Curtis Lee Kiser, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kiser of Ft. Stockton, was fatally injured Tuesday when he was crushed beneath a house trailer.

Curtis was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bushong of Rankin. The accident occurred at a Fort Stockton tourist camp while the trailer was being moved and tipped over. It was not hooked to an automobile at the time. It was not known if the little boy had been under the trailer or if he had gone to it trying to help. He died about 30 minutes after he was rushed to a hospital.

His father is an employee of the Phillips Drilling Co. Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the Assembly of God Church, with Rev. Joe Bradley officiating.

Owen Funerals Home was in charge with burial at Lawnhaven Cemetery in San Angelo. Besides the parents, survivors are a 9-month-old sister, Sherry Lynn, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Curtis, Sr., of Pecos, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kiser of Mertzon, Texas.

Rankin Red Devils Best Eagles 20-0; Face First Conference Foe Tonight

Victorious in their first start of the season by a 20-0 score over the outmanned Lohn team last Friday, Rankin's Red Devils take to the field again tonight, facing a bigger and much stronger foe, Ft. Hancock.

Tonight's fracas is the first conference encounter for both teams. The Mustangs from the west will come boiling into Rankin loaded for bear. According to resources they will be boasting a very heavy line-up and a veteran backfield, and headed for the district championship as one of the top contenders along with Sanderson.

If Rankin could topple tonight's foe, chances are improving for a district showing. However, they will have to come from the bottom to beat the Horses, having never seen them play. Ft. Hancock will have the advantage as it is rumored that they were in the stands in force when Rankin met Lohn.

To offset this advantage, Coach Joe Scrivner reached into his bag of tricks this week and brought out a couple of new plays, hoping to catch the supposedly prepared enemy off guard. Picked to lose, victory will come to the Devils only through sharp ball handling and a solid determination to win, which they have.

Last week's game showed what Rankin had. It showed that they had a very even squad and quite a bit of power on the ground, but evidently a little leary of taking to the air route as they attempted only five passes, completing two.

The four backs showed equal power crashing through the line. In 20 carries, Norman Yocham netted 82 yards for a few inches more than four yards per carry. Bob Goodwin did likewise with 19 passes for 74 yards. Don Murphy came ahead with an even four-yard average with 44 yards gained in 11 attempts. Quarterback Jimmy Yocham proved more efficient as he swivel-hipped 11 times for a total gain of 79 yards and an average of seven.

Injuries cropped the Red Devil offense short with both Goodwin and Norman Yocham nursing injured ankles. Bulldozing Eddie Rumble gave way to John Schlagal at the center post because of a bruised arm.

Outstanding in the line were both Wallace Gary and De Wayne Lindsay at the guard posts. At tackle, Murray McCain played key defensive ball, quick to grab a fumble near the Lohn line, setting up a touchdown. The fumble came at the hands of Moore, Lohn quarterback, as Homer Rosenbaum pierced the line to knock an intended pass flat.

Broyles Among Top 45 At McMurray

George Broyles, former Rankin High School football player, is included on the McMurray College Indian roster of 45 men for the '52 season.

The Indians will meet another Tribe of Indians this weekend at Wichita Falls as McMurray faces Midwestern in their first out of town game of the year. Two other games, West Texas State, Sept. 27 at Amarillo, and Eastern New Mexico at Portales, Oct. 4, are on tab before the Indians come home Oct. 18 to meet cross-town conference rivals, the ACC Wildcats.

Last week in their opening game, the McMurrans fell 19-6 before the Sul Ross Lobos.

Broyles, a '52 graduate of Rankin High School, is a freshman at McMurray, playing end.

Mrs. Jack Marshall and son, Jack, Jr., have returned from a trip to Ogden and Salt Lake City, Utah. Pamela Marshall accompanied her father and grandmother back to Rankin and will attend school here this term.

Jimmy Yocham goes wide around the end as Norman Yocham cuts short to throw a block. The brothers were big yard makers in Rankin's 20-0 win over Lohn Eagles last Friday night. (Photo by Johnson).

Mrs. Adams' Father Dies In San Angelo

He was a resident of San Angelo for seven years, going there to make his home from Iraan upon retiring. He died at 4:30 Friday morning at his home.

Besides Mrs. Adams, survivors include his wife, one son, M. E., of Nottrees; two other daughters, Mrs. L. E. Windham of McCamey and Mrs. E. R. Nix of Breckenridge; and four grandchildren.

Stores Raise Curtain On Texas Home Fashion Time

DEALERS HERE SHOW LATEST STYLES IN HOME FURNISHINGS

New ideas in the design and construction of home furnishings have grown more popular with Texans the past five years.

Mid-century furnishings are changing the appearance of Texas home interiors, and this growing trend acceptance will be seen in furniture stores throughout the city during the observance of the Texas Home Fashion Time Sept. 18-27.

The trend follows the demand for greater utility, more informality, and pieces which blend but do not necessarily match in color. Thus most of the furnishings you see in today's stores can be tagged "Mid-Century Modern."

Along with this trend, interest is still seen daily in Early American and Provincial styles.

