Plymouth Well Extends Yates Field Mile New Rankin Methodist Church Building Program Resumed World Endurance Record Pilot in Midland 4th.

Yates Fied To Be Extended By Plymouth Well

No. 2 F. A. Perry in Eastern Pecos Has Good Chances

Plymouth Oil Company's No. 2 F. A. Perry, in eastern Pecos county, which has given indication of a three-quarter mile south-western extension of the Yates field drilled to 1,845 feet in line with 1,700 feet of oil in the hole late Tuesday.

Deepening is scheduled for Wednesday morning but until then the exact value of the well is undetermined, although it appears good for a possible 100 barrels a day. The well swabbed 50 barrels Monday when the depth was 1,817 feet, lowering the oil to within 300 feet of the bottom. It began filling up again at the rate of 100 feet an hour.

The swabbing caused some caving and for this reason it was not swabbed again. Cementing of 6 5-8 inch casing at 1,776 feet shut off four barrels of oil and a like amount of water from 1,772-76 feet. The top of the present pay is 1792 feet and a small amount of gas was encountered at 1,795 feet. The best pay encountered so far was from 1,796-99 feet. The pay is broken all the way down.

The well is located 330 feet from the north and 380 feet from the east line of section 29, block 178 G. C. & S. F. Ry. survey. It headed twice at 1,815 feet Monday. The striking of oil in the well in possible commercial production quantities was a surprise in many quarters because of the well's bailing the four barrels of sulphur water and the same of oil at the 1,772-76 foot level, which is the approximate top of the lime.

The Plymouth well is about three-quarters of a mile southwest of Phillips Petroleum Co.'s Nos. 1 and 5 Ramsey, producers in the northeast quarter of section 17, block 194, G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey. It is about the same distance due south of California Co.'s No. 1 Smith, lease 5, and about 1 3-4 miles north and slightly east of Plymouth No. 1 Perry, in the center of the southwest quarter of section 30, both of which were dry.

Section 29, in which No. 2 Perry is located, is the northeast corner section in a Plymouth block

WEST TEXAS TODAY for June will be mailed to more than 10,000 members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce this week. Some material for the publication is sent in by commercial executives, county agents and others, and some written by its editors and staff members of the regional organization.

Plans for Building New Church Gaining Headway

The movement which has been on foot for the past year to build a new church in Rankin has finally begun to move. Various things have caused this long delay; but preparations are fast taking shape to break ground in September, and then hasten the building to completion.

The building is to be of brick or brick-veneer, and is to cost around $10,000. The auditorium will seat between three and four hundred people, and the basement will be equipped for Sunday school, Epworth League, and social gatherings. It will be located on the corner, one block south of the community church. It will be owned and cared for by the Methodist church, but will be open to services of other denominations when not in use.

Canvassing has already begun and about half of the necessary funds have been secured. Mr. R. L. Lowe is Treasurer of the building fund, and welcomes contributions.

Rankin is in sad need of a new church building, and has recognized so for some time. To have one will increase property values, and be an asset to the community as well as to religious work. We should all put our good wills and our pocket-books together and help put up this building.

Isn't It The Truth

Erasmus Tack (Col. Gene Howe) says in the Amarillo Globe that he read something the other day that interested him. It was a moral about people who gossip about other folks.

A peasant with a troubled conscience went to a monk for advice. He said that he had circulated a vile story about a friend only to find that the story was not true.

"If you want to make peace with your conscience," said the monk, "you must fill a bag with chicken down go to every doorway in the village and drop in each one of them one fluffy feather."

The peasant did as he was told. Then he came back to the monk and announced that he had done penance for his folly.

"Not yet," replied the monk. "Take your bag, go the rounds again and gather up every feather that you have dropped."

"But the wind must have blown them all away," said the peasant.

"Yes, my son," said the monk, "and so it is with gossip. Words are easily dropped but no matter how hard you try, you can never get them back again."

Going To Church

Text: I was glad when they said unto me, let us go unto the house of the Lord." Ps. 122: 1

Going to church used to be the privilege of everybody, but now it seems to be confined more or less to the faithful few. Many of our older citizens are looking longingly back several years to the time when churches were filled on Sundays, and it was fashionable to go there; and they deplore the seeming fact that the world is going to the devil today, because it does not go to church.

