IT'S THE LAW in Texas

MAKE CONTRACTS SPECIFIC; AVOID ALL DISPUTES

Nearly every day, all of us are making agreements with our fellow citizens. Our whole system of free enterprise and trade is based, to a large extent, upon mutual agreements or promises to do something in the future. The important thing we need to remember is to make every agreement perfectly clear whether it is oral or written.

Generally speaking, you can enter into a verbal agreement that is just as binding as a written contract. Consequently, the great majority of contracts that we enter into are never put into written form. But exact terms of an oral contract may be difficult to establish if a disagreement arises, and a well-drawn written contract will help to avoid the unfortunate disputes which arise from honest misunderstanding.

Not every contract meets the test of clarity however. Suppose Mr. Householder has a piece of paper on which is written the heading "Proposal" and which thereafter reads as follows:

"We will build a garage for you on your lot for the estimated price of $800, work to be done in a workmanlike manner. All of our work is guaranteed to your satisfaction. Subject to the conditions printed on the reverse side."

This is signed by the XYZ Company. Under this signature is the word "Accepted" followed by a line for the signature of Mr. Householder.

His question is, should he sign it?

Here are some of the misunderstandings that might arise from such an agreement: The company has agreed to build a garage—yet nothing is said about the size or type of construction. It has not even been stated whether it is to be a single or double garage. There is no indication in the agreement as to where on the lot the garage will be built. It says nothing about when the work is to be finished. There is no agreement as to whether Mr. Householder is to pay in advance, in installments or not until it is completed.

Further, they have not actually agreed upon a price. The agreement refers to an estimated price

DUCKS INVADE FISH HATCHERY

AUSTIN—The annual hassle to convince migrating wild ducks that state fish hatcheries are exclusively for fish is now under way, according to the Chief Aquatic Biologist for the Game and Fish Commission.

He said all of the thirteen state hatcheries have been invaded again this fall.

Some of the traveling water-fowl become a problem, especially the diving ducks which penetrate the bottom and sides of the ponds. These insistent ducks sometimes feed on vegetation along the walls and puncture the sides, causing seepage.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said the ducks don't bother the fish, but that some of the touring shore birds nab black bass and other species.

He said a good word for the geese. They may drop in for a short stop at an isolated tank but usually get up and get going without making a nuisance of themselves.

LAND OWNERS RATION GAME

AUSTIN—The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission reported a "growing tendency" among land owners to protect wildlife species hard hit by the drought.

"One of the natural benefits from the traditional land ownership-management cooperation," he said, "is the authority retained by ranchers and others to control harvest of game from their areas."

"This frankly has many times approached the advantages that would accrue if Texas had sufficient public land holdings for the state to directly regulate the wildlife harvest."

"This fall there is an increasing trend toward limiting the take of species that are below normal for one reason or another. From the reports from our field men and from the land owners direct, the endeavor may reach maximum effect this fall."

"Indications are that one major objective of many ranchers and farmers will be protecting quail which have suffered from the drought and from that recurring slump which wildlife biologists term 'the cycle.'"

"Thus it is heartening to anticipate that the precious seek stock of quail population will be preserved. Our biologists agree that the consideration for the quail at this time can easily set up a rapid recovery from the present quail depletion."

The Executive Secretary pointed out that the General Law on quail, as on deer and other species, is controlled exclusively by the Legislature. He added that, while the harvest under such laws cannot exceed the legal limitations, there is no restriction on curbing the harvest.

Pedestrians Favorite Victims Of Accidents

"With pedestrians, death seems to play favorites."

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation made this observation today as he pointed out that safe walking odds apparently decrease with age.

"More than one-third of all pedestrians killed in 1952 were aged 65 or older," Col. Tilley said.

"Of a total of 8,600 pedestrian fatalities in traffic accidents last year, 3,000 were in this age group," he explained.

He said, "that several factors may be involved in the high traffic fatality rate among older pedestrians."

