

The Press Battles for its Freedom

JOHN PETER ZENGER was arrested for printing and publishing several seditious libels dispersed throughout his journal or newspapers.

Zenger was a New York printer in the days when Governor Cosby ruled the colony. Governor Cosby ruled in such an autocratic, overbearing manner that several indignant citizens started a newspaper to accuse the public against his tyranny. Zenger undertook to publish the newspaper.

Zenger was thrown into prison, and his bail was fixed at 500 pounds, a large sum for those days and quite beyond his ability to furnish. He stayed in jail for months, and his situation appeared hopeless.

The case finally was called to the attention of Andrew Hamilton, a distinguished Pennsylvania lawyer, who took up Zenger's cause as a public service. Hamilton forced the case to trial, and his speech to the jury, which led to Zenger's acquittal, is a ringing statement of what the press in America must still vigilantly fight for.

All men have the right, Hamilton maintained, publicly to remonstrate the abuses of power, and to assert with courage the sense they have of the blessing of liberty, and their resolution at all hazards to preserve it.

Today in our country encroachments by governments and private interests alike upon freedom of the press are counter to law. Nevertheless, even today the press must battle constantly to keep these freedoms intact.

Pineapple Salad Supreme Makes Festive Plate When Party Time Arrives

Salad should be colorful and gay for the decorative effect on table and for contrast in taste and texture. In today's recipe refreshing pineapple slices combine with avocado slices and cubes of tomato-pineapple aspic for a main course salad that will add sparkling elegance to a very special luncheon. It's designed to please the feminine eye.

Select an odd artistic arrangement of the ingredients and the choice of dressing all help to make this decorative and appetizing salad.

PINEAPPLE SALAD SUPREME

Shredded lettuce
8 slices canned pineapple
Cubes of tomato-pineapple aspic

1 avocado
Center Romaine leaves
Mint sprigs

Tomato-Pineapple Aspic

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling hot tomato juice

1/2 cup pineapple juice
Juice of 1 lemon

For salad arrange a flat bed of shredded lettuce on a salad plate. Cut 2 pineapple rings into halves and lay on lettuce to form a pineapple shape. Center with cubes of tomato-pineapple aspic. Place 3 avocado slices at base of pineapple as shown. Decorate with 4 small Romaine leaves. Place sprigs of mint for the pineapple leaves at the top. Serve with French or creamy type dressing.

Aspic: Dissolve gelatin in boiling tomato juice. Add cold pineapple juice and lemon juice. Chill until firm in ice cube tray or small shallow pan. Cut in cubes. Serves 4.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Bob Montgomery, Manager

MOTHER'S DAY CUSTOM

Telephones will be ringing all over the country Sunday, May 12, when the annual custom of Mother's Day Long Distance calling is observed once again.

Nowadays, it seems almost every family has at least one "branch" separated from the rest by hundreds or even thousands of miles. A call home on Mother's Day is always a special event — even though reunions by Long Distance may be pretty frequent throughout the rest of the year, too.

If you're planning a call on Mother's Day this year, don't forget the money-saving way to do it: call station-to-station. Rates are approximately 1-3 lower than on person-to-person calls.

And as usual — to save time, call by number. Your Long Distance calls will go through twice as fast if you can give the operator the out-of-town number you're calling.

GIVE HER A TELEPHONE

While I'm on the subject, I'd like to offer another Mother's Day suggestion.

Additional telephones make useful gifts. They're decorative, too, when you select one of the eight available colors. An additional-phone for kitchen or bedroom, or next to the sewing table, is the kind of gift that will make sense to a mother or grandmother. She'll remember and appreciate it all year long, because it will always be as useful as the day it's installed.

It's easy to arrange gift service, even for someone who lives in another city.

Just call the telephone business office. We'll take it from there.

DON DAVIS CALLING

Don Davis, our telephone news reporter (he writes the leaflet that comes with your monthly telephone bill, has received a number of letters telling of exciting, touching, or humorous real-life experiences in which the telephone played a major part.

Don is hoping to collect more stories like these. Are there any telephone calls you'll never forget?

If such an experience especially stands out in your memory and you'd care to tell him about it, he'd appreciate hearing from you.

Just write Don Davis, care of the telephone business office, Fort Stockton. We'll forward your letter to him.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

for recreational reading. The city or county libraries available here. A part of plans for the improvement of the school, the need for well-organized health programs also stressed.

Sanderson (Terrell County) which includes 2,635 square miles of Terrell County, has a population of $4,400,208 with a tax rate of $1.37 for the maintenance and $0.38 for the redemption of a bonded indebtedness of approximately $79,000. This year the patrons of the school district raised their property value 16 per cent.

The school has a membership of approximately 602 pupils of which 284 in the first eight grades and 318 in the upper four. Children in the elementary grades are housed in two buildings on separate campuses—the first grades in the first building through seven grades in the second building. The eighth grade was housed in the high school building in the upper four grades.

FINDINGS
Community Relations
There was evidence that the school and patrons of the community work harmoniously and cooperatively for the general good of the school.

