Pvt. Roy Hart still likes the Army and Texas, but likes the Panhandle best. He has been transferred from Camp Wallace to Fort Bliss. —U. J.

Fort Bliss, Texas, Oct. 31, 1943

Dear Uncle John: I am pretty late in answering this letter, which has been due for so long, but I have taken time to write it. My address has been changed but I have received the paper O. K. The Star is more than a letter, for it gives a more detailed description of everything that takes place at home. This part of Texas is pretty, but I wouldn't trade the Panhandle for it. I have spent all my army life in Texas except the time that I was at the Reception Center and there is no part that I would trade for home. Well, there isn't much to write, except that we are to leave, the 8th of November for the desert, and that everything is going well. Due to the fact that it is about time for chow, I had better quit and get ready. Will write more later. Love, Roy.

And here we have a first letter from our good friend, Reeve Guyer, C. M. 1-c, who is away over in the big Pacific somewhere, with the Seabees. Reeve is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Guyer, of Friona. Like all the other boys, he can not say much about himself, but he likes to hear from home.—U. J.

Oct. 22, 1943

Dear Uncle John: I don't know how to express my appreciation for your paper. Although it gets here a little late, and some of the copies never reach me, those that do reach us are very welcome, not only by me, but by the rest of the boys in the tent. They all like to read "Sons in the Service" and the other articles, such as "Texas, the mostest and biggest," and I like it from cover to cover. I even read all the ads. There isn't much I can write about over here that the censors will let pass, but I am doing as well as can be expected. We are working hard, eating and sleeping. That is about all I can say about myself. I think you are doing one of the greatest things that could be done for the boys in the Service, and especially those over seas, by sending them the biggest little paper in the world. Tell all my friends "Hello" for me. When this war is over, we will have a great get-together and compare stories, and I'll lay a little wager there will be some great stories. If you care to put this in the Star, please correct all misspelled words.

As ever, Reeve

Miss Fern Cunningham, who is attending college at Canyon, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Cunningham.

Yokley and McFarland New International Machinery Dealers

J. D. Buchanan and R. G. Morris last week announced the sale of the Buchanan Implement Company to Jack Yokley and Granville McFarland.

Mr. Yokley, who came here from Olton, has been manager of the business for several months. Mr. McFarland, a long-time resident of Friona, is a prominent farmer in this territory.

The new owners will take over active management of the business on Nov. 1.

Relatives Return Home After Attending Funeral

Miss Lucy and Leland Goodwine left Monday afternoon for their respective homes, after having been here to attend the funeral of their mother.

Miss Lucy returned to New York City, and Leland to Bellflower Calif. Owing to the lateness of both trains, their departure came only a few minutes apart.

Miss Floy Goodwine left Wednesday for Deer Park, where she will resume her work as teacher in the Deer Park schools.

Father of Local Man Dies in Oklahoma

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Rasberry returned Sunday from Windom, where they had gone two weeks ago to attend the funeral of Mr. Rasberry's brother's wife.

They had been at home only a few hours, when Mr. Rasberry received a message telling him of the death of his father, at Caddo, Okla., and he left at once for that place to attend the funeral. Mrs. Rasberry was unable to accompany her husband to Oklahoma.

Dr. Knollhoff to Remain With Friona Practice

Dr. E. B. Knollhoff, states that he is now permanently established for the practice of his profession in the Friona territory, taking over the practice of Dr. McReynolds, who plans to locate for practice in the city of Houston as soon as he has completed his post graduate work there.

Dr. Knollhoff has also taken over the McReynolds Clinic and other property here. Dr. Knollhoff comes to us highly recommended as a physician and surgeon, and we bespeak for him the confidence and patronage of all our people.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Parker were in Clovis last Thursday. Mr. Parker also attended to business matters at Farwell on the same day.

Mrs. Osburn Enjoys Trip to Norfolk

Mrs. W. C. Osburn, who returned recently from a week's visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Osborn, at Norfolk, Va., reports a most enjoyable trip and visit.

Mrs. Osburn stated that she found her son and wife both in the best of health and perfectly happy. Forrest is a member of Uncle Sam's Navy, and his wife is employed in defense work at Norfolk, consequently both are very busy.

She further stated that, to add to the pleasure of her trip, the forests in the states through which she passed were all dressed out in their cloaks of many colored leaves and looked like a painted picture. The cotton fields were also a thing of beauty, being snowy white with the fleecy cotton from the ground to the tips of the stalks.

