LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert:---
 Now it is official and there is no one who could possibly deny it. We know, because we saw it on Lassie Sunday last. And who would dare to say that Lassie would be involved in a deception?
 We saw a hawk attacking a lamb!
 And he would have gotten it, too, if Lassie hadn't been on the show!
 There is no reason for any adult to watch Lassie except for the fact that there are children or grandchildren in the house at that time of day, or unless they want to see some wonderful facts of nature!

Since last week's paper, the praise and favorable comments about the Fourth celebration have continued to come in and the hopes for a repeat performance have also been expressed numerous times.

In case the sponsoring organizations -- any or all of them -- decide to undertake such a project again, we can visualize the probability of its growing by natural processes to an observance that will be even more worthwhile.

For example, there were several who remarked that they would have had such-and-such to exhibit if they had known, or someone they know has a real good collection of something-or-other, that they are going to get them to bring it for the celebration next year, etc., etc., etc.

And people who have certain talents, or hobbies, or the like are happy to share their displays with others, and those who like to trade, swap, and buy such items are just drawn to such shows like fleas to a dog.

There are probably other displays and collections in Terrell County that could have been added to those that were exhibited, and it is certain that there are people in this area who have similar displays that could be added.

The sponsors did a good job of advertising the celebration this year and the various items on the program, but that, like everything, may be bettered next year.

So this encore this week follows the ovation of last week and is another sincere expression of appreciation and thanks to all who had anything to do with the success of the Fourth of July observance in Sanderson.

Did you know that Texas' most colorful native bird, the painted bunting, inhabits this area? There are also lesser goldfinches, Saye's blue, ringed kingfishers (a rarity indeed!) and numerous other very different feathered friends! We have not yet sighted a brown-headed cowbird, but we're looking! We are also still looking for the mock king-

Family Planning Grant To Include Terrell County

Governor Preston Smith this week announced his approval of a supplemental community action grant of $16,165.00 in federal funds to Permian Basin Planned Parenthood, Inc. in Odessa for family planning.
 Funds will be used to establish a family planning program in Pecos County which will also include patients from Terrell County who come to Fort Stockton for various community services. An estimated 650 patients need these services, and at least 300 are expected to participate during the first year.

The grant is funded under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act, and is effective August 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

Also, the existing operations in Midland, Ector, and Reeves Counties will be extended to include 1,100 patients.

Special attention will be given to the Mexican-American patients.

MANUEL VALLES IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT COMSTOCK

Side-Tracked Hole Produces Dry Gas

Skelly Oil Co. No. 1-4 Oasis Ranch, Terrell County Strawn gas discovery, 35 miles northeast of Dryden and 1-1/4 miles southeast of the depleted one-well Brown-Bassett, North (Rusell-man gas) field, was finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 1.125 million cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Production was through perforations at 11,224-300 feet, previously identified as Atoka, which had been acidized with 20,000 gallons.

Drilled to 11,685 feet, drillpipe became stuck after setting 7-5/8-inch casing at 11,634 feet. Operator set a whipstock and drilled to 14,600 feet in a sidetracked hole.

Location is 2,052.2 feet east of the southwest corner, thence 27.6 feet north to location in Doc Turk No. 4, Abst. 2373, in CCSD&RGNG.

bird that we heard is also a native here.

As any good photographer will do, we had some double exposures during the parade, what with our intent of getting pictures of so many entries worth recording on film, plus the usual number of blurs, etc. But we are glad that we got the pictures that we got of all of the goings-ons.

Pictures of the exhibits at the courthouse lawn were impossible, since a small number of pictures would not have shown any one exhibit, let alone done justice to all of each exhibit.

We were all settled to enjoy the multi-talented telethon put on by the Democratic Party the other night when all of a sudden those who were doing the talking began making inferences that made the rest of the show almost intolerable. We were surprised, frankly, at the insinuations, the insenos, and the outright efforts to deceive.

The problems of pollution began within the past three years; racial trouble is a new thing in this nation and if it hadn't been for the Republicans things would already have been straightened out; there were no mass violations of the law prior to the present administration; the war in Vietnam was started by Republicans, promoted by Republicans and only Democrats have died in it; food prices and the cost of living has not been rising for several years, they jumped to their present level after the 1968 election; and the biggest deceit -- WE WANT A TWO-PARTY SYSTEM! And any Democrat that is honest will agree to that, but they, like the Republicans, want the other party just to offer the competition -- and not very strong.

Democratic convention chairman Lawrence O'Brien sounded like our choice for the nomination when he made an effort to set the tone of the convention in his opening speech. The theme of what we got from his speech was: Quit lying to ourselves and the voters, be honest both in speech and effort, realize the needs of the nation and openly seek to make those improvements, and everyone make an earnest effort to rid all the hatred from their hearts and actions.

If he were to run he'd get my vote!

Maybe it depends on how you look at it!

Mrs. Adelle Garcia and her sister, Mrs. Jose M. Flores, were in Alpine Thursday for medical check-ups.

