Forty-Three Make Trip to Assist in Sanderson Clean-Up

In the clean-up volunteer group that made the trip to Sanderson on June 25, Sheriff Gene Eckols reports that there were 29 from Rankin and fourteen from McCamey for a total of 43 workers who donated a days work toward cleaning up the flood-ravaged city on the border. Sanderson was hit hard by a flash flood on June 11. As late as July 1 there was still much work to be done with demolished buildings still visible in the flooded part of town. Much of the railroad and highway was damaged for an estimated 10 miles in the area.

Eckols said that county officials in Sanderson who were in charge of the clean-up were very well pleased with the work turned in by the Upton County group and expressed the belief that they was the most effective group that had assisted in the work. Groups for almost all the counties in this area have gone down to help out.

Eckols also expressed appreciation to Rankin Schools for supplying a bus for transporting the volunteers. He said that it made their trip much easier and was more convenient.

Sanderson officials have said that they will more fully express their appreciation to the volunteers and to Upton County at a later date.

District 4 Little League members met recently in Big Lake to set up their All-Star playoffs. All teams were represented.

Plant Specialist here Tuesday, July 13th For Three Meetings

County Agent Dub Day announced this week that a noted plant pathologist and specialist on plant life and plant diseases will be in this area Tuesday, July 13 for a series of meetings. From the Extension service, the specialist will discuss the various diseases that are to be found in plant life in this area and what steps can be taken against the diseases.

The first meeting will be held at 9:00 a.m. in the El Paso Community Hall in Midkiff. Then, at 1:00 p.m. the consultant will be at the county agent's office in the courthouse in Rankin. For a McCamey meeting, the time will be at 3:00 p.m.

Anyone having questions they would like answered may contact Day or make any or all of the three meetings. There is no charge for the service.

To Charge $1 per Tree --

It's War-Say City Dads as Bug Takes to Trees

At least a "limited" war has been declared on the Elm Tree Beetles in Rankin. The little spotted bug and their wormy off-springs have been playing havoc with elm tree leaves in Rankin for the past four years. This week the City Council announced that city workers would join in on the fight to control the pests.

A spraying program will be put into effect at once. For the sum of $1 per tree, the City will do the spraying and furnish the chemicals. This compares with about $2.50 to $3.00 per tree charged by out-of-town spraying crews that have worked in Rankin in the past.

All charges must be paid at the City Hall in advance before the work will be performed. All that is necessary for the homeowner to do is to go to city hall, make his payment and the work will be performed as soon as possible.

Chemicals used are not harmful to trees, shrubs or gardens and have no ill effects on people or pets.

All property owners who have not sprayed their trees are urged to take part in the program. The wider the participation, the better the results. The Elm Beetle, according to County Agent Dub Day, can be controlled effectively. Spraying is one phase of the control. Further details pertaining to winter control procedures will be published at a later date.

"Elm trees are worth saving," a number of people have said. As has been pointed out, they are one of the few trees that will try to live in this area—most try to die. Old timers will tell you that Rankin, presently well covered with nice shade trees, was not a very pleasant place in which to live some thirty years ago when the only trees were mesquite bushes.

Save the trees. They are worth the effort.

driver's license. Rankin School does not require that the student try for his state operator's license. The school does, however, give a half credit toward graduation upon the student satisfactorily completing the classroom phase, the behind the wheel phase, and the observation.
Mike Hughes taught the classroom work from 4:15 until 5:45 last April 12 through May 14. Mr. Melvin Wimberley is doing the driving instruction which is expected to be completed by July

VACATIONING—

There's no getting around it—they just don't make vacations like they used to. For one thing there's so doggone many tourists on the road they clutter up the place sightseeing. You can drive all the way up in Colorado and all you see is a bunch of Texans out rubbernecking. It's almost enough to make a person come to the conclusion that somebody goofed when they said that five percent of the citizenry is unemployed. Heck, I've about decided that 25 percent have nothing better to do than run around all over the country.

But this year we didn't go to the out-of-state mountains. We stayed right here in Texas. Fact is Lyndon and us were down at the lake one week-end. I noticed Lyndon's name in almost all the papers but never did see mine. I understand how it is though. In the newspaper business you can't always get in everybody's name. While on vacation, I tried to help out a little on Lyndon's poverty program by spending a bit of money. It didn't work out too good however, for before I got back home, I had to stop and sign up for a little relief to make it on in.

Actually, we would have been in pretty good shape financially for the trip had not one of the relatives done an outstanding job of second-guessing. You see, I never announce our vacation route in advance and that way we can pop in on various relatives without their getting wind of our coming and suddenly remembering that they themselves hadn't visited old aunt Bess in quite a few years and skipping out of town. But it's not too one-sided. I like to give them all a fighting chance and since most get the News, I always try to announce our departure ahead of time. I can just see the clan around vacation time every year as they pack up and scout about for a safe place to hide.

I guess looking at it one way you could say that I contribute more toward getting folk to get out and travel about a bit than all these fancy vacation posters time to time. Why, to Castro, he would as a disguise when...

...regular relative, however, went to a bit of extrem it seems to me. She took off for the hospital to have an operation. It seems that the operation was not to be performed for almost a week but she wanted to be there when they got ready I guess.

And their timing was excellent. They got away exactly five minutes before we drove up. Sorta makes you wonder . . . when you get that close and they still get away, you just must not be living right.

DO AND DON'TS—

Ever notice how many things you shouldn't do anymore? One shouldn't smoke—it's bad for the health. Don't park here. Don't cheat on income tax. Don't drive if you drink. Don't drive fast. Don't disagree with Lyndon. Don't be late. Don't be early. Don't miss any payments. Don't forget to write. Don't try it without a license. Don't fish here. Don't hunt here. Don't camp here and on and on—world without end.

The main trouble nowadays is that nobody wants to do the things that we're still permitted to do.

SUDDEN THOUGHT—

It could be a short summer at that. School starts next month.

SIDE CHANGER—

"Aw, you've gone soft on Lyndon." That comment has been made to me more than once of late, especially since this column has had a few favorable comments for the President and his foreign policies.

Well, it could be. After all when you consider that LBJ has to try to keep ahead of three womenfolk in his family—plus putting up with Mousie Tongue and whoever is running Russia, you'll have to admit . . . he has his problems.

Even more and in a serious vein, I fear that like it or not we've got our hook hung in Asia and that although we may stall it off for some time, the day is out before us when we're going to have to meet Red China head on. Those of you who have been readers of this column for any length of time recall that this forecast carries back some several years and nothing on the hori-zone disproves that line of thinking. On the contrary, I can not see how the Reds can back out now and it's a certainty that we won't. It seems to me that the situation is far more serious than most of us are willing to admit.

Or it may be that we've lived on the brink so long we've sorta set up housekeeping in that position.

In any case, it would seem to be a poor time for all these folk to be running about the country condemning the United States and our efforts and taking the President to task. I don't think he's any more anxious to make a mistake in world affairs than are all the moaners who say that that is what he has done. One thing for sure, up to here he has kept us out of the real thing.

Now as for next election time—that's when season opens according to my calendar.

Time To Face Facts

Texas Per Capita Income As A Percentage of National Average

Source: Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

Texas' so-called "right to work" law, the incomes of people have fallen way behind the rest of the nation because most Texans have not had the right to bargain for better wages, we have always been behind but things have actually gotten much worse when the so-called right to work law was passed. One of the few states to have enacted this unfortunate law.

As to the leadership of our Texan President, Lyndon, we now have a chance to put the family wage of Texas back on an even basis with people throughout the nation. President Johnson has asked Congress to approve labor legislation repealing the section of the Taft-Hartley law that has done so much to lower the average income of millions of Texans. This section is called 14-B. President Johnson know that Texans stand behind him in a program to help the wage earners of Texas. Write your Congressman today and ask him to support the President's program to repeal section 14-B of Taft-Hartley. You'll be helping the economy of Texas and helping your children grow up in a state with greater opportunity for all in the future.

A recent survey in one large store showed the following break, down of varieties:

Eighty-five different cuts of meat or poultry . . . not including cold cuts and seafood.

Seventy varieties of canned vegetables.

Nine different varieties of canned green beans—plus an assortment of fresh and frozen packs.

Some 262 different combinations of can sizes, brands and varieties in vegetables.

Research went to work to help provide many of these varieties. For example, the demand for stringless beans led to the development of new bean plants. They are called "snap" instead of string beans.

New methods in packaging and marketing also has offered many more attractive consumer choices. Instant and convenience foods give homemakers more alternatives in their food marketing, too.

Calorie Count Down

Count on fresh grapefruit for year 'round enjoyment. It's low in calories, high in refreshment and important body building nutrients.

Throughout the year and the day, grapefruit is a most refreshing and versatile fruit. For meals, for snacks, for old and for young, fresh grapefruit offers light, delightful eating. Weight watchers look to fresh grapefruit as a treat. One half medium grapefruit contains only 40 calories. And, when counting calories, it's important to make each calorie count. One half grapefruit contains an excellent supply of Vitamin C as well as valuable combinations of other important nutrients including calcium, phosphorus and manganese.

Even if weight reduction is not a problem, you still win so much with fresh grapefruit on the menu. Feature fresh grapefruit in a variety of ways—as appetizers, salads and desserts. Fresh grapefruit combines with and complements most any food.

With hot, sticky weather on hand, put out the welcome mat for grapefruit. To stay slim and trim and cool and refreshed, serve fresh grapefruit often.

Donations Overflow in Screwworm Fight

Farmers and ranchers in the Southwestern United States contributed more than $600,000 to the screwworm eradication program, twice the amount that had been requested. This brings their total financial support to the project to nearly $4 million.

Completion of the fund drive was announced recently by the board of trustees of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation at a meeting held in McAllen in conjunction with the visits of Secretary Freeman and Gil Preciado. The Foundation had sought to raise $300,000 this spring to help finance the program to July 1.

Total collections amounted to $620,276, and funds are still coming in. Of this, $565,000 was raised in Texas, $45,000 in Oklahoma, and $9,800 in New Mexico. In addition, contributions were reported from Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Kansas and Indiana.

Dolph Briscoe, Jr., SWAHRF president, praised the livestock industry for its support. He particularly lauded the efforts of the chairman and members of the screwworm eradication committee.
