LISTEN TO LUKE

Albert:---
Well, the primary election over and the nominees of the Democratic Party have been selected. As usual we won a few and lost a few!
There were some offices that had more than one candidate and we were just plainly indifferent about which one won because we didn't know anything about either candidate. In the case of the three candidates for one office, and one to be voted against, the choice between the other two was difficult, but a voter had to vote for one to vote against one sometimes.
And we will have to admit that some of our votes cast were more "against" than "for".
It is only a short time until the close of school and the activities are keeping pupils and parents on a high-trot much of the time.
When school is out there will be a let-down of many things and probably we will be wondering before long why we were impatient for school to be out for the summer.
One thing that we do notice from year to year is that some of the students seem to have a pretty big load and we are always amazed that they seem to bear it well. But that is a mark of the character of those students.

The Times has a new ceiling in the building which adds to the appearance of our interior and to the effectiveness of our cooler, and we suppose, will add equally to the effectiveness of our heater next winter.
And speaking of the coming of winter, we wondered several days recently if it hadn't already.
What with the changing of the clocks around, making the sun rise an hour earlier, the rockets, firecrackers, and guns, we have the atmosphere all messed up to where summer doesn't know from winter!
Or maybe it's the Republican administration - or the Democratic Congress!

We have remarked about it before and it happened again! When a monkey gets on someone's back, it seems to ride a long time there.
Such was the case with our neighbor paper The Fort Stockton Pioneer and their recent experience with the time alterations.
They were confused last fall on the "up" and "back" terminology last fall and reversed the procedure not only in words but backed it up with a picture. They couldn't be misunderstood.
Then last week they used a pretty little girl on the front page superimposed over the face of a clock showing how to change the timepiece to comply with the new time and moved the minute hand instead of the hour hand so that there was only a 5-minute variation.
We would make a small wager that The Pioneer barely mentions the passing of the time change in retrospect this fall - if they say anything at all.

Demo Primary Has Light Vote

There was about 50% of the voting potential in the Democratic Primary last Saturday in Terrell County.
According to the unofficial returns, about 480 votes were cast in the county.
The only contested race in the county level was between County Judge R. S. Wilkinson and P. G. Harris Jr. and the incumbent won with about a 3-1 majority.
All other officials were re-elected.
In the district judge race, George M. Thurmond won in the county and district over his opponent Mike V. Gonzalez by a large margin.
Richard C. White, incumbent U. S. Representative, won over his opponent Raymond Telles in the county and over the district.
Terrell County also went the same way as the state in the race for U. S. Senate and approved Lloyd Bentsen over Ralph Yarborough, and matched the state also in the choice of Bob Armstrong over Jerry Sadler as Commissioner of the Land Office.

All other unofficial results may be analyzed from the chart of balloting at the left.
There was no precinct or county Democratic convention held locally and the activities of the day ceased with the final tabulation of votes cast.
Mr. and Mrs. Florentino Ochoa and daughter, Chepi, visited in Del Rio for several days last week with their son, Ruben Ochoa, and family. Mrs. Ruben Ochoa was in the hospital for several days.

Mrs. W. E. Stirman Interred Friday

Mrs. Deemie Stirman, 83, died in an Alpine hospital on Wednesday afternoon of a heart ailment and complications. She had been in the hospital for a week after a fall at her home in which her ankle and leg were fractured.
Graveside rites were here on Friday afternoon with Rev. Albert Peak, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery under the direction of the Geeslin Funeral Home of Alpine.
Mrs. Stirman was born in Dublin on May 24, 1886. She came to Sanderson with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Keith, in the early 1900s. She was married to W. E. (Ed) Stirman in January of 1908. He preceded her in death in 1940.
She is survived by a son, Bud Stirman, and two daughters, Mrs. Jimmy Attaway of San Antonio and Mrs. Berry Wilson of Las Fresnos; also three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.
Pallbearers were S. C. Harrell, Bennie R. Moss, H. E. Fletcher, S. J. Burchett, R. S. Wilkinson, and H. P. Boyd.