School Board and Administration
The school board has developed a plan available to school employees and the public the policies governing the operation of the school. The superintendent also has written policies governing the administration of the school which have been duplicated and made available to staff members.

Teaching Personnel
Teachers are all teaching in their own minor fields except two for whom special approval was granted by the Texas Education Agency.
Special Services
The school provides the services of a librarian for the high school and in this capacity two of the school day and the other one-third. The school Spanish teacher, who is a trained librarian, administrative services in the elementary grades in addition to several classes in reading in elementary grades with the elementary grades and the high school have central libraries which are well organized and well administered.

The school does not have regular health services but the county health officer who is the only doctor in the county had administered vaccination and immunization shots to some of the students.

Teachers have tested pupils' eyesight and hearing.

5. Counseling and Guidance
The school has an organized plan for counseling and guidance which is under the direction of the high school principal and the part-time elementary principal. Testing is done regularly and included in the pupils' records or folders. Cumulative records for all pupils are kept which give much important information about pupils in addition to academic grades. The school is to be commended for the completeness of these records and for their organization in such a way as to make them easily accessible and useful to teachers.

6. Pupil Activities
In addition to a regularly scheduled activity period, pupils are given an opportunity to participate in a number of clubs which include Student Council, Future Farmers and Homemakers, Teen-Age Library Association, Honor Society, Future Teachers and Spanish Club. These organizations are affiliated with both the state and national organizations.

7. Health and Physical Education Instruction
The school has an organized program for health and physical education. Health and physical education are scheduled for one hour. Physical education includes a number of competitive sports in which most all students participate.

The athletic program (competitive sports) is largely extra-curricular.

8. Self-Appraisal of Instructional Program

The administrator and teachers have participated in a self-appraisal of the instructional program. This year a questionnaire was sent to recent graduates for the purpose of determining the adequacy of the high school curriculum in meeting their needs after graduation. The plan is to continue to keep an information file on graduates for the purpose of continuously appraising the instructional program.

A survey has been made of drop-outs to determine causes.

9. The School Plant

The school plant, which included three classroom buildings, a band hall and agriculture shop, were in good state of repair and were well maintained though the elementary building was quite old.

It was the opinion of the visiting committee that the community has evidenced good faith in supporting the school, that the instructional program is fundamentally sound and that facilities (materials, supplies and equipment) for carrying on the instructional program are in most cases adequate. There were, however, several aspects of the school program which should be studied with the view to improvement as soon as possible:

One or two teachers in the elementary grades had pupil overloads.

Some of the high school teachers had excessively heavy loads. Some did not have conference periods each day but taught or were assigned to pupil groups every period.
The entire administrative staff seemed to be carrying excessive loads especially the high school principal who in addition to administrative duties and supervision, teaches two classes, directs the counseling and guidance program, and maintains the teachers' registers.
Much of the furniture in the elementary school is obsolete and does not permit flexibility in grouping students for instruction as well as for various activities.
Recommendation
It is recommended that the Sanderson CSD be continued as an accredited school and that the superintendent file a progress report on improvements with the Division of Accreditation for the school year 1957-58.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Armor and Mrs. T. H. Fletcher of San Antonio visited here the first of the week in the home of their sister, Mrs. L. H. Gilbreath, and family.

Texans will be a long time cleaning up from one of the worst flood disasters in the state's history. Nearly 10,000 persons were forced out of their homes and some 35,000 square miles were affected, according to state officials.

State, national and private agencies are cooperating to help the flood victims. At the request of Gov. Price Daniel, Pres. Eisenhower designated the flooded counties as "major disaster areas" and brought an immediate flow of funds, equipment and supplies to aid State Disaster Relief Headquarters.

Gov. Daniel also asked the Legislature for $20,000 to replenish the National Guard's fund for emergency work.

As waters receded in most areas, people began to take stock of the future. Though crop damage was estimated as high as $30,000,000, most farmers took a long-range view.

Many missed the corn planting season and will have to switch to orghum or some other crop. And others have put cattle back on dry feed after seeing the best pasture in years ruined by floods. "But," they say, "at least it's wet!"

Water conservationists point to the flood-ruined areas as Exhibit A in the case for more dams and lakes. Rampaging rivers could be held in check, they say, saving top soil and water for future use.

Long Talk

Longest filibuster in Texas Senate history brought only a "moral victory" for opponents of school segregation bills.

Sens. Abraham Kazen, Jr., and Henry Gonzalez teamed up to talk 26 hours and 2 minutes against a bill to allow school boards to assign pupils to certain schools. When they finally quit, their colleagues passed the measure and went it back to the House for concurrence on a minor amendment.

Opponents agreed to delay for a few days taking up other segregation bills.

Previous filibuster record was 21 hours and 25 minutes set in 1949 by opponents of a medical bill.

Kazen and Gonzalez were aided by prolonged questions from other anti-segregation-minded senators.

ICT REPORT

Senate ICT Committee's voluminous report had no kind words for those who had been connected with the $4,000,000 failure.