I agree that the road to the devil is away from the church. But since I never believed that going to church ever saved a soul, I can not now believe that a person is necessarily taking a step toward the devil every time he stays away from church. Neither can I believe that the waning popularity of church going necessarily proves that the world is less religious than it used to be. It may be that the church must change its methods of approach to suit the changing conditions as civilization progresses. For example, the sermons which thrilled the vast multitudes thronging to hear Wesley and Whitefield and Moody, would put a modern audience to sleep.

We must remember that years ago when the churches were filled, the saloons and gambling dens were also filled. We must also remember that in those days people had fewer places to go than they have now, and less satisfactory methods of getting around, so that many who attended church did so just to have something to do. Nobody lacks something to do and a place to go, and the church is one of many interests which claim one's attention. Some of these interests are good and some are bad, and oftentimes church services seem to conflict with a person's other duties. The church today must prove its superiority over all other interests, as it has never needed to do before and its superior right to claim the attention of men and women.

This proof it is thoroughly capable of giving when it is true to its mission of building up the kingdom of God. Jesus recognized only one interest which opposes the church, and that is unrighteousness. All that is not working with the church is unrighteous.

But let us not be misunderstood here; for we must be certain that the church is occupying its rightful place before we begin to condemn other things. Many crimes have been committed in the name of the church, as for example the Inquisition. I believe that the church often tries to hold services when it ought to be ministering to the needy; and spends energy in worshipping, saying "Lord, Lord", that ought to be used in doing the will of the Father in helpfulness.

Everything that God has given us for earning our living is sacred and our vocation, if legitimate, is sacred. Perhaps if the church is ignoring the sacred obligation of people to earn their living, and is doing nothing to help them do it, then these same people may have a right to neglect some of the church services while they work reverently at their tasks.

I am as anxious as anyone that people attend church, but I am more concerned that people and the church do the will of God, which consists of worship, righteousness, and good will. I believe that anyone who is trying to do this will attend services whenever possible, and help the church in its great task.

Mineral Wealth of Texas Includes 50 Important Metals

Approximately 50 important metals exist in Texas, their total value giving the state a tremendous mineral wealth, according to Dr. Henry Mace Payne, consulting engineer of the American Mining Congress.

Dr. Payne points out that the minerals indicated, together with other exposures, should be further examined, and their extent and quality determined. He adds further that they should be presented to consumers always seeking new sources of supply, distribution and fabrication.

Industries Are Trekking Toward the Smaller Towns

CONGESTED quarters, high rents, exorbitant taxes and unsatisfactory labor conditions are slowly but surely driving industries from the larger cities to the country.

THOUSANDS of manufacturers, mill owners and big business men yearly are realizing the advantages of quiet, uncrowded, inexpensive living and excellent labor conditions offered by the small town and are trekking in that direction.

THE majority of the small towns in West Texas can have their share of industrial development because they have the necessary facilities, of which none is more important than ample, uninterrupted, economical electric power.

THE WEST TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY, with its more than 2,000 miles of transmission lines and 70,000 available horsepower of electrical energy, guarantees the industries the same efficient service they have enjoyed in the great cities of the country.

PRINCESS BASQUE AND BOUFFANT SKIRT ACHIEVE NEW SILHOUETTE

WHERE the younger set is present, taffeta in bouffant styles enlivens the evening picture. One simply must be young and slender to dare the picturesque full and lengthened hemline which flares from a long-waisted bodice, as pictured here.

As one studies this lovely gown comes the conviction of a changing silhouette—which is true. The newest lines stress a molded princess basque effect, which takes on extreme fullness at a point much lower on the hipline than heretofore. Also skirts grow longer and longer for the evening mode. However, their lines are so exquisitely modulated with sheerness and unevenness one feels in no sense that they are too long.

The evening taffetas, for which youth shows such a fondness, revel in "delicious" colorings. The gown in which Dorothy Gulliver, a rising Hollywood star if you please, poses for this picture is an exquisite nile green.

It seems that green is an outstanding favorite this season among the fashionable pastel shades. By the way, pale delicate green is as becoming to brunettes as blondes, which may account for its popularity.

Capitals trim this prepossessing princess-fitted bodice outlining a V-shaped front opening. The bouffant skirt is twice scalloped, once around its taffeta edge and again about the hemline of self-colored transparent net. In selecting the new party frock do not forget that flowered taffeta is also coming into flattering notice.

In fashion's vocabulary "crisp" is a word which is acquiring considerable usage. We hear repeatedly about crisp taffeta, crisp nets, likewise stiff metal cloths. It is a fact nets and tulle are actually being processed to stand out "crisp" and lively in the making. To further the effect, fashionists style these dainty crisp silks and transparents with flaring flounces and peplum flanges at the waistline and otherwise do they emphasize their sprightliness. A late vogue calls for stiff or crisp fabrics made up in tailored simplicity for evening wear.

Moire is one of the definitely sponsored stiff silks this season, to which is usually given a tailored styling. The colorings of the new moires are a delight to the eye. Banana shade, eggshell and bright red are featured shades. The decollete neckline for the bodice of moire is usually extreme and severe in line. This simple decollete which is so stressed by the mode makes an admirable setting for jewels and for corsage flowers. When it comes to the skirt, one tier after another stands out in aggressive circular flares, yet so adjusted as to retain a slender feeling.

"In Flanders Field the Poppies Blow"

General Pershing and Ambassador Edge inspecting an American cemetery in Belleau Wood. Insert: a Gold Star Mother at her son's grave

Comment on Sports
By Sheridan

Max Schmeling has to his credit, for whatever it's worth, a decision over Jack Sharkey, on account of a foul in the fourth round, but before that time he took a pretty lacing, and proved somewhat disappointing. Sharkey ran true to his most erratic form, exhibiting various moods, but surprising his followers considerably by being entirely too low with a vicious left that was plainly under the belt.

This column picked Schmeling to win several weeks ago, but it was not our idea that he would get the decision on a foul. Nor was it our idea that he would take the belting that Sharkey poured into him for three rounds. We expected the American to lead the fight on points, perhaps decisively, for the early part of the battle, but we figured that the break would come sooner or later, and that when it came Herr Max would be left in a neutral corner, while the referee made the award.

Schmeling showed a little less class than we expected, being an easier target for Sharkey, although the German stood up to his reputation as a cool fighter unclouded by a terrific drubbing. While the fight went badly against him until the foul his stamina might have pulled him through to win in the later rounds.

Sharkey's foul was especially regrettable in view of the loud discussion, and European doubts, about his victory over Shuffling Phil Scott, whose claim of "foul" was disallowed at Miami. Obviously, not every foul in the ring is caught by the referee and judges, and in the latest fracas only one of three officials clearly witnessed the blow. Tunney, a spectator, declares it was plainly unintentional but just the same clearly foul, and enough to incapacitate a fighter.

The fight was a sad disappointment to the thousands of fans who poured out in such numbers as to make the event an unquestioned financial success. As a decisive answer to the heavy weight problem it is an empty fade out. Sharkey, once more, was not the popular choice, the crowd seemingly being partial to the German.

While no one accuses Sharkey of any deliberate design to foul his opponent, and the fact that he was winning at the time belies the suspicion, nevertheless, this does not help the plight of the spectators who pay to see a bout and then fail to do so because one fighter fouls another. Besides, there have been too many fouls and questionable claims of late to do the game of boxing any good.

Baseball continues to present two tight races, with the Brooklyn Dodgers showing that they intend to make a serious bid for a pennant. Anything can happen before the final standing is published but the boys of Uncle Wilbert are going good—Over in the American circuit the Philadelphia Athletics are finding plenty of stiff competition, with at least three threatening opponents. Contrary to the accepted idea as the play began the world's champions are not having anything like a walk away as the summer begins to limber up.

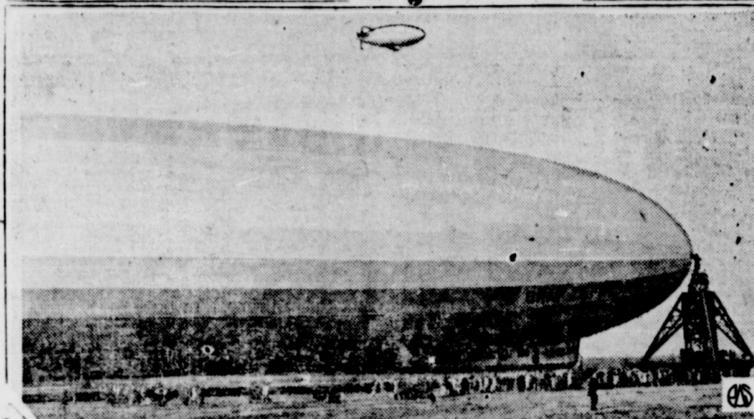

Paavo Nurmi, Finn marvel of the track, is continuing his old tricks. The other day he smashed the world's record for the six-mile run, taking a record which had stood since 1904 by covering the distance in 29 minutes, 36.3-5 seconds. This is his twelfth record. Everybody remembers his marvelous running in the short distances. Now that he is getting older his activities have shifted and the sturdy Finn bids fair to capture all modern records. He now holds the best time for running one, three, four, five, six and ten miles, also 3,000,

5,000, 10,000 and 15,000 meters, and for distance covered in one-half hour and one hour.

Ford De Luxe Sedan

The De Luxe Sedan, recently added to the Ford line, is designed for those who desire distinctiveness and unusual comfort in an automobile. The interior is inviting and roomy with wide doors to both compartments. Absence of rear quarter windows gives the car a striking individuality and affords privacy to the occupants. Interior trimmings and appointments are luxurious. Upholstery is either in brown mohair or a deep tan Ecotord cord patterned after that used in high-priced cars.

Other refinements include arm rests for the rear seat, mahogany finished garnish moldings on the windows and beneath the windshield, flexible robe rail and hardware in an attractive pattern. The front seat is adjustable within a range of four inches to suit the convenience and comfort of the driver. It is moved quickly and easily by a small, inconspicuous handle in the front center of the seat just above the floor. The De Luxe Sedan, like other Ford body types, can be obtained in any one of several color combinations.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria. At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may save you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

To the Voters of Upton County;

If I am elected as your County Judge I shall, with the laws of Texas and the needs of Upton County as my guide, conscientiously and wholeheartedly support and foster those matters that are for the good of all the people of Upton County. I shall oppose on every hand the wasting of our county and district funds. The dollars will be spent where it will mean the most and do the greatest good. I shall be for the whole county without granting special privileges to any or making any pre-election promises.

I am in favor of buying at home for the county needs on a competitive bases, I am in favor of making our own banks our depositories, keeping our money at home with the people who have paid the taxes.

As ex-officio county superintendent of schools you may rest assured that your schools will at all times have all the support that is in my power to give without needless meddling.

The county judge is the business manager of the county and the supervisors are his board of directors. Our county is a twelve million dollar institution with more than six thousand share holders or stockholders. If elected I am the servant of the people and not their master. I shall make the race on the platform that I am the people's servant and directing the twelve million dollar institution according to the wishes of its shareholders.

I have no pet theories of government to try out, no enemies to punish, no prejudices against any part or section of the county to overcome, no friends to be awarded by pre-election promises. I have no motive in making this race except that I believe I can render Upton County a sincere service by being elected to the county judgeship. I believe I can make Upton County a better place in which to live by endeavoring always to keep our money at home, our labor employed on our own enterprises, to deal justly with all the citizenship and to make a business administration for Upton County.

Your vote and influence will be appreciated. Remember the primary day, July 26.

Yours sincerely,

ANY DAY WILL DO FOR A START

It is hard to realize that the long days of summer are at hand and that from this time on the hours of daylight begin to recede, until in six months we come again to the year's shortest day.

There are so many plans in our hearts for our own development, for the growth of our business, and the improvement of Rankin that we are sometimes prone to think that time flies too fast, but we should remember that the only way to accomplish anything is by making a start.

Today, long or short, is the day to begin. Let every reader of this article, if so moved, spend the rest of 1930 in trying to make effective the happy dreams that sprang up when it began. Such time will be well spent.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Once upon a time there was a man, who lived in a town, and spent all his money away from home. He was sure that he could take care of himself, and that his town didn't mean anything to him.

After a few years, his business wasn't as keen as he had hoped it would be, his friends didn't seem to think he was quite as important as he thought he was, and trade seemed to flow by his doors.

He began to watch his competitor, whom he found was an intelligent advertiser, a contributor to the public purse, a man anxious to give some of his time and thought to community projects, and a believer in the fact that it pays to keep money at home, where it can keep floating around between the stores and businesses there.

And, after noting all these factors, he continued to wonder why some of his old customers went to the newcomer, and why almost everybody had the idea that he was a tightwad and his competitor a public-spirited leader of community life.

