will also be three boxes in oper-

All the above are for those wishing to vote the Democratic Party ticket.

For Republicans, one box will be in operation at the Bill Darby home in McCamey.

Voters are reminded that the ballot they will be voting Saturday is a little different from the ones used in the past. A box has been placed to the left of each candidate's name and all the voter need do is place an "x" in the box beside the name of his favorite candidate. It is no longer necessary to "scratch" all the other candidates.

In addition to the races for the offices, voters will find three straw vote propositions at the bottom of the ballot. In voting these, they will again make use of the "x" placed in the box opposite their preference of "For" or "Against" each proposition.

As for the races themselves, it hasn't exactly been a "hot" political year; however, the last two weeks has had considerable action among the candidates in the form of newspaper advertisements and tv commercials.

Among the races that will attract the most attention in Upton County will be that for State Senator where Dorsey Hardeman is opposed by Pete Snelson;

For District Attorney in the 83rd Judicial District where Larry Cullison of Fort Stockton will be trying to oust Bill Earney of Marfa;

For County Attorney with John

A. Menefee opposed by Richard Barnes;

For Commissioner, Precinct 1, in Rankin, where H. Wheeler is seeking re-election and Johnny Rankin and E. W. Love are opposing;

And in McCamey for Commissioner, Precinct No. 3 where E.
K. Buford has three opponents seeking his seat on the court.

For state offices, local concern has centered primarily on the Governor's race with most who have commented failing to agree on which of the ten hopefuls will make the run-off. It is generally agreed—in Rankin—that Don Yarborough will be one to enter the finals but from there on, opinion is split between Eugene Locke, Waggoner Carr, Preston Smith and possibly Dolph Briscoe. The latter, a Uvalde rancher, is expected to run well in this area of Texas but find little support in the big city areas.

In any case, it will be in the hands of the jury—the voters—

J. C. Surber, chairman of the Cashway to Observe 10th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Dell Cooledge, owners and operators of Cash-way Food Store in Rankin, have scheduled Friday and Saturday for observance of their tenth anniversary in the grocery business.
Mr. and Mrs. Cooledge bought the store in 1958 from L. D.
Sipes and have operated it since that date.

As a part of the celebration—along with many special prices off food items—the store is offering free cured hams on both days. Drawings are to be held at 5:00 p.m. All visitors to the store are invited to sign up for the drawing. There is nothing to buy.
"We certainly appreciate the patronage and friendship received from our customers over the past ten years," said Mr. Cooled-ge. "We hope they will visit us during our anniversary and for many anniversaries to come."

VOTE SATURDAY—

Saturday is voting time and a good turnout is expected. Make sure you get your ballot in the box.

Although all the races are important, there is one that, perhaps, rates a special bit of consideration—that for State Senator in the 25th District—which has Dorsey Hardeman opposed by Pete Snelson.

Politics is a hard-nosed sort of affair. A good many people do not like the subject and will shy away from discussing it whenever possible. But for our own good, we had better take a hard look at some cold facts in relation to this particular race.

The State of Texas is a political body, made up of individuals. These individuals are elected by we, the people, and are sent to Austin as our representatives. How much or how little representation we get in Austin and in state matters is related primarily to the individual we send down to tend to our business.

If we have a strong representative, our voice and our wishes are heard and reflected in state policy. If we elect a man to represent us who does not have any "pull" in Austin, we carry very little weight in determining actions taken by the state government.

You may or may not like this arrangement, but it is the way state politics works.

Saturday, we can nominate Dorsey B. Hardeman for State Senator—whoever wins Saturday still has to face Republican opposition in November—or we can nominate Pete Snelson. Hardein West Texas we days had a hard time our fair shake from the big town people and east Tex. as folk who like to run the state for their benefit. If you don't believe that, take a look at the highway system. West Texas — with our huge oil output so well taxed by Austin—pays in more than its share of money to the state pot but who gets all the fancy highways? A trip to just about any part of central or east Texas will answer that question.

And what about state money for colleges? It takes a major battle to get even a little money for a west Texas school but you can hardly find one elsewhere in the state that doesn't have a big expansion program underway.

Such comparisons can be made in numerous instances. The point is, if we want anything like our fair share, we had better return Dorsey Hardeman to Austin. He at least gives us a fighting chance whereas we would be dead with a freshman senator.

A big portion of the recent hue and cry about the Liquor Control Board wasn't aimed so much at the board—not a charge has been filed as yet—as it was an effort by certain people from central and east Texas to try to tie in Hardeman with alleged wrongdoing and thus defeat him at the polls. So he represented some beer sellers before the liquor control board? So what? He certainly has that right. If I wanted to hire him to represent this newspaper, I'd expect him to perform.

We pay our state senators an average of something like $5000 a year. Isn't it a little ridiculous to think they can live on that—much less attend to the obligations of being a state senator?

Certainly they have to take jobs on the side. So would you if you had the office.

