By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

For the 72nd time in Texas, the Legislature will convene in a special session on October 14.

Throughout the summer there was lively debate as to whether such a step should be taken. Gov. Price Daniel put an end to speculation by setting the date. Purpose: to enact laws in regard to lobby control representation before state agencies, crime study and water development.

Calling special sessions has been more the custom of Texas governors than not. Of the 71 previously called since Texas became a state, 41 have fallen in the 46-year period since 1911 almost one a year.

Almost all Governor Daniel's predecessors in the past 30 years called lawmakers back at least once. (Exceptions: Beauford Jester and W. Lee O'Daniel.) Gov. Dan Moody holds the record for keeping the legislature busy. In 10 months of 1929 and 1930 he called five special sessions.

Runners-up are Gov. Miriam Ferguson, who called four in the 1933 and 1934 period, and Gov. Ross Sterling, who called four in 1931 and '32. Gov. James V. Allred called three in 1935 and '36 and two more in 1936-'37.

In those days a legislator had to keep his bag packed.

What were the issues that kept the lawmakers so busy in ones they're working on today

In the days of Gov. Moody's five calls, regular sessions were only 60 days, so a lot of routine business overflowed. But he also called their attention to special problems. Many sound familiar improvement of the Prison system "along modern and scientific lines," regulation of securities, sales, investigation of charges against a state official. At one time Governor Moody vetoed all appropriations and told the legthe budget.

Gov. Sterling asked legislators to enact a program to conserve natural resources, particularly oil and gas, and to help farmers. hard hit by sagging cotton prices. Sterling also had a states rights vs. federal courts problem in that the U.S. Supreme Court had negated Texas' oil proration

Mrs. Ferguson had to call lawmakers back again and again to wrestle with the "hard times" of the thirties. Relief bonds to help unemployed and destitute were passed. In one of her calls, Mrs. Ferguson, with an eye for housewifely problems, called on lawmakers to "make needed appropriations for refrigeration in the Governor's Mansion.

Gov. Allred's special sessions dealt with some of the most tiring issues of the thirties. He asked for liquor selling regulations following the repeal of Prohibition and a law banning pari-mutual betting at race tracks. He also asked for money for old age pensions ($15 a month in those days) and for more taxes to get the general revenue fund out of the red.

In most cases, the governors got the laws they wanted passed sometimes calling one session to end another, simetimes in a session as short as nine days. Water Program Okayed

In one area - water development legislators have their work cut out for them.

A 150-member statewide wat er committee approved a threepoint program proposed by the governor. It calls for:

1. Appropriating $1,204,000 to set up a planning division under the State Water Board.

2. Laws enabling the state to contract for water storage space in federal reservoirs.

3. An all-out push to rally support for passage of the $200, 000 water bond amendment to be voted on Nov. 5. Harry Provence. Waco editor, is chairman of the campaign committee. Lon-C. Hill, Corpus Christi businessnan, is co-chairman

Window Jumping Deferred

Several people in Austin have suggested forming an "I'm Bored with BenJack Club."

Their attitude stems from Promotor BenJack Cage's refusal to testify about his part in ICT affairs during his appearances in Austin. During his flambouyant return to Texas several weeks ago Cage promised to tell things about the bankrupt companies' affairs that "would have people jumping out of windows".

Cage stayed only 10 minutes when he appeared before the Travis County grand jury. When called by the House investigating committee, he invoked the Texas brand of the Fifth Amendment and refused to testify.

If sensational information is to be revealed, it apparently will not come until Cage comes to rial in Dallas on charge bezzling ICT funds.

Officer Hits Traffic Law Texas is behind other states in traffic regulations and ahead on traffic accidents, says a Texas safety official.

C. G. Conner, assistant chief of the Highway Patrol, said Texas has one of the highest traffic death tolls in the nation. It's as much as three times as safe to drive in some other states where more up-to-date traffic laws are being enforced, he said.

Texas had some 250,000 accidents last year, Conner reported,

I just set it and forget it!

Dinner cooks itself . . . Electrically!

Yes, for Mrs. Modern, cooking's as easy as the flick of a wrist. She simply puts food for a meal in her automatic electric oven, sets the controls, and she's free to go. The oven turns itself on at a pre-set time, cooks dinner to perfection, then turns itself off.

You, too, can be free from kitchen captivity. Cook the carefree way. Cook with a wonderfully clean, cool, automatic electric range!

Better try it soon-Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Sedan I

There seem to be two kinds of roads around the country lately. There are dull, ordinary everyday roads. Then, there are the same roads when you take them in Chevrolet—fun roads!

Stepping along nimbly, surely—staying on course—traits like these come just a little more naturally to Chevrolet. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced. None in Chevrolet's field have Ball-Race steering, extra-long outrigger rear springs—or Body by Fisher—to name just a few of Chevy's exclusives.

As for spirit, well—take a Chevrolet out and feel that eager 245* horsepower! Just drop in at your Chevrolet dealer's—soon!

house. If this works out as planned, the price of installation of the receiving system to those involved in the enterprise, will be considerably less than the original estimated cost of going up the mountain north of town.

We were talking to the patrolmen from the State Highway Patrol Monday when they were here for a short time. They told us that many people were under the impression that that group of officers had no jurisdiction on the streets of Sanderson other than Oak St., or U.S. 90 through

The officers stated that they had jurisdiction on all traffic vil olations on all public roads in the state, and that all roads other than private roads were public roads. That means a violation on Kerr Street between 1st and 2nd, if you please, or most any other place you can think of around

We pass this on to you as a warning, and also just for the information involved.

We are not claiming it to be absolute facts, because we did not get an opinion from the attorney general on the matter.

Neither will we take the time or trouble to argue with those or CARD OF THANKS other patrolmen as to the confines of their jurisdiction.

We leave those things up to you, dear reader. We just quoted the officers.
