

The stock sales for the financing of a recreation center for Friona reached $13,000 on Monday of this week. Officials are shooting for a $40,000 goal. It appears that the group will be able to use the old Friona Lanes location, it has been disclosed.

Betty Louise Rector, secretary-treasurer of the fundraising drive, said this week she wished to point out a few things which people have mistaken ideas about concerning the drive.

"We're not asking for donations," Mrs. Rector pointed out. "We're selling stock. Everyone who takes part will be a stockholder according to the amount he wants to buy. We'll have a corporation, run by a board of directors," she points out.

"While it's stock, we're not brash enough to intimate it will pay dividends right away. It might be some time," Mrs. Rector continued.

The fund drive represented continued by pointing out that some people were hesitant to buy stock, having had a recent bad experience along this line.

"I would point out that this project is organized by Friona people, as a means of helping the community of Friona. It is not by outsiders who you don't know," she said.

"To my knowledge, this is the first time that an organized drive has been carried out to help bring recreation to Friona. A lot of talk has been heard about the subject, but this is the first time an actual drive has been held."

Mrs. Rector pointed out that accurate records of stock purchases are being kept, and in the event that the drive fails to reach its required total, all money will be refunded. "However, we don't plan on failing," she quickly adds.

Unlike the teen center which operated last year, the proposed recreation facility will have adult directors. There will be no annual dues.

A contest is being conducted among the teams selling stock in the new venture. The winning team will get to participate in the facilities for one week free of charge.

The Star hopes that those interested in having recreation facilities in Friona will open up their wallets and support the fund drive, so that it can go "over the top" as soon as possible.

It would be best if the new bowling facilities can be installed before bowlers get entrenched in league bowling in another city.

The city of Friona basked in summer-like weather the first of this week, and while the thermometer registered a balmy 75 Monday afternoon in the midst of a fine day, banker Charles Allen recalled a January 30 exactly 20 years earlier which was not as nice.

"I had just bought me a new Chevrolet sports coupe, and was getting it out of the shop that day. It turned out to be the worst dust storm I've seen in Friona since World War II," Allen said.

"Although I didn't have far to drive, I'll never forget that bad sand storm," he added.

Fellow we know says to expect that worst spell of winter "just after all the fruit trees have bloomed."

Bill Wooley says he may have to resort to Indian-style rain dances to help entice an end to the drought. "When things are this dry, you have to get everything going for you that you can," he says.

And speaking of things that happened 20 years ago reminds us that we're getting our files ready to be micro-filmed, and for some reason or other, the Friona Star file for 1947 was lost, misplaced, or loaned out somewhere during the past 20 years.

Like we did for other missing issues which we needed to complete our files, we're prepared to offer $1 for each ANY issue published in 1947 which we can use for filming purposes.

We also need some papers for January and February of 1949, and a few scattered dates in following years. If you run across an old issue, be sure and call us before you destroy it. It might be valuable to both you and ourselves.

AT PORTALES

Area's Biggest Water Meeting Set Saturday

Water users in 10 Southwestern states will gather in Portales, New Mexico Saturday, February 4, for the largest water planning meeting in the history of the area.

The Southwest Water Resources Symposium, which will convene at 9 o'clock, Mountain Time (10 a.m. CST) on February 4, in the Physical Education Complex on the campus of Eastern New Mexico University, will be a down-to-earth approach to water planning.

In addition to feature addresses by some of the leading governmental and educational figures of the area, it will include panel discussions with participation by outstanding water experts.

The speakers include Floyd E. Dornay, Commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation; the Hon. Joseph Montoya, United States Senator from New Mexico; Dr. Grover Murry, president of Texas Technological College; and the Hon. David Cargo, Governor of New Mexico.

Water conservation district executives from five states will participate in a panel session on "Water Needs and Availability in the Southwest," while the nation's leading water consultants and heads of water resources authorities will discuss "Regional and Continental Water Projects Under Construction and Planned for the Future."

Reservations for the symposium can be obtained by writing to Southwest Water Resources Symposium, Post Office Box 389, Portales, New Mexico, 88130. The registration fee is $2.00. Tickets for the luncheon at $1.75 and for the dinner at $2.25 will be available on arrival in Portales.

"We sincerely believe that our Southwest Water Resources Symposium will be productive to all water users, agricultural, commercial and industrial, throughout the Southwest. The symposium is the result of the concern about the water future which dominates most conversations these days and the cooperation we have received from the experts that we have asked to attend assures all participants of a useful meeting," Ted Ford of Portales, chairman of the planning committee said.

Among the congressional leaders who have been asked to participate in panel discussions are the Hon. Frank Moss, United States Senator from Utah; the Hon. George Mahon, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee; the Hon. John Rhodes, congressman from Arizona; and the two new Mexico members of the House of Representatives, Thomas G. Morris and E.S. "Johnny" Walker.

Mothers March Is Conducted

Friona's March of Dimes drive for 1967 was kicked off on Monday of this week when the Friona Jayceettes held their "Mother's March," and collected $151.97 for the drive.

Club members took part 100 percent of the drive. Those working were Mrs. Robert Zetzsche, Mrs. Max Field, Mrs. Gerald Shavor, Mrs. Eune Martin and Mrs. Calvin Dozier.

Other projects will be held in the near future. No goal is set for the city. Bill Ellis is chairman of the Friona MOD drive.

Banquet In Appeal For Youth Support

Mary Kaye Everitt, manager of Friona's Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, expressed disappointment this week that there had been no better response from the youngsters of the Friona area on the purchase of tickets for the entertainment portion of the Chamber of Commerce fete February 9.

The special tickets are on sale for $2. This will admit holders of tickets to the entertainment part of the banquet, which will feature the Brooks Sisters of television fame.

"We especially secured the Brooks Sisters so as to have something we thought the kids would enjoy. We hope that they (and their parents) will yet show their appreciation by purchasing the special $2 tickets," Mrs. Everitt said.

David McFarland, freshman student at Friona High School, is in charge of these tickets sales, and anyone wishing to purchase them may contact him or the chamber office.

Mrs. Everitt explained that while the $2 tickets will be available at the door, it was hoped that a good advance sale could be made.

Whirlettes Shock Squaws -- Again

Don't ask Coach Mel Williams, coach of the Friona Squaws, if he believes in the saying the "Third time is charmed." He might be prone to get upset.

For the third time this season, the Squaws met Floydada's Whirlettes, this time in the friendly confines of their own gymnasium; but for the third time this season, Floydada came out on the long end of the score.

However, the Squaws extended Floydada two overtimes before bowing, 55-54 in a thrill-packed game here Tuesday.

Floydada's improving boys team then sped past the Chiefs, 84-71, in what must rank as the top game of the season for both teams.

The girls' battle was everything fans expected -- and more. Friona enjoyed comfortable leads in the first half, but saw this vanish under a torrid Floydada rally.

At one point in the second quarter, it was 29-16, Friona, with less than two minutes to the buzzer sounded, Floydada had scored seven points to Friona's one and trimmed the lead at halftime to 30-23.

The Whirlettes then proceeded to trim the margin to 30-27 in the third quarter before Friona could score. The Squaws met the challenge and upped their advantage to seven points, 40-33, going into the final quarter.

The hot-handed visitors burned the nets in the last regular quarter, and enjoyed two-point leads during the last four minutes. Cindy Ingram's two free shots with 28 seconds left enabled the Squaws to send the game into overtime, and two more by the same player ended it at 53-all with 1:20 left in the first overtime.

Floydada, which had stalled most of the last minute of regulation play without getting the shot it wanted, stalled out the last 1:20 of the first overtime but never did get a shot away.

In the second overtime, Sallie McIntosh, who scored 30 points for the Whirlettes, sank two free shots for a 55-54 lead, and Friona missed numerous chances to regain the lead in the last two minutes. Floydada used delaying tactics during this time as well, but the Friona guards did a good job of breaking it up and forcing mistakes.