Regardless of the fact that all trains were filled to their utmost capacity, with as many as three persons in many of the seats, while others were standing or sitting on the arms of the crowded seats, she fully enjoyed the trip both going and coming, both of which trips were made in the middle of the week, to avoid as much of the jam as possible, but she said it seemed to make no difference. She said the young people spoke in high praise of the Star and how they enjoyed reading it.

C. A. Turner was in Farwell last Saturday, attending to business.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the Friona Schools and community realize the value of education in bringing about victory in war, and victory in peace,

And whereas, the patrons should take time to visit and appraise their schools, to see what organized education is doing to prepare youth for work and for citizenship, what their schools are contributing to the development of trained minds, sound character and vigorous bodies in the generation which will inherit the problems of the new air age,

I, the mayor of the City of Friona, Texas, in cooperation with the National Education Association, declare November 7-13 as American Education Week, the time to visit the Friona schools and become acquainted with its philosophy and work.

Signed— J. A. BLACKWELL, Mayor of Friona

Friona Schools Observe "American Education Week"

American Education Week will be observed this year with "Education for Victory." Victory on all battle fronts is our goal. In this effort the schools have their programs geared to the needs of the armed forces, of industry, and of government. Five million workers have been trained for war jobs. Physical fitness programs have been developed, scrap and bond drives and scores of other activities have been sponsored. Teachers have given millions of hours to registration and rationing services.

Most important of all, the schools have carried on their regular program of developing boys and girls into strong, loyal, intelligent, freedom-loving men and women.

Likewise the schools must play a great part in another goal—an enduring victory in the peace. We must make an all out effort to win the peace. We must develop a sense of responsibility for world order. We must achieve mutual confidence and understanding with other nations, through the application of the Golden Rule. These are the tasks of education in the home, the church, and the school. We must educate for peace now. After the war will be too late. We must mobilize for the peace in advance. If we lose the peace, the victory so dearly purchased on the field of battle will have been in vain.

There is no room for slackers at school, at church or at home. Many sacrifices will be required. The cost of our share of world wide organization for peace will be great. Friona schools and community have their part to do. With the cooperation of the three institutions which formulate ideas and ideals, the home, the church, and the school, we can make successful our efforts to bring about both victory in war and in the peace which must follow.

November 7-13 is American

Mrs. Goodwine's Life Example Of Cardinal Christian Virtues

Minnie Goyer, daughter of Vespasian and Lucy Ann Remington Goyer, was born in Howard County, Ind., Oct. 16, 1872, and died, Oct. 26, 1943, at the age of 71 years and 10 days.

She was next to the youngest in a family of eleven children, of whom a sister, Mrs. Martha Costlow, and a brother, Ulysses Goyer, both of Indiana, survive.

She was married to William Edward Goodwine on Dec. 23, 1891. To this union were born ten children. Chester, the second son, died in infancy, Aug. 11, 1900. Elsie, the oldest daughter, became the wife of R. G. Glenin. She died, Nov. 10, 1918. Mr. Goodwine preceded his wife in death, March 19, 1923. Mrs. Goodwine is survived by two sons; Clyde V. Goodwine of Friona, and Leland E. Goodwine, of Bellflower, Calif. also by six daughters: Miss Lucy V. Goodwine of New York City; Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. James Bragg and Miss Lola Goodwine of Friona; Miss Floy Goodwine of Deer Park, and Mrs. C. J. Price of Vernon. There are also eight grandchildren; Mrs. Robert McNitt, Vigo Park; Mrs. Wade Whitlow, and David and Lois Goodwine, all of Bellflower, Calif.; John Fred White and Clyde Ray, Janel and Betty Bragg, of Friona; and two great grand children; Margaret Ann and Richard Fred McNitt, of Vigo Park.

Mrs. Goodwine, with her husband, moved to Friona in March, 1909, and soon after their arrival they became affiliated with the local Congregational Church, transferring their membership from the United Brethren Church in Indiana, with which they had been affiliated since their childhood. They both remained as faithful supporters and active workers of and in their new church home. Mrs. Goodwine was also a charter member of the Friona Woman's Club.

Mrs. Goodwine was a patriotic citizen, a charitable and helpful neighbor, and a kind and faithful wife and a tender and loving mother, faithful and sincere in the worship of her God. She always presented a cheerful countenance to all with whom she met. She believed in the practice of the Golden Rule, and the night was never too dark, wet and dreary for her to arise and share the comforts of her home with the homeless wayfarer. She was unostentatious in her demeanor, but in her desire to help and to serve her home, her church, her community, her neighbor, she was willing, capable and gracious. Though suffering trials and privations, she was always cheerful, hopeful and trustful. To one who has known Mrs. Goodwine intimately during these many years, her steadfastness and her cheerful and hopeful attitude, suggest these beautiful lines from Whittier's poem, "Eternal Goodness,"

"I know not what the future hath
Of marvel or surprise,
Assured alone that life and death
His mercy underlies.

And so beside the Silent Sea,
I wait the muffled oar;
No harm from Him can come to me
On ocean or on shore.

I know not where His islands lift
Their fringed palms, in air
I only know I cannot drift
Beyond His love and care."

Funeral services were held at the Friona Congregational Church, Friday, Oct. 29, at 2:30 P. M. Interment was made at the Friona Cemetery.

The music was by a choir made up of the women of the Congregational Ladies Aid and the Friona Woman's Club. The sermon was delivered by her pastor, Rev. Paxton Smith. The pallbearers were friends and neighbors. The honorary pallbearers were men that established homes at Friona near the time that the Goodwines' moved to this community. Members of the Junior Women's Club were in charge of the flowers—the number and beauty of which is seldom excelled.

Leaguers Have Party At Rhea School House

The Waltham Leaguers of the Rhea Immanuel Lutheran Church and their friends enjoyed a Halloween party Sunday night at the Rhea school house.

The guests were greeted by a Jack-o-lantern bearing a sign, which read "Follow this string." After having followed the gruesome string through several rooms in the dark, everyone finally found a chair.

The remainder of the evening was spent at playing games such as "Ghastly Scrawl," "Hallow'en Telegrams," "The Cat," bobbing for apples, Relay and several other such games. Several small prizes were given.

The evening came to a climax when refreshments of popcorn balls, candy and spiced tea were served to 23 guests and the host and hostess, Carl Hoffman and Velma and Eleanor Scheuler.

'Potato Pickin' Mama

She harvested a whale of a lot of potatoes at Aroostock, Me., did 71-year-old Mrs. Alice Davis of Lovely, Ky. Her total was 1145 barrels, an average of 55 a day, with best day of 66. At home she farms 10 acres. Here you see her in action at Aroostock.

Thanksgiving is like this even in war. For America is the land of plenty now far more than when the Pilgrim Fathers first gave thanks 300 years ago. But there are empty chairs now, waiting for Americans who are defending America with their lives. Be sure you are worthy of them.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

Yes, I attended church again Sunday and heard another mighty good sermon, or so it appeared to me, for it was along a line of thinking of which I have had quite a bit to say in times past. Personally, I thought it one of the pastor's best; but of course others may disagree with me on that point and take an opposing view of it altogether, and if so they have that perfect freedom of choice and thought to do so, and I will be the last to deny it to them.

Sunday was what is known as "All Saints Day", more commonly known now in this country, as Hallowe'en, which is, as I understand it, a misnomer, and I think, should not be applied to the day. Well, the minister whom I heard preach Sunday, took "All Saints Day" as his theme and subject, and in order to explain and justify his statements, it was necessary to make a real defense of the Catholic Church and its teachings and liturgies. And this he did in a well-chosen words and a manly manner.

And as I listened to his illuminating discourse, I could not help but think that if the people of all branches of the great Christian church would deal with others so kindly as did this pastor, it would go far toward destroying the great mountain of prejudice, resentment and even hatred that so many people hold toward other branches of the church other than the one which has the greatest appeal for them. I have always contended that ignorance, in its most beastly form, is a parent of all the vices of hatred, malice, prejudice, envy, jealousy and retribution in any line of social activity, and especially is this true of the church as a whole, and when and only when, all religions and denominations of the same religion have learned to get along with each other and work in unison and a spirit of brotherly love and equity, will there ever be such a thing as a permanent and world-wide peace, and the churches thus working together must have the greater hand in writing any peace code that may hereafter be written, before any hope of a lasting peace may be enjoyed. And when I say churches I refer to all religious organizations, and their sub-divisions.

I must admit, however, that the church can do little, if any good toward writing a permanent world-wide peace, in its present divided condition, from its many dissensions, mysticism, superstitions, intolerance, prejudice, hatred, enmity and ignorance toward any of, each other, and through its membership, discards all these vices and adopts in their stead, the virtues of brotherly love, humility, love, kindness, gentleness, tolerance, forbearance and mercy, and all act as a unit in accomplishing this great achievement.

It occurs to me that the church has always accomplished its greatest good as a promoter and sponsor of worthy motives, rather than as a mere savior of souls. In a review of charitable institutions, hardly a one can be listed that was not originally promoted by the church; then after their need and efficiency had been proven, many of them have been taken over by the State. In this list we could place almshouses, hospitals, orphanages, homes for the indigent or needy poor, and even our public school system was at first promoted and supported by the church, and even now is to a large extent, so supported, though in the main it has also been absorbed by the state.

Some people say the church has outlived its usefulness, but I beg the right to disagree with such ideas. To my mind the church is the greatest and most useful organization in existence today, or ever has been, and so long as it keeps up its role of advancing and promoting ideas and movements that will be for the good of the entire world, it can never lose its usefulness. True, the church has undergone periods of lethargy and apparent inactivity during which its usefulness has greatly deteriorated, but so far it has always found itself and its opportunity and stepped up to take its rightful place in world affairs. It may now be undergoing one of its periodic lethargic spells, thus giving some claim for the accusation I have just referred to, but with the preaching of such sermons of love and tolerance as I heard Sunday the church must inevitably come back to its own as a promoter, in the promotion of an unending world-wide peace.

A short time ago I met my good friend Frank L. Spring out upon the street and he handed me three chestnuts, which were grown and matured on a tree growing in his yard in the north part of town. Mr. Spring stated that he has three of these trees, but only one of them bore nuts this year. However, he is confident that with a favorable season all these trees will produce a bountiful crop of nuts.

Only a few weeks ago I had also the pleasure of eating figs that grew on trees in Mr. Spring's yard, and they were truly figs. I also saw a few weeks ago, a limb that had into unexplored regions of this kind, either as a hobby or in dead earnestness, to see just how much they can accomplish, that have brought many of the country's greatest blessings to us.

Some man planted a few orange seeds in California, and that has led to the mighty orange growing industry. Someone else planted a few grains of rice, and our great rice industry has grown from that. And so with many of other similar industries, which I have not time to think of now. Thus my friend Mr. Spring may be the pioneer in some other great industry for the nation.

True, the altitude and the latitude of these plains countries may be far too rigorous for figs and chestnuts to be profitably grown here now, but with the advance man and science is having toward the mastery of the elements, man may soon be able to bend the isothermal lines or zones to suit his fancy or convenience. Who dare gainsay the possibility of such a feat?

A few years ago I mentioned in my effervescence that feat that a Friona lady was growing a banana plant in her store window, and mentioned the possibility of Friona becoming a banana growing country, and was taken to task for my optimism and vain imaginings by my friend Tom Howorth of McAllen. And he may take be in hand again for the above prognostication.

The late Frank Crane said: "It takes so little to make people happy; a word fitly spoken, a slight re-adjustment in some bearing in the delicate machinery of the soul. It takes little, so little to make people happy." I do not know who composed the following beautiful lines but their sentiment is worthwhile.

A little sun, a little rain,
A soft wind blowing from the west,
And woods and fields are sweet again,
And warmth within the mountain's breast.

A little love, a little trust,
A soft impulse, a sudden dream
And life as dry as desert dust,
Is fresher than a mountain stream.

SONS IN SERVICE —
 Pvt. Robert F. Owens thinks he may be doomed to hospital life or a discharge.
 Dear Mr. White:
 I received my Star today and was glad to get it. I guess you know my address has been changed again. They have moved me back here, to Camp Berkeley. I have done duty for two weeks, and I then had to turn back in the hospital again, so I guess my middle name is hospital. If it isn't, it sure is getting close. I just lack four weeks of being out of basic training. They might give me a C. O. D., although I didn't ever have anything like this in my civilian life; but still they may have to discharge me. Well, I guess I had better close and go to bed, so adios.
 Thanks a lot for the Star,
 Pvt. Robert Owens.

