New County Officers Will Take Office On January 1

New county and district officials will take office here on January 1.

Among these will be John A. Menefee as county attorney. John A. has served previously in this capacity and is well known in the county. He has said that he is looking forward to once more serving in the office and is reported to have some definite plans on hot-check laws.

"There is only one way to handle hot checkers and that is to apply the law," Menefee has said.

He pointed out that he does not hold with the idea of writing letters and pleading with the offenders to make the checks good. He feels that offenders ought to be filed on and handled through the courts.

Steve Preslar will take over the duties of District Judge. He will replace Hart Johnson in this capacity and will make his headquarters in the Upton County Courthouse. It will be his first term in the office of District Judge.

1960 Was Year Of Consolidation For Rankin

about to come to an end. It has been a year of participations and results as with most business houses that their sales apparently had though. In fact, the increase in their business the same time, one service closed because of lack of while another new one and another re-opened. present time, cafes are somewhat better-than-business and the oil service dealing in cementing trucks from as far as Wichita Falls and Big out of Rankin last week Halliburton Company has added three new hands to the oil exploration the present time is in the Dryden area. from the Midkiff area that the long-awaited road work is about to get and a majority of those with this project are of the opinion that it will be successful in recovering a large amount of oil from the Sprayberry Trend area. Last week Humble Company was taking bids on 7 new locations on one of their leases and more are said to be planned. These were dirt hauling bids mostly but would indicate an active increase in drilling in the flood work. A number of well service crews are also said to be at work in the norther part of this area and are expected to move in closer to Rankin as the project develops. It is estimated that it will take four years to install the entire water flood program and up to twenty years to make all the recovery.

Last week, also, buyers were reported to be in Rankin seeking suitable lots for moving houses onto. These were to come from one of the oil camps in the Midkiff area that is selling their company houses with employees said to have first choice. One difficulty reported in the move-to-Rankin idea was the fact that many of the choice lots in the city limits are zoned for FHA and will not permit any houses to be moved into the area. This matter was still pending at the middle of the week.

LOOKING BACK—

Reviewing 1960, which started off in early January with the political announcements and maneuvering, it was a year of change for Rankin in many ways. For the first time, the merchants and individuals organized themselves into a Board of City Development and secured a full time manager. Still in the infant age, the BCD did get started on a few projects this past year and was one of the prime movers in the biggest cleaning up job Rankin has undertaken in some time. A number of old, unused buildings were removed and other civic-pride projects started. Last summer, Rankin took considerable pride in being one of the cleanest towns along Highway 67.

Following the early city, school and county elections, the Upton County 4-H Club staged their biggest rodeo yet and added a fine showing of quarter horses to the event. Meanwhile, back at the school, a $300,000-plus bond issue was approved and renovations and additions were started at Rankin Schools which are still going on. Many new teaching facilities have been added and enrollment was reported up over last year. Students are expected to occupy all of the junior high upon their return to classes on January 3.

Somewhere during the early fall, the Go-Kart fans completed a paved track at the rodeo arena and the dad is fast gaining among area residents.

1960 provided considerable coffee conversation for Upton Countyites with the so-called hospital issue which resulted in Rankin getting their own hospital board, an arrangement that has worked out to the utmost satisfaction to the vast majority of citizens. This issue was, perhaps, the biggest news item of local interest for the year.

The pride and joy of Rankin, the Red Devils, moved up to Class A in 1960 and took it on the chin for 9 losses and one win—making the year one of their poorest in the win column for some time. 1961 promises to be a year of improvement along this line.

The 4-H Club won their usual allotment of stock show honors and will start off the 1961 season with their county show in January.

Road construction has been a big topic in Rankin this fall and winter and indications are that this area will be in for a lot more work along this line. Plans call for work on the Midand Highway, the Crane Highway and Highway 67 on both the East and West side of Rankin. Crews are expected to do most of the work from Rankin.

Rankin saw the completion of more blocks of paving in 1960 and is presently installing some new and larger water lines in the west part of town. Street lights are also being erected on Elizabeth St.

The first-o-f-the-year shuffling of business locations is also on with at least one firm expected to open on Main Street after the 1st of the year.

Highway Grocery erected a new building on Highway 67 and at least one other firm is presently considering expansion.

The Rankin (Tex.) News—

ITS OVER—

For all practical purposes, Rankin made it through the Christmas holidays unscratched. One nut did cause a minor disturbance in one of the local stores when he purchased a Christmas gift and tried to pay for it with cash.

Evidently he had started his Yule celebration a little early but after reasoning with him for a spell and explaining that things are just not done that way anymore, he finally had it charged like a good customer and they did not have to call the law.

This was probably the biggest Christmas ever for the citizens of the U. S. and they spent less money getting their hands on it. Of course, there is always the 10th of January to face but who knows for sure that he'll make it past the 1st.

We have become a nation of "put it on the cuffs". No longer is the prestige of a person judged by how long his car happens to be—it's how long his string of credit cards is. It used to be that an applicant for a job was tested on his ability to make change but now it's to see how good he is on filling out credit purchase forms. They talk about the dollar being weak and it's more than likely true since it gets such little exercise.

THE JESTER—

Along with the usual batch of Christmas cards, I received one from Coach Don Leach that was, to say the least, different.

It was a three picture deal showing the coach addressing the annual football banquet in which he stated:

"I wish to commend the learned gentlemen of the press. They stated that, in the conference race, we would be the team to beat."

"We were."

"And everybody did."

Yeah, well then there's the advice on how to get a teen ag off the phone: Teach them to mind—the, tell them to hang up.

And of course you have heard about the new deodorant they now have on the market. It's called "Disapper" After you rub it on, you vanish—and, nobody knows where the smell comes from.

NEW YEARS—

These last few days will put an end to 1960—the year that was supposed to start the country off on the road to plenty. There has been plenty of course but hardly what was promised. Anyhow, we all like to take new hope at the beginning of a new year and tell ourselves at we are on the verge of getting all our coons up that ole proverbial one tree. Not that the year we have just finished was any worse than the ones that had gone before—but we just all like to stand on the beach and look for the ship to come in and somehow the weather is always clearer around the first of the year and it's not much trouble to make yourself believe that you can—at last—see the top of the sail out in the distance.

That's good. People ought to be optimistic—if for no other reason than to cheer up the other fellow and I for one am thoroughly convinced that the year ahead is going to be a good one. Not any big starteling developments as related to the old pocketbook—which is the measuring stick used by us all in determining the goodness of any given time—but just a year in which we will all get the feeling that things will be looking up. It won't start right away but by the end of the year, we will all be fat and sassy.

And, of course, you'll want to make your new year's resolutions. Over the holidays, I caught up on some reading and in the batch was included the tax report of the State of Texas. This thing has just about changed my mind on a few things and one of them is the manner in which Texas gets the taxes. For one thing, Rankin and everyone else in the state is trying to get
