have held a steady course of conservative operation and manipulation of county funds. There has been little or no complaint of the waste of county funds on their part, and some people have been of the opinion that they have been - on occasions - too conservative.

The same thing could be true of a board of directors for a wa-

People of Terrell County have been, usually considered conservative people, economically, politically, and otherwise.

A sane and intelligent vote for directors for a water district could be a further action of this

Another question is that the water district, if formed, would only be a means of furthering one's political ambitions, and it could end up as a political bureau or cline. That is true. But so could the school board, so might the commissioners court. so might the directors of the soil conservation district, so might the directors of the Chamber of Commerce or one of our civic or ganizations

But does it have to be? Not with sound, fundamental thinking on the part of citizens. it does not!
