shoe is such an elastic, mobile structure, especially in a child, then the shoe must be adapted as an article of functional engineering to adjust to all the foot's changes. (Cont)

HD Agent Advises Care In Pruning Trees And Shrubs

"Pruning trees and shrubs is a serious operation and should be done with extreme care," stated the HD Agent to 84 homemakers in the 8 HD Clubs in the county.

The purpose of pruning is to remove unwanted growth of trees, shrubs and rose bushes. Main reasons for pruning are for health, appearance, safety, and disease control.

Dead wood or winter-killed growth should be pruned, as well as parts of plants broken by weather conditions such as heavy ice, wind, or lightning.

Sometimes older plants need pruning to remove stems and branches to encourage new growth. If trees and shrubs have been injured by disease or insects these parts of the plants should be pruned and parts burned. Be sure to disinfect all pruning tools used on diseased parts by dipping them in 70 percent denatured alcohol before each cut is made to prevent the disease from spreading.

Pruning for appearance is one of the least important reasons and seldom is worth the job. However, pruning plants to balance the size and shape may add to the overall landscape appearance.

Avoid topping or dehorning large trees unless some serious damage makes it necessary. Thinning and shaping large trees should be done by an experienced arborist who knows the type of tree, its needs, and proper time of the year to perform the operations.

According to a bulletin Modern Pruning Methods "removal of a large portion of the top of any tree may favor fungus and insect attack, and increase the possibility of bark scalding due to sudden exposure of the tender tissues to strong sun rays. Removal of many small branches is more desirable."

Pruning ornamental shrubs and small flowering trees depends on the growth and blooming habits of the plant. Shrubs and trees that bloom from early summer until fall usually form flowers on shoots that have been produced early in the same season. This group of plants should be pruned while they are dormant, March or after the danger of late frost is past are recommended pruning times. New growth stimulated by pruning will be killed by frost if pruning is done too early.

Most shrubs and small trees which bloom during the spring produce their flowers on the growth that was made the previous year. These spring blooming plants should be pruned immediately after they have finished blooming. Pruning may be done for flower arrangements in the home.

Nandinas that have long cane stems from the ground should be pruned to encourage new growth. However, to keep the height of the shrub and encourage bushiness prune one third of the tall, lanky stalks to one inch of ground level. New growth will become one and one half to two feet in height the first year. Then next year prune another third of the stalks. This practice should be done as the nandina becomes stalk.

All stubs or lips of wood should be removed from large wounds for good healing. Following the operation the wound should be painted with orange shellac. When the shellac has dried a wound dressing or tree paint should be applied over all of the exposed area.

Orange shellac is used as a wound paint primarily because it is the safest such material known. It does not interfere with callus formation. However, it does not last for a long period. In order to get longer lasting protection, it is necessary to use an asphalt base tree paint.

For more information and pictures of how to prune ask for the new bulletin Modern Pruning Methods. This bulletin is free in the offices of Miss Musil and Deryl Coker, Extension Agents in the Courthouse.

HD Agent's Notes

BY MISS ETTIE MUSIL

This is National 4-H Club Week, March 3 to 10. Thousands of 4-H club members in the nation are being recognized for their work in the 4-H club program.

Of course, Farmer County is proud of the 178 members in the five joint community clubs. Years ago we had separate boys and girls clubs. Since October of 1961 all clubs have been reorganized into joint community clubs. All 4-H clubs meet at night making it possible for both mothers and dads to attend. Parents are always invited and urged to attend.

Officers and organization leaders have been elected for Friona, Lazbuddie, Farwell, Rhea, and Jr. Leadership 4-H Clubs. Programs have been planned for a year in advance including 4-H members and other local resource people as guest speakers. Organization leaders assist in the general organization of the clubs.

We would like to give special recognition to all the members of the clubs and to the officers. Officers of the Friona 4-H Club are: president, Keith Black, vice president, Troy Bass, council delegate, Betty Bass, alternate delegate, Darla Howell, secretary-treasurer, Jim Bob Jones, reporter, Barbara Bracken, and Recreation chairman, Sherri Tannahill. Organization leader is Howard Love.

Officers of the Lazbuddie 4-H Club are president, Danny Miller, vice president, Katie Blackstone, council delegate, Linda Gleason, alternate delegate, Marsha Schuman, secretary-treasurer, Judy Koelzer, reporter, Adrian King, and recreation chairman, John Gulley. Organization leaders are Mrs. Harvey Blackstone and Freeman Davis.

Farwell 4-H Club officers are Reba Lesly, president, vice president, Doyle Johnson, secretary-treasurer, Janis Billingsley, reporter, Peggy Lesly, council delegate, Bruce Billingsley, alternate delegate, Edith Ann Walling, recreation chairman, Tina Rundell. Organization leaders are Mrs. U. L. Lesly and Mrs. Bob Anderson.

Officers of Jr. Leadership 4-H Club are president, Bobby Tomlinson, vice president, Richard Chitwood, secretary-treasurer, Janis Billingsley, reporter, Reba Lesly, council delegate, Gary Foster, recreation, Viane Lesly, and parliamentarian, Mary Coffe.

Organization leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Billingsley, and Mr. and Mrs. Dee Chitwood.

