A Letter to Veterans

By Eliseo "Al" Cantu, Jr. Major, US Army (Retired) Chairman, Texas Veterans Commission

Dear fellow Texans,

Each year on November 11th we commemorate Veterans Day. This originates from the armistice that ended World War I which occurred at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918. In 1919, President Woodrow Wilson designated November 11th as Armistice Day to honor the veterans who fought in the Great War. After WWII and the Korean War, at the urging of veterans service organizations, Congress amended the commemoration by changing the word "armistice" to "veterans". The legislation was signed by President Dwight E. Eisenhower on June 1, 1954 changing Armistice Day to Veterans Day to honor all American veterans.

November 11 marks a day of Honoring All Who Served. Parades at large cities and small towns across Texas and community breakfasts are among ways this day is commemorated across our great state. Join in the events whether you're a veteran or not on Veterans Day, November 11, 2019.

There are over 1.7 million veterans in Texas. What is a veteran? A veteran, whether discharged, retired, active duty or reserve, is a man or woman who committed themselves carte blanche to the United States of America for an amount up to and including life. They may have served at home or abroad in a variety of ways from motor pools to medical facilities, combat to supply chain. Veterans are men and women from all walks of life who served in the Army, Marines, Navy, Air Force, or Coast Guard. All served and all are to be honored for that service.

As this day honors those who serve, I encourage Texas veterans to claim the benefits they have earned for themselves, their spouses and families. From education and employment to disability compensation and health care, Texas veterans may call on the Texas Veterans Commission for assistance and to smooth the process. Further, we can help veterans struggling with crisis to connect with a fellow veteran to talk with or with licensed mental health providers. Veterans who are business owners or want to own their own business can benefit from our Entrepreneur program. For those organizations providing services to veterans such and housing, we offer grants through the Fund for Veterans' Assistance.

Texas veterans, connect with your Texas Veterans Commission online at tvc. texas.gov or call 1-800-252-8387. To all our Texas veterans, know that you have our gratitude and our unwavering support on Veterans Day and every day of the year.

Let us all join in commemorating Veterans Day, whether active duty, veteran or civilian. Let's show our appreciation and Honor All Who Served. We should always remember our veterans' selflessness, commitment to duty and service to all Americans and make every day Veterans Day.

It was only a matter of "when" not "if" another horrendous accident at the Hub intersection would occur. A milk truck and a cattle truck collided sometime around 5 p.m. Tuesday afternoon at the notorious location. Both drivers ended up at Parmer Medical Center where each one was transported by a different helicopter to a metro hospital. (courtesy photo)

PMC offering Medicare Open Enrollment Education

Finding the right Part D plan Parmer Medical Center is proud to announce their upcoming community education program on Thursday, November 14th beginning at 10:00 a.m. in the Parmer Medical Center conference room. This event was originally scheduled for October 24th but was cancelled due to the snowstorm.

As most Medicare recipients are aware, open enrollment started on October 15th and will end on December 7th. Medicare and its plans change every year, especially the prescription drug plans. Part D deals entirely with your prescription medications and although the plan you had for 2019 may have been ideal for your prescription medications, that plan may have changed for 2020. By the time you realize your current plan is no longer the most appropriate, open enrollment is over and no changes can made on your Part D coverage.

This program is being presented by Area Agency on Aging and they have the capability to review your medications and let you make an informed decision on which Part D plan is most appropriate for your medication needs. The educational portion of the program will begin at 10:00 a.m. in the conference room at Parmer Medical Center and last approximately one hour. Immediately following the program, the benefits counselors will stay to assist anyone with questions regarding which Part D plan is most financially appropriate for their medication needs.

Please bring your medication list, any insurance cards, including your Medicare card, and join us on Thursday, November 14th. The one hour program may have a significant impact on your prescription drug costs for the upcoming year!!!

The Area Agency on Aging serves as the advocate for the Panhandle's elderly population and is not an insurance company. Parmer Medical Center and Area Agency on Aging want to assist individuals within our service area in making informed decisions regarding their Medicare care needs for 2020.

Spanish translation will be provided for anyone needing assistance. If you have any questions, please contact Rhonda Wilkins at 806-250-2754.