It said the company was founded contrary to law and operated in a negligent, haphazard and downright fraudulent manner. It sharply criticized Ben Jack Cage, onetime ICT manager, and labor leaders who had helped Cage sell union people on investing in ICT. Union officials have been compromised, it said, by "lavish entertainment" or payment of money. Their attitude was called "negligent or at least complacent."

Committee made 20 recommendations for tightening laws to prevent future ICTs. One would make insurance company officials criminally liable for false statements. Another would place insurance securities under supervision of a securities commission.

Naturopaths Get Set

Naturopaths are in a worse quandary than ever now that the State Supreme Court has ruled their license invalid.

This upheld a lower court ruling that the 1949 licensing law was unconstitutional.

Texas Naturopaths will be in court again next week when Ex-Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe comes to trial. Cox is charged with consenting to accept a bribe from TNA member in return for killing a bill outlawing naturopathy.

Insurance Reorganization

Gov. Daniel is riding a crest of triumph after House passage of his plan to reorganize the Insurance Commission. After weeks of wrangling and nip-and-tuck committee votes, final approval was by a lop-sided 109-25.

House version called for a 3-man board all to be appointed by the governor. Senate already has passed a similar bill calling for a part-time board.

Both versions would remove from office John Osorio, the present commission chairman, and member Mark Wentz. Opposition by their friends in the Legislature was one of the main obstacles to reorganization passage. Joe P. Gibbs, the third member of the commission, was appointed recently to serve temporarily.

Thumbs Down

In the push to clear the Legislative calendars, a lot of bills are falling by the wayside. Measures which already have hit the dust include those to: Abolish the property tax on automobiles and substitute higher registration fees; provide for re-districting of county precincts; require county judges to be lawyers; allow cities on local option to elect officials for four years instead of two; raise the minimum age for senators from 26 to 30 and the minimum for representatives from 21 to 25; require persons over 60 to obtain an annual exemption certificate to vote; prohibit cities from annexing property across county lines; and allow cities to issue bonds to build municipal parking lots.

Approved

Measures which apparently have made the grade: Allow use of tax money to advertise the state of Texas; levy penalties for tossing litter on public roads, parks and benches; make it unlawful to carry switchblade knife; permit skipping of jury trials in lunacy cases; create a new Securities Commission to handle regulation now divided between the Insurance Commission and Secretary of State's office; create a system of full-time paid supervisors for paroled convicts; and define rights of REA co-ops to operate in areas annexed by cities.

The reason for the call was his offense at something we had written some 2 or 3 years ago — we know not what. We could make no apologies since we knew neither the nature nor the person of the offense, if any. Whatever it was, at the time we felt sure he deserved it.

We learned the next day — not the caller, but the apparent immediate condition of the night before — and also that he was with two-

But because of the situation, and circumstances, we still can't apologize.

Caution Urged In Flagrant Use Of Tranquilizers

The Big Three in America today are reserpine, chlorpromazine, and meprobamate. They are tranquilizing drugs — so-called "happy pills". And as more and more people take them for real and imagined tensions, they are fast becoming household words.

Americans last year spent well over $150 million for various types. A single drug company reported the sale of 30 billion tablets during the first 10 months of '56, and indicated that sales were expected to double in 1957.

Scientific studies indicate that the drugs have great value in the treatment of some types of mental illness, but when healthy people, for no other reason than that they had a bad day at the office or that the children have been unusually noisy, begin eating them like popcorn, an insidious danger is in the making.

Like other valuable drugs, tranquilizers can be harmful physically and mentally. Medical researchers have reported that in some cases there is a tendency toward habit formation. In a few cases unpleasant side reactions have occurred. Some users have been depressed rather than calmed. Calm users have become excited. Some reactions have been severe enough to require hospitalization and extensive treatment. And only time can tell whether prolonged use will permanently damage the nervous system.

Last September some 700 of the nation's foremost authorities on mental illness met to discuss tranquilizers and some of the problems of their wide usage. The conference concluded that the drugs do evidently relieve tensions in mentally disturbed persons, but for every research team reporting positive results, another reported failure in trying to duplicate these results.

Certain tranquilizers influence the release of a body chemical called serotonin — a hormone found most heavily concentrated in the brain. What the chemical does is not yet fully understood, but present belief is that it acts as a switch to turn moods on and off by sending impulses along the pathways of the central nervous system. Enough serotonin in the brain might actually be a factor in sanity. When the role of this hormone is fully known we may have the final answer to how certain tranquilizers produce their effects.

More than a dozen tranquilizers are already on the market. Some are used very beneficially in hospitals; others by private physicians in their practice. All are potentially powerful medical tools. But it will take time — perhaps years — to test them thoroughly. Until that day comes, all of us would do well to remember that a certain amount of tension and anxiety is a part of normal life. Peace of mind and zestful living does not yet come in pills. It comes from facing our problems and working to solve them. In any event the so-called tranquilizers should only be taken under the direction of a physician.