Meningitis Claims Daniel Infant

Following the death of the Daniel infant Friday, Dr. A. N. Clanton told The Times that a careful watch was being made to try to ascertain if there were other illnesses that might point to the second case of epidemic meningitis and that such a case would cause him to seek aid from the State Health Department to try to pin-point the carrier and stop the spread of the disease.
Dr. Clanton stated that the cause of death of Ada Marie Daniel, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Daniel had been diagnosed as epidemic meningitis, following post-mortem tests. He was so notified Friday.
The county health officer stated that early symptoms of the disease were headache, nausea, vomiting, and rash. He added that while any or all of these symptoms were not necessarily indicative of meningitis, that the patient should be seen by a doctor immediately to determine the cause. He said that the incubation period was from 2 to 10 days and that children and adolescents were the most susceptible.

Senior Banquet Saturday Night at Masonic Hall

The junior class of Sanderson High School honored the members of the senior class at a banquet served in the basement of the Masonic Hall Saturday evening.

Using the theme "It's a Small World", the area was converted into a world of fantasy for the occasion. Swags of crepe paper streamers in blue and gold covered the ceilings. On the walls were pictures and scenes characteristic of "far-away places". A Dutch windmill, Japanese lanterns, a gondola, large artificial flowers, and other artifacts emphasized the theme. A huge red globe with the continents in silver was suspended from the archway and several world globes were on the long tables. Red and silver checkered cloths covered all of the tables. Candles in decorated bottles furnished the illumination. The theme and red and silver colors were noted on the place cards and programmes.

Leslie Hall was the master of ceremonies. The welcome was given by Clelia Silvas and Marilyn Sanchez gave the response for the seniors. The young ladies are presidents of their classes. Mitzi Cash gave the invocation.

The menu consisted of Parisian champagne, Italian spaghetti, Mediterranean salad, french bread, Dutch butter, tropical freeze, and Tokyo tea. The food was prepared by the mothers of the juniors.

The class will be read by Donna Rogers and Brad Harrison read the class prophecy. Principal Wayne Mitchell presented a will from the parents to each senior.

Plastic is fantastic. Like a late-blooming flower it is suddenly sprouting up everywhere for the home—as furniture, accessories, lighting, modular walls, even floors and ceilings.

A leading designer of laminated plastics, J. Allen Monte, says, "Plastic is the word for the future, and also the word for right now." In a recent talk before the National Home Fashions League in New York, he reported that last year the production of plastics exceeded 16 billion pounds, and the forecast for this year is 20 billion pounds.

He also pointed out that there are some 39 different plastic materials, and continuing research is expected to add more in a short time. All of which means still more inspiration and variety for designers in the mod mood.

The current rage, however, is for see-through acrylics. They made a point first in fashion with clear handbags, icy jewelry, and chunky belts. Now they're being spotlighted in chairs, tables and cabinets you couldn't possibly hide behind. And of course, sculpture, tableware, boxes and bagatelles are appearing in the clear, too.

Among the new items to gather second-looks is a lucite wine bucket for easy labeling, and a matching ice chest complete with lucite tongs. (After the first drink you might have trouble telling which is the ice!)

Then there are planters that show off the roots as well as the leaves of plants, vases, trivets, and a book rack that lets you read right through the flaps that hold the pages.

One chess set in black and clear plastic would make a cool gift for an executive who has everything, according to the designer William McCarty. He also created a square three-tier table with brass corners in the Oriental campaign chest manner. It's a stunner.

Plastics, which can have color and texture, will appear more often in the kitchen in the future, too. Thermoplastics that are heat-resistant, unbreakable, and allow freedom of form will grow in popularity as they are used by more designers.

Program Features Drugs, Addiction

About 200 people, adults and young people gathered in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday night to see film and slides and hear a lecture on narcotics and dope addiction.

The program was planned by the Presbyterian Women of the Church, Mrs. N. M. Mitchell Jr., chairman, in observance of May Fellowship Day.

Mrs. Mitchell welcomed the crowd and an invocation was offered by Rev. R. A. Harrison. Terrell County Sheriff Bill C. Cooksey was introduced and made some remarks about the absence of a narcotics problem within the local community, but stated that there had been some arrests of persons traveling under the influence of and in possession of narcotics. He stated that the program would, he hoped, serve as a deterrent to any young person who was faced with the temptation to use the drugs and would also educate and alert the citizens to the possibility of the influx of drugs into the community.