It has been a long time since we had one of Sgt. Roy Hughes good letters but here he is with another. It appears that Sgt. Roy is picking up the English vernacular quite readily, from the tone of his letter, and he has made use of one common expression or saying, which, though it is of very different import, reminds me of one that I saw written on the big mirror back of the bar in a saloon, which read: "A camel can go without a drink for ten days, but who the hell wants to be a camel?" You will recognize Roy's quotation when you come to it in his letter, which follows.
 E. T. O. England, 1943
 Dear Mr. White:

I am very sorry that I have neglected writing to you for so long. But I have been moving around so much in the past three months that I haven't had time for anything. I am not as yet at my final destination, but hope to be very soon, at which time I will write you my permanent address and request for the Star. I am at present in England, a strange, yet beautiful country. Everything here is much the same as in the U. S. except, of course the money, and the fact that the "blokes" drive on the wrong side of the road. There are other strange customs here, but I am getting on to them fast. I say, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do," but who wants to be in Rome? Our crew went to town the other night and had a very good time. We spent most of our time at the American Red Cross and the rest of the time groping around in the blasted blackout. We had a swell meal for one shilling (but of course no steak) and then made our way back to camp in a queer looking contraption, slightly resembling an automobile. It runs on natural gas and has a large bag on top. It looks more like a balloon, but the danged thing runs, so who cares? I have been in eight different countries since I left the States, and will add more to the list in the near future. I wish that I could tell you about them, but my pen liberty is limited. The censors will probably cut this letter up so it will look like a music roll, but I am not used to writing from here. I will surely be glad to get the Star once more, so I can keep up with the boys. Tell C. L. Lillard I wish he and the gang could be here. We could really have some swell times. Well, until we meet again, help to "Keep 'em Flying." I remain,

Yours truly,
 Sgt. Roy E. Hughes

Reeve Teaching at AAF Training School at Yale

New Haven Conn. —Charles T. Reeve, of Friona, is now serving as a civilian instructor at the Army Air Forces Training Command School at Yale University, teaching aircraft maintenance to aviation cadets.

Mr. Reeve is giving the men who "keep 'em flying" one phase in their many weeks of intensive training. Other subjects taught at the Yale Technical Training School are mechanical engineering, communications, aircraft armament and photography.

JUST about every thinking person today realizes that transportation—passenger, mail, freight—by air will be a much bigger and faster growing business in the post-war era—many times larger than we have known it.

The NATS—Navy Air Transport Service—is helping vastly to make the road smoother for this new baby of commerce. Blazing trails, finding out what sort of job the air industry is in for. Ordinarily when you think of aircraft in wartime you think of bombers, fighters, observation planes, torpedo planes. But behind the fighting Air Force, in fact, behind all our fighting fronts, the NATS performs a vital job by keeping things moving in emergencies.

Founded five days after Pearl Harbor the service today links five continents spans many seas with its 63,000 miles of routes dotted by every type of ship from jungle landing strips to metropolitan airports.

Flying giant R4D's, it is NATS' job to get vital supplies and men from place to place when there isn't time to wait for slower ships and trains. If a particular technical expert is needed at Guadalcanal, or a military or naval operation is waiting on his arrival, then NATS enters the picture.

The service is operated in business-like fashion, on minute-timed schedules. More than 2,500 pilots and groundmen keep it that way. When peace comes, its work will prove of inestimable value in arranging schedules, fixing charges, laying other groundwork for the big air boom that will come.

Over snow-capped Carolo volcano, Attu bound.

I did not find any misspelled words in your letter, Reeve, but the printer may find several of them in my copy. Thanks of your compliments and appreciation of the Star.—U. J.

And we are delighted with another good letter from Sgt. Raymond D. Jasper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jasper.
 Oct. 23, 1943.

Uncle John:

Notice I used the heading "Uncle John" this time. Why I used "Uncle Ed" in the other letter, is beyond me—unless, perhaps, I had "Editor" on my mind. Even so, "Uncle Editor" would be rather silly too, wouldn't it? Anyway, I meant well. I hope Ed has no grudges. The reason I use the title, Uncle John, is because it seems to be a custom of the service boys and others of your acquaintance. I didn't think you had any objections to the title and surely hope you have none. I won't try to cover up with excuse for not writing sooner such as being too ill, or not having time, and a few others of same nature, would be nothing short of a fib. I can only say I am sorry I have been too lazy to write sooner. I've been through a couple of operations in the past few months, and I must say that I seem to be doing exceedingly well, considering every little thing. I have seldom ever been too ill to write, and speaking of time—I am rather short on time, as I only get about 20 hours of sleep each day. I could cut down a couple of hours on sleep and use that time for writing I suppose. I've been getting the Star, Uncle John, and I appreciate it very much. I want the Star as long as I am over here, and if my subscription gives out before, I want it renewed. I enjoy "Sons in the Service" column more every time I read it. I also enjoy the other news. It helps a lot to know a little of what goes on in your old home town. I want to thank you again Uncle John, and now hoping this finds you in the best of health, as well as the many others. As ever,