Two students earn all-region choir

Friona High School students Kenzie Malone and Josh Duenes made the allregion choir at tryouts last Saturday. They competed against students from all schools in the region, 1A through 5A.

Kenzie is third chair alto 2 and Josh is fourth chair tenor 1. They will sing with the all-region choir at 7 p.m. Monday November 9 at the Globe News Center for the Performing Arts in Amarillo. Joining them will be four freshmen honor choir members: Lindy Wiseman, Cesia Boyzo, Brady Hansard, and Maddie Murphree. The concert is free and open to the public.

Choir director Allison Johnston said, "I am so very proud of these students. To place that high in this region is quite an accomplishment. They will continue in the All State process and compete in round 3 on Thursday December 3."

15 years ago - November 4, 2004

A heavier than usual, and earlier than usual snowfall in the wee hours of Tuesday, kept Friona's chances of topping the all-time moisture record alive and well.

An estimated 7.5 inches of snow were received at the city and county's official gauge on Tuesday. Having been preceded by a light rain most of the day on Monday, the official moisture measurement was 1.30 inches.

That brought the yearly moisture total to 33.38 inches, with still two months to go in the year. The total moisture is now 7.19 inches behind the record of 40.57 inches, set in 1941.

To reach or surpass the record, we'd have to average .80 inches of moisture per week in the final nine weeks of the year.

Before you say, "it ain't possible", we'd note that this is virtually the exact average, per week, of the present yearly total.

This writer's friend, Doyce Barnett, told him prior to the latest moisture, he remembers a time several years ago when the Friona area received four inches of rain in December, and emphasized the point that it was all in the form of rain.

(Good thing, too, since that could have amounted to as much as four feet of snow!)

Phillip Johnson wins Week 10 in tiebreaker

I was déjá vu all over again in Week 10 of the Friona Star Football Contest. For the second straight week multiple contestants tied with 9 correct picks. Also for the second week in a row, only one point in the first tiebreaker round separated first from second place. And finally, for the second week in a row a member of the Montana family was in the money.

Phillip Johnson missed the New England/Baltimore tiebreaker by 20 points and won the $30 first place prize. Erika Montana missed by 21 points and won the $20 second place prize. Dennis Field won the $10 third place prize with a miss of 24 points. Rounding out the top five finishers were William Gromosky (31 points) and Tim Elmore (38 points). No one picked Baltimore to win.

Panhandle Parables

It Is Well With

By Jeff Procter, Minister, 6th Street Church of Christ

Horatio Spafford penned the words to the famous hymn, "It Is Well With My Soul," over a hundred years ago and it still stirs the heart of one wrestling with faith when times are dark. I will not go into the history of this song here, but if you have not read it I encourage you to look it up sometime the story gives strength to the sincerity of the author's words.

I believe that if we could live the words we sing, those of us who preach wouldn't have to preach so much. (Just kidding, sort of) I do think the words we sing can be a very powerful force in our lives that help us get through difficult moments.

Each of us has our struggles and even view the same storm differently. If you are trying to get your wheat cut when the storm clouds collect, it gets a little discouraging. However, if you are trying to get that corn crop growing, then the same storm is welcome moisture. The reality of each is that we all have our moments that give us pause. The things that cause us to think beyond our selves for a moment.

Storms in life can show up suddenly or slowly creep in, but once they are there, it is difficult to ignore. How do I trust when nothing seems to be going well? How do I sing, "...it is well with my soul..." when my soul cries out for help. How do I even know where to turn as the storm rages in my life?

I must go to the One who stills the storm or gives strength to endure it. I must go to the One who understands better than anyone what human struggle looks like. I must take my storms to the Savior. I must learn to sing, "when sorrows like sea billows roll...whatever my lot Thou hast taught me to say, It is well with my soul." So when the thunder claps, the wind begins to howl and the storm grows dark lean on the One and only Son of God that you may find strength. I would add that as you sing this song, go read Psalm 46 and find strength.

Psalm 146—Where's Your Trust?

By Brett Hoyle, Pastor, First Baptist Church

Who would you call when your car breaks down, the pipes bust, or when your air conditioner goes out? There's a great chance that if you know and trust someone in one of these fields you wouldn't hesitate to call them because they can fix the problem and get you going again. What about in life? Where's your trust in life for your direction and help and hope?