GUARD AGAINST ENVY

Nothing kills a town or city quicker than a spirit of envy, regardless of how it works. As long as the people of a community are striving to keep ahead of others, with no other goal in view, then that long will the settlement remain a hick village, even if it has people by the thousands.

Fortunately, Rankin is singularly free from an excess of mean-spirited envy, the low-down spite of narrow-minded souls. Once in a while one runs across a petty exhibition of disgusting selfishness, expressing its discontent by striking at neighbor or at home. Luckily, most of the time, our people are

Pipe Natural Gas To Large Cities Of U.S.

Los Angeles Calif.—Conservation of natural gas, a corollary of efficient production of crude oil, may result in supplying this source of heat and light to homes and factories in cities far distant from the oil fields.

Within the past few years engineers have found it possible to convey natural gas by pipe line hundreds of miles and the thousand mile gas pipe line probably will be built during 1930. at the present time there are nearly 60,000 miles of gas lines in the United States, or more than half the total mileage of oil pipe lines and the mileage is constantly increasing.

Discovery of new oil fields usually adds to the available supply of natural gas. Already executives of the natural gas industry are looking forward to the day when the gas will flow by pipe line from the inland oil fields to the populous seaboard cities.

broad-minded, liberal and unselfish.

It will do us no harm, however, as citizens of Rankin to guard against this insidious poison that saps community good-will. Let us be sure that we hail the good fortune of our friends, that we strive for the common betterment of our citizenship and that whatever we may have, or be, that we are not embittered by our failure or another's success.

Most men who have a monopoly in one line of business are believers in stern competition in other fields.

Trucks, Ships, Cars And Pipes Carry Oil To Markets Of World

New York.—Motorists get their gasoline through a hose at the roadside filling station, little realizing that virtually every agency of transportation has been employed to place it at their convenience.

Pipe lines move the crude oil, from which motor fuel is made, from oil field to storage tank. Thence it flows by pipe to tank ships waiting at tide water, to railroad tank car or even by the pipe line itself to refineries often thousands of miles away. Gasoline moves from the refinery to the distributing center by pipe line, railroad, tankship or motor trucks equipped with tanks.

The only unit of transportation not regularly used is the airplane, but even that is employed in moving some petroleum products, such as lubricating oils and greases in small lots, when speed of delivery is essential.

The King's Canary

John Masefield, former sailor, New York bar-boy and world-famous poet, appointed Poet Laureate of England, the post Tennyson once held.

DO PEOPLE FEEL BETTER BECAUSE YOU PASSED BY

I was in a doctors office by appointment at five-thirty when his telephone rang. A woman's voice at the other end of the wire asked him to call at the house that evening.

His voice betrayed his irritation, but he promised to call. Then he snapped the receiver on the hook and exploded.

"There is a woman who has nothing to do all day long but gad about. She might just as easily have called me this morning or early in the afternoon. But, no, she has to put it off and spoil my evening."

"Nobody but a doctor has any idea of how inconsiderate people can be."

On two recent trips with two different men I had an interesting opportunity to contrast their conduct toward their fellow human beings.

One of them had made several million dollars in the past few years. Whenever he entered a dining car or a hotel he wanted everybody to understand that he is rich and important. Waiters disliked him, even though he tips liberally. I sometimes felt embarrassed by his critical demands for attention.

The manner of the other man is the exact reverse.

Adults who remember what they did as kids seldom lose sleep over the activities of youth.

If Italy and France don't mind their words and emotions the world will be in the midst of another war to save civilization.

You would never guess that he is a power in world industry. He never gives orders, but makes suggestions or very courteous requests. He seems surprised that anybody should want to do him a favor. He can make a waiter or station porter feel a new sense of self-respect merely by his smile.

A noted preacher once remarked that one of the finest of all the sayings of Jesus is this; "I have compassion on the multitude."

Said the preacher: "Many men can be virtuous. Many can be honest in a hard, self-righteous sort of way. But how many are really considerate? How many feel instinctive respect and sympathy? How many have compassion?"

A lot of twisted standards have somehow grown up in the world. A lot of very righteous people seem to think that a man is good if he does not smoke, does not take a drink, does not do this and that.

These are negative and unimportant. The real mark of a Christian and a gentleman is whether he treats other people as he would like to be treated.

Whether they feel better or worse because he has passed by.

It looks as if the senate is about to ask Mr. Hoover. "Who is running this country?"