A friend,
 Raymond D. Jasper.
 Don't worry, Raymond, the title "Uncle John" suits me fine. I like it better than "Mr." Raymond seems to be in a hospital somewhere a way "over there" and we are glad to hear he may soon be back at his post of duty.—U. J.

Pfc. Lloyd C. Mingus, who is now at Camp Elliott, Calif., enjoy the Star, sends his new address, but is too busy to write a letter. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Mingus.
 Dear Uncle John:

I have changed my address, so will send you my new one. I haven't got time to write a letter now, but will write you later on. I sure do enjoy getting the Friona Star as you can read all the letters from the boys in the service and can see what is going on around home.

Pfc. Lloyd C. Mingus, San Diego, Calif.

Pvt. William A. Allen, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, is still at Bryan Field. He is proud to be still in Texas; he likes Bryan Field, but does not like the climate as it is too hot and too wet and he does not like getting up at seven each morning for it is too cold, he does not like so much running and longs for a transfer, which might be worse.

Iowa, of Course

See shorts-clad boys of Washington, Ia., stand on a ladder alongside a 25 1/2-foot cornstalk, grown by Don Radda to prove that Iowa is still "where the tall corn grows."

 Bryan, Texas Oct. 28, 1943

Dear Uncle John:
 I received the Star and sure was glad to get it. I am still at Bryan and I guess I will be this time next year. The inspecting general at Washington, D. C., just passed this field as one of the outstanding fields in the U. S. A. It is an internment center and it sure is worth the money. This field is only eight months old, and so far as I know, they have had no serious accidents, so you can see why it is outstanding. It is one of three in the U. S. A., and as far as I know, the three are the only ones. Although it is a good field, I sure would like to get transferred. The weather is so funny here. It is a wet and a hot climate. I noticed where one of the Owens boys was down at Temple. I am only 40 miles from there. We have some boys over there too. I never have been there but they say it is a big hospital. Well, I thought I was in the Air Corps, but I think it has turned out to be the Infantry. We have to fall out every morning at 7:00 o'clock and run the obstacle course. Boy, I mean they surely have been putting us through the past few months. I guess it is what we need, but I sure do hate to get up that early, as it is so cold here. I can take it if the other boys can, so I don't guess it is going to hurt any of us, as they are all living. But to hear some of them talk, they are going to die. Well, Uncle John, I want to thank you again for the Star, and to tell all my friends, Hello! I guess I will close as the mess hall is about to close, and I sure want my part of that mess.

As ever a Friona boy,
 Bill.
 P. S. My address is: Bryan Field, Texas, and I am still in Good Old Texas and have been in the army one year this past Oct. 21.

Sgt. Johnny H. Marsh, who is now away down under, where they are sleeping while we are waking, makes use of the old adage—"Better late than never," in writing the following short but interesting letter.—U. J.

Australia, Oct. 19, 1943
 Dear Mr. White:

If the saying—"Better late than never," still holds good, it should be O. K. for me to write you a few lines. The main thing I wanted to tell you was that I have been receiving the Friona Star fairly regularly and do appreciate getting it and thanks a lot. My address is changing several times.

Sincerely, Johnny.
 The present address is, so far as we know, c/o San Francisco.

Pvt. Leon J. Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell, formerly of the Hub Community, but now on Rt. 1, Hereford, while home on a few days furlough favored the Star office with a short visit Monday morning. Pvt. Bell is now located at Camp Ellis, and had not been getting the Star since being stationed there. He is liking army life fairly well now.

FFA Initiates 15 New Members At Tuesday Meeting

The Friona chapter of Future Farmers of America held a meeting at the Vocational Agriculture building on Tuesday, Oct. 26 at 8:30. The order of the day was the initiation of the 15 applicants for F. F. A. membership. After two hours of entertainment the applicants were given their membership card; they were also awarded an F. F. A. pin. Most of the greenhands feel that they deserve their cards and pins. "How about it greenhands?" The initiation is one of the several objectives set up for the year.