But you mention beer and hooch to a lot of folk and they run backwards so, naturally, if you want to defeat someone politically, you try to tag him with that sort of label. Well, we can defeat Dorsey Hardeman Saturday but when we do, we throw away twenty-five years of political assets and play right into the hands of the people who want him out simply because they are unable to control him.

Vote your own convictions but at least know what to expect.

fusion in some instances is the new order of offices on the ballot, which provides that federal offices are followed by state offices, putting the congressional district candidates ahead of state wide candidates. They run ahead of "governor" rather than with the other district offices as in the past.

Careful study of the ballot form and the instructions is suggested before voting, and if there are any questions election officials probably can clear them up on request.

"I appreciate very much the confidence that voters of the district have indicated by allowing me to run unopposed in the Democratic primary. I plan an active campaign before the general election, and hope to meet many more voters and discuss local problems and state issues with them," said Baker.

Baker Tell of New Rules on Balloting

George Baker, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the Texas Legislature, 66th District, this week issued a warning to voters on the need for complete marking of the primary ballot.

Changes in the election code effective this year provide for use of the ballot square to be marked, rather than the old system of scratching out the unwanted candidates.

"This means," said the Fort Stockton newspaper man seeking his first political office, "that unless you check the square opposite the name of any unopposed candidate, he will not receive your vote. You must mark the ballot opposite the names of your choices in all races, even those without opposition, in order to vote in those races."

Another change creating con-

YOUR VOTE MAY 4 --

BE SURE IT COUNTS !

Under the new election code, you must place an X or check mark in the ballot square even in unopposed races for your vote to count—and I do hope to get your vote counted on May 4.

I wish to thank all the voters of the 66th District for their consideration and for confidence expressed in allowing me to run unopposed in the Democratic primary. I hope to meet many more of you before the general election in November.

JUMMING UP

The election is Saturday. I am asking you people to judge me County Attorney upon my record of performance of my duties. For the past two years almost every issue of this newspaper has contained a statement of my position, my record, detailing the duties of the office of County Attorney and discussing its importance to the lives of the people in Upton County. My opponent has never denied the fact that I have given excellent service to the people of Upton County and perform the duties with professional competence. From the very beginning, my opponent has evaded and dodged every issue by a campaign of mud-slinging, character assassination by innuendo, appeals to prejudice, sly insinuations and just plain misstatement of facts.

My opponent's February announcement, which consisted of several columns in the newspaper, contained a purported examination of the cases filed in the County Court. It evidently was calculated to mislead the reader because the very next issue of the newspaper, I correctly set out the facts as they are in the records in the County Clerk's Office. It was not until this day denied the correctness of the report that I made, nor has he apologized or made excuses for such plain misstatement of facts. If he recirculate said announcement, it will indicate that he has very little regard for truthfully informing the people of the facts as they actually exist. My general reputation for being friendly, neighborly and accommodating has been established over a long period of time. It's my nature. Some folks just change during election time. If you do not know anything about me, I would appreciate your inquiring because my reputation will stand the test.

I have always been proud of the fact that as County Attorney, I have stood up and been counted in the defense of the constitutional guarantees of the people. The least influential and unknown people have received the same treatment in courts of this county as the most influential. Class distinction is not recognized by John A. Menefee.

My record is an open book. My reputation for honesty in application of the law and preservation of the rights of all the people is supported by the people of Upton County. On my record, you have my support, influence and vote.

E. W. LOVE for COMMISSIONER

I am taking this means of again contacting the people of Precinct 1 to solicit votes and support in the May 4 election for County Commissioner and to make certain declarations concerning the discharge of the commissioner's duties and obligations if I am elected.

FIRST: I intend to keep the county roads in Precinct 1 in good repair at all times, not just in election year.

SECOND: I plan to be a commissioner of the people of Precinct 1, representing the desires of the majority in the precinct in Commissioner's Court and keeping the people informed about the business of the county.

THIRD: I intend to handle the county's money, equipment and business with efficiency, care, and respect. Being conservative-minded, I feel that our county's equipment should be used for county business, its money spent wisely, and that the county should receive full value for money spent.

FOURTH: I shall devote all the time necessary to being a commissioner. In order to make this possible, I plan to have a full time barber in my shop. I will barber on a part-time basis, and thus be available for county business at all times.

I have been a resident of Upton County for nine years and have had my own business for eight years. My wife has taught in the Rankin Independent School District for the nine years we have lived in Rankin. I feel that I am well known to the majority of you. However, to those of you who do not know me well, I invite you to check at the school, city, and county tax offices, with the Retail Merchant's Association and with the Credit Bureau as to by credit rating--both past and present.

I shall appreciate your vote on May 4.

Tops Club to Renew Full Scale Operation

The gals with the weight problems are back in business with their efforts directed toward improving their positions in the battle of the bulge. Organized as the Tops Club, women of all ages had an active chapter in Rankin for several years before a lack of interest cancelled the program.