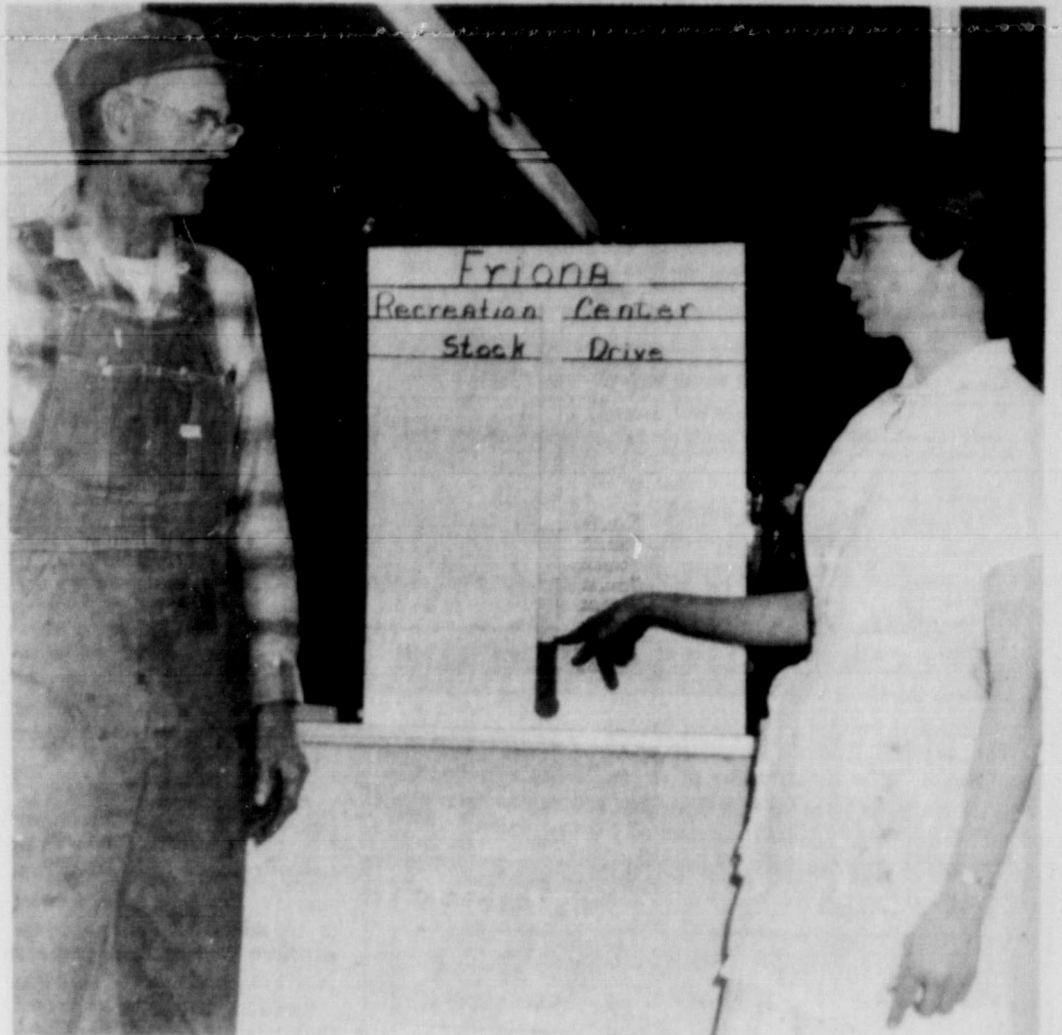

Floydada assumes the district lead. If they win the second half championship outright, a one-game playoff with Friona would result.

The Chiefs played what Coach Cecil Mattox described their "best game of the season" and still came out 13 points to the worse. The point total was Friona's most of the year. Bob Jordan, who fouled out with 4:31 left in the game, scored 32 points in a losing cause.

The Chiefs also got a good start, leading by 10, 19-9 with less than two minutes to play in the opening quarter. Floydada caught fire to trim the margin to five, 22-17.

The Whirlettes continued their hot streak to take a 42-39 lead to intermission, and although the Chiefs hung doggedly in the game most of the third quarter, the Whirlettes were simply too hot to handle.

Friona was hurt in that Jordan got his fourth foul early in the second half, and had to slow down a bit. Another starter, Tony Perera, also sat

Statistics Show Library's Growth

Figures released this week by the Friona Public Library illustrate graphically the library's growth in its three and one-half years, and point up its need for expanded facilities.

The library has grown from no books on June 15, 1963 to 690 books at the end of its first year; 1244 after two years, 1924 after three and 2333 books at present.

In addition to the owned books, the library has always had loaned books. There are 285 books on permanent loan, and an additional 102 on annual loan. From the Bookmobile, there are presently 13 books on loan. Another 150 is loaned during the summer.

The value of the library's owned books, at an average of $2 per book, comes to $4666. Library facilities have grown from practically nothing to begin with to seven bookcases, three catalogue files and a desk, all valued at an estimated $500. There is currently no room for additional expansion.

At the present time, all paper back books have been pulled and stored in boxes to allow room for bound books. Although money is currently available for books, additional purchasing has been stopped due to lack of shelf space.

The use of the library has increased in proportion to its growth.

During the second year, a total of 2520 books were checked out. This increased to 4159 books the third year and an estimated 5600 for the fourth year.

Library reading is stimulated through five channels: the summer reading program, the story hour, visits by classes from school, invitations to teachers to come and see what is available for them and their students and publicity channels.

The summer reading program has grown from 90 registrants the first year to 154 the third. The story hour has grown from a handful to a total of 91 registrants by December 1, 1966. Visits by school classes grew from five the second year to 15 this current year.

This year, visits were made in the fall to increase school year reading. The library logged a total of 72 new readers in November and December.

The library was kept open six hours in the summer and three in the fall during its first two years. This increased to nine hours in summer and six in the fall the third year, and to 18 hours in summer and nine in the fall this year.

Officials point out that library usage cannot be extended beyond 18 hours per week due to the club house's busy rental schedule.

All volunteer help guided the library's first three years, with an average of 1000 to 2000 hours annually by the clubwomen and 39 to 432 hours by high school girls.

During the fourth year, thanks to a $500 grant from the City Council, a summer librarian was hired, and now a regular librarian, Mrs. Zora Gaede. The story hour and much other work is still done by volunteers, it is pointed out.

Students Do Well In Literary Tournament

Friona High School students did well in the Midland Speech Tournament last weekend at Midland.

Two students reached the finals in speech division. They were Crista Evans in poetry reading and Shirley White in informative speaking.

Semi-finalists included these two students, as well as Jerry Stephens and Belinda Mabry in prose reading; Kara Sides in informative speaking, Terri Lynn Wilson in persuasive speaking.

In the debate division, the boys team of Jim Bob Jones and Mac Hancock compiled a 3-1 record, lacking 16 speaker points getting to the quarter-finals.

Other debaters had the following records: Becky Coffey and Terri Cummings, 2-2; David Smith and Gary Shirley, 0-4 and Susie Carmichael and Ann Ayers, 0-4.

Friona was one of only two classes AA schools competing. The remainder of the 23 schools entering were class AAA and AAAA.

Other participants in the speech division were Larry Truitt, Donna Patterson, Vickie Vaughn, Tommy Mars, Norman Mohr, Mike Reznik, Bennie Hannold, Isidore Cordova, and Leslie Jarecki.

OUR READERS Write

Mr. Bill Ellis, Editor
Friona Star,
Friona, Texas

Dear Editor:

We would like to express our appreciation for the courtesy extended us and members of our eighth grade basketball team who participated in the tournament in your city last weekend. Your junior high principal, Tom Jarboe, was a most gracious host. The fans were very courteous, the officials did an outstanding job calling the games and the coaches and team members were very good sports.

Our visits in your town was a very enjoyable one and we cordially invite you and your fellow townspeople to come to Morton any time it is convenient.

