DID YOU MISS THE ECLIPSE? ANOTHER ONE IS DUE ON JANUARY 29TH, 1953

McCamey citizens Monday night got a good look at the first total eclipse of the moon in the U. S. since October, 1949.

The dimout began when the earth stood directly between the sun and the moon at approximately 7:20 o'clock. At 8:31 o'clock, the moon started edging into the earth's direct shadow — technically called the umbra. By 9:54 o'clock, the eclipse reached totality with the whole surface of the moon in deep shadow.

The major phase ended at 10:40 p. m. when the moon began emerging. At 1:13 the whole process was over.

Did you miss it? Well, be patient. You can see another one on Jan. 29, 1953.

West Texas Utilities Co. Defendant In Suit For Restoration of Employees Under NLRB Charge of Violating Law

FORT STOCKTON — West Texas Utilities Company is defendant in an action brought by the General Counsel of the National Labor Relations Board alleging violation of Sec. 7 of the Taft-Hartley Act, in which NLRB seeks to obtain restoration of three employees of the Rio Pecos generating plant of the company, payment of salaries lost during time of unemployment, and an injunction restraining the company from future interference with employee activity.

Allen MacCullen, examiner for the NLRB, Washington, D. C., is here this week awaiting hearing, which was scheduled originally for Sept. 18, but was postponed to Oct. 3 because of a vacancy in the office of general counsel, brought about by the forced resignation of Bob Denham.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 898 and 920, AFL, has jurisdiction in the Girvin plant of the firm, and attorneys representing the union will join in the hearing here, in which Mr. MacCullen, a lawyer appointed to this position by the Civil Service Commission, will act as examiner.

The complaint against WTU Co. alleges interference with the right of employees to join or not to join a union or engage in other concerted activity, as provided in Sec. 7 of the Taft-Hartley law. It is alleged that three men were discharged by the company in violation of Sec. 8 (a) (3) and their restoration is sought, as well as awarding of back pay in full for the period since discharge.

The complaint alleges that A. M. Coplen was discharged Sept. 7, 1940, Melvin S. Huddleston on Dec. 9, 1949, and J. J. Everett on Dec. 15, 1950. Coplen was restored to the payroll on April 7, 1950, and back pay is the remaining issue.

Two other men were originally involved in the complaint. The NLRB refused to prosecute the case of J. K. Elliott and M. D. Adams withdrew his case before it was set for trial.

Lawyers expected to participate in the hearing are Frank Cain, Dallas, representing the company; Everett P. Rhea and J. A. Jenkins of Ft. Worth, representing the general counsel of NLRB; and J. W. Null and A. E. Edwards, Fort Worth, representing the union.

The hearing will be held in the District Courtroom of the Pecos County courthouse, and is believed to be the first such hearing in the history of the county.

THE COUNTRY PRESS SAYS

WELCH, OKLAHOMA, WATCHMAN: "Many observers felt the government's attack upon bigness might have been stirred up by Economic Planners who want to scuttle our free enterprise system. The system encourages bigness but only if bigness can be more efficient than smallness and can win the approval of the consuming public without which, of course no company can grow. If industries were to be broken up simply on the grounds of bigness, our advance as a nation would be seriously slowed down and our national security critically weakened."

LEWISTON, PENN., SENTINEL: "Those who like the form of government that we inherited from those who founded the United States of America might keep their eyes on the pressure groups."

SYRACUSE, NEW YORK, HERALD-JOURNAL: "In times of peace and war alike, the Iron Horse has played an indispensable part in American life... It's still the backbone of our transport system."

GREAT FALLS, MONTANA, JOURNAL: "About 74 percent of all automobiles in the United States in 1948 were owned by families or individuals with less than $5,000 yearly income, according to figures of the Federal reserve board."

CYPRESS, CALIFORNIA, ENTERPRISE: "Under the farm support programs Uncle has to keep on buying products that are already running out of his ears... It costs the government billions to buy the stuff that nobody wants—at the prices being charged. Uncle buys it to keep the prices up so he and everybody else has to pay more. How crazy can we get?"

MANSFIELD, OHIO, NEWS-JOURNAL: "An American Gas Assn. survey reports that gas utilities expect to add 1-150,000 home-heating customers to their rolls for the 1950-51 heating season, which would bring the total of residential consumers to 9,400,000."

"A year ago at this time the total was 7,200,000 and ten years ago it was 3,800,000—figures which are presented to John L. Lewis for thoughtful consideration, and also to the men whose livelihood depends on mining coal."

OUT OF BOUNDS

The Enid, Oklahoma, News has taken the head of the Federal Security Administration sharply to task and with good reason. According to the News, the Administrator says in reply to critics, that he sees it as his "duty to lobby for a big Federal health program and for what those opposed to me call 'socialized medicine'."

Commenting on the Administrator's viewpoint the News observed: He was selected to administer his agency within the laws governing it. He was not hired with the taxpayers' money to work against their interests or against the interests of a free American citizenship. He certainly was not, in theory at least, hired to devote his time and the taxpayers' funds to promoting the expansion of the agency, thus enhancing his own power...

"There are enough misguided groups and individuals whose sole business seems to be to promote socialized medicine and other Federal regimentation and give-away schemes without these silly programs requiring any help from a high salaried Federal administrator."

Many competent persons in and out of public life have warned that administrative government has become a serious problem and a threat to our structure of self government. There is no question but that in a large measure the ceaseless efforts of the power-seeking administrators of Federal agencies have created this threat.

