Looking Backwards Over Year 1961

Following summary is from The Rankin News for a few of the many things that go into a year in our area.

1961 might be described as a "down year" for Rankin. It was a so-called recession year with the down-grading of the economy by political parties in the November elections in which almost all were talked into a defeat. At that time, the biggest problem for Rankin was the water-flooding in the areas to the north and west. A program had long been in place and one of huge monetary aid was expected to provide a temporary boost to the economy. 1961 was said to be a year when it would go down.

The year followed month and month, approaching its close, less than had been heard from this area and it now appears that there will be little or no effect on the local scene.

The year started off as a wet year. There was damp and plenty of rain was in the ground. One of the biggest continual rains to the area in many a day fell on the 2nd of June. That was followed by a 2-inch quickie rain. Rankin proper received practically no rain up to the end of the year. However, locally scattered showers did make for good summer range in some surrounding areas.

A City Board of Development, formed in 1960, lasted hardly a year with its practical close coming toward the middle of April with the announcement that the city could no longer underwrite the salary of its manager.

One or two businesses changed hands with no new concerns being opened and only a limited amount of home improvement and residential building taking place.

Through the first half of the year, almost every local business concern reported declining income. The summer was long but pleasantly hot—many describing it as the most mild in memory.

It was a year without any spectacular events for the local scene, with the passing of some loved ones and the arrival of more than an equal number of new babies.

Marriages were announced and—as seems to be the case in most so-called rural areas—there were few divorces. No drastic highway accidents occurred in the immediate area, nor was there any armed robbery or similar violence. Two people from another county killed themselves in a car north of Rankin and one local man shot himself to death.

School dismissed in May with its largest graduating class for several years and reopened in September with an increased number of students on hand. The usual number of new faces appeared in the faculty line-up following the resignations and realignment of teachers.

Early in January of 1961, a court order was handed to the Upton County Commissioners instructing them to not use county equipment for private individuals. This was followed by the filing of a suit later in the year by a McCamey contractor in which he charged the county had violated the order. Subsequently, a hearing was held and that case is still "up in the air" with the judge not yet having handed down his decision.

In January, also, the Rankin Post Office reported a slight decline in postal receipts over the year past. A new report for the year 1961 is expected in early January, 1962.

Carl Shaffer, incumbent, was re-elected to the School Board in April, along with J. D. Gossett who won the seat vacated by Ed Guy Branch.

In June, the City of Rankin announced a 10 percent tax cut for property owners and in August contracted with a law firm to collect delinquent taxes. The county also made a cut in the tax rate of some 31-cents while the school had a revaluation program that resulted in higher values for some property owners.

The 4-H Club All Kid Rodeo had its most successful run and the 4-H members gathered in several top honors—as per usual—at the various livestock shows. The Rankin Red Devil Band took top honors at the Del Rio Band Festival and scored high ratings in other similar events. Poll tax payments for an "off year" set a near record in Upton County.

A hospital Auxiliary was organized and good reports have been heard throughout the year of this group.

And the Rankin News published 52 issues.

Toward the last of August, some firms noted a slight increase in activity that continued to build up as the year progressed. Now, at its close, some have reported a much better year than expected, others say their business is still off. Oil activity continued to highlight the discussion topics with almost daily visible results beginning to show near the city limits.

"Hope" might be the best description of the outlook for 1962 as most here see it. Though there is little that is of definite value as yet from the new activity, it is the general feeling that as long as the action is here, it might be the beginning of better things ahead. This—aside from all the ills of the world outside—could be the hopes of Rankin for '62.

ELSIE TURNER ENTERS JP RACE

Elsie Turner authorized the News to announce this week that she is now a candidate for Justice of the Peace, Precinct Two, subject to the Democratic Primary.

Mrs. Turner, a long-time resident of Rankin, is a member of the First Methodist Church and an active Rebekah Lodge officer. This will be her first active quest for a political office although she did announce for the same post in 1958 but had to withdraw due to her doctor's orders and poor health.

Mrs. Turner's family consists of her husband, Al, a daughter, Mrs. Mary DeLoach, and Mr. Turner's mother.

"I feel that I am qualified for the office and I need the job," Mrs. Turner said this week.

"Should I be elected, I feel that

Hike In Haircuts Effective January 2

Following the trend established in this area by barber shops, Rankin's two shops announced this week that, effective January 2, prices for hair cuts will take a 25-cent hop.

New prices will be $1.50 for regular haircuts and $1.75 for the "flat-tops." J. E. Cunningham and E. W. Love are the two Rankin barbers.

