SANDERSON, TEXAS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1959

NUMBER 52

LISTEN TO LUKE

We have no way of knowing the exact increase in population in the past few months but a considerable number of new homes have been completed and several more are now under construction or planned for the immediate future. Everything in the way of furnished living quarters is full at this writing. Things are a different look in recent months.

Some changes are taking place in other realms in town, too. The merchants are taking a look into the crystal ball in an effort to foresee some future possibilities and some immediate needs.

Some advertising and merchandising of wares, goods and prices is taking place. And if it is a very good way to boost trade, the reason is because we feel that the merchant who goes after his business, usually gets some.

A little effort and expenditure in making a place of business attractive sometimes helps considerably. The people who are taking the time to look around and who have faith in a continued growth of the community are doing those things to prove their status as the business improve.

Optimism is the cause of the number of nice homes that are being built. Sanderson has far outlasted cause for optimism now as it has had for several years. The water district is now a reality and our water system will be in the hands of the district, we feel, and the town will certainly benefit by that. We have no record of any falling to benefit by having a water system under its own supervision. Then, too, Terrell County Independent School District is now in operation and we believe the school system will be better circumstances. New facilities will soon be a reality, we believe of that action.

The ground hog came out today we will not have to put with that fable any longer — frore to death. So it looks like we will have more winter weather.

Farmers are getting a bit worried over the lack of moisture. It would be a good thing if we could get some precipitation of the kind to help bring out the seeds and grass as soon as warm weather begins.

Interest in basketball — by the spectators and players — seems to be at its highest peak ever this year, and we think it is a good thing.

The games have been very interesting and there has always been a large crowd of spectators. And, vocally demonstrating intense interest in the outcome of the game.

From what we hear the packed almost constantly from 7:30 every afternoon to approximately 9 every night with various teams working out their coaches.

The girls are coming out just as strong as the boys if not stronger in numbers, or maybe they are more girls to begin with. Add the continued attendance at practice sessions and inability to match many for all the girls shows that they are really interested.

Court Session Held Monday

District Judge Roger Thurmond presided at a term of court here Monday when two criminal cases were disposed of and several civil cases were heard.

Clint Chenault, Jr., was declared insane by the jury after a plea of insanity was entered by his defense counsel. The plea of insanity followed charges of fraud by worthless check by a local grand jury. The charges grew out of alleged passing of the worthless check by Chenault to a local automobile dealer.

The defense counsel offered as testimony five previous findings of insanity against Chenault and his previous commitments to a state institution. Mrs. Chenault the defendant's mother, was also a witness for the defense, as was Dr. Gene Richardson, a local physician. There was no evidence submitted by the prosecution to refute the insanity plea.

Charges against Chenault were dropped following the jury's verdict of insanity by Chenault.

Joe Guadarrama was given a two year adult probation period after a plea of guilty to charges of child desertion.

In civil matters permission was granted the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mansfield to change her name to Pixie; divorce was granted in the case of Margaret Jane Nicolls vs. Angus O. Nicolls.

District Attorney Douglas A. Newton and Court Reporter Mrs. Belle Sutherland, both of Del Rio, were also here for the court session.

School Week Set For March 2 - 6

Texas Public Schools Week has been set for March 2-6, according to a resolution passed by both the House of Representatives and Senate of Texas, and a proclamation by Governor Price Daniel.

The objective of the Public School Week is to acquaint all the people of the state with programs and accomplishments of our public education system and especially the situation on the local level.

In proclaiming the week, Gov. Daniel said: "Our forefathers in their wisdom, recognizing the importance of education in the function and operation of a democracy, established the public school to make education available to all. The people of Texas declared, by the expressed terms of State Constitution, a general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools."

"Our job is to see that children of this generation get the best possible education we can give them. By visiting the schools and familiarizing ourselves with the problems of teachers and students, we become more competent to safeguard and advance the institution that is so American — the public school."

Ice Covers Area For Several Days

A coating of ice was on all vegetation of this area to the north, west, and east, offering a beautiful sight to the eye, but causing some damage to livestock and other things the first of the week.

Broken telephone and power lines have been reported by some ranchmen, which causes some inconvenience. There is also the trouble and effort of breaking ice on waterings for the stock, which is always necessary during prolonged freezing spells.

Light mist and heavy fog for several days caused an accumulation of ice on everything in the open and the weight of the ice has caused some power and phone lines to break.

Roads have been hazardous all this week to the north and west and some accidents and near-accidents have been reported due to slippery roads.

Water pipes in town have frozen during the recent cold nights with some unprotected pipes not thawing since the first of the week.

A low-hanging overcast prevailed until Wednesday when the sun shone and a brisk south-east wind was blowing.

A break in the REA power line on the Gene Thorn has caused the cessation of local television reception. It is expected to be resumed Thursday.

Jack Laughlin, newly-named dog registration law enforcement officer, reported this week that 225 dogs had been registered to date and other dog owners were awaiting the arrival of tags to Mrs. Theresa Dawson, county treasurer, before more dogs could be registered.

Laughlin stated that since the dogs outnumbered the supply of tags, he was giving every dog owner an opportunity to get their animals registered before enforcing the law.

The law requires that every dog in the county be registered or it will be subject to being destroyed.

Registration fee is $1.00.