Rhea 4-H Club officers are president Greta Mears, vice president, Jay Potts, secretary-treasurer, Raymond Drager, council delegate, Jim Schlenker, recreation chairman, Terry Schueler, and reporter, Sharon Martensen. Organization leaders are Mrs. Carl Schlenker and Franklin Bauer.

All clubs are now dividing club members into small groups of 4 to 6 for subject matter groups. Each small group of boys or girls interested in foods, clothing, home beautification and gardening, field crops, livestock, and home improvement are organizing the subject matter groups.

Boys and girls of these groups select their own leader who will teach and guide them in the particular subject. All subject matter leaders will be trained by the Extension Agents before teaching their small groups. Leader training will begin as soon as most of the small groups have been organized with leader.

More individual assistance can be provided to the 4-H members by the subject matter leader. Leaders are learning new practices for themselves as they are teaching boys and girls.

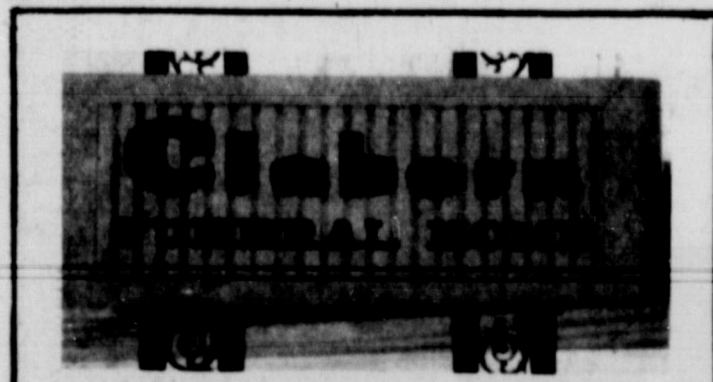

Junior leaders have a very important part in the county 4-H program. They are club members in each club who are 14 years of old and have done a good job in their own projects and leadership.

Junior leaders assist the subject matter and organization leaders. They help to conduct regular club events and group activities. They assist younger members with method demonstrations and record books.

Record books are an important part of 4-H for special awards, as well as allowing members to see what they have done in their projects or result demonstrations. Record books are due in August for county judging in achievement electric, home economics, agricultural, automotive, beautification of home grounds, beef, canning, clothing, dairy foods, dress revue, entomology, field crops, garden, home improvement, leadership, safety, swine, citizenship.

Last year Richard Chitwood was awarded a $400 college scholarship and an all expense trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago. This award was presented to Richard for his outstanding record book in the Santa Fe Award. Other club members in the county have a chance if they try hard.

Method Demonstration Contests in the County, District, and State are another means of working hard to be awarded a

It is equipped with a flat bed with a single hoist dump and is to be used for hauling gravel for street repair and for trash collection when necessary.

Part of the effects of wind, trash and a carelessly placed fire are evident in the blackened area shown in the above picture, but the real cost to Friona residents is not so readily visible. More care in placing such fires could save money, property, lives, time and insurance premiums.

Most staff members of Plains Publishers and Friona Star wound up last week with the feeling "this has been a hectic one". Like every other organization, we have our good times and bad ones, Dave McReynolds, former Star editor used to say, "Chicken one day and feathers the next."

Judging by his standards, last week was definitely a "feathers" week from several standpoints. After reading Bob Hamilton's column in the Kress News, though, most of us decided that we really didn't have the "worst time of anybody."

us will consider them when we begin to feel sorry for ourselves, we will probably soon be counting our lucky stars for all the things that didn't happen to us.

"Been wondering why the paper was late (if that can be the proper term to use) last week?"

Well, it was just one of those series of unfortunate incidents we always dread and always want to wake up from to find it only a nightmare.

It all started when I covered up the printing plant (that's Plains Publishers) with a special editor on The Plains Farmer, my other paper. This should have been enough. But then Mrs. Denney (she's the Kress News reporter) and I got our signals crossed, and I couldn't find her copy to fill the paper with. And this should have been enough. But it wasn't.

Then the papers were shipped two days late by bus, taking the wrong route and arriving at my office on Saturday.

Anything else? Yep. Not only did I lose three nights sleep worrying about the papers while feeding our two weeks old baby, our clothes washer began to leak all over my darkroom, the dryer quit, the television quit, the sand began to blow, and my wife developed the most beautiful case of mumps you ever saw.

I started looking in my old G. I. bag I was issued to have punched in cases like this.

Apparently things were brighter for Bob when he was in our plant Wednesday morning. His Kress News Papers were printed on time after having been filled with copy especially written for that edition and he reported that his wife was making satisfactory progress.

Hearing Ma Fallwell's voice on the telephone Tuesday morning was an unexpected pleasure. After having spent several months in Arkansas, Mrs. Fallwell is back at her old stand serving meals.

If current reports are true, Friona will soon have its FIRST drive-in restaurant. Then, too, we will soon have our FIRST carpet store. Gage Carpet Company of Muleshoe is opening a unit in the Schueler building formerly occupied by Ed White's Grocery.

Who said Friona wasn't on the march?

A few years ago the school system at San Angelo attracted nationwide attention. At that time it was reported that one of the most up-to-date plants in the United States had been completed in this Texas city. Several Friona elementary teachers plan to spend Friday visiting school at San Angelo. Perhaps we can prevail upon Decima Beene, June Rhodes, Maurine Dunn or Gladys McVey to tell us all about it when they return.

A word of advice. Don't give it.