Psalm 146 plainly proclaims that our trust ought to be in God, not in man. Verse 3-4 gives the obvious reason saying, "Put not your trust in princes, in a son of man, in whom there is no salvation. When his breath departs he returns to the earth; on that very day his plans perish." Therefore, don't put your trust in people for the salvation of your soul. The priest, preacher, guru and swami will all be laid in the grave one day and stay there! In massive contrast to everyone who will pass away, put your trust in the one who conquered death and the grave.

In fact, as the Psalm goes on from there, fourteen reasons to trust in God are clearly given regarding why you can and should trust in God. God gives help, hope, God is creator, faithful, just, giving, God brings freedom, gives sight, lifts up the lowly, loves His own, watches over the sojourner, upholds the vulnerable, judges the wicked, and reigns forever. I don't know of anyone else who can even come close to touching what God can do!

Putting your trust in God begins with repenting of your sins and trusting completely in Jesus Christ as the Savior from your sin. When you follow Jesus you trust His direction, His Word as found in the Bible, and the guidance of His Spirit. Following Jesus is not safe or boring, but filling, satisfying and carries eternal benefits!

Don't Waddle, Walk Straight

By Teena Hughs

Last December, I woke up with a severe pain in my left hip. I won't bore you with the details of how it happened, but in June, I discovered my pain was caused by, as my husband and daughter affectionately told me, "waddling like a little duck"! Concentrating on walking straight, and icing my hips, have helped alleviate the pain!

Last week, I started thinking about my "waddling" in relation to life. As dedicated Christians, we try to walk a straight line: we try to have a relationship with God; we pray; we study; we try to be the hands, feet, and mouth of Jesus; we try to make disciples; we try to be the Christian God desires us to be.

Sometimes, things in life just start caving in on us. We don't notice it at first, but unexpected things take us away from God. Eventually, things are piled so high on us that we start waddling, and until our hips start hurting again, we don't even realize how far we have drifted from God. So, what do we do?

First, we have to grab the hand of the One who was walking with us when we were previously walking the straight line. The same Jesus who was walking with us before, is the same Jesus who is still walking with us as we waddle. His hand is extended is to us, just waiting for us to take it and hold on for dear life!

Second, we have to look at why, where, and when our waddling started so we can not only start the process of walking that straight line again, but so we won't make the mistake again that led to us waddling.

Third, be patient. Don't expect to be pain-free from your waddling immediately. It takes a while to make the necessary adjustments to consistently walk that straight line all the time.

Fourth, and probably most important, talk to God and ask Him what you need to do; how you can get relief from everything that is piled on top of you; how you can be pain-free and walk straight again.

Fifth, enjoy walking the straight line with Jesus. Every once in a while I still have bouts of pain with my hip; those are just my "bumps" in my road of life. They are also my reminder to do everything I can to continue to walk the straight line, because walking a straight line beats waddling any day of the week!!!

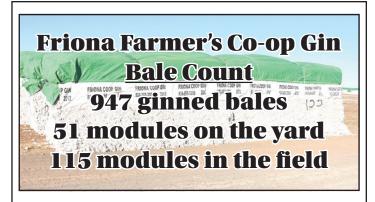

Texas Weekly Fuel Update and Outlook

Texas gas prices have fallen 1.9 cents in the past week to an average of $2.26 per gallon, according to GasBuddy's daily survey of 13,114 stations. Gas prices in Texas are 7.6 cents per gallon lower than a month ago and 22.9 cents per gallon lower

According to GasBuddy price reports, the lowest price in the state is $1.95 while the highest is $3.19 per gallon. The lowest price in the entire country stands at $1.91 while the most expensive is $5.49 per gallon. The national average price of gasoline has fallen 0.4 cents in the last week to an average of $2.60 per gallon. The national average is down 6.9 cents per gallon from a month ago and stands 13.8 cents per gallon lower than

"While the national average gas price didn't show much of a significant trend either way, oil prices did jump last week on the solid jobs report and on news of a growing consensus that the U.S. and China have agreed to some form of a trade deal," said Patrick DeHaan, head of petroleum analysis for GasBuddy. "With such strong economic data, the picture is painted that we could see improving demand for oil and thus prices rising last week. While it may not be immediately noticed at the pump as gasoline demand continues to be weak in the off-season, it certainly could lead to a more noticeable impact next summer should nothing change until then. Ahead of Thanksgiving, last week's oil jump may derail falling gas prices, though we still may see prices drift lower, the good economic news means prices will not drop as much as they could have otherwise."