The best remedy for hard times is hard work, and very often lack of it is the cause of lack of cash in the country.

To Voters Justice Precinct Number 1

Ladies and Gentlemen:

In presenting my candidacy for Justice of the Peace, Justice Precinct No. One, I beg to call your attention to an incident relative to the office I seek and with which you may or may not be familiar.

A Justice Court, while a minor one, is as much a part of our system of law as the highest court in the land; it should be respected by all of us and conducted with the same dignity as a major court.

Certain gentlemen of our community—prominent men—leaders—have elected to make sport of your Justice Court.

While my sense of humor may be dull, I, for one, have never found anything funny in the holding of an inquest, nor have I ever been able to burst forth in a loud ha ha when some unfortunate is hailed into court, found guilty of crime and fined or sent away to prison, and while it is the stern duty of Judge or Justice of the Peace to impose punishment in such cases, in my chicken-hearted way, I can only find pity in my heart for those less fortunate than myself. And if you think the performance of a marriage ceremony is not a serious business, just ask any of your neighbors who are married.

My opponents, while their stations in life may not be as high as the funmakers, are honest, industrious, hard working men; they are necessary and important units in our social and business life and as such are certainly entitled to our respect.

If you believe I have the qualities and should you elect me your next Justice of the Peace, I shall endeavor to serve all impartially and you may be sure on one point: there will be nothing funny in my Court.

Cordially yours,

Louis Tinsley Candidate Justice Precinct No. 1

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

My rural readers will pardon me, I'm sure, for once more calling their attention to what is still one of man's fiercest, most unrelenting foes; it seems to me that good advice in the presence of an enemy is never out of place.

Thoughtful men have been battling this scourge since the dawn of history; for its annihilation men of great wealth and greater hearts have spent countless millions in research, and the noble work still goes on. Just what measure of success has been achieved may be noted by any observing one who reads; and our more recent decades have been singularly noted for advances made.

Tuberculosis is a communicable disease. If you have never come in contact with it you are fortunate indeed. But contacts in the densely populated districts are often unavoidable; the fog of dust you encounter on the windy thoroughfare may contain many of the death dealing germs, your resisting power against disease may be low; your own lungs may become infected especially if you are carrying a colony of influenzal or other bacilli; you never can tell.

Steer clear of the person who coughs without covering the mouth and nose with a handkerchief. Be duly alert against the fellow with a chronic cough, who continually expectorates on the grass under the shade tree, or on the sands of the beach near by. Shun the resorts, where "lungers" (poor fellows!) abound, if possible; the best precaution you may take is none too good; prevention is many leagues superior to cure.

It is the duty of physicians to survey their clientele with eternal vigilance. Teach them to observe every precaution against scattering or contracting disease. I am sure that proper quarantine—and that only—will end the "white plague" for good and all. Outdoor air is not always pure—indeed far from it in crowded localities, where ignorant victims of disease are carriers and distributors; Promiscuous expectoration is a crime

THE UPTON COUNTY JOURNAL

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountain hills.

RADBURN

Something new in town building has been accomplished in New Jersey, twenty miles out from New York City. The town of Radburn has been planned and built with an eye first to safety in the streets. It has been laid out so that all streets in the residential districts are "dead-end" thoroughfares. No through traffic rushes past homes, endangering the lives of children. Schools, playgrounds, parks and recreation centers have been so located that no child has to cross a street carrying motor traffic to get to any of them. And there are plenty of open spaces, in the midst of which dwellings have been built which house today about 600 people, where there was nothing but a farm a year ago. Radburn calls itself "Tomorrow's Town." It is certain that new methods of town planning must develop to meet the new tools of civilization.

MIRACLES

Nothing but gas and water are needed to make artificial silk, by a new process discovered by Professor Harold Hibbert of McGill University, Montreal. That is amazing, even to such of us as have got used to the idea of transmission of electric currents through space. Gas-carbon dioxide, produced from coal—is invisible and, to our unaided senses, without weight. Water is a fluid which takes solid form only as ice, in our ordinary experience. But by combining the two to make a permanent, tangible solid which will take the place of rayon fibers produced from cotton or wood pulp, Dr. Hibbert has performed a miracle which seems none the less miraculous when he explains how it is done.