New Use For Old Windmills
I drove past Larson's farm last week and saw him perched on top of his 75-year-old windmill. "Still planning on tearing it down?" I shouted up to him.
"Not on your life," says Curly as he climbs down. "I'm getting myself a television set from Buzz Ellis' and he says this windmill is going to come in mighty handy."
"You see," Curly went on, "I'm going to put my TV antenna right on top of it. Since the windmill is higher than the house, I'll get the best reception around here—but if it wasn't for Buzz and his advice, I'd have scrapped it."
From where I sit, Curly's success as a farmer and his popularity in town is due, in a large part, to his open-mindedness and his willingness to listen to people and their opinions. He'll listen to Buzz Ellis over a malted milk or he and I can talk politics—each with a glass of temperate beer. Yes, Curly's as modern as television itself!

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Despite reports circulated by hopeful bureaucrats, the nation's small independent businessmen are almost equally divided on government control of prices and wages, rationing.

A nationwide poll just completed by the National Federation of Independent Business on this issue, and others, reveals 44% for; 50% against; 6% undecided.

These thousands and thousands of ballots, sent as usual directly to Congressmen, are causing many a solon who voted these powers to the President embarrassment.

The rapid, severe price jumps have hurt small businessmen even more than consumers.

But apparently there is a reluctance to jump from the frying pan into the fire.

It is felt if government had shown competence in dealing with defense, taxation, other grave matters, there would be more confidence in government intervention in the domestic economy.

Now, there seems to be one big question.

"What has the greater destructive power—the present inflationary trend which may be stopped by American common sense—or bureaucratic meddling which once started may never make sense, or never be stopped?" This attitude of small businessmen might be the most significant vote of no confidence yet registered.

On the same ballot independent businessmen voted almost unanimously for a law that will require co-operatives to pay a fair share of taxes.

On the same ballot independent businessmen voted almost unanimously for a law that will require co-operatives to pay a fair share of taxes.

The vote was 98% for; 1% against; 1% undecided. Businessmen have the support of the Treasury Department, anxious to plug loopholes which have been permitting a billion dollars of tax income to escape yearly.

This issue will take the spotlight in Congress soon. And as usual, the lobbyists opposing any action will shed copious tears over the "unwarranted attack on the farmer."

Actually, bona-fide farm co-operatives would be affected but little. Farmers themselves will be shocked at the coming disclosures which will show that abuse of the present regulations has been the highroad by which many big companies have escaped taxes.

Congressman Huber of Ohio created some discomfort, the other day for Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board. Symington has just appointed a 12 member mobilization committee that will function when, and if, price controls, rationing is started.

The Congressman pointed out that labor, agriculture, industry and the public are represented on the board. But the distributive industry, employing 12.5 million, second only to manufacturing, is not represented. And the distributive industry will have to post prices, collect ration coupons, do most of the work.

But this obvious deficiency was apparently ignored.

As one newspaperman remarked, "The trouble with Congressman Huber's comment is that it makes common sense, and in Washington, the keynote is 'let them for theories, but not one cent for practical experience!'"

Texas Venture
In Education • 1876-1951
Our first state college—Texas A. and M. is now in its seventy-fifth year

Governor Richard Coke, first Democrat to hold the Governor's office in Texas after Reconstruction days, was more responsible than any other man for the founding of the A. and M. College of Texas. A well-educated (William & Mary) strong-willed man of vision, he pushed through the Legislature the acts which established the college as a going concern, and served as chairman of the college's first board of directors. In his speech dedicating the new institution, on opening day, October 4, 1876, Richard Coke laid the foundation stone for the educational philosophy on which A. and M. has grown. "The aim and mission of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas," he said, "is, while preparing the young men of Texas for the high duties of American citizenship, at the same time to train their intelligence in the methods and appliances of science, and their hands to the skill which shall utilize them in the everyday pursuits of life... It has been the constant aim of the board to bring down to the lowest possible figure the cost of an education which shall be at the same time thorough, liberal and practical." On this foundation, the A. and M. College of Texas has been built, in its first 75 years, into one of the outstanding technical schools for men in the nation.

Senator LeBlanc Says South Has Great Industrial Future

Now Is the Time to Start Getting Somewhere, Says HADACOL Owner

Lafayette, La. (Sp.)—Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc, colorful owner of HADACOL, wants the South to sell its advantages to the nation just as he is selling HADACOL to the rest of the country.

The Senator spoke to about 500,000 people on his recent half million dollar good-will tour of 10 southern states. His theme was the fallacy of the South producing raw products, shipping them north for processing and then paying freight to bring the finished product back home.

The Senator pulled his handkerchief out of his pocket waving it to a crowd that ranged from 25,000 to 80,000. "This handkerchief was made from cotton grown in the South," he said. "The cotton was shipped to Massachusetts and made into this finished product. Then we in the South paid the freight on it back home where we grew the cotton."

"That mill in Massachusetts furnished employment to folks up there and paid taxes that created schools and improved their economy. Why couldn't those northern folks move factories down here and give employment to our folks? I tell you, they would if we sell them the wonderful advantages of the South just as we are selling HADACOL to the rest of the nation."

Senator LeBlanc is spending a great deal of money on colored sound pictures of the HADACOL Good Will Show to display the advantages of southern industry. He plans to show these in theaters. He is also preparing an elaborate booklet to distribute throughout the north.

Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc

"I feel that when a firm has become as large as HADACOL that it owes it to its people to do more than sell just itself," said Senator LeBlanc.

Senator LeBlanc presented Mickey Rooney, Burns and Allen, Carmen Miranda, Connie Boswell, Roy Acuff, Ernest Tubbs, Minnie Pearl, Sharkey and His Dixieland Band, Frakson the Magician, and Marie Germain LeBlanc.

HADACOL is now selling at the rate of more than $2,000,000 per month and the Senator is planning to increase sales to $50,000,000 if he can obtain enough raw materials.
