LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert---

The space needle, or tower, or oblique, or spire, or whatever they are called, are about to take the nation.

Besides the one nearest us in San Antonio under construction in connection with Hemisfare '68, there is one proposed now for Del Rio, or near there, as a monument of friendship between the United States and Mexico.

The tower would be 680 feet tall and would cost an estimated $16-million. There has been allocated $90,000 to study the project by the Economic Development Agency. The study began Tuesday by a representative of an accounting firm in Washington, D. C., who went to the proposed site for the tower and a banquet in Acuna that nite.

The tower would have a motel of 124 units at the 200-foot level, four restaurants, marina, 18-hole golf course, 10,000-foot runway airport. It was stated that even though the tower would be far away from everything, people would make a special trip to see the tower.

This is another attraction to pull tourists to this part of the state. The cost of this type of project seems to be irrelevant.

And maybe the cost is justified, we don't know.

We are seeing more and more articles coming out regarding stewardship of the land, the effects of overuse of the land and the lack of rainfall in relation to the wishes of the operators.

The need is growing for a closer look at the deterioration of the land for some reason or another.

Long-range planning for conserving what we have, rather than getting the ultimate "now" use out of the land seems to be the watchword.

It seems that the same principle might be applied to governmental spending.
To personal spending, too!

Those who missed the blooming of the cenisa locally last week really missed seeing a beautiful sight. What was strange about it to us was that the plants broke out into a solid mass of lavender blooms before any rain had fallen. There was a great amount of humidity for several days prior to the blooming, and evidently in sufficient quantity to force the blooms.

To Mr. and Mrs. Tilden Stewart of Balmorhea was born their second child and son on Thursday, July 6. His birth weight was six pounds, five and one-half ounces and he was given the name Mark Lloyd.

The Stewarts are former residents when he was an engineer with the Texas Highway Department and she was on the school faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riggs and Jack Bob are on a trip to Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Clyde Griffith
... 53 years as a Mason

Clyde Griffith was the recipient of a 50-year pin Saturday night at a meeting of local Masons and their families at the Masonic Hall. About 30 were in attendance for the salad supper served at 7:00 o'clock and the meeting which followed.

R. S. Wilkinson, secretary and past master of the Sanderson Lodge No. 988, made the award and the accompanying certificate and Mrs. Wilkinson pinned the award on Mr. Griffith. Bob Spence, master of the lodge, and W. H. Savage, senior warden, made brief remarks following the presentation.

Griffith was made a Master Mason May 26, 1914, in Floresville Lodge No. 515. He served as secretary of that lodge from July of that year until 1918 when he was elected senior warden and was named Master of the lodge in 1919. He moved to Marfa during that Masonic year and came to Sanderson in 1924, changing his affiliation to the local lodge. He was named master here in 1929, and again in 1936.

Griffith was the former postmaster here until his retirement several years ago.

The loading machine owned by the county was hit by vandals last week, causing extensive damage. The machine was parked out in the pasture off of the road south from 5-mile hill where it was being used by Santiago Rodriguez to put dirt on that road for maintenance.

All of the gasoline was taken from the tank, the oil drained and part poured into the stack and part into the radiator, and all of the tires were punctured with a knife.

Remodeling For Cooling, Heat Slated At Kerr's

Plans are underway for the remodeling of the main floor of The Kerr Mercantile Co. for the purpose of having a more effective cooling and heating system, according to Edward Kerr, manager.

The remodeling will include lowering the ceiling, installing recessed lights, and bringing the air conditioning in through ducts into the store. Refrigerated air has already been installed in the hardware department and a door separates the dry goods and hardware departments so that each may be more effectively cooled and heated.

A west window in the hardware department was filled in with concrete tile to eliminate the heat from the afternoon sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Voorhees

A double-ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church Friday evening united in marriage Miss Barbara Shoemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shoemaker, and Donald Voorhees of Omaha, Neb., the son of Rev. and Mrs. Reginald Voorhees of that city who were here for the wedding.

