

Hardly a Ripple Noted Rankin from New Law

ruling that stipulates that any firm offering service to the public such as motels, hotels, cafes, etc. could not refuse service to anyone because of race.

"They have tried a revolution for the younger generation," was the description of the law given by one Rankinite. "I just can't take it," said another.

"Along with civil rights goes civil responsibilities," commented still another in what is perhaps the most thought provoking idea expressed.

On one point, almost all seem to agree and that is that here in West Texas we can expect very little change or disturbance because of the law, particularly in Rankin. There has never been much if any trouble here. Negro children have been in regular attendance at one Rankin church this summer and others have indicated that they would make no effort to turn away any who wished to attend.

Overall, it appears that reason prevails on both sides of the question locally and that though change will come, it will probably be a gradual thing with little if any fanfare and that harsh and damaging actions are to be avoided.

new law. The News found that none had really been tested and that most planned to comply if and when they were. "It's the law and we won't fight it. You would only get fined and could not win." These were the general comments heard.

At the same time, while indicating a willingness to go along with the Federal regulations, almost all the people interviewed had definite opinions about the Civil Rights law—mostly against the idea of forcing property owners to open their places and services to one and all under the so-called "Public Accommodations"

The above list was officially certified last Tuesday and sent to Ralph Havenhill in Big Lake, District Little League representative. He will then forward a copy to Williamsport, Pa., national Little League headquarters.

The Yankees replaced the Cardinals as reigning champions of Rankin Little League. This was the first time for the Cardinals to finish out of first place in several seasons.

Final standings find the Yanks with a 12-4 record; the Cardinals at 10-7; the Giants with a 6-11 mark; and the Dodgers at 5-11. No make-up games were played in the League since their outcome would not have effected the actual positions of the leading Yankees in the standings.

Pony League Plans Still Indefinite --

Baseball Playoffs Slated; Rankin to Host Games

Rankin will host all playoffs this year in both Little League and Pony League Baseball. Don Leach is to be tournament director.

Tentative plans call for Pony League action to get underway here at 8:00 p.m. Monday night, July 13. Eight teams are eligible for competition in the tournament which will select a winner to represent this area in further competition in Monahans in August. Teams eligible for play will be from Upton County, Crane, Big Lake, Alpine and possibly other towns. Final arrangements could not be made until Wednesday night, July 9, too late for authentic publication in this issue of The News.

Little League playoff plans were more definite. The first game is to be played at Rankin Little League Baseball park on Thursday night, July 23. In this encounter, Rankin's All-Stars are to play the Reagan County All-Stars.

On Friday night, July 24, the Midkiff All-Stars will take on the winner of the Rankin-Reagan game. Winner of the Friday night game will then advance to further playoffs on an Area level. In these games, the winner of the Rankin, Midkiff, Big Lake tournament will meet the winner of the Crane-Pecos playoff. The game will be played on the home field of the Rankin-Midkiff-Big Lake team.

No charge for admission will be made to these games and the public is invited to attend. However, the hat will be passed and donations which go toward financing the summer baseball programs will be appreciated.

As the regular season draws to a close, those in charge of the summer baseball program have extended a word of thanks and appreciation to the umpires who have worked the games. "These boys have all worked very hard and we do appreciate very much their fine efforts," said a spokesman for the teams.

After Two-Game Slump --

Rankin Go-Team Wins Clincher for Title

After faltering in the stretch and dropping two games, the Rankin Go-Team came from behind last Tuesday night to win the Pony League.

Their troubles began in McCamey in a game with the Orioles when pitcher Terry Gray took a foul ball off the bat of a teammate as he stood in the on-deck circle. The lick knocked him out and he was brought back to Rankin and had a three-day stay in the hospital. He has since fully recovered without any damages. In their next loss, they fell prey to the Iran Pirates.

In their Tuesday game, again with the McCamey Orioles, in Rankin this time, they spotted the visitors five runs before getting the range that sparked a rally and winning 7-5. They still have one more game, with the McCamey Braves Thursday in McCamey but its outcome will not alter the standings.