GasBuddy is the authoritative voice for gas prices and the only source for station-level data spanning nearly two decades. GasBuddy's survey updates 288 times every day from the most diverse list of sources covering nearly 150,000 stations nationwide, the most comprehensive and up-to-date in the country. GasBuddy data is accessible at http://FuelInsights.GasBuddy.

Voters to decide on proposed amendments to state constitution

AUSTIN — The state's 10-day early voting period ran from Oct. 21 to Nov. 1 with Election Day on Nov. 5.

On the ballot are 10 proposed constitutional amendments, special elections and local political subdivision elections, including those for mayor, city council, school board, municipal utility districts and other local entities.

Secretary of State Ruth Hughs, the state's chief election officer, encouraged all eligible voters to fulfill their civic duty by voting. During the early voting period, Hughs said, "It is critical that all eligible Texans have the opportunity to help shape the direction of the Lone Star State."

For more information on voting in Texas and a list of the proposed constitutional amendments, visit www.votetexas.gov.

Feds set hemp rules

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Sid Miller on Oct. 29 announced the U.S. Department of Agriculture's release of interim final rules for the U.S. Domestic Hemp Program

The rules, part of the 2018 Farm Bill, serve as a framework for states like Texas that are planning to build an industrial hemp growing program. With federal guidelines in place, the Texas Department of Agriculture can now submit a state hemp plan to USDA for approval, Miller said. The rules can be found online at usda.gov.

"This is the big leap forward we've all been waiting for," said Miller. "I want to make it clear – it is still not yet legal to grow industrial hemp in Texas. But we are one step closer to allowing farmers to get this exciting new crop in the ground."

Miller said he expects to submit the Texas plan for an industrial hemp program in 30 days or less.

Harvey disaster continues

Gov. Greg Abbott on Oct. 28 extended the disaster proclamation he originally issued on Aug. 23, 2017, for counties affected by Hurricane Harvey that brought loss of life and damages estimated at more than $125 billion

In the proclamation, the governor authorized the use of all available resources of state government and of political subdivisions that are reasonably necessary to cope with the disaster.

Original counties named in the proclamation were: Aransas, Austin, Bee, Brazoria, Calhoun, Chambers, Colorado, DeWitt, Fayette, Fort Bend, Galveston, Goliad, Gonzales, Harris, Jackson, Jefferson, Jim Wells, Karnes, Kleberg, Lavaca, Liberty, Live Oak, Matagorda, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio, Victoria, Waller, Wharton and Wilson.

Abbott later expanded the list to include the counties of: Angelina, Atascosa, Bastrop, Bexar, Brazos, Burleson, Caldwell, Cameron, Comal, Grimes, Guadalupe, Hardin, Jasper, Kerr, Lee, Leon, Madison, Milam, Montgomery, Newton, Orange, Polk, Sabine, San Augustine, San Jacinto, Trinity, Tyler, Walker, Washington and Willacy.

Update: 'Vaping' cases

The Texas Department of State Health Services on Oct. 29 reported that 165 Texas cases of severe lung disease have been identified so far in people who report "vaping" before developing symptoms.

One case was reported to have resulted in death. State health officials are gathering more information on about 13 other possible cases to determine whether they are consistent with the symptoms and substance use seen in cases in Texas and 48 other states.

Patients range in age from 13 to 75 years old, with a median age of 22 years. About one-quarter of the people affected in Texas are minors. Three-quarters are male, and nine in 10 report vaping THC or marijuana, possibly in conjunction with other substances. Almost all were hospitalized, with many requiring intensive care.

TEA reports test results

The Texas Education Agency on Oct. 30 reported that Texas fourth graders taking the 2019 National Assessment of Educational Progress in mathematics improved from two years ago, outpacing the national average.