James McClure for the Morton fans

Dear Bill:

By a coincidence, I lucked on to the Friona Star, dated Jan. 19, and read your account of the basketball games played here in Dimmitt between your basketball teams and ours.

Reading your account of the games left me with a nice warm glow; you praised our Bobcats for winning and you gave our bobbies credit for hustle where you could, so for that I say "thank you."

However, this letter is really another "Dear Bill" letter (as the one I see on your Page 2 this week.) Although I don't know you, Bill, nor do I know Joy Morton, the letter to you entitled "Where Have the Sports Fans Gone" makes me bow my head in shame -- for I, too have booed the officials and in general have been a bad sport. I have for many years considered myself a sport fan, even before I became the proud owner of one Dimmitt Bobcat and one Dimmitt Bobbie. I have always enjoyed the games, and I plan to continue to enjoy the pleasure of attending Dimmitt games a long time after my Bobcat and Bobbie have graduated.

However, after reading Joy's letter I realize that I have often been a "boo-er," and not a fan, and since she has brought that to my attention I plan on trying real hard to cheer for my team when cheering is in order and bite my tongue when I feel an official has a bet on the other team

. . . . So, to Joy Morton, -- thank you. If she had written criticizing the Dimmitt fans, I probably would have jumped to the defense and wrote a rebuttal letter. Bu instead, her letter made me think, and has caused me to want to work at being a fan and not a "boo-er."

Jean Byrnes
Dimmitt

Editor's note:

Thank you, Mrs. Byrnes, for your kind remarks. I believe that Joy's letter made a lot of us do some thinking. In thinking back to the Dimmitt game, I probably was one of the fans who did a "fainting" act when a call went against Friona. But, like yourself, I've made a belated new year's resolution to try to be a better example for the young fans and players in our town.

Dear Sir:

We very much enjoy reading the Friona Star even though we have been away from Friona 15 years. The many pictures are especially appreciated as we still have some relatives and friends there.

Enclosed is our renewal for 2 years.

Yours truly,
Mrs. H.A. Poindexter

Dear Editor:

Spending some time in Friona the past week end was a very pleasant experience for me, as well as for members of my eighth grade basketball team and some of their parents. Since we played two games Saturday and the distance between Friona and Morton made going home between games impractical, a number of us spent most of the day looking over the city and visiting with Friona residents.

Before the day was over many of our group were commenting on the friendliness of Frionans. Of course, I have known for several years some of the most friendly people anywhere live there, so their courtesy and helpfulness did not come as a surprise to me.

I have also learned that most residents of Morton are just as friendly so when any of you have an occasion to be here, be sure and stop and visit with us. I would like to extend my personal thanks to everyone who made our "long day" so pleasant for my boys and their parents.

Sincerely,
Robert Taylor

Pause And Reflect

by Nelson Lewis

Sometimes we Americans are funny people. I don't mean "Ha Ha" funny. I mean pitifully funny. We spend millions of dollars a year on detergents, tooth-pastes, soaps, lotions, mouth washes, and deodorants; not to mention a few trainloads of tissue paper products of various shapes and sizes.

How do we know we need all of these sanitizing goodies? Now that we have found a direct route to the "spice islands," why bother to spend a big part of our income on all these things to keep us clean?

Does your best friend have to stand in front of a mirror and practice how to break the news that you are an offense to society in general? Of course not!

We know that we become soiled, even dirty, in the course of the days work. Then why can't our authorities tell when magazines, books, pictures and movies are dirty.

Why do we need panels of "experts" to control what goes into our children's minds? Remember, most of our knowledge is gained through the sense of sight. How about a good dunking of (some) greedy minded publishers into some of that detergent?

Lockney Nips Chiefs For First 3-AA Win

It was bound to come someday, and the Lockney Longhorns finally won a district basketball game, and they did it at the expense of the Friona Chieftains, practically knocking the Chiefs out of the District 3-AA title picture.

It also marked the first time that Lockney has scored a victory of any kind over Friona since the two schools have been together in district play the past three years.