This is another step in the progress of science toward the goal of producing in the factory, by swift, cheap methods, everything we need to eat, wear and use. The method, in general, is to take the short cut where Nature takes the long road around.

DOLLAR

Eighty-six years old, owner of a fleet of 50 great passenger and freight ships and one of the world's largest lumber enterprises, Captain Robert Dollar still runs the details of his own great business. He started to work at 11, in his native Scotland, at wages of 60 cents a week. He has made every cent of his great fortune by hard work and still gets to his office in San Francisco at 23 minutes to nine every morning. When he feels like it he calls up Mrs. Dollar, tells her to pack the bags for a trip, and the happy old couple start out on one of his own ships for a voyage to China or around the world. On every such trip Captain Dollar finds new opportunities for American trade and new business for the Dollar ships.

SPELLING

There is a great revival of interest in the old-fashioned "spelling bee." Helen Jensen, a 13-year-old girl of Council Bluffs, has just won a prize of $1,000 and the title of National Spelling Champion in a contest at Washington. Newspaper men, Congressmen, women's clubs and other bodies have been conducting spelling bees in many cities.

This is interesting and more or less important. Correct spelling is an accomplishment which reveals a great deal of the character of the individual. Good spellers are persons who concentrate on details, who have a keen eye and a pictorial memory. Few persons who learn chiefly by ear are good spellers. The "phonetic" method of teaching children to read, a fad which is being abandoned in many schools, is responsible for much of the atrocious spelling which makes so many girls unable to earn more than a lare wage as stenographers. Good spellers remember words as pictures. And that is as it should be. Spelling is of importance only in connection with reading and writing, and reading and writing are a means of expression designed to appeal to the eye only.

TEACHERS

One reason why our public schools are not as good as they could and should be is that we do not pay the teacher the same respect—to say nothing of salary—that they do in Europe. To be a school teacher in Germany, for instance, is to achieve at once a degree of social standing equivalent to that of a physician or a lawyer. Texas set an example years ago of one way of increasing the teacher's self-respect. In 1860 a "teachery" was built in the Blum school district in Guadalupe County—a home for the teacher. Now Texas has 1,330 of these teachers' homes, costing an average of $2,300. One teacher, H. E. Dietel, of Schumannville, taught one school and lived in one teachery for 40 years. He became the foremost citizen of his community. The rural school without a home for the teacher or teachers is a relic of the dark ages.

Cattle Being Returned To The Blackland

Rockwall—Beef cattle left the blackland years ago, but they are returning. The county agent of Rockwall county reports that Mr. Walter, local cotton farmer, has decided to produce cattle as a side line and has bought 39 head of Herefords which he has turned into two small leased pastures totaling 149 acres. Records kept since February 1st when 36 small, poor heifers were placed in one of these pastures and fed for six weeks show that the cattle gained 5400 pounds in that time. The lease on the pasture for the entire year, and the cost of the feed amounted to only $176.60. At present all the cattle are in good pasture and fattening rapidly.

Kills His Children.

Tucker, Ga.—Mentally unbalanced since an injury, Dr. F. P. Hudson killed his two-year-old daughter and six-year-old son when they followed him to a barn at milking time as was their custom. He then killed himself.

Church Notice

Rev. H. H. Washington will preach at the Community Church next Sunday, both morning and evening.

Junior League meets at 6 p. m. Hi-League meets at 7:30 p. m. Union Sunday School at 10 a. m. with classes for all.

days, and during the last 25 days 8 pounds maize heads, 8 pounds barley and 1 pound cottonseed meal. The calves weighed 400 lbs. at the beginning and 750 lbs when sold.

Drops to Death.

Hudson.—Frank Levinsky, substituting for another man in a parachute descent failed to pull the rip cord and crashed to death falling 2,500 feet.

Pretty Decoy Aids Robbers.

Greensbourg, Pa.—Posing as a motorist in distress a pretty girl served as a decoy. As R. J. Thompson stopped to assist her two men robbed him of $532.

A Neat Profit Realized On Beef Cattle

Stratford.—A net profit of $13.60 per calf on 49 head has been made by Walter Lasley, Sherman county farmer who has recently completed a feeding demonstration with the aid of the county agent. The calves sold in April on the Kansas City market, brought $83.60 each after a 95 day feeding period in which the feed consumption per calf amounted to $16. The ration consisted of 12 pounds ground maize heads and two pounds cottonseed meal for the first 70