However, for eighth-grade students, mathematics scores declined slightly, dropping below the national average for the first time since 2003. Furthermore, eighth-grade reading scores showed the largest decline, mirroring a large decline across the nation.

NAEP is a random sample test of reading and mathematics in fourth and eighth grades, overseen by the U.S. Department of Education and conducted every two years in every state.

Cloves

This week we visit the third and final pumpkin spice ingredient, cloves. Cloves originate from the clove tree, an evergreen tree that grows in a tropical climate. The tree can grow up to 30 feet high and is closely related to the Eucalyptus tree and Tea tree. The clove tree does not produce flowers for five years after planting. The spice is actually the dried flower bud from the tree. The buds are hand-picked as the buds are turning pink. After the buds are sun dried, they turn a dark brown. It comes in both whole and ground forms. Because of the shape of the whole clove, its name was derived from the French word, clou, which means nail.

Cloves are one of the Big 4 spices, including cinnamon, nutmeg, and pepper. Cloves are native to the Malucca Islands, one of the Spice Islands now part of Indonesia. They were one of the first spices traded dating as far back as 1721 B.C. The Malucca Islands were first discovered by Ferdinand Magellan and claimed for Portugal's King Emmanuel. The Portuguese controlled the island until the 1600's when the Dutch took control. Once again, the Dutch were determined to have a monopoly over the spice trade. To gain power over the clove trade, they destroyed clove trees that sprouted up in areas out of their control. This caused the natives of the region to hate the Dutch because the clove trees were planted in celebration of the birth of a child. Each tree was psychologically tied to that of the child. When the trees were chopped down, the natives believed it did not bode well for the child. By the 18th century cloves were grown in many places around the world such as Zanzibar, Madagascar, Brazil, Mauritius, Ternte, Tidore, and Tanzania. This dissolved the monopoly that the Dutch had and made the spice affordable for everyone.

Cloves are used in many cuisines around the world especially in the different spice blends such as curry spices in Indian cooking, Chinese Five Spice, Garam Masala, and Moroccan ras el hanout. Cloves are also seen in a variety of tea blends, as well as in some recipes in French cooking.

Cloves are also well known for their medicinal properties. Clove oil has natural anesthetic properties and were used for many centuries in dental procedures. In modern day dentistry, cloves are used to add flavor to mouth rinses and numbing gels. Cloves have also been known to have antiseptic, antibacterial, antifungal, and antiviral properties. They can help with blood circulation, digestive system ailments, and relieving vomiting and diarrhea. The oil can also be defused for use in aromathera-

Indonesia continues to produce cloves, but 80% of the world's cloves now come from Tanzania. Facts for this article can be found at www. superiorbetamd.com, fooduniversity.com, and www. indepthinfo.com.

Clove Butter

By Amy Wisniewski

Packed with the flavors of fall, this compound butter improves anything it tops. It's a natural on baked sweet potatoes or pancakes, but it also holds its own on a seared pork chop or a late-night snack of cinnamon toast.

Ingredients:

8 tables poons or 1 stick softened unsalted butter 1/4 teas poon dark molasses 1/8 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper 1 teaspoon kosher salt 1/16 teaspoon ground clove

1/4 lb. (1/2 cup) unsalted butter, softened

1 t packed finely grated orange zest

(I used a few drops of orange oil)

Instructions:

Place 8 tablespoons softened unsalted butter (1 stick) in a medium bowl and mash with a spatula until spreadable. Add 1 teaspoon kosher salt, 1/4 teaspoon dark (a.k.a. robust) molasses, 1/8 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, and 1/16 teaspoon ground clove and stir to combine.