Residents Buy 619 Poll Taxes

A total of 619 poll taxes were paid by Terrell County residents this year. Saturday was the last day for the payment of poll taxes and Mrs. Tol Murrah, deputy tax collector, made the final tabulations Monday. Four persons forgot they had paid their poll taxes when they paid their property taxes earlier in the year and paid their poll taxes the second time, the error being found when final tabulations were being made.

With the exemptions of those past 60 years of age and those who are 21 years of age this year, the voting strength of the county is raised beyond the figure represented by the poll taxes but is still thought to be lower than regular election years.

Gas "Explosion" Due Battle lines are being drawn swiftly and heavy artillery rolled up for the fight over Gov. Price Daniel's tax program, particularly the gas severance tax.

Industry spokesmen criticized the governor's program as "short sighted" and deplored the increasing levies on sources already being taxed. Gas men promised to fight the severance tax, if passed, all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court.

But Governor Daniel declared he'd gotten many more bouquets than brick bats from his plan. Only opposition, he said, was from those who want to tax everything from shirts and shoes to bassinets and baby buggies.

Rep. George T. Hinson of Mineola, who introduced the gas bill in the House, said it would bring in $1.06 from out of state for every $1 paid by Texans.

Hands Off Governors of 28 other states have joined him says Governor Daniel, in a fight against President Eisenhower's proposed 1 1/2 cent raise of the federal gasoline tax.

This tax field should be left to the states, the governor believes. Texas Highway Commission, he pointed out, is asking for a one cent raise in the state gasoline tax to help pay mounting road building bills.

Under the present federal aid formula, Daniel estimated that with a 1 1/2 cent raise by the federal government, Texans would pay $137,000,000 more in gasoline taxes than would be returned to the state for highway building.

Grist for the Session Most of the bills which will be stirring up the air in the next few weeks already are in the mills. Among them are these measures which would:

Provide for Party Registration by voters at the time they pay their poll taxes. Only persons registered as party members would be allowed to participate in primaries and conventions.

Raise Teacher pay by approximately $800 a year, and lengthen school year to 190 days. This follows recommendation of Hale-Aikin school study committee, of which Hale was vice chairman.

Increase liquor taxes from $1.40 to $2.50 per gallon. This was one of Governor Daniel's recommendations to bring in an estimated $18,000,000.

Tax corporation income on a graduated scale to raise an estimated $20,000,000 annually.

Increase truck weight limit from 52,420 to 72,000 pounds. This bill was defeated after stiff fight last session.

Require open meetings by all governmental agencies, except where they are now required by law to be confidential.

Change primary election dates from July and August to the first and fourth Tuesdays in May.

Give all cities of more than 10,000 full authority to regulate the wages and hours of policemen and firemen. This is a matter of sharp controversy. A counter-measure would reduce hours and increase pay for firemen and policemen.

Provide a new University of Texas medical branch. Rival bills are being pushed — one by the Austin delegation directing that the school be built in Austin, another by the San Antonians, specifying their home city.

offered for sale at a minimum of 3 1/4 per cent. Raise unemployment benefits from $28 to $40 a week and extend pay period from 24 to 39 weeks.

Require employers to recognize a collective bargaining agent supported by a majority of employees.

Allow higher speed limits on Texas highways. One proposal would raise maximum from 60 to 70 miles per hour. Another would permit Highway Commission to regulate maximum up or down, as road conditions justify.

Abolish poll taxes as a requisite for voting. Have Democratic executive committee elected by direct primaries, rather than selected at the state convention.

Repeat the law requiring that a local vote be taken before a school can desegregate.

Make Arlington State College a four-year school. Similar proposals were put forward for John Tarleton College at Stephenville and Midwestern University at Wichita Falls.

Sometimes they had to set miles of line just to serve a few people, but that was part of the bargain. My dad says the job isn't finished. He says when I grow up I will have to help pay back the money we borrowed and the interest we owe. But most important my Dad says we must keep reminding people that the Electric Cooperatives have done nothing but good things and that our only purpose now or ever is Rural Electrification.

Solution to Breakfast Problem

Having a problem getting the family up for breakfast? In this age of electronic miracles, the gadget shown above is suggested as a logical solution.

It will arouse the sleeper, in more ways than one, but once up, he can help establish good eating habits for the family. Strong measures (maybe not to the extent shown above) are necessary, according to leading doctors and nutritionists who have studied the subject, to insure that breakfast will not be the day's most neglected meal.

Breakfast, according to those diet authorities, should supply about one-fourth to one-third of the daily food requirements. They point out that the "let's skip breakfast" people prove to be less alert, less efficient and more susceptible to fatigue than those who eat a good morning meal.

The human body is so constructed that for maximum health it requires fairly even intakes of food at regular intervals. You can't make up for the lack of a good breakfast.

People who are troubled in holding the right weight should eat a good breakfast. If they neglect breakfast they may eat too hearty a lunch or dinner. And they just might have a snack or two between meals.

What constitutes a good breakfast? The foods essential to the day's first meal include fruit or fruit juice, cereal, milk or other beverage, and several slices of toast. Eggs and breakfast meat frequently should be included.

These foods are necessary both for children and adults. They supply the nutrients essential for the physical and mental stimulus for work—and play.
