It Depends on

How You Look At It!

Heard any good rumors lately about another dam to be built on the Rio Grande above Amistad? We have! And we heard the rumor in Odessa from a man who knew more about the proposed dam than we thought was known!

Interest in such a dam locally should be almost a number 1 priority - right after our flood control dams - we would think.

Since we renewed our acquaintance with fishing, the idea of a dam within close driving from Sanderson is a very intriguing idea. One's addiction to such a past-time is a measure of his self-control. And when it comes to resistance, we have the least when temptation faces us.

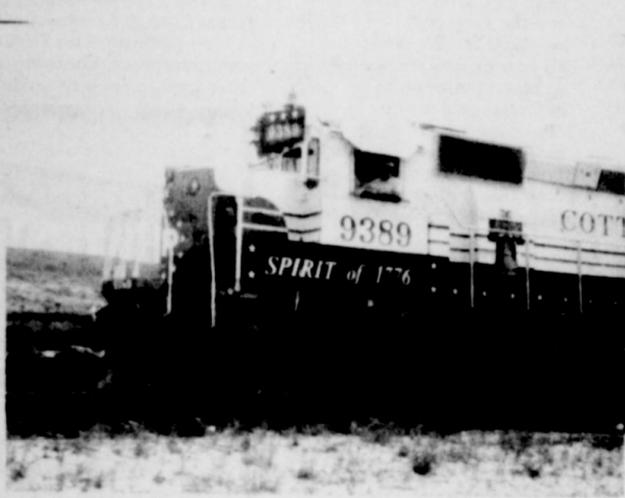

The Times this week is carrying a story about the re-ramping of the Pecos River east side ramp and the closing of that facility until the new ramp is completed. Putting a boat in the lake at that location is not easy for the best of backer-uppers, and for some of us novices, it's downright difficult.

But putting in there, even with the difficulty, is sometimes better than another hour's drive to one of the other boat ramps. It's difficult to catch a fish if you're not on the water.

We remember an incident on the vacant lot directly across the street from our office now. The incident takes on new meaning in the light of recent happenings. Our departed friend, Bill Druse, was trying a new spinning reel and rod on that lot. Getting the hang of those things takes just a little getting-used-to, and that's what he was doing. We sneaked around the corner with our camera and snapped a picture just as he made a beautiful cast, and his eyes showed his pleasure with his ability and reflected dreams of throwing a lure like that and having a lunger come out of the water to hit it. Well, we showed him the picture and jokingly told him that we would use that when we needed to as evidence that he had "flipped his lid". He jokingly told me that he was just practicing while some friends had gone home to get their boat and would be back as soon as they could get the motor started.

And we have been caught commonly and daily almost, practicing with our spinning reel and bait-casting reel also, as both of them were almost like strangers to us! Fishing in the front yard, though, is very lucrative, as it pays off when you start throwing those lures for real!

Many people are away from the area on vacations for and near. News-gathering is no easy task when people are gone. We try and try repeatedly to call them, not knowing they are not at home, and continued to second page

Want to see some of the largest Russian Thistles you have ever seen?

Look around town at the tumbleweeds that are growing on many vacant lots or vacant areas!

One of the best and most successful ways to get rid of this very pesty plant is to pull it up now, before it makes seed, and burn it.

And, the way we see them, it is something that everyone should be concerned about, NOW! We can get rid of the tumbleweeds this week if you will get rid of those on your property.

Flood Insurance Now Available

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced that effective July 22, 1975, Sanderson, Texas, has been accepted into the National Flood Insurance Program.

This means that individual property owners here are now eligible to buy flood insurance protection at affordable federally-subsidized rates, offering more expensive coverage under the expanded program authorized by the 1973 Flood Disaster Protection Act.

Since flood insurance is now available the law requires that it must be purchased by owners of property in areas identified as flood-prone by HUD, in order to be eligible for virtually all forms of federal or federally-related financial assistance for building purposes in those areas.

"This would include FHA or VA mortgages, loans from the Small Business Administration, or loans from any federally-regulated or supervised banks and savings and loan institutions."

While flood insurance is available to all residents of the community that the federal economic sanctions against building assistance will not apply to property outside the danger zones.

Under the expanded program, broader coverage can be obtained for all buildings and their contents. The limit of insurance for single-family homes is now $35,000, and $100,000 for other residential and nonresidential buildings, at the subsidized rate of 25 cents per $100 of coverage. The rate goes to 40 cents per $100 for nonresidential buildings.