Clove Snaps

Closely adapted from Fine Cooking Author: www.thespicedlife.com

1/8 t fine sea salt

1 large egg

34 cup granulated sugar

Ingredients
6¾ oz (1.5 cups) AP flour
2 t whole cloves
¼ t ground cinnamon
¼ t whole black peppercorns
4 white peppercorns

Instructions: Place the whole spices in a spice (or clean coffee) grinder and grind until fine. Set aside. In a bowl, whisk together the flour and salt. Set aside. Using a stand mixer fitted with paddle attachment (or in large bowl with hand mixer), cream the butter with the ground spices, including the cinnamon, at medium speed until light and fluffy, about 2 minutes. Add the sugar and mix just until combined, scraping the bowl as needed. Add the egg and orange zest and mix until well-blended, scraping the bowl as needed. Add the flour mixture and mix on low speed just until the flour is absorbed and the dough starts to come together, about 30 seconds. Turn out the dough onto a lightly floured surface and knead just until the dough forms a smooth mass. Divide the dough in half and roll each half into a log approximately 8 inches long. Roll tightly in plastic wrap, and then tightly in heavy duty foil. At this point you can either chill for at least 2 hours or place the dough in the freezer. When you are ready to bake the cookies, pre-heat the oven to 375 F. Slice the dough into rounds as thin as you can, approximately 1/8-inch thick. Place them on a silicone or parchment lined cookie sheet about an inch apart. Bake until cookies are golden around the edges and on the bottoms, about 12 minutes. Let the cookies cool completely on the baking sheets on racks--they will not be crispy when they first come out of the oven. Store in airtight containers.

New online, interactive atlas gives comprehensive view of Texas quail decline

The Texas A&M Natural Resources Institute, or NRI, has recently published the Texas Quail Atlas, a free online resource and the newest "story map" to be developed by the institute.

The online atlas was developed as a collaborative effort of the Reversing the Decline of Quail in Texas Initiative and the NRI Geospatial Analysis Team.

"This interactive resource tells the story of the four species of Texas quail using maps and historical data to examine how and why quail populations in Texas have changed over time," said Jim Cathey, Ph.D., associate director of the institute. "It will help provide answers for landowners, quail enthusiasts, hunters and other observers as to what has happened to quail populations throughout the state in recent decades."

Texas is home to four species of quail: northern bobwhite, scaled quail, Gambel's quail and Montezuma quail.

"Many Texans consider these birds to be iconic state species and fondly recall hunting them, watching them or just listening to their songs," Cathey said.

He said the new atlas provides a wealth of information for anyone looking to learn more about the history of Texas quail and why the conservation of these species is so critical. It is the second in a series of quail story maps, after Habitat Requirements of Texas Quail.

"Recent research efforts, such as those funded by the Reversing the Decline of Quail in Texas Initiative, have sought to determine what factors are contributing to the decline of quail in Texas," Cathey said. "Potential causes include drought, land-use changes, land fragmentation, habitat loss, human-wildlife interface issues, invasive species, insecticides, diseases and parasites."

Amanda Gobeli, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service project coordinator with the NRI in College Station, said the new online atlas provides biological background information and historical context for the decline of quail.

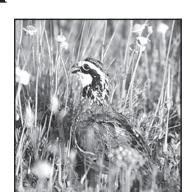

"What has happened to quail populations in Texas is intricately linked to the health of its lands and has a significant impact on the ecosystems, finances and culture of the state," she said. "But it can be difficult to recognize the long-term and regional patterns that impact quail populations unless the data is compiled in one place. We have attempted to give a more comprehensive picture of the quail decline through time and under changing conditions."

Gobeli said with the interactive maps in the atlas, the user can zoom in to see either data for their own county or a more general statewide view. Slider bars alternate between historical and present-day data to show changes over

"It also includes a timeline of pivotal historical events that contributed to the current state of quail and ecosystem case studies that illustrate the importance of habitat," she said.

Kevin Skow, Texas A&M AgriLife Research geospatial system coordinator with the NRI in College Station, said one of the challenges of developing the atlas was to find a user-friendly way to convey the volume of information.

"We pulled data from several unrelated sources from the national agricultural census, citizen-science sources, the Texas Comptroller's office, wildlife agencies and elsewhere," Skow said. "Story maps like these have a lot of information, so we found a template that would allow us to break the information into chapters. We looked at presenting the atlas as a book and then fleshed out the individual chapters. Together, those chapters tell the story of quail in Texas in an interactive way."

Skow said while some of the information in the atlas can be found elsewhere, the new online publication focuses foremost on the challenges identified in the quail decline initiative.

