ISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert:

The plans for the clean-up campaign in Sanderson are getting under way with the Culture Club's appeal for help from the County Commissioners and being assured of the disposition of trash that is gathered up by the many residents who cooperate.

And the offer of Dudley Motors to haul off any old car bodies is also going to be a help, we hope! It would not be our position to try to say which bodies should be hauled off and which shouldn't, but if anyone wants any old car bod. ies hauled off, this is their op. portunity. Old car bodies, like anything else, belong to someone and I suppose that is their inalienable right - to have old car bodies on their lot if they so wish. And it is not our right to criticize them for it, and we are not. We are merely calling attention to the opportunity.

We had several people comment to us in agreement with what was said last week about the anxiety for the increase in activity toward the starting of the construction of the flood-control dams. We feel that the tremendous interest that was expressed by the people in their concern by attendance at all of the various planning meetings, and their apport of every effort that as made to assemble data, inions, figures, etc., in dermining the need for the roject, the Soil Conservaice's placing of topority on this project, the ste with which the planning completed, the importce placed on the project by p. Richard C. White and time and effort he spent getting Congressional apval for the funds, all warcontinued to second page

District Conservationist Explains Dam Project Easement, Funding Procedures

Jerry Wenmohs, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, reported to The Times this week that there had been many rumors floating around the county about the status of the flood control project for Sanderson, and that many of the things that had been asked him indicated that some of the impressions were not complete or were misrepresented.

In an effort to try to explain the circumstances and conditions, Mr. Wenmohs brought information to The Times for relating to the interested citizens.

From the handbook setting down the procedures and rules involving construction and assurance of land rights in flood control projects, we quote: "Preferential consideration must be given in the scheduling of construction of those watersheds where all needed land, easements, and rights-of-way have been obtained, or where the local organizations have the legal authority, funds or other definite means of obtaining the needed land, easements, and rights-of-way without delay. The interest of the local people in the watershed program, including acceleration of the land treatment phase, together with their ability and willingness to take necessary steps for providing easements necessarily must influence the priority of assistance which can be given by the Service.

"Normally, no construction in a hydrologic unit or small watershed will be advertised until all easements needed have been obtained. The State Conservationist may waive this requirement under the following conditions: A. The sponsoring organization securing land rights has both the power of eminent domain and adequate funds to finance the securing of all additional easements that cannot be obtained at the present time: AND B. The sponsoring organization has agreed in writing to diligently exercise such powers and use such funds to the extent necessary to secure all remaining needed land rights that have not been secured by a date satisfactory to the State Conservationist. Exhibit 2438 provides an example of such written assurance."

Wenmohs stated that his contact with representatives of the State Conservationist indicated that it would probably be possible to proceed with the construction on some sites if a sufficient percentage or number of easements had been secured to satisfy the State Conservationist that the interest and activity in securing the easements would continue dilicontinued to second page rant and maybe even require a continuation of that interest through completion -- even if we could forget the constant potential danger to lives and property that lingers with every falling rain.

It's maybe just the way we look at it!

We didn't get any rush of offers for the use of old pictures, and we thought, frankly, that we would. We hoped so, at least, since this is a very interesting and readerinterest-rewarding project. The only reason we would stop it is because we no longer have any pictures to offer to you readers.

If it stops, it might be your fault!

Please lend us your pictures.

From a story in the Alpine Avalanche last week concerning a meeting of the city council in that city: " -- Heard Mayor Dorothy McBride read a letter from the Southern Pacific saying the railroad had no present plans for a terminal or turnaround here."

I hesitate to mention it, and really wouldn't except it means so much to me!

gently until completion. This figure is not definite as to a certain number or percentage, Wenmohs stated, since it stood to reason that construction at no site would be started until all easements for that site were secured, and the easements necessary for beginning some sites involves only one easement, and more than one might be invoved on some of the others. He stated that he did not know of a single instance where less than 50% of the necessary easements was an acceptable figure for a goahead by the State Conservationist, and he felt that the higher percentage or number of easements produced would enhance the chances of approval for proceeding by the State Conservationist.

Wenmohs explained that the funds for a particular project were assigned on July 1 each year and that in order to be assigned priority and funds for construction to begin after that date in 1973, it would be necessary to submit the necessary assurances of land rights quite a bit in advance of that date so that consideration could be given the local project for some sort of allocation of priority and funds on the July 1 appropriation. It was Wenmohs' suggestion that a January 1, 1973, submitting of the list of assurances of land rights would not be too early a date, as this would give additional time for accomplishing other necessary actions to indicate a determined and diligent endeavor on the part of the sponsors to finalize their portion of the project.

Mr. Wenmohs stated that there were 45 easements to be secured in the total watershed project and that as of noon Monday 10 of these had been secured and there was a promise of one additional to be secured Monday afternoon.

Details Planned For Clean-Up

Mrs. W.H. Savage, publicity chairman of the Culture Club's clean-up campaign in Sanderson, announced this week that the Terrell County Commissioners' Court, at their regular meeting Monday of last week, gave its support to the project. They will place trash barrels on the courthouse grounds and people are asked to place any and all litter in those barrels if they found it in that vicinity.