The contents of all residential buildings can be insured up to $10,000 per unit at 35 cents per $100 of coverage, and the rate goes to 75 cents per $100 for the contents of all nonresidential structures up to a maximum of $100,000 in coverage per unit.

Policies are effective immediately during the first 30 days the insurance becomes available. After the first 30 days, there is a 15-day waiting period.

The policies can be purchased from any licensed local property insurance agent or broker. The Home Insurance Co., 2100 Travis St., Houston, Texas 77002, has been designated as the flood insurance servicing company for this area. Agents and brokers may obtain policy forms, rates, flood insurance manuals, and any other necessary information from this company.

The FIA is in the process of publishing maps showing the special flood hazard areas in approximately 20,000 communities across the country. He congratulated the local governing body here for taking action before the July 1, 1975, deadline imposed under the Act for enrolling in the program.

The program is designed to stimulate individual participation in it as protection against natural disasters, and to help promote sound flood plain management on the part of local governing authorities.

In becoming eligible under the program, a community must submit an application in which it certifies that it has adopted certain minimum flood plain management measures for the flood-prone areas of that community which conform with Federal requirements. These measures vary according to the characteristics of the community and the nature of specific flood threats. But they are generally designed to regulate the future development of flood hazard areas and ultimately require minimum elevation and construction standards for floors and foundations of any new construction in these areas.

Mr. and Mrs. S.C. Harrell took his brother, Willis Harrell, to El Paso Saturday for medical attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Goyne San Antonio have moved to the Farley rent house at 41 N. Persimmon. He is an SP Railroad employee.

Toni and Brandi Annette Ray of Los Angeles, Calif., are visiting their grandmother Mrs. Charles Draper, and Mr. Draper who met them in Midland when they arrived by plane. Their parents will join them here next week.

It was so nice to see all the folks and friends I'd not seen since we graduated. We all plan to meet again in 5 years. It was all just great and again, let me express my appreciation to all who had a hand in the celebration for the benefit of those who lived a great distance from there. The food was great, parade "special", and remembering will last a long time. Best of luck next year and all the others to follow.

Economy Of County Boosted by Oil, Gas

The production of crude oil and natural gas in 1974 continued to have a significant impact on the economy of Terrell County, with the estimated value of the county's production, royalty payments, and state severance taxes reaching new highs.

Terrell was one of 197 counties--an increase of four from 1973--which produced oil and gas valued in excess of $100,000 in a year which saw the total value of state production jump from just over $6.7 billion to almost $11.4 billion.

The county ranked 123rd in the state in the total value of petroleum produced--$12.9 million--with $289,000 of that coming from the sale of 41,253 barrels of crude oil; $12.6 million from the sale of 43.2 million MCF of natural gas.

This study by the Texas Mid Continent Oil & Gas Association shows that the county's petroleum production last year resulted in the payment of $1.6 million to royalty owners.

The survey also shows that the State of Texas received $956,000 in production taxes from county wells, with $13,000 coming from crude oil output and $943,000 from natural gas production.

Oil and gas developers and producers spent an estimated $900,835 drilling 12 wells in the county last year, with 37.6 percent of that figure lost in six dry holes. The total drilling yielded one oil

Pecos East Side Boat Ramp Closed For Re-Building

Boaters who struggle to launch their vessels from the old Highway 90 ramp on the east side of the Pecos River in Amistad Recreation Area will find their task considerably easier within four to six months.

Charles V. May, acting superintendent of the Department of the Interior's National Park Service - administered area, said that construction has begun on a new boat ramp, parking area, and turn-around facility.

Until construction is completed, however, May said the east side ramp will be closed in the interest of public safety. May said considerable blasting will be necessary to carve out the new facility.

Boaters may still enter the Pecos from the west side during the construction period, May said.

May said the new facilities will benefit boaters in several ways. "Most importantly, this will become a public access ramp once the new facilities are built," he added. "When the present Highway well and five gas wells. The exploratory effort in the county included the drilling of seven wildcat wells seeking new oil and gas fields.

According to the Texas Employment Commission, 53 oil and gas industry employees worked in the county in 1974 and shared a payroll totalling $533,000.

90 was constructed and the old highway was covered by water from the Amistad Reservoir, the old road reverted to the ownership of the Pecos River Co. and there has been an access fee to the boat ramp.

But the Pecos River Co. has agreed that when the Park Service finishes the improvements on the ramp, the old road will go back to Val Verde County," May said.

May listed other benefits, too. "At the present time, boaters have to back into the ramp for a distance of about 400 yards. The new turn-around area near the shore will eliminate that problem. And instead of having to park along the old highway, boaters will have a parking area that will hold about 50 vehicles."

May said that the HCW Construction Co., Inc. of Odessa was awarded the $162,790 contract.

Dress Code For Students Altered

One of the most vexing economic problems facing our nation is the combination of inflation with recession. Among the many explanations of this problem, I'd like to offer my perspective.

When this country was founded, settlers moved into an area, cleared it, planted and grew crops, and then moved on to new locations when the land was ruined. Toward the end of the century, our abundant lands began to play out, and we turned increasingly to technology to allow the continued improvement in our standard of living. By the time World War II, our extraordinary industrial capacity and our unified labor force allowed us to create and mobilize an immensely powerful force, and to emerge from the war undisputedly, the world's industrial and economic leader.

Since that time, however, the output per person in the U. S. A., which had for a number of years greatly exceeded that of any other country, has begun to decline. The reason, I believe, is that we have put too much into immediate consumption and not enough into planned investment and capital formation -- the ingredients for a healthy economy for the next generation. The early settlers knew that they could not consume all of their corn at the table; they had to have seed corn in order to plant for future years. The need is no different today.

During the great depression, we stimulated the economy by stimulating consumption; an economic theory urged by Keynes. But any economic theory has its limits, and we need to recognize that simply stimulating consumption is not enough to deal with the needs of future generations.

One reason that we have combined inflation and recession (especially unemployment) is that our plant capacity is not sufficient to absorb our full work force. If enough capital is not invested in the future, then our productivity does not rise as fast as it should, and shortages occur. We now see shortages in areas such as steel, energy, mining, and many sectors of manufacturing. The American government, by consistently overspending (our government has run deficits in 14 of the last 15 years), has dried up our capital markets and has discouraged investment for future generations.

Japan currently invests twice as much as does the United States, and its gross national product grows at twice the rate of ours. Further, the growth in productivity of the Japanese worker has been three times as great as that of the American worker in the past 13 years. Merely stimulating consumption will do nothing for long-term economic growth unless a significant portion of spending is directed toward increasing the productive capacity of the nation.

If there is a moral for us in our experience of combined inflation and recession, it is that we must give attention to seed corn as well as table corn. We cannot simply live for today and for ourselves without thinking of the needs of our own future and that of our children. Not only must the government cease spending more than it takes in, but it should follow tax policies that encourage thrift, discipline, and hope, all values that immigrants who settled this country cherished very dearly.

Our pending shortages of natural resources such as oil, iron, aluminum, copper, mean that we must continue to invest in improved technology in order to pay for the natural resources which we will have to import. If we confront this task openly,

Terrell County Independent School District board members approved a new dress code for students in the county's school system.

The board's statement and code is printed verbatim below:

"The matter of student grooming is of utmost concern to parents who realize the importance of seeing that children are properly attired when they leave for school each day. Also, student behavior may be influenced by proper dress and grooming. Consequently, student grooming is also the concern of school administrators and teachers.

Boys' Hair - Hair should be clean and well groomed; hair should not be below the bottom of the collar in back on a conventional dress shirt; sideburns or hair should not be below the lobe of the ear and should not be flared excessively; hair in front is not to fall in the eyes; no mustaches and no beards.

Boys' dress - Shirts with tails must be tucked in; shirts must be buttoned to within one button of the throat; boys, 5th grade and above must not wear white undergarments as shirts.

Girls' Dress - No halter tops; no see-through blouses or midriffs; girls will be allowed to wear tank tops but from the 5th grade up they must wear a shirt or blouse over the tank top. Blouse or shirt over tank top may be worn outside of pants or skirt; girls must wear undergarments.

All students must wear shoes and socks or sandals.

The above policy on student dress was approved by Terrell County ISD Board of Trustees at their regular meeting 7-21-75."

Krueger Opposes Land Use Act

The House Interior Committee today (July 15) defeated H.R. 3510, The Land Use and Resource Conservation Act of 1975, by a vote of 23 to 19, with one absentee.

Congressman Bob Krueger, 21st District representative, observed, "I opposed federal land use programs during my campaign and my position has not changed. Planning is a local responsibility and should be supported at a local level."

The proposed legislation would have pre-empted local decision making on land use matters by including federal and regional authorities in the decision making process.

"We must initiate local planning," said Krueger, "however, we can't just talk about it. As in so many instances in the past, we may wait too long and federal interference will result. Too often, that interference has been ill-conceived and harmful," Krueger concluded.

New Warranty Laws for Fiber

Consumers can look forward to more explicit warranties from fiber manufacturers who offer warranty programs on their products, Claudia Mitzel, consumer information - clothing and textiles specialist, reported this week.

The new law, effective July 4, 1975, does not make warranties mandatory. It does set standards that manufacturers must follow if they offer warranties, the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said.

"For the consumer, clothing warranties are an excellent way of insuring a high standard of materials and workmanship. Warranties are found on many types of clothing and some household furnishings.

"If durability is important to the consumer, he should look for those items which carry warranties."

The specialist noted that one major provision of the new law is to distinguish between "limited" and "full" warranties. A full warranty will cover all aspects of fiber, fabric and apparel performances, whereas a limited warranty will not.

"Another requirement the law will effect is the use of the word 'guarantee'. This word will no longer appear by itself on any hangtags or advertisements. But it may be used if accompanied by the word 'warranty'.

"The tags will carry a mandatory printed warning stating 'protect your warranty, keep the tag and your sales slip'."

The specialist said that setting up procedures and regulations for this new law will take about a year.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Extension of the federal Voting Rights Act, expected to be approved soon by the U. S. Senate, will have a dramatic impact on states, cities and counties, warns Texas Secretary of State Mark White Jr.

White is waging a kind of crusade to alert Texas officials and news media representatives what to expect and trying to rally last-ditch opposition.

The act, White emphasizes, would mean far more than federally-monitored voter registration and election procedures.

It would also require that every change in state voting laws, all legislative and local boundary line redistricting and even municipal annexations affecting voting precinct makeup would have to be approved by the U. S. attorney general.

White says Texas has done everything called for in the federal bill to protect voting rights — including passage of a law requiring bilingual ballots and registration materials.

However, the state still would be brought under the act, due to a retroactive provision. That section applies the law to states where fewer than 50 per cent of voting-age adults were registered in 1972 or voted in the last presidential election.

White insists there is no substantial evidence of voting rights violations in Texas, and that applying punitive provisions of the act to the state is an injustice, "a fraud and an insult."

Impeachment Launched

The first impeachment action in 44 years was launched in the House — against 229th District Judge O. P. Carrillo of Duval County.

A select committee unanimously approved a resolution containing 11 articles of impeachment. The House will recieve August 4 at 10 a.m. to consider the resolution. If it, or any similar version, is approved, the Senate will be called into session within about a month to sit in trial of Carrillo.

The judge's Austin attorney, Arthur Mitchell, said he was notified, meanwhile, the Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission, has filed a complaint against Carrillo.

Mitchell said legal action will be taken in an effort to prevent ouster even if impeachment is voted.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen John Hill held gas producer sales to pipelines should be counted as Texas transactions in figuring franchise taxes due the state, and Comptroller Bob Bullock predicted the decision will bring millions of dollars in new income.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris and Rep. Bill Sullivan of Gainesville were named chairman and vice chairman of the 14-member legislative committee on implementation of the new state constitution.

Robert C. Flowers, director of the Governor's Criminal Justice Division, was selected as a member of the executive committee of the National Conference of State Criminal Justice Planning Administrators.

Former State Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio has been appointed legislative historian.

Short Snorts

State Board of Education Chairman Joe Kelly Butler of Houston predicted Texas school districts will have to raise property taxes $200 million to $400 million a year under the new school finance law.

A statewide steering committee of prominent Texans has been named for the upcoming nonpartisan Salute To John Connally slated in Houston on July 31. Proceeds from the $25 a plate dinner will go for support of Connally's nationwide speaking engagements.

Texas liberal Democrats will outline presidential campaign strategies at a meeting here September 20. They plan to organize as "Texans for Somebody Else" (besides Sen. Lloyd Bentsen or Alabama Gov. George Wallace, that is).

Secretary of State Mark White Jr. abandoned plans to buy a new state printing press to produce a voters guide to the new constitution, and decided to take a commercial printing bid.

Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totalling $11.4 million to Texas cities representing July local sales tax collections.

Courts Speak

Third Court of Civil Appeals held big corporations cannot decrease their franchise tax debt to the state by manipulation of subsidiaries. The case is expected to mean $24.4 million in additional state revenue. Texaco Inc. brought the action for return of taxes paid under protest.

Texas prosecutors were told by the Court of Criminal Appeals they cannot make a big issue when an accused person refuses to testify during trial. The Court ordered reversal of a life sentence given a Waco man for rape.

Drop In Lambs, Sheep on Feed

The number of sheep and lambs on feed in Texas as of July 1 was down two per cent from a year ago, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

Following the pattern of previous years, there was a significant drop in the number of animals going into dry-lot feed operations between March 1 and July 1. This drop is the result of better grazing conditions and reduced demands for sheep and lambs.