"Land-use changes, as well as changes in vegetation and urban development over the past decades, can be seen in the aerial images included in the atlas," he said. "Seeing visual evidence of important changes, such as the loss of working lands in the state, help show what factors quail populations have had to deal with over the past decades."

Gobeli noted the dynamic mapping features and snapshots portraying a studied history of quail heritage make the Texas Quail Atlas "a terrific resource for teaching landowners and the next generation of natural resource managers."

The new atlas gives a comprehensive picture of how and why quail populations, particularly those of the bobwhite quail, have declined over the past decades. (Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service

How We Teach and Learn History

There is no town left, but today you can go to visit the area where Jamestown started and see copies of the ships on which the first settlers sailed to get to a new land. There are also models of the English fort and a Native American village that you can study to learn how the people lived then.

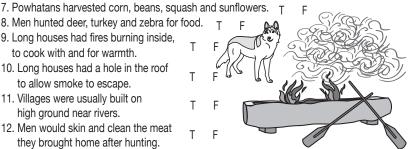

Can you find and circle these things people are using or doing to teach people about the history of Jamestown?

Powhatan

Tribal Daily Life

What do you know about the daily life of the Native Americans during colonial times? Below are some daily activities of the Powhatan Indians. Read each clue and circle "T" if it is True and "F" if it is False.

- 1. Men would shave one side of their heads so bow strings didn't get caught in their hair. 2. Women built the "yehakins" (long houses). 3. Men built canoes to travel across the sea. 4. Men worked the fields to grow crops. 5. Women collected firewood and water. 6. Men would fish with spears and fishing poles.
- 8. Men hunted deer, turkey and zebra for food. 9. Long houses had fires burning inside, to cook with and for warmth. 10. Long houses had a hole in the roof
- to allow smoke to escape. 11. Villages were usually built on
- high ground near rivers.
- 12. Men would skin and clean the meat they brought home after hunting.

Words From the Powhatan Language Read each word and match it to its definition:

Captain John Smith, one of the founders of Jamestown, Virginia, recorded about 50 Powhatan Indian words. William Strachey, a writer, recorded about 500 words. They spelled the words based on their sounds. The language of the Powhatan is no longer spoken, but people are studying the language. And, some words we use today, such as "raccoon," have come from this language!

Lazbuddie robotics team qualifies for State

by Debbie Weir, Robotics Sponsor

The Lazbuddie robotics team won 1st place UIL, 2nd Place BEST Team, and 4th place in the robot competition on Nov. 2. The team has qualified for the state competition of Texas BEST, (boosting engineering, science, and technology) in both categories at University of Texas at Dallas in Frisco, Texas on December 5-8th. 26 teams entered the contest held at Monterey High School in Lubbock. 76 teams will be present in Dallas from Texas and surrounding states. The team won 2nd place in the table display and presentation, 2nd place in Spirit and Sportsmanship, and 1st place Founder's Award, 2nd place CAD Design, and 1st place Engineering Notebook. Lazbuddie won 1st place Regional UIL division. The BEST competition consists of four categories:

(1) A project summary notebook submitted in advance of Texas Best.

(2)An oral presentation in front of judges which included a power point presentation, an explanation of the engineering process, community outreach, school involvement, school promotion, and school spirit involvement.

(3) A table exhibit and interviews.

(4)A spirit and sportsmanship review.

Team members include: Jose Andrade, Bethany Bradley, Jessica Bradley, Elias Buie, Jonah Buie, Jamie Carrillo, TJ Chavez, Joshua Cox, Macy Davis, Ashlyn Dosher, Jacob Froese, Nicole Gilliam, Priscila Gonzalez, Iliana Lopez, Grace Reyes, John Henry Schacher, MacAyla Spears, Preston Stewart, Guillermo Vallejo Jr., Halley Wales, Michael Wales.

Any financial support to help finance our trip to state would be greatly appreciated! Your support from past years for Lazbuddie Robotics has been great! We will use the money to help pay for the motel rooms and food for the students. The football concession was a fund raiser for robotics. It does not cover all our expenses for the regional and state competition.

If you decide to send a donation, your name will be included on a banner in our booth and in a thank you ad in the Farwell and Muleshoe newspapers in January. Thanks again! The community support has been awesome!