With renewed determination and an eye for a little fun along with it, the group began operations last Monday, April 29 and immediately ran up the distress flag with a "shame, shame on Betty" and congratulations to Connie and Judy.

Regular meetings are held on Monday nights at 7:30 p.m. at the Methodist Church. All women interested in the program are extended a welcome, according to TOPS.

M. O. Price Winner at Red Bluff Event

Mr. James Covill, manager of Red Bluff Lumber Company in Rankin, this week expressed his delight with the big turnout at the firm's formal opening held last Saturday.

"We had 566 register at the store Saturday," said Covill, "and we want them to know that we certainly appreciate their coming in." He said that visitors registered from Big Lake, Midland, Midkiff and other area towns.

Winners of the prizes offered at the opening included M. O. Price who won the color television set; Aida Armendarez, the camp stove; and Lela Holder, a five-pound box of candy.

Hardeman
Chairman

Thank you, Senator Hardeman, for all you've done to strengthen law enforcement in Texas...

As law-enforcement officers of the state and of the 25th Congressional District, want to thank you, Senator Hardeman, for your knowledgeable and resourceful work in strengthening the Criminal Code.

The oral-confession acceptability and simplification of the rules to warn the accused have been most helpful to us in the performance of our duties to the public good. We know this was not an easy task in view of U.S. Supreme Court decisions, which, in our opinion, have adversely affected maintenance of safety in homes and streets across the nation. We commend you for your perseverance.

Your passage of the mercury theft bill is of untold savings in the oilpatch.

Your work has freed our hands in combatting crime. For this, we thank you.

Texas Police Association

Wilson E. Speir, president of the Texas Police Association during the preceding legislative session, personally commended Senator Hardeman by letter on June 26, 1967, as the immediate past president of the association, as follows:

My Dear Friend:

It was my pleasure to preside at the recent conference of the Texas Police Association at which the enclosed resolution was adopted.

I want to add my own personal expression of appreciation to that of the TPA for the action taken by the Legislature in the changes to the Code of Criminal Procedure, as well as other acts which were passed which we believe will enable law enforcement agencies of Texas to more adequately serve the people of this state.

Sincerely yours,
Wilson E. Speir
Immediate Past President

At the convention assembled the preceding June 14, 1967, the Texas Police Association commended Senator Hardeman and members of the 60th Legislature by resolution for enactment of legislation which "should aid the agencies of law enforcement and others involved in the administration of criminal justice in preserving law and order more effectively in the State of Texas."

"Senator Hardeman, with his considerable stature and influence in the Senate, has been of immeasurable help to me during the past several sessions on specific bills which were sponsored by the Sheriffs' Association of Texas. The most recent, in addition to the changes in the Code of Criminal Procedure, was his introduction for us at the last Session of amendments to the 'Mercury Theft' statute, which has given us a fine law on this subject.

Senator Accused Of LCB Meddling

The assistant chief of the Texas Liquor Control Board's enforcement division has asserted San Angelo Sen. Dorsey Hardeman used influence to keep TLCB agents from examining records of an Impact liquor store. William A. Mason said Hardeman interfered when he sought to examine records of an Impact liquor store. Mason said that after a telephone call from the store manager, Hardeman asked the investigator to wait until the day and argued that the agents lacked authority to see the records until Mason showed him a copy of the law.

"He finally agreed that we did (have the right)," said Mason. "But by then the records had disappeared. We finally managed to get them sometime later," charged Mason.

Hardeman, who was in Del Rio, could not be reached for comment at midmorning today. Also today John W. Crank, former chief investigator for TLCB, who was either ousted or who quit, said Hardeman and other legislators have appeared at administrative hearings of the liquor board.

"Getting a member of the legislature to represent a guy was almost a sure way to get his penalty for a violation either reduced or eliminated," said Crank today in

TIPS for the HOME MAKER

Louie S. Jeffers, County Home Demo. Agent

The best ways to stretch your money is to buy wisely. In wise buying of food a year for the average careful plan for spending. A consumer should know what he wants to buy and limit impulse buying. A wealth of information almost any subject is to the purchaser in the consumer advertisements, booklets, business publications and government bulletins. This information can help a buyer decide on the kinds of things he wants without the influence of the seller.

A consumer should be alert to price but also should recognize substantial variations in quality.

A low price may lead to a poor purchase if quality is inferior; when a purchase lasts longer, so does your money. Buyers should be familiar with recognized standards of quality. In most instances, labels provide a great deal of information which can help a buyer make a wise purchase.

Choose the right time and place to shop. Sales and bargains are bargains only if they offer you the chance to get something you want for less than original cost. Buying something which is not needed just because it is a bargain does not help the family budget. After purchasing an item, care for it. Proper maintenance means fewer replacements and longer time periods between purchases. Be careful of waste, especially in such budgeted items as food, utilities and clothing.