Rep. Foreman Lists Results of Poll Taken In District

Rep. Ed Foreman, Republican of the 16th Congressional District, recently read before the U. S. House of Representatives the results of a public opinion questionnaire he had circulated in West Texas. The questions were sent out in a special mailing by the Congressman and were also carried in newspapers all over the district.

Foreman said that over 35,000 answers have already been received and that almost 10,000 of them had additional comments attached.

"Answers came from every single community and all of the 19 counties in my District— from people of all walks of life— from Democrats, Republicans and Independents alike," Foreman told the legislators. "Because of this diversified and widespread response, I believe that this poll is a reasonably accurate expression of public opinion," he said.

Results as listed by the Congressman were as follows:

1. Should the United States Government guarantee credit for the Soviet Union's purchase of wheat or other commodities?

THE TRIP—

In making a jaunt around the country, one can get many different impressions.

First, you will likely discover that you and your automobile are not in as good a shape as you had thought. Then you will soon find that there are literally hundreds of hamburger, super-dog and malt stands and precious few cafes. You finally find a suitable looking cafe—always on the other side of the super highway—and after risking your neck and a traffic ticket you get across to the thing and enter.

It's a real nice place and they have a lady meet you at the door to escort you to the only available table. Before you can get arranged in your seat, they are pouring water slightly over you and forcing a menu into our hands. Then all the help cuts out.

You spend about thirty minutes studying a menu that lists two major items—steak and fried chicken. Why everyone who operates a cafe thinks his customers only eat steak and fried chicken is beyond me. Steaks come in assorted prices starting at about two dollars and run up to "quick, George, get the mop—another one's fainted."

Finally, down in the corner of the 18x24 menu, you find the one item that fits your taste—chicken livers. And also, finally, someone appears to take your order and inform you that they are out of chicken livers. So what do you eat: chicken-fried steak—just like they knew you would when you came in the door. In fact, it may taste a little like they were expecting you the day before you arrived.

It's getting dogged hard to find a good bowl of chili and beans for 35 cents anymore.

And, if it's any consolation to you, it's dry everywhere—even in Colorado when you get below the 10,000 foot level. Rangers in the southern part of the state say it's the driest it has been in 10 years. Many trees—weak-ahead and annex it to Texas. We could plow up New Mexico and make a by-pass around Lubbock. That's about all that state is good for anyway.

Colorado has apparently learned that it doesn't pay to milk the tourists. Prices were rather reasonable in most places and accommodations were more than plentiful. Not so in New Mexico. If you plan going through that state, I suggest that you fill up with gas on the Texas side of the line, pack a lunch and plenty of water and high-ball it across that place without stopping. I especially warn you not to get caught in Santa Fe. Billy the Kid may be burned at Ft. Sumner but he has plenty of kinfolk still around in Santa Fe.

For the fishermen, I will report and suggest that you take plenty of canned salmon if you want fish to eat. You would be embarrassed if anyone caught you eating those minnows that can be taken in their fishing holes.

But the scenery is wonderful. And, at night, its cool.

IT'S THE LAW—

We now have a new Civil Rights law. Whether it is good or bad I don't know. It is, however, a law. It was properly passed by the Congress. You may or may not like it, but it should be obeyed just as any other law. If enough people disapprove of the new law, they can, if willing to work, get it changed.

I do not think it will ever be changed. I do think efforts will be made very soon to add still more regulations—particularly in job practices. The next obvious

Jerry McDonald in Tryout for NY Mets

Jerry McDonald, a graduate of Rankin High School last May, who has been playing baseball in Rankin for a good many years, returned this week from three weeks at the Big State Baseball Camp in Dallas and a three-day try-out camp for the New York Mets in Rockdale. The Mets showed considerable interest in McDonald as a catcher but suggested that he get a couple of years more baseball under his belt. They signed one of the boys at the try-outs for $50,000.

McDonald said that he learned many pointers on how to play baseball at the Big State Baseball Camp and said that a n y boy really interested in learning the game properly would find the camp most worthwhile. He pointed out, however, that it's not an outing—boys were kept on the go almost all the three weeks and supervision was very strict.