EDUCATION FOR VICTORY
Education's part in winning and securing the peace is of vital importance. We must win the war. That is clear. But even as the war is fought we must prepare for the peace. Beyond the victory we want a world where the Four Freedoms may flourish.
At the present time the American youth is being prepared to guide our country in the post-war world. Thousands of future voters are graduated from the country's high school each year. Many of them will receive their final training in secondary schools. It is necessary that our young people study the reason for fighting and how to build a

Civics Class Studies Post War Problems

The world is made up of nations who, in turn, are made up of communities of individuals. A part of the Friona community, the high school civics class, is making a study of all available material for post war peace. The class has ordered the latest pamphlets from some of the best known experts. Students have brought from their homes and churches material which can be used in helping them form an opinion of what is to follow the war.

Former attempts at lasting peace are being discussed. New theories, as well as the problems arising along with them, are being taken apart piece by piece to find the good and the bad.
The study is led by Jean Crawford, and the first three days have been given to individual reports. The last two days were spent on round table discussion to form as nearly as possible a conclusion as to the method used in securing world peace.
This study fits very well into the plans for Education Week, Nov. 7-13. The school, in every grade, is observing the week; and the churches are also cooperating.

We are being urged every minute of the day to keep on uniting for the war effort—to win the struggle. Why not be just as united to win the peace? Maybe we need more faith—maybe we need more trust among the nations. Whatever it is, everyone is agreed that education is the key to the whole reaching problem.
The discussions will come to a climax on Nov. 11, when the civics class observes World Government Day with a chapel program.

What does Carolyn do to Truell Wayne to make him open his mouth real wide and then keel over?
We also wonder if it could have been because of her wearing apparel that she was having such a fit Monday in the dressing room.

Chiefs Trounce Bulldog B Team

For their fourth victory of the current season, the Chiefs overpowered the "B" string Bulldogs of Plainview by an overwhelming score of 34-0 last Friday afternoon on the Bulldog Gridiron.

The major part of the Friona gains were due to end and line runs on the part of all the backfield men. Manderscheid made two touchdowns and two extra points. On an intercepted pass, Reid ran about three yards to score a touchdown. Weis made the remaining two touchdowns, and Stark made two conversions to make the total score of 34. What yardage Plainview gained was made by right end runs. Considerable fumbling was done by the Chiefs and they were off side a number of times. They were penalized more in this game than they have been so far this season.

This last week the Chiefs have undergone much intensive drill and scrimmaging as they play their last conference game tonight with the Dumas Demons who are coming here to play on Chieftain Field.

'B' Stringers Suffer Defeat By Bobcats

Although the Chiefs "B" string had not practiced together it put up stiff resistance against the fighting Bobcats "B" team, who defeated the Chiefs by a close margin of 14-7. Members of both teams were small but all proved very effective despite their size. Dimmitt took the lead by scoring early in the first quarter. Using the "T" formation throughout the game, they scored again in the third quarter. The Chiefs then returned the attack by scoring. D. Johnson made the touchdowns and Laewell made the extra point. Ray Ford, heavy Chieftain guard, received a broken nose in the game and was removed from the game. Laewell did some wonderful blocking and the whole team received some experience which is vitally important.

A kid was delivered to Mr. Ginn at his front door Tuesday night by a Stark (W. B.) with the assistance of Doc Johnson. It weighed 50 lbs. and was black. Sure did get his goat, too.

Cat Brown is wearing a new bracelet. Ask Bill about the details.

Victory Corps Aims to Place Student in Active War Effort

The Victory Corps met Wednesday to continue their plans for participation in a nationwide high school movement to advance the war effort. All students in high school who can meet the following requirements may enroll as general members.
1. Participation in physical education.
2. Enrolled and passing essential subjects that will be of usefulness to the Nation's war effort.
3. Participation in wartime activities.

Students who have been accepted for general membership may be organized into special services later.
The two main objectives of the Victory Corps are: (1) The training of youth for that war service that will come after they leave school; and (2) the active participation of youth in the community's war effort while they are yet in school. The objectives that the wartime organization will foster and promote are: wartime citizenship, physical fitness, competence in science and math, and community services.

The Friona Victory Corps has been divided into platoons, with the corporals acting as leaders. The leaders are eligible for promotion, and the under-leaders may work for promotion as leaders of the platoons. The present membership is 28, and members are hoping for a much larger representation by the end of the school year.