Parade Entries Show High Interest By Local Groups

What many people termed the best parade ever held in Sanderson, and certainly the best since the semi-centennial celebration several years ago. Rev. Richard White of the YPCC and Mrs. W.H. Dishman, of the American Legion Auxiliary, were in charge of arrangements for the parade and placement.

The parade preceded the barbecue luncheon served at noon.

Winners in the parade were: Bicycles - Jerry McDonald, Phyllis Eggleston, and Rudy Fierro. Horses - Mrs. Dalton Hogg and Mrs. Johnny Hogg. Leonardo Pena, Scott and Terrell McDonald. Floats - Kerr's Ranch Club, YPCC. Also award-1st places in the parade were: the baton-twirling group of Mrs. B.J. Littleton, the Sanderson High School Band, and two 1st places to the "Super Scoopers". In the motorcycle division - Rocky McDonald, Beth Ann Molitor, and Tony Calzada were the first three prize winners.

Mrs. Adelle Murr of Junction was the clown in the parade.

Senior Citizens To Be Polled For Area Survey

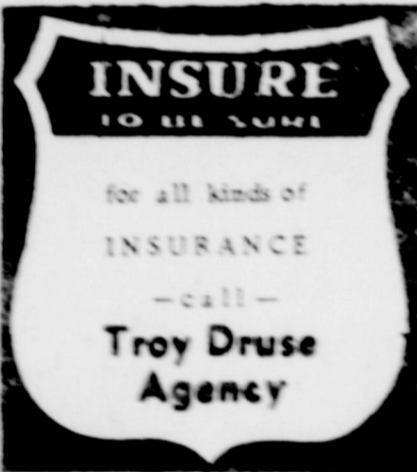

Thirty senior citizens of Terrell County will be interviewed by members of the Sanderson Emergency Squad and other interested volunteer workers in the near future. The purpose of the interview is to get a cross-section group of answers concerning several facets of senior-citizen living.

The survey is sponsored by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission and is for future reference only, depending upon the findings of the surveys. Other surveys are being made in other towns of the 17-county Planning Commission.

There will be a meeting of the Emergency Squad at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, and any person interested in the survey or senior citizens. The group will go over the questionnaires and the plans for the survey, including deciding on the 30 senior citizens to be interviewed.

The questions include information about hobbies, interests, needs, habits, housing, living conditions, etc.

Sheriff Bill C. Cooksey, who was interviewed along with County Judge R.S. Wilkinson about the survey by a

New Traffic Signs to Rely On Symbols Instead of Words

New traffic signs making use of symbols in stead of word messages are being erected throughout the nation in accordance with the Highway Safety Act of 1966. Many of the signs are already in place along roadways in metropolitan areas of Texas and New Mexico.

Traffic experts say the symbols provide the best means of communicating with drivers because of their simplicity, legibility and ability to be recognized at a glance. And since the symbols are international, they will help U.S. drivers in foreign countries as well as aiding foreign visitors to this country.

The new signs have new shapes, new colors and new legends. However, some of the highway signs now in use, such as the stop sign, will not change.

One of the most important changes will be the use of the international red circle and slash as the symbol for "no." This symbol, when superimposed over the symbol for a particular type of vehicle or traffic movement, will indicate "no" for that type vehicle or movement. For example, the sign for no trucks will be a red circle with a diagonal slash over a black truck. No left turn will be a red circle and slash over a black arrow turning left.

Symbols will also be used on warning signs. The slippery when wet sign will show a picture of a black car and skid marks.

At first many of the new signs will carry both word messages and symbols, but eventually the word messages will be dropped.

The shape, which has always been important, will be stressed even more. Presently, stop signs are octagons; warning signs are diamond-shaped; yield signs are triangles; and information signs are rectangles. These shapes will remain the same, but three new shapes will be added. A pentagon, shaped like a little red schoolhouse, will be seen at school zones and crossings. A pennant-shaped sign will be placed on the left hand side of the road to indicate a no-passing zone. And a trapezoid will be used for recreational area guide signs.

Colors are also important. Red will mean stop or a prohibition; yellow will signify a warning; green will indicate directional and route information; and blue will be used for service information.

Two new colors have also been added: orange for construction and maintenance hazards and brown as a background to the trapezoidal recreational area and scenic guidance signs.

These color schemes also will be carried through on pavement markings. When all roads and highways are marked, yellow will be the only color used for the centerline markings on two-way roads and streets. Red on curbs will mean no parking as it does now.

Finally, traffic signals will have three turn arrows rather than one. In addition to the green arrow that means proceed, a yellow arrow will indicate the end of allowed movement, and red will show that the turn may not be made.

By the end of this year, pavement markings should conform to the new standards, and highway signs should be replaced by the end of 1974. The traffic signals will take longer, with 1976 as the target date.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Werneking and children of El Paso were Fourth visitors with his mother, Mrs. Pat Harris Jr., and family. James Crowder of Pittsburg, Kans., visited his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Allen, for two days last week.