The Big State Baseball Camp is operated by competent baseball men for youths from 8 to 20. A Little League, Pony League and an older league are in operation. Charges for attendance are made.

In the major league try-outs, he found that it's every player for himself and those who do not show enough desire, hustle and ability are promptly dismissed. McDonald managed to stay on the full three days and was cut only before the final practice.

McDonald said that he would be glad to pass along any information about the camp, the try-outs and the pointers learned to anyone interested in baseball.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

Community Survey can chart the road to community development

Community development is one of the fastest growing activities in America today. Many communities, both large and small, are attacking the problems with new vigor and vitality.

While there is no easy road to success, no simple formula to follow, one thing is certain . . . a community must start with a thoughtfully planned and soundly developed Community Survey. It assesses and evaluates both favorable and unfavorable economic and civic factors which affect community growth, and discloses factors which can be used to solicit new business and industry.

To be fully effective it must be a continuing study, since conditions change as economic handicaps are eliminated and economic advantages multiply. The survey has the added value of helping to clarify a community's aims and objectives in the field of improvement, growth and development.

Such a community survey then becomes the PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

WTU's area development representatives will assist growth-conscious communities in planning a continuing community survey for economic development. This service is available on request through your WTU local manager.

LETTERS To The Editor

Mr. J. B. Hutchens
"Rankin News"
Rankin, Texas

Dear Mr. Hutchens:

The UPI reported on June 21 that Texas editors and publishers meeting in Houston, passed a resolution expressing "United admiration and support of Lyndon B. Johnson." The appropriatness of resolving "united admiration and support" by the journalism fraternity, I shall leave to your professional ethics. On the wisdom of such endorsement I shall have to comment.

On January 15, 1964, President Johnson said, "We are going to take all the money that we think is unnecessarily being spent and take it from the 'haves' and give it to the 'have nots' that need it so much." Many years ago, Karl Marx stated the communist law, "From each according to his ability, to each according to his need." Surely if I (a dentist) can see the parallel of these statements, the good newspaper editors and publishers of Texas can also see they amount to almost identical statements.

I trust that you, sir, and other members of the Texas Press Association are not so taken by state loyalty to the president from Texas as to disregard your responsibilities to your profession and the public. Let us have some objectivity in reporting of the news.

Sincerely,

John G. Whinery, D.D.S.

ED— I appreciate anyone who take the time and goes to the expense that you have (I suspect that you sent this same letter to almost every Texas newspaper) to express his opinions. I do feel that the Texas Press Association should lend their support to the President—be he from Texas or Alaska. I, personally doubt that there is any "united admiration" for LBJ, either among newspaper editors or the public in Texas. As for his statement about taking from the 'haves' to give to the 'have nots', I wouldn't lose too much sleep over that one if I were you. We in Texas have long known LBJ to be a first-rate politician—one that will say anything to win a vote or two. It doesn't make much sense to believe that a fellow who has 9 million bucks, as President Johnson is reported to have, is going to be up in front of any "share-the-wealth program". You can take a look at his wife's farm property in Georgia and see just how far Lyndon will really go toward sharing.

As for warning the public of the dangers of socialism, this has been done over and over. Trends in the last thirty years have shown that they will vote for the politician who promises them the most. Lyndon B. knows this and I don't look for any change in his actions nor the public's method of selecting our leadership.

The Rankin (Tex) News
Thursday, July 9, 1964

When hardly more than of the qualified voters go to polls and vote, you cannot expect men who represent a majority thus the big appeal to groups by politicians.

Danger Told in Use Of Insecticides

Insecticides for use around the home come in many different formulations, each with specific uses and better suited for certain jobs than other, says Dub Day, county agent.

Insecticides may be used in several different ways, depending on the type of job to be done.
Some of the more popular ways to use insecticides are as dusts, wetable powders, soluble powders, emulsifiable concentrates, oil solutions, granulated materials and aerosols and spray bombs.

Special types of insecticide formulations may include baits, insecticide-fertilizer mixtures, insecticide-herbicide mixtures and mothproofing agents, says Dub.

The county agent emphasizes that directions for use of all in-secticides be followed closely.

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully
