HITCH YOUR WAGON TO A STAR Matt. 2:1-2: Luke 2:10

It was a dark world which received this astounding news They looked up in the darkness and saw and heard an angel an angel with good news.

Lunik hit the moon, His star hits the heart. This Star still leads wise ones to Christ. Man has a capacity to link himself to "Someone other than himself"; Someone who loves you and died for your sins.

His Star will lead you to Him and Life.

His Star will light you on your way.

His Star will lift you over the low places.

His Star will lighten your burdens of life. His Star will lodge you at Home with Him.

our problems and miss our promises from Him.

How long has it been since you looked up and saw the stars? Our fears which grip us are the result of our hopelessness and this hopelessness stems from our unbelief in Him. Our eyes are cast down and see only dust and mud; we see only

We no longer look at the stars. We no longer expect any angel songs. Some of us don't even believe in angels any more.

We always see stars better in the darkness. Are you too busy to look up to Him? Are you too selfish to want Him and His bless-

Are you too sufficient to feel your need of Him in your life and in your home?

"Unto you, a Savior is born, Christ the Lord" Christmas challenges us to take a new look at Him and our relation to Him. Don't ever lose your vision of His Star!

May His richest blessings come to you and yours as you give yourself to Him and find great joy in your worship of Him.

A friend of mine asked me a question the other day that may have occurred to you. "Why does the telephone company advertise?" I answered him with a question and asked, "Why does any company advertise?" According to my friend the answer is obvious. A business advertises to sell its products. "Well," I replied, "that's one of the reasons we advertise, to sell our product which is telephone service." "But," he answered, "IV already got telephone service - so have most of the other people I know". I inquired about the number of extensions he had in his home and he told me he had one. When I asked him how he came to buy it he said, "Well, my wife wanted it for the kitchen. She read about the kitchen telephones in one of those little inserts that comes with our telephone bill, then we talked it over and decided to get one." "Jack," ; said, " a bill insert is advertising. Thanks to that one we sold one of our biproducts to you."

"But what about your newspaper advertising," he quer tioned. "Some of those ads don't have a sales message." I agreed and pointed out that in some cases the ads are designed to help the customer get more out of his service by proper usage. "Do you realize," I said, "you save time on an out-of-town call when you can give the operator the number in the distant city!" He said he did. I asked him how he happened to know about it and he replied, "I don't know exactcly. I guess I read about # somewhere, in the newspaper or something." "In the newspaper ad?", I said. "In a newspaper ad," Jack replied. "But," he said with the air of a man with a trump card. "What about cost Doesn't it cost a lot to advertise?" "It would cost more not b advertise,"I told him, "plus the fact our advertising budget is only about one-fourth of one per cent of our total revenue tained in the state of Texas. And let me give you one met reason. The telephone business is a regulated industry - and se think we owe it to our customers to tell them what we're doing and why — and the best way seems to be through advertising "Well," Jack said as he left my office, "as Grandma used to sit - you learn something new every day."

HOLIDAY GREETINGS

I'd like to take this opportunity, on behalf of all of all the telephone company, to extend our very best wishes for a "Merry Christmas" and a "Happy New Year".