"Often older people have dimmed eyesight and hearing," he said. "Sometimes they can't see or hear approaching cars as readily as younger people."

"Reflexes are slower and the oldsters can't move as fast to get out of danger," Col. Tilley pointed out.

He observed that injuries to older people more often prove fatal. Broken bones mend more slowly and resistance to disease is lower in those of advanced age.

Col. Tilley urged older people to be especially careful to obey all safety rules when walking out-of-doors.

"Cross streets at intersections only," he cautioned. "Obey traffic lights, and be sure to look both ways and for turning traffic before stepping off the curb."

He urged elderly pedestrians to avoid, as much as possible, walking at night or venturing out in bad weather.

He spoke in connection with the pedestrian safety program being conducted this month in Texas by the Texas Safety Association and the Department of Public Safety.

Well-Rounded Diet Essential To Health Of Growing Child

AUSTIN—In speaking about the food requirements of a child enjoying maximum health, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, emphasized the importance of a well rounded diet and stated that a healthy and well nourished child enjoys life because he is physically fit.

Stressing the importance of an adequate and well balanced diet, Dr. Cox stated further that when a child is in good health, his appetite is good, elimination regular and sleep is sound and untroubled.

"A child's appearance can usually help parents to judge the state of his nutrition. A well nourished child has good skin color and there is a moderate padding of fat over the bones and muscles of the arms, legs and body. Muscles are well developed and strong. Teeth are good and the gums firm and pink," Dr. Cox said.

That tricky appetite or a tired feeling after a little exertion indicates a possible malnutrition and the child should see the family physician. Poor appetite can also mean the beginning of an illness and possibly that the child does not require as much food as he is being urged to eat.

Required as a diet for the preschool child and those of school age, Dr. Cox included milk, fruit, vegetables, eggs, meat, fish or cheese, cereal and bread and added that cod liver oil and other vitamin preparations are important in winter and early spring but should be prescribed by the family physician.

A Word From The Editor

Since arriving in Rankin, it has come to the editor's attention that folks here sincerely desire to have a hometown paper. They want a paper printed in Rankin, by Rankin people, filled with news and advertisement concerning Rankin and above all else, a paper that expresses the views of Rankin folks.

Let it be stated here that as long as the present editor continues in this capacity, he will do just that, as nearly as possible. Opinions that are those of the majority of the people IN RANKIN will be those supported by this paper. It will not be our policy to take sides in every issue that comes up and we definitely reserve the right to have our own personal opinions but in all cases we will print the news as it is and let the facts of the case speak for themselves.

It can further be said that the publisher of this paper has assured the editor that he has no desire whatsoever to dictate the policy of this paper past that of requiring that it be operated on a sound business basis. The publisher and the editor are in full agreement on this matter and any mistakes made in the policies of this paper will be those of the editor.

The editor does not know the political situation that exists here, is not acquainted with the local needs of this part of the country, but does know that a newspaper has no business operating in any city, town or community if it does not support that place. To support and promote Rankin for the benefit of the people who live in this area is my intention.

Oil Boom--School Boom

In many parts of the country one hears of people who express the opinion that an oil boom is the worst thing that can happen to a town. Prices get too high, rent goes up and soon becomes nonavailable, the town grows faster than is good for sound business to say nothing of appearance, and the old routine of the original people of the town is broken.

Granted that this is the usual effects of oil on a town, that does not give the full picture for these are only temporary effects. One need only travel through the country and see the difference between the fine schools, staffed with excellent, qualified teachers, paid a better salary than most, and compare these with the often overcrowded, poorly staffed and almost always poorly housed schools of the usual oilless school districts, to see one of the brightest stars to rise from the oil business. It has given small communities good schools.

With our children getting the best education that money can buy provided under ideal conditions, we can hope for an even better Rankin, a better Texas and a better America in the future. Yep, this business of being in an oil country is all right.