A white basket filled with white gladiolus and spider mums was on the pulpit in the back of the nuptial space. Seven-branched candelabra were on each side and in the foreground were tall floor baskets filled with gladiolus and spider mums.

Rev. M. R. Rogers, pastor, officiated at the wedding rites and he was assisted by Rev. Voorhees, who is the pastor of the Orthodox Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Ross Stavley, organist, played a medley of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied Mrs. G. C. Eggleston who sang "Each for the Other".

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. Her floor-length gown in Empire style had a bodice of re-embroidered lace with Kabuki sleeves and the scallops of the lace outlined the neckline and the sleeves. The fitted skirt was of peau de soie and the chapel train was of lace. Her tiered veil of illusion, shoulder-length, was attached to a pill box of the lace-trimmed in a bow to match the bow on the front of her gown. On the white Bible which she carried was a bouquet of white gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Virginia Voorhees of Omaha, the bridegroom's sister, was the maid of honor. Her dress was styled similar to the bride's and was of pink dacron and cotton voile over a lighter pink sheath. She wore a Dior bow and veil in a light pink shade, long white gloves, white shoes, and a necklace of cultured pearls, an heirloom in her family. Her flowers were cymbiniums arranged in a nosegay and tied with pink satin ribbons.

The bridesmaids were Glenda Shoemaker, sister of the bride, Miss Patricia McLaughlin of San Antonio. Their costumes matched that of the maid of honor only their Dior bows and veils were of a deeper shade of pink. They also carried nosegays of cymbinium tied with pink satin streamers.

Reginald Voorhees of Corpus Christi, the bridegroom's brother, was the best man. Grooms-men were Walter and David Shoemaker, brothers of the bride, who also served as ushers with Jeff Flowers and Mack Turner.

A reception in the Legion Hall followed the wedding. Miss Eloise Farley presided at the bride's book to register guests.

Arrangements of spider mums and gladiolus decorated the hall and the mantelpiece was of white and pink petunias.

The refreshment table, covered in a cloth of net over white, was centered with an arrangement of pink and white gladiolus in a crystal bowl. The three-tiered bride's cake at one end was decorated in white sugar-spun flowers, topped with a miniature bridal couple and encircled with a white net ruffle. The pink punch was in a crystal bowl at the other end. Mints and nuts were also on the table and inscribed in gold on the white napkins was "Now we are

There've been some changes made

There was a time when our telephone operators wore "floor duster" dresses and sat on high wooden stools. Not so today.

New equipment and new work techniques have revolutionized the familiar world of "Number, please." And the operating room of the future incorporates the most dramatic and far-reaching changes ever. In these new rooms, there are no plugs, cords or jacks. Instead of being lined up along a multi-position switchboard, operators sit at desk-like consoles widely spaced through the room. Everything is bright and modern.

Already operational in a few Southwestern Bell cities, these newest operating rooms represent more than a change in looks. The new consoles make many new services possible. Customers can dial person-to-person, credit card and collect Long Distance calls. Service is faster and more efficient.

More and more of these new consoles will be installed as time goes by. But despite the changes in equipment and techniques, one thing will remain the same. Our operators will still be dedicated to giving the best possible service to our customers. The "voice with a smile" is as important and meaningful as ever.

Some things just don't need changing.

CPS Making Industrial Survey

Much has been written and said by civic leaders in recent months about ways and means of helping a town grow and prosper in spite of the many problems that plague the smaller communities of the state. It is generally agreed that the acquisition of new industry is one of the quickest and most effective ways of giving a boost to local economy.

Every citizen of Sanderson is being given an opportunity to take part in the search for industrial firms which may be interested in expanding or moving into this area.

"Along with civic leaders and other civic-minded firms, Community Public Service Company is helping distribute a questionnaire designed to turn up leads on industrial prospects," according to James Caroline, manager for the power company.

"A copy of the questionnaire will be enclosed with electric service bills during the next month," Mr. Caroline continued, "and every citizen of this community is encouraged to obtain, fill out and return the questionnaire as an aid to helping Sanderson grow and prosper."