I have the time and ability to make a good Justice of the Peace and that is my promise to the voters of the Precinct."

Mrs. Turner stated that she solicited the vote and assistance of those living in the Precinct and would welcome the opportunity to discuss her quest for the office with each of them as she makes her campaign, which she has said will be an active one.

Rankin firms have announced that they will close next week in observance of the New Year.

Monday closing will be the usual rule.

Noted Psychologist To Speak in Area

On Tuesday, January 9, at the Benoit Cafe in McCamey, Dr. Paul C. Young will lead a Seminar to the thirty or forty ministers and pastors of churches in this area on the subject "Pastoral Counseling with the Mentally Ill." The Seminar will begin at 11 o'clock a.m., extending through the lunch hour and closing at 2:30. This is under the sponsorship of the McCamey and Crane Ministerial Alliances, with all other ministers in Crane, Rankin, Iraan and McCamey invited and urged to attend.

Dr. Young has been head of the psychology department at the Big Spring Hospital for a number of years. He was also prominent as a professor at Louisiana State University Department of Psychology for 35 years. He is listed in "Who's Who in America" as one of the outstanding psychologists in the country and is quoted in many authoritative books on psychology in the field of hypnotic healing.

HAPPY NEW YEAR—

'Twas the day after Christmas.
Thank goodness!

Now here it is, almost 1962 and another year shot. They just don't make years as long as they used to. I can remember back when I was a kid and years were twelve months long. That was—of course, before they invented installment payments. That must have cut thirty days into at least half.

Everybody is in a rush now—a-days with no one hardly taking time for leisure. President Kennedy has said that we all need to slow down some, to get more exercise, do more walking. He says we depend too much on the automobile and other means of fast transportation.

I wonder if he ever had to try to pay his income tax while moving at a slow gate. What we really need is something that will enable us to do about twice as much work and then maybe we could keep up with the demands of the day.

With the coming of the new year, one usually finds folks full of high hopes for the months ahead with the feeling prevailing that things are going to be just a little bit better. And this year is no exception. 1961 was not the worst year to come along in Rankin—but it was not the best. It is, however, ending on a high note and almost everyone appears to be optimistic about even better things for the months just around the corner. The new oil business—as has been said before—may not help us much, but it won't hurt and the action gives one the feeling that at least some progress is being made.

We'll all want to make our New Year's resolutions shortly. You know what a resolution is—something that comes in with the old and out with the new.

Just as punishment for the Collector of Internal revenue, I think I shall resolve to NOT make a million dollars next year. That ought to learn him and is a resolution that—with any kind of luck—I will be able to keep.

MR. FRED—

By now everyone who is acquainted with him knows that on January 1, Mr. Fred Welling will retire as manager of the West Texas Utilities in Rankin. Mr. Fred is somewhat of an institution in Rankin and its association with the Utilities Company, having served as manager here for a good many years.

Those who follow him in the position of manager will—without doubt—do a good job of management but I doubt that any will be more loyal or faithful to their company than has Mr. Fred. He may be among the last of the type men who put their whole ability into doing their very best, everyday and every year, for their employer. In these days of unions, employee benefits, profit sharing, etc., Mr. Fred appears to have always run his job with the idea in mind that whatever he could do to help his company would be of benefit to himself and his security.

WTU is retiring a good hand on January 1.

THE SUCKER GAME—

There is a developing feeling—so it is said—among the nations of the world, that instead of referring to the United States as "Uncle Sam", the expression ought to be "Uncle Sap". Take a look at our actions and position in that do-gooder organization, the United Nations and you will see why.

In the Congo, we have sided with the Russians and helped put down the uprising in Katanga in which a group of people were seeking to determine their own destiny. In other words, the people of Katanga wanted to be free of the rest of the Congo—just as we wanted to be free of England during the American revolution. But apparently, since we are members of the UN, we no longer respect the thought that a country has the right to seek

Recent Discovery May Aid in Fight Against Screwworms

BY W. M. (DUB) DAY
Upton County Agent

A recent discovery may prove of great value in future efforts to control or eradicate a very expensive livestock parasite, the screwworm. The discovery was a black screwworm fly. Normally, the flies are blue-green.

The first black screwworm fly
was found by Dr. Leo E. LaChance inset geneticist of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service at Kerrville, in a laboratory colony obtained from Orlando, Florida.
Since these flies had not been irradiated, the black one is believed to be the result of a naturally occurring mutation. Seveloot in the form of foreign aid to members of the organization and have less to say about its policies and methods of operation than almost any other nation.

It's a shame and a disgrace and one which need not continue—unless we as citizens have reached the point where we just don't care any longer and I doubt that.

ral generations of the black screw worm fly have been produced by LaChance and his associates.

The black color is important as a genetic marker (a distinguish-able physical characteristic that is heritable) and could prevent a problem which delayed the eradication in the Southeast, a quick, effective way to identify the released flies.

Irradiation does not alter the appearance of screwworm flies, and they are not radioactive when recovered in traps. Dye or other markings are not sufficiently permanent for accurate identification.
An easily distinguishable marker,
such as the black color, could eliminate this problem and speed progress in future eradication programs.

The ARS entomologists are now conducting studies to determine how the genetically marked flies
compare with wild flies in mating activity, longevity, and flight
range. If the black screwworm

Rankin Study Club Has Yule Program

The Rankin Study Club met on Thursday, December 21 in the club room of the Rankin Park Building for their annual Christmas program.

Christmas carols were sung by the group with Mrs. M. J. Edwards giving the devotional. Roll call was answered by naming a woman of the Bible. Mrs. Ralph Daugherty read the Christmas Story.

A box was packed and sent to the State Hospital in Big Spring and to the Home for Retarded Children in Mexia.

Ten members were present with Miss Myrtle Reed and Mrs. E. C. Higday the hostesses for the afternoon.

Omicron Tau Meets In Gossett Home

The Beta Sigma Phi, Omicron Tau, Rankin chapter met in the home of Mrs. Pauline Gossett on the evening of December 19 for a meeting and Christmas social.

The home was decorated beautifully in the Christmas motif. A glittering ceiling-high white flocked tree with reflector and white satin balls and crystal drops set the scene. The entertainment rooms displayed lovely Christmas greenery and ornaments.

A short business meeting was conducted by President Katherine Cook and an impressive program "Awareness of Blessings" was given by Mrs. Tommie Autry. Members sang Christmas Carols, gifts were exchanged, and secret sisters were revealed. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Jean Fitzhugh.

Twenty-eight members were present and the door prize was awarded to Mrs. Bob Peacock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Eades spent the holidays in Abilene with their daughter, Mrs. Rudy Jackson, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Wimberly and sons are visiting relatives in Pandora, Texas during the holidays.

Gift Tea Honors Darlene McAden

A gift tea honoring Darlene Workman McAden, whose marriage on June 1 to Bobby Lynn McAden has recently been announced, was given on Wednesday afternoon, December 20. The party was held in the club room of the Rankin Park Building between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. Co-hostesses were Mesdames Ralph Daugherty, C. E. Sheffield, J. D. Gossett, Bruce McGill, Joe Simpson, W. W. Harral, J. E. Odom, J. Lane and A. E. Ivy.

Included in the house party were Misses Annie Gossett, Pam Simpson, Alta McAden, Sammie Steele, Virginia Harral and Geneva Woody. Music was furnished dur-

The chosen colors of orchid and white were used on the tea table. Orchid streamers on a white linen cloth were centered with a replica of an antique car made by Mrs. J. Lane. The car carried a miniature bride and groom. Corsages presented by the hostesses to the honored guests were in orchid and white.

Refreshments of white iced cake squares topped with an orchid wedding bell, flower designed mints, nuts, coffee and tea were served to some one hundred guests who called during the afternoon.

Telephone service never stops improving

These 6 communications improvements, now in effect in many communities, are some of the hundreds being made each day — to give you the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

Direct Distance Dialing permits you to dial your own Long Distance calls as quickly and easily as you do local calls. This service improvement is spreading rapidly. By the end of the year, one fourth of our telephone customers will be able to call Long Distance this faster, easier way.

Recorded Announcement helps prevent lost calls. Should someone forget to hang up an extension or accidentally knock the receiver off the hook, a recording reminds you to hang up the receiver.
 This enables you to be reached once again by those trying to call you.

Automatic Line Test is made periodically on most telephone lines. This equipment tests your line and your telephone for electrical defects. If it locates trouble, information is recorded so that the trouble can be promptly fixed and disruption of service prevented.

Electronic Voice Boosters keep your voice at a strong, clear conversational level, prevent fade-out caused by distance. Loss in transmission has been cut nearly in half in the last five years.
 Today, you hear better than ever.

Pumping Air in Cables helps keep your telephone trouble free. Air pressure in the cable holds out moisture should a small leak occur. Reduced pressure as air escapes provides warning of leak so it can be repaired before it affects your service.

Burying Telephone Cables
 makes them weatherproof, gives you more trouble-free service. Today, 55 percent of telephone wire is underground, providing stormproofed express routes for your local and Long Distance calls.