The Commissioners also promised to make any or all second calls for trash if it is needed during the cleaning process. Persons who have large quantities of trash accumulated several days prior to the regular pick-up are asked to call Manuel Barron, who is in charge of the trucks.

Another act of co-operation is that Dudley Motors has agreed to haul away any old car wreck at no cost to the owner for the wreck or property on which it might be located it they will call 2503 and make arrangements for the removal of the "eyesore".

The co-operation of every resident in Sanderson is being sought by the members of the sponsoring club who asks that each individual be responsible for cleaning up his own property, and thus accomplish most of the work necessary for a favorable appearance of our

In absence of action by the Price Commission, Secretary Richardson said that the portion of the hospital bill for which a Medicare beneficiary is responsible would have gone from $68 to $76, based on a mathematical formula in the Medicare law which does not leave him any administrative discretion. The law requires the Secretary of HEW to annomce an increase in the deductible amount for each calendar year based on the most recent level of Medicare hospital costs for which annual data is available, in this case.

1971. Prior to formal announcement of the 1973 rate, Sec. Richardson said he asked the Cost of Living Council to determine if the hospital deductible was subject to the provisions of the Economic Stabiliration Program. The Council ruled that the deductible represents a price paid by Medicare recipients for hospital services and that it is, therefore, governed by Price Commission regulations limiting the increase in prices which can be charged by institutional provider of health services. The Price Commission, therefore, held the increase to 6 percent, based on Section 6 C.F.R. 300.18 of its regula-Medicare's hospital deductible is subject to periodic adjustment to reflect changes in average daily costs of hospital care under the program. The current increase, based on 1971 data, reflects in part costs incurred prior to the Economic Stabilization program and, as well, includes cost increases resulting from more advanced and expensive technology in hospitals as well as general increases in costs of goods and services.

Secretary Richardson said that when the hospital deductible amount changes on January 1 of each year, the law requires that comparable changes be made in the dollar amounts a Medicare beneficiary pays toward a hospital stay. of more than 60 days, or a posthospital extended care tay of more than 20 days.

When a Medicare beneficiary has a hospital stay of more that 60 days, he will pay $18 a day for the 61st through the 90th day, up from the present $17 per day. If he has a posthospital stay of over 20 days in an extended care facility, he will pay $9 per day toward the cost of the 21st day through the 100th day, up from the present $8.50 per day.

If he needs to draw on his "lifetime reserve" the reserve of hospital days a beneficiary can draw upon if he ever needs more than 90 days of hospital care in the same benefit period, he will pay $36 for each day used, instead of the present $34 per day. Secretary Richardson noted that the Cost of Living Council, in conjunction with the Health Services Industry Com-

Q. Last summer I operated an ice cream stand and earned almost $250. Do I have to pay social security contributions on these earnings? A. No. Your net self-employment income must be at least $400 before it is covered under social security. If your net earnings from self-employment were over $400, you would be required to pay the social security contributions by April 15 of the next year. You pay the contributions to the Internal Revenue Service when you file your income tax returns for the year.

Q. I'll be 65 near the end of this year and I'm planning to retire then. Since

The objective of the study is to come up with improved ways of controlling the cost of health care while still maintaining the quality of care.

services in self-employment. You can also apply for Medicare protection at that

Q. I'm 66 and have my own business. I don't work full time anymore and I understand I can collect monthly social security retirement payments if I do not "render substantial serivces" in my business. How can I tell whether my work in my business is "substantial"

A. It depends on the amount of time you devote to your business, the kind of work you do, how your work compares with the work you did in past years. and other circumstances of your particular case. You should call, write, or visit any social security office to get detailed information.

Q. I'll be 72 next month. but I intend to go on working as long as I can. I know I can earn as much as I want after I'm 72 and still get all my social security checks. But will my earnings from the first part of this year, before I was 72, still affect my social security payments?

OCTOBER 19, 1972

A. Yes. You will get a social security check for every month beginning with the month of your 72nd birthday-no matter how much you work or earn. However, your earnings for the entire year in which you become 72 are used in figuring what payments can be made to you for the months you were still 71.

Q. When I'm 65 next month, I plan to retire and apply for monthly social security payments. However, next year I'm going to visit friends in Norway for a year. Can my checks be sent to me in Norway? A. Yes. Social security checks can be sent to most foreign countries, including Norway. But be sure to notify the Social Security Administration of your address in Norway before leaving for your visit.

Adlerless Deer Permit Issuance Slated November 1

Antlerless deer permits will be issued to eligible ranchers and landowners at the Terrell County Court House on November 1. To be eligible for permits, the ranch must have a surplus of doe deer as determined by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

An agent drawing permits for someone else must have a written authorization from the person in charge of the acreage which specifies the number of permits desired.

Those persons who desire permits but foresee not being able to make the above date, should either designate someone as their agent to pick up the permits, or contact Jack Kilpatric before then. By state law, no permits can be issued in an area after 10 days prior to the opening of the deer season.