The 1975 drop was 26%, from 170,000 in March to 126,000 on July 1. This compares with a 48% decrease in 1974 when the totals fell from 240,000 to 129,000.

Marketings of fed sheep during March through June were 26% below last year. Figures dropped from 219,000 in 1974 to 162,000 this year.

Current marketing intentions for the next three months call for 48,000 head to be placed on feed in July, 47,000 in August, and 31,000 in September. However, final figures could be substantially higher because additional lambs will be placed on feed early in the period and marketed later in the period.

AUSTIN — Extension of the federal Voting Rights Act, expected to be approved soon by the U. S. Senate, will have a dramatic impact on states, cities and counties, warns Texas Secretary of State Mark White Jr.

White is waging a kind of crusade to alert Texas officials and news media representatives what to expect and trying to rally last-ditch opposition.

The act, White emphasizes, would mean far more than federally-monitored voter registration and election procedures.

It would also require that every change in state voting laws, all legislative and local boundary line redistricting and even municipal annexations affecting voting precinct makeup would have to be approved by the U. S. attorney general.

White says Texas has done everything called for in the federal bill to protect voting rights — including passage of a law requiring bilingual ballots and registration materials.

However, the state still would be brought under the act, due to a retroactive provision. That section applies the law to states where fewer than 50 per cent of voting-age adults were registered in 1972 or voted in the last presidential election.

White insists there is no substantial evidence of voting rights violations in Texas, and that applying punitive provisions of the act to the state is an injustice, "a fraud and an insult."

Impeachment Launched

The first impeachment action in 44 years was launched in the House—against 229th District Judge O. P. Carrillo of Duval County.

A select committee unanimously approved a resolution containing 11 articles of impeachment. The House will recovene August 4 at 10 a.m. to consider the resolution. If it, or any similar version, is approved, the Senate will be called into session within about a month to sit in trial of Carrillo.

The judge's Austin attorney, Arthur Mitchell, said he was notified, meanwhile, the Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission, has filed a complaint against Carrillo.

Mitchell said legal action will be taken in an effort to prevent ouster even if impeachment is voted.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen John Hill held gas producer sales to pipelines should be counted as Texas transactions in figuring franchise taxes due the state, and Comptroller Bob Bullock predicted the decision will bring millions of dollars in new income.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A legislative act abolishing the county school superintendent's offices in

Appointments

Luke E. Robinson will succeed Kenneth Cook, who is retiring, as administrator of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission August 1.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris and Rep. Bill Sullivan of Gainesville were named chairman and vice chairman of the 14-member legislative committee on implementation of the new state constitution.

Robert C. Flowers, director of the Governor's Criminal Justice Division, was selected as a member of the executive committee of the National Conference of State Criminal Justice Planning Administrators.

Former State Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio has been appointed legislative historian.

Short Snorts

State Board of Education Chairman Joe Kelly Butler of Houston predicted Texas school districts will have to raise property taxes $200 million to $400 million a year under the new school finance law.

A statewide steering committee of prominent Texans has been named for the upcoming nonpartisan Salute To John Connally slated in Houston on July 31. Proceeds from the $25 a plate dinner will go for support of Connally's nationwide speaking engagements.

Texas liberal Democrats will outline presidential campaign strategies at a meeting here September 20. They plan to organize as "Texans for Somebody Else" (besides Sen. Lloyd Bentsen or Alabama Gov. George Wallace, that is).

Secretary of State Mark White Jr. abandoned plans to buy a new state printing press to produce a voters guide to the new constitution, and decided to take a commercial printing bid.

Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totalling $11.4 million to Texas cities representing July local sales tax collections.

Travis and Gonzales counties is unconstitutional.

Library records identifying those who checked out books and art are not subject to disclosure under the open records act.

Student evaluations of a faculty member should be disclosed to him on request.

Courts Speak

Third Court of Civil Appeals held big corporations cannot decrease their franchise tax debt to the state by manipulation of subsidiaries. The case is expected to mean $24.4 million in additional state revenue. Texaco Inc. brought the action for return of taxes paid under protest.

Texas prosecutors were told by the Court of Criminal Appeals they cannot make a big issue when an accused person refuses to testify during trial. The Court ordered reversal of a life sentence given a Waco man for rape.

Wire Taps Checked

The Criminal Justice Division of the governor's office plans a check of city police and county sheriffs to see they aren't doing illegal electronic surveillance with