Each of the three periods of furniture design had marked effects on the others. But all in all, mid-century modern continues to be the first choice of home-makers.

If a key word is needed for this trend, it could be the word "comfort." Texans, a friendly people, seek comfort and informality above all other features.

Do you wonder sometimes why home fashions change? Why period pieces your grandparents liked have been modified rather than preserved intact?

If you take stock of your present needs in furnishing your home, the needs to fit of mid-century tempo, you will answer the question yourself.

First consider the size of the house your parents or grandparents lived in. They generally had a separate dining room. Today dining rooms are almost considered a luxury, with the predominating ideas surrounding open space idea combining the living and dining rooms.

Homes today are smaller, thus furnishings must be styled in proportion to less floor space. In bringing chairs, tables and drawer units down to the scale of a room with smaller area and probably lower ceilings, designers have left out a lot of the so-called "gingerbread" of detail that marked pieces of earlier periods.

In the case of the commonplace living-dining room, seating units underwent radical changes. The sofa and chairs needed to be more versatile. Thus sectional sofas came into being. Homemakers can take a sectional sofa and make the pieces fit almost at will—in odd corners, turn corners, making use of every inch of floor space.

Single chest units today take up little floor space but they may open up into full length tables or a desk surface.

Many cabinet pieces are made with finished backs so they may be placed out in the room as room dividers. "Two-faced" pieces are designed with storage space accessible from both sides to serve both dining and living area.

In the bed room, combination pieces are becoming more popular. Head boards have built-in shelves and storage space with tambour or sliding door closings so you may have a comfortable backrest while reading.

These design principles are applied to every room in the house. The demands of space, a changing pace of life and homemaker wishes for more practical units are major factors leading to the acceptance of mid-century modern as the leading home style.

Designers have experimented more than 20 years with new ideas to fill these needs. Results have not always been satisfactory.

Recently there was a period of strange designs without particular beauty, highly touted for the "functional" features. But rather than practicality, the period was marked with monstrous, bulbous masses of stuffing, zebra striped upholstery fabrics and ornate trims.

Today, however, the designers are making each line individual, yet each is purposeful and simple with the air of restrained elegance.

A new style cropping up this year is "collection" look. Furniture no longer needs to match exactly in finish, color and styling. Rather, each piece stands alone as a part of a well-balanced scheme.

The decorator combines the ingredients of color, line, texture and style to produce a room particularly suited to its occupants. New furniture lines follow this idea, offering pieces which are "coordinated" rather than matching suites. And the new lines will be sold as open stock to each shopper; the pieces satisfying her individual taste and needs.

While many of the collections show all pieces in one finish, there are subtle variations in the wood grain and texture. Then several woods are often combined into one piece.

Richly figured walnut table tops are framed by a banding of contrasting wood, cherry contrasts the cool blondness of maple or birch, and the endless patterns and textures of mahogany are combined in ingenious ways.

This designers are offering Texas homemakers the opportunity to express themselves in furnishings with originality.

BUDGET-FITTING DINING SUITE—Simplicity, lots of storage space, and design to fit any size room and budget feature this new dining room suite. The buffet has linen and silver compartments in addition to ample storage space and drawers. The china cabinet has sliding glass doors to protect and display your finest china. Finger-tip pulls are a result of the designer's desire to achieve the "easy-to-live" furniture.

PICKING HOME ACCESSORIES IS MOST EXCITING AND IMPORTANT

A most exciting part in decorating your home comes in the selection of accessories.

When all your furniture pieces are in place, and the floor and windows and walls are taken care of to your satisfaction, then comes the problem of accessories:

The lamps, pictures, vases and bowls, ash trays, cigarette boxes, boxes, clocks and bric-a-brac. These are things which bear the stamp of your own personality and taste. In choosing accessories, the new theory of Mix and Match may be applied to great decorative advantage. Mix period, design and pattern seems to be the new order of the day.

But by all means be practical. If you have small children, put priceless heirlooms beyond their reach. If you smoke or drink, have pets or serve meals all over the house, select accessories that will stand the gaff.

Trot out your best ornaments of all periods and put them proudly on view. There are wall cabinets and brackets that will protect them from itchy little fingers.

Most lovers of Traditional furniture lean towards classic paintings, fine china and silver; the Modernist emphasizes texture and color, bright pottery, abstract pictures; while those with a preference for Provincial furnishings like pewter, copper, milk glass and samplers.

Take Advantage of Our Lowered Prices Now!

... We honestly feel that today's furniture prices are as low as they will go, consistent with the high quality that we insist upon. We have made exceptional purchases . . . Our stocks are complete.

Reagan Besis Ozona In Owl Opener

BIG LAKE—The Reagan County Owls of Big Lake spotted the Ozona Lions a 7-0 first period lead then came from behind to win the season opener, 19-7. Halfback Charles Hale of Ozona intercepted an Owl pass and ran 80 yards to score. Wilburn Conklin converted to put the visitors out front. But in the second quarter Big Lake cut it to 7-6 on a five yard run by Jerry Thompson. The Owls went ahead in the third period, 12-7, on a pass completed from Charles Martin to Eddie Compton which was good for an 82 yard score.
