LISTEN TO LUKE

Alberts---

If you haven't already, look for notification of an increase in the assessed valuation of your property for taxation by the school district by 25%.

This means that more than likely your taxes will have increased by that same amount, pending the setting of the tax rate by the school board.

The 25% increase was given to the oil, gas, mineral, industrial, and transportation properties in the county last week at the meeting of the board of equalization meeting and it is reasonable to expect that they would not sit still unless there is to be an increase in all other properties as well.

After all, isn't this one of the purposes of the sitting of a board of equalization - an effort to equalize the valuations?

If, for example, you paid $100.00 to the school last year in taxes, this year your tax bill is going to be right at $125.

And, in case you haven't noticed lately, you are paying about 300% more for school taxes than county and state taxes, or will after the increase!

And, this is not a true figure completely, since your automobile is not on the county's tax rolls and it is on the school tax rolls.

We are not going to argue or question the need for or advisability of certain improvements or additions to the school properties, but we feel that there are additions or improvements that are needed that would be an expense to the county and if all of our potential tax dollar increase goes to the school, where does that leave us in our need for street improvement, bar ditch and drainage improvement, trash pick-up and disposal improvement, etc., etc?

In other words, is the addition of more bleacher seats at the football field more important than keeping up our streets? Or do we desire the additional cost of upkeep of a track or the additional cost of better trash pick-up and disposal?

Maybe, though, these are not the considerations, and maybe we can afford both, or all of the things planned or needed.

We would appreciate a candid and frank opinion of someone else.

We don't know if our sense of values is right or wrong, but while we are having our tax money spent for bleacher seats and a new press box at the football field, and the additional cost of maintenance of a track and a field house, our streets are deteriorating at a fast clip, our trash pick-up is not improving any, and drainage continues to be a nuisance to some, a cost to others, and a hazard to many.

There is no dislike or like of any activity or individual or group involved in our opinion. It's only our sense of values. What is yours?

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ezelle returned home Saturday from Odessa where she had been hospitalized and receiving medical treatment for several days.

School Budget Requires 25 Per Cent Raise In Taxes; More Likely Next Year

The board of equalization of the Terrell County Independent School District made a 25% increase of taxes across the board in action recently. The tax increase was the result of an increase of valuations by the group and made necessary to meet the budgeted figures for the school's operation.

The budget is set by the school board after presentation by the school administration.

Carroll B. Card, superintendent, stated that the budget was the same as for last year with the exception of the figures to pay the salaries of teachers and that this figure was the cause of the necessity for the raise.

The state-wide pay raise for the teachers voted by the legislature and the institution of certain programs, plus the fact that many local teachers' salaries are paid solely with local funds, causes the necessity for the increase in revenue, according to Mr. Card.

The county commissioners did not alter valuations or the amount of revenue for the operation of the county in their action as a board of equalization.

According to information received, a spokesman for the tax representatives told the school board that, in his opinion, the school district was in a position to get into financial difficulty and that some effort should be made to trim the budget.

Bids Sought On Seats, Press Box At Football Field

The Terrell County Independent School District is advertising this week for bids for the construction of additional seats at Eagle Field and a press box-photography platform combination building. Both of the additions will be on the north side of the playing field.

Financing of the project will be from the money left over from the building of the junior high school building and the associated bond issue for that project, according to Carroll B. Card, superintendent.

The additional seats will be a northward extension of the existing concrete tiers in the center of the area on the north side.

Plans and specifications call for the completion of the project prior to the beginning of the fall football season.

Another notice for bids published this week is to sell an old bus belonging to the school district.

Alice Goldwire is visiting in Langtry with Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Kight, her brother and sister-in-law.

What's right about America?

Today, the surest means of book becoming a best seller for the author to highlight and denounce bitterly the faults of this country. The same can be said of television and the movies, which prefer in these modern days to depict the seamy side of life in America.

But there's hope. As I have moved across this state, I have sensed that our people are growing weary of gloom. It is becoming easier to strike up a conversation on what's right about America.

I always suggest that there are a lot more level heads in this country than we are sometimes led to believe. There are a lot more decent, law-abiding citizens than there are criminals and cheats and shirkers. There are a lot more young people in the "now" generation who want to improve America than the handful of radicals who want to burn it to ash and start all over.

I can understand why the "majority" has broken its silence. There's a growing impatience with agitation and controversy. But I feel we should continue to approach our nation's problems with a cool head and an open mind.

I've listened to the voice of dissent. I think I know what they're asking of their government.

One thing they want is confidence. They want the assurance that their public officials have the courage to meet the issues of the 1970s with imagination and integrity, and with some form of "old-fashioned" thrashings around the problems but never quite creates the workable solutions.

It was my desire to answer this urgent need that prompted me in January to seek the office of United States Senator.

Teachers To Be Paid On 10-Months Basis

AUSTIN — Texas public school teachers — those on the state minimum salary schedule — will receive pay raises averaging about $1,050 per year in 1970-71.

Students will go to school and teachers will teach — an extra five days (180 days instead of 175). In addition, teachers will be on duty for 10 more days of non-teaching work during the year, and will be paid on a 10-month basis, instead of nine.

These changes in the school year and the basis for figuring teacher pay result from amendments to the minimum foundation program law passed in 1969 by the Legislature.

Under the minimum program, a beginning bachelor's degree teacher in 1969-70 was paid $593 per month for nine months, or $5,337 for the year.

In 1970-71, a beginning bachelor's degree teacher will receive $600 per month for 10 months, or $6,000 for the year.

Many Texas school systems pay their teachers more than the state-required minimum salaries.

Texas was ranked 38th among states in average teacher pay in 1969-70. The 1970 raises and a long-range improvement plan are expected to move Texas up to a more favorable position among states in the years ahead.

The new law puts into effect in 1971-72 a continuing compensation plan which will give Texas teachers an additional five percent raise each year and cost-of-living raises in 1974 and 1978. It will allow all Texas teachers to reach the top of the pay schedule — $11,040 for bachelor's degree, and $12,040 for master's degree teachers — within 10 years of service.

The new law has left many people — teachers as well as school patrons — with questions about its work and pay aspects.

The State Board of Education has attempted to answer such questions by drafting an official definition of the 180-day school term and service requirements for teachers in 1970-71 and future years.

Basically, the state board says that beginning on September 1, 1970:

—Texas public schools will have 180 days of actual classroom instruction, (where teachers and students are together in learning situations) instead of the 175 days previously required under foundation program law. (Some schools had already been operating programs longer than the minimum.)

—Most Texas teachers will be paid on a 10-month basis. (Vocational and special education teachers may be paid for 10, 11, or 12 months.)

—In addition to the 180 days of classroom instruction, teachers and other personnel previously authorized for less than 10 months under the foundation program shall be required to be on duty for an additional 10 days, making a total of 190 days, exclusive of holidays approved by the local board of trustees.

—School districts may employ teachers for more than the specified 190 days, but if they do their salaries for work beyond the 190 days must be paid wholly from local funds rather than foundation program funds.