Lockney won, 52-48, in a game played last Friday at Lockney. The FHS Squaws gained a split in the night's twinball, downing Lockney 59-44.

The boy's game was nip and tuck almost all the way. Ray Lynn Murphree's jump shot gave Friona a 12-12 tie at the quarter mark.

Lockney took an eight-point lead in the second quarter at 27-19, but Murphree's jumper cut that margin at halftime to 27-23.

The Longhorns pulled into a ten-point lead at 37-27 late in the third quarter, but baskets by Eddie Wood and Tony Peera cut the margin to 37-31.

Lockney, tasting their first district win after nine losses, was not to be denied. They kept a comfortable lead most of the last quarter, Friona never getting closer than three points.

The Squaws also had a relatively close game from the Longhornettes, whose only district win has been over Memphis. Hazel Fallwell's free shot gave Friona a 14-13 lead after one quarter.

Lockney took two-point leads in the second quarter, but jump shots by Miss Fallwell tied the score each time, and she scored the last six points of the half for Friona to give her team a

BAGWORM CONTROL

One of the most economical and efficient means of controlling bagworms is by removing the bags from the trees during the winter months and destroying them. Hand pick and burn the bags.

Bagworms belong to the order Lepidoptera -- moths and butterflies. The male larvae pupate and emerge from their tapered brown bags usually during late August. The female also undergoes pupation, but being legless and wingless, she remains inside her skin. After mating, the females then fall to the ground and die. The bag containing the eggs remain on the tree until the following spring.

If the bags are destroyed, the life cycle is broken. If not, the eggs hatch into tiny worms which begin feeding greedily on the surrounding foliage.

late. A silken case is soon spun about the developing larvae with the front end being left open so that the larvae may extend a portion of its body from the bag to crawl about in search of foliage. Pieces of bark and foliage are soon attached to the case for re-enforcement and camouflage.

These destructive pests prefer evergreens, but often attack deciduous shrubs and trees. Aside from destroying the overwintering stage (the eggs in their silken bags) they can be controlled with several insecticides if applications are made while the larvae are quite small. As soon as the larvae become fairly large, they are extremely hard to kill and heavy infestations will remove the foliage and bark from all or parts of a tree or shrub; at times resulting in the death of the plant.

Additional information on the control of this insect may be obtained from L-199, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants, available from the county agricultural agent's office in Farwell.

With this year's drouth-stricken pastures, cattlemen may begin noticing signs of vitamin A deficiency in their herds, says County Agricultural Agent, Ronny McNutt.

Vitamin A deficiency in the early stages is characterized by night blindness. In later stages, cattle become less alert and lose their appetites. Watery eyes, swelling at the joints, rapid breathing and staggering are some more symptoms.

Many cattlemen have bulls with their herds now and are breeding for next year's calf crop. Vitamin A deficiency can seriously affect reproductive performance of cattle, according to some research reports.

In a Texas A&M University test, 35 bred yearling heifers were injected with vitamin A. Thirty-five bred heifers were given no supplemental vitamin A.

From the 35 heifers injected with vitamin A, only one calf was lost at calving time and 28 cattle needed help calving.

In the group which got no supplemental vitamin A, seven calves died at calving. Two of the heifers also died at calving time and 28 needed help calving.

This test seems to indicate vitamin A does play an important part in calving, although research results with vitamin A vary.

The dietary source of vitamin A is carotene, which comes from green vegetation. In dry years such as this one, or in dry regions, mother cows may be deprived of green vegetations for several months before the calf is born. This causes two conditions:

1. The vitamin supply of vitamin A in the newly born calf. This is worsened by the fact that there will be little vitamin A in the cow's milk since her supply of the vitamin is low.

Doses of synthetic vitamin A -- either injected or fed in concentrates -- would help both of these conditions, advises the county agent.

Gas Users Association

Names Officers For 1967

The Parmer County Irrigation Gas Users Association held their annual meeting at the Hub Community Center Thursday, January 26.