Victory Corps News

The Victory Corps met Wednesday for its monthly meeting. Twenty four of the members were present. The corporals of each group presented each of his members with the V for Victory pin. The project for the coming month is turning in 1942-43 magazines to the United Service Organization, and making joke books which will also go to the U. S. O.

Points for the month of October of each member was turned in to the Corporals.

Any member of Friona High School is invited to join our band which hopes it can do some of these "little things that count."

Now will you tell us what in the world Doris Ann and Dale were doing in Clovis Sunday night?

When going to Hereford Doyle said, "That's a train coming down the track." Lillie Pay said, "Train my hind foot!" What could he say then but, "It needs training."

Grade School Band To Play at Dumas Game on Friday

The Friona Grade School Band will play several numbers at the Dumas-Friona football game Friday, Nov. 5. The present enrollment of the band is 46 members, and there are several other students whose rapid progress on their instruments indicates that they will become members soon. Parents and friends of the band members are urged to attend the game and observe the progress made by the group in the past few weeks.

The band is under the direction of Miss Clarice McCall, a graduate of West Texas State College at Canyon. Miss McCall was for four years a member of the college orchestra and also played in the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra. For the past three years she has taught at the Skelly School near Stinnett.

Jr. Red Cross Packs Xmas Gift Boxes

The Junior Red Cross Club met Monday, Oct. 25, in a special meeting. They packed ten Christmas boxes which will be sent to the National Red Cross, who will send them to refugee children.

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

Each box contained at least ten articles. Separate boxes were packed for boys and girls. Some of the things included in each box were wash cloths, bar of soap, tooth brush, tooth powder, pencils, pencil pads, games, and a number of other things.

In their regular meeting which was held Tuesday, October 26, they made definite plans for their chapel program which is to be held November 5. The remainder of the meeting was spent working on the afghan and posters for the scrap drive.

New Coach and Grade School Teacher Join Friona Faculty

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Norman joined the Friona School faculty this year. Mr. Norman, better known as "Coach", teaches Chemistry, 7th grade and high school boys P. E., football, and high school girls basketball. Mrs. Norman teaches in grade school. They are formerly from Oklahoma, where they taught school.

According to Mr. Norman he hasn't any favorite when it comes to food; just so long as it is food he is happy. Like most men, if it wasn't for the news broadcast, he would wonder why the radio was ever invented. His favorite sport (or maybe it should be sports because he has two) is fishing in the summer and hunting in the fall. The part he likes best about his job of coaching is sitting on the side lines watching his boys or girls playing and winning a game. Under his guidance the Friona football team has played several good games.

The faculty and students of Friona High are all wishing Mr. Norman and his athletic students success in all their games to follow.

Butchering Season Starts And FFA Announces Plans

The Friona F. F. A. boys are getting ready for the opening of the butchering season. The building will be open for use about Nov. 1. Some improvements have been made to help in handling beves. Beves can now be swung clear of the floor, which is more than we have been able to do before.

We do not solicit your trade, but will do our best to render satisfactory service when you bring your animals to us. The fee will be 50c per 100 pounds live

Grade school has just closed its Red Cross membership drive, and the third grade is glad to report that their room is 100 per cent. Gifts were contributed and put in boxes to be mailed to foreign countries. We are hoping that they will bring happiness to many children on Christmas.

There isn't a room in school that has more clean and attractive children each morning for cleanliness. They are using this as a part of their health program for the year.

The sixth grade geography classes are very interesting now. They are studying the Northeastern states. After their class discussion on the assigned lesson, Miss Vestal has pictures of interest to show. She made a tour of these states in 1937. She kept a diary of her trip and reads it to the children as they make their imaginary trip through these states.

We are mighty proud of the progress that the Grade School Band has made this year. They will play at the ball game next Friday night. There are many beginners in the band, but after such a short time in school, they are able to make music. We hope you enjoy their playing next Friday night.

As a result of the Queen race last week, the sale of stamps and bonds soared to a new high record. We have $2,780.40 worth of stamps and bonds for last week to the grade school credit. Miss Gay Ann McFarland and Master Glen Evan Reeve represented Grade school as King and Queen. They are from the second grade.

We are expecting many visitors during National Education Week. Grade School will have an exhibit in the windows of Miller's Variety Store. We are inviting you to make a special effort to visit our school during the coming week.