J. R. Koog, chief of police of Del Rio, was introduced and gave a history of the narcotics problem in that city and also gave an introduction to the film to be shown, explaining its purpose. He then introduced Grover Ayers of the Office of Security Information at the Laughlin Air Force Base who told something about narcotics and addicts prior to the film on marijuana and then he narrated a series of slides on narcotics.

Mr. Ayers had a display of narcotics and tools of the addicts for the viewing of the public and conducted a question and answer session following the slide presentation.

Coffee and cookies were in the Fellowship Hall following the program.

Mrs. Joe Montez visited here for a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Garcia, who took her home to San Angelo Saturday.

He is a helicopter mechanic and stated that about the only evidences of the war that he had seen had been the damaged helicopters returning to the base. He also stated that he "didn't know" about which to complain about heat and mosquitoes.

Everybody is looking for a bargain.

Here's one you can believe in.

What makes the Buick LeSabres we sell such bargains?

We're dealing, for one thing. Spring is here and we're making up for lost time during those cold winter months when everybody stayed home by the fire.

We're going to make it real easy for you to get into a Buick and celebrate Spring. But that's only part of what makes a bargain a bargain.

What about the car? Can you believe in it?

Every Buick is built with integrity. You get things like a cooling system that should never overheat, even with air conditioning.

You get Buick's unique suspension system - AeroDrive - that makes this LeSabre one of the best handling Buicks ever.

You can even order a 350 cubic-inch, V8. With four-barrel carburetion. That delivers 285 horsepower. Yet runs on regular gas.

So, let's put it this way. If you want a bargain, we've got the ingredients. The car. And the deal.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Food for Thought

By Mary Lee

Today the big hue and cry throughout the land is all about pollution and the horrors of the population explosion. So, just to keep a little balance, it might be wise to take a look at some of the good things about this country of ours.

Recently a major study on the progress of our technological society concluded with this statement: "Without technological progress since the 19th century, most men alive today would not have been born. And those alive would have been sentenced to disease, filth, and greater misery than exists now."

Let's take the progress made in just the food industry since the turn of the century. For example, what happened to the old-fashioned cracker barrel, the casks and containers that ringed the old coal stove in the village general store?

They've been replaced with an amazing array of packages—clean, convenient, attractive, and designed to hold the widest variety of food stuffs ever imagined. In some of our big supermarkets there are more than 7,000 food items on the shelves.

What's more, new discoveries in nutrition in the last 30 to 40 years have brought about a dramatic change in foods. Bread, rice, cereals, milk are among the foods that have been enriched or fortified, and at low cost, to help in the prevention of deficiency diseases.

Improved packaging and food additives help to maintain the wholesomeness and appeal of foods. They also make foods from around the world available the year around in fresh, frozen or canned forms.

Iowans can enjoy oranges from Florida, blueberries from Michigan, peaches from Georgia. People in Arizona can try lobster from Maine and salmon from the Northwest, while New Englanders can sample cantaloupe from Colorado, beef from Texas, and lemons from California. Needless to say, the wonderful improvements in refrigeration have added to this unlimited selection, too.

In great measure the people who make all this possible are food technologists. But Americans will continue to enjoy foods that are plentiful, varied, nutritious and safe as the combined research of the engineering, agricultural and chemical sciences contributes to the well-being of the nation.

We're looking for trouble.

And we go out of our way to find it. Hopefully, before you do. We keep our telephone cables under air pressure to protect them from water, and we're constantly checking for leaks. We're testing your telephone line regularly to discover any potential problem before it occurs. But if you do notice trouble on your line before we do, just give us a call. We'll fix it... at no extra charge to you. We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.

LISTEN TO LUKE

We found ourselves in such a predicament one time when a certain person - thank goodness a friend of ours - and an understanding one, at that - was involved in about three consecutive goofs of ours that could have been embarrassing and maybe even detrimental to our physical well-being or appearance under other circumstances.

We would not even mention this person's name for a long time - not because of any hard feelings on our part, but for fear that we would make another goof which would maybe be more embarrassing.

That monkey finally got off of our back!

We hope that the Pioneer's monkey does the same for them - or better still - that Rep. George Baker, who is one of the Pioneer's owners, will take pity on the staff and the rest of us and work like the devil to get our time stabilized.

He's where the decisions are made!

Where would I find such wonderful friends? I am grateful for each one of you.