Bruce Parr was re-elected president of the group. Buryl Fish was named secretary-treasurer.

Directors from commissioners precincts were elected as follows; precinct 1: Bill Carthel; precinct 2: Herman Gerles; precinct 3: John Christian and precinct 4: Jim Roy Daniel.

Vice President D.L. Carmichael, who presided at the meeting, reported that the examiner of the Federal Power Commission has approved a request by the Plains Gas Farmers Cooperative Society approved a request by the Plains Gas Farmers Cooperative Society for nine new taps on the Transwestern Gas Company line.

This would add about 178 new wells to the company, which currently is serving some 86 wells in the Black area.

The organization, which was formed to secure better rates for irrigation gas for farmers, reports that in the past five years there has not been a rate increase by Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Activities up and down the street Monday made everyone very conscious of the beautiful weather. Trees were being trimmed in several sections of town, lawns were being raked and some trees were beginning to prepare for an early bloom.

Balmy days in late January and early February usually result in early blooming of fruit trees. Then the freezes in late April and early March are too much for them.

Most ranchers and farmers would appreciate moisture in any amount and any form right about now. The most oft-used expression when farmers get together is "I've never seen it so dry in my life."

student, I might have been in this same spot for hours.

The northbound traffic was a steady stream of cars and I soon began to look for a place to back up or turn around. After a light change several blocks south the young man, who was driving a Mustang with a Tech sticker on the glass, noticed my plight and stopped and motioned for me to go across ahead of him. If I knew his name, I would send him a note of appreciation.

Then later in the week I attended several eighth grade basketball games in the local gym. At each game the participants were well mannered and good sports.

It has been good to see many of our college students home between semesters. Some of them are transferring from one school to another and a few are dropping out.

At least one junior high teacher is making an effort to impress upon his students the growing need for more education. He took time out from a regular class period Monday to tell the students some of the changes that are being made and to explain why it will be most important for each of them to secure as much formal education as possible.

This same theme is being pointed out every day by manufacturers of farm implements and other machinery. There was a time when a farmer or industrial user of equipment could take a pair of pliers and some wire and keep his equipment in proper working order.

This is not the case any more and as motors and equipment become more and more automated it will be necessary for trained mechanics to be on hand to keep them running.

The person who made the statement "We are now living in a rapidly changing world," possible didn't even realize himself the meaning of the sentence.

Two incidents last week brought the admirable way in which young people of today conduct themselves. Early in the week I was driving west on Fourteenth Street in Lubbock and wanted to make a left turn on College Avenue to go to the Tech Book Store. There is no automatic signal at this particular corner and had it not been for the courtesy shown me by a young man, probably a Tech

In spite of all of our efforts to accurately report happenings in our community each week, we often make errors and appreciate having them called to our attention. Very often if our readers reported omissions of news items as soon as they detect them, we could make a correction.

One error we regret is the omission of the name of a fifth grade student from the honor roll at the end of the second six weeks grade period. During the grade period Joe Jones made two B's and rest A's and his name should have been listed in that particular category.

Having news stories left out of the paper is one problem which causes us more concern than most of our readers realize. None of us like to secure information for a story, write the story, have the copy set, then have circumstances beyond our control develop which result in the story never getting in the paper.

We know this happens sometimes and regret it very much. We will appreciate it very much if in the future everyone who misses a story will call as soon as possible.

Time is very important element in the newspaper business. We are anxious to secure information concerning every event which takes place in our community or affects our fellow townspeople as soon as possible.

Reporters of every organization, as well as all other people, are invited to call the Star office with any news tips.

As some of you may not know, I am not in the office except on Mondays and Tuesdays, but I want each one of you to feel free to call me at home at any time. My phone number is 295-

A survey of one thousand successful men . . . not just money makers, but ones who have made the world a better place in which to live by their work, showed that 300 started life as farmers' sons, 200 sold or carried newspapers, 200 started out as messenger boys, 100 as printers' devils, 100 started working in factories and 50 began at the bottom in railroad work. Only 50 out of the thousand had well to-do parents to give them a start.
