It will show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, May 19, 20, 21, at the regular show times and at the usual prices.

Harve Green Buys Humble Service Station

Announcement was made this week of a change in ownership of the Humble Service Station in Rankin. Mr. H. M. "Harv" Green, former employee of The Western Company, purchased the station, located on Highway 67, from Jim Harkey and took over its operations last week-end. The Green family has lived in Rankin about six years. Mr. Harkey said that his plans for the future were not very definite at this time other than to do a little visiting with his family and friends.

Green said that he planned to operate that station, to be known as Green's Humble Service, on a 7-day-a-week basis and that it was his intention to do his best in service to the public.

He has invited all his friends to come by and is extending the same invitation to the general public.

"My family and I like it here in Rankin and we wanted to stay. I believe that our customers will be well satisfied with our operation of the Humble Station and we will certainly appreciate their business," Green said.

THE "NEW" DRAWING—

It's said that there's nothing new under the sun and this may be true. To call the planned-for prize drawings of the MDA something new could be a bit misleading. It has been used in Midland and Odessa and is very similar to the current national fad of sticking a coupon with a number printed on it in a magazine or mail box and telling the recipient that he or she may have already won half of Paris, France—which could be fun depending on which half was up for prize. There is, however, one difference in the local drawing as proposed and the big national events. On the local level, ones chances of being a winner are about a quarter zillion better than they are on one of these nation-wide drawings where the odds must run something like 75 million to 1 against your winning first prize.

This new drawing, which the MDA hopes to use in June, ought to be a lot more exciting and offer a considerable wider range of chance for a variety of winners. And the best part is that to participate, one does not have to sign up for anything, does not have to be at any certain place at any certain time and if he's not lucky in one spot, he can try another.

I believe you will like this one—for a change anyway.

IT WAS SPRING—

Not many days ago most of us were casting about trying to make sure that spring was upon us. Now we wonder where it went. The Russians are acting up. In the South there are riots. In Washington they are investigating

The Rankin (Tex.) News—
Thursday, May 16, 1963

and in Austin they are taxing. And the weather gets hotter. And dryer.

You know, it could be a long, hard summer.

Speaking of riots, can't you just see them having to call out troops to quell the rioting at Texas A & M when the first co-ed tries to get enrolled? We think it takes a lot of protection to keep Merideth in Mississippi but think of the protection that first little lady is going to need when she enters among that group of stouthearted lads at A & M. We will probably be able to hear the loud breathing all the way out here in Rankin.

And speaking of the weather—did you know that it has been dry so long in Rankin that you have to grease a rain gauge before you can get it to work?

Now pardner, that's pretty dry.

FARMERS, WE ? —

In the old days, Upton County was considered cattle country. A good many of the old-head ranchers, now mostly retired on oil income, recall the days when it was believed that the only thing to do in this area was raise cattle. Sheep and farming were looked down upon as something more or less for the poor folk to piddle with—or those who didn't know any better. Well, the days of the cattle ranches are long in the past for Upton County sheep has removed of livestock from the scene. Old timers never happen—but now, north of chunks of land are (Continued to

One of a series of reports by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association on the advantages of print media.

Don't you read before you buy?

Most people generally do.

Not only do they read; they cut out and show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples.

When people see an advertisement in print, they can compare designs... features... and prices of nationally known products and services. (And people do compare before they buy.)

Advertising in print is a handy thing. You can always check back; the message is still there even if your attention is distracted.

When you add it up, print advertising—the kind you read in this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of most consumers, print makes sales.

for farming and more is rumored to be destined for the plow. One doesn't have to look far to find those who will say that this is a mistake—that this land is not farming land and that the venture will fail. Not too many years ago, farming would have definitely sheep raising.

Times change and methods of doing things change. Ten years ago, farming would definitely been a lost cause in that part of Upton County but now—well, who can say? Many new methods in irrigation—with just a little water—have been developed, along with new chemicals and drought-resistant feeds and grasses. Time will tell. Let's hope the forecasts of failure are wrong again.

One big item in favor of the farming becoming a success now is the fact that the government says we have far too much farming that creates surpluses that cost money to subsidize that—in turn—makes it cheaper for the government to pay folk not to farm which somehow is supposed to make sense and which is a pretty darn good reason for one to take up farming—or not farming—or whatever you do to get in on the hand out.

In a deal like that, you can't lose for winning.

"It is now widely recognized that vegetation is the most important factor in controlling erosion. Man can maintain, restore, modify, or control the plant cover, but to accomplish this successfully he should thoroughly understand (1) the conditions which determine the appearance and maintenance of different plants and plant types (communities) in different places, and (2) the laws which govern their development and change under the various influences to which they are subjected or exposed. Man is constantly turning natural vegetation to his own uses, as when he cuts the forests for timber or uses the grass lands for grazing purposes. This he has usually

Send Proper Info Says County Agent

Livestockmen sending larvae specimens to screwworm eradication headquarters at Mission are urged by County Agent Dub Day to be sure the information sheet that should accompany the sample is filled out completely and accurately.

Eradication officials have reported that numerous samples are received with no information included. Some have been identified as screwworms.

Dub stated that prompt action is taken whenever an infestation is confirmed. In most instances, additional sterile flies are dispersed over the infested farm or ranch and livestock near the infested premises are sprayed at program expense.

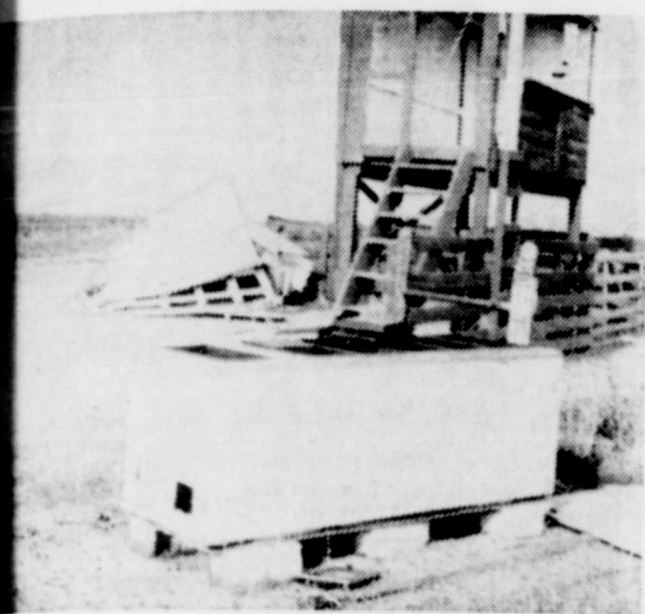

"When samples are received with no information as to where it was collected, no action can be taken," the county agent said. "This could permit additional infestations to develop because no sterile fly and spray treatment can be given to the area."

Eradication officials report less than 20 percent as many screwworm infestations have been ex-
