FORTIETH YEAR

SUDAN, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1964

NUMBER 21

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

AFTER our Little League All-Stars lost a close one at Plainview Friday, I suddenly found Saturday afternoon and evening free. I took advantage of this unusual occurrence to start painting the trim on the house occupied by the wife and kids (I'm seldom home). I finished most of one window, and that was all. Figuring the area I covered with paint (not counting my arms and shoes), I have estimated that I will finish the job, working on weekends, on or about December, 1966.

Actually, I should be able to paint faster and better than I do. I used to be an art student in college. But I became discouraged after a couple of years of it. My trouble was that I tried to make my paintings and sketches look like something. The college art faculty sneered at any drawing or painting that was proportionately correct, shaded properly, etc. One instructor commented that "if you want an actual representation of something, you should take a photograph of it."

So I laid down my brush and started taking photographs. The camera, however, doesn't help the looks of our house, unless you stand off about two miles.

HEADLINE in Monday's Lubbock newspaper reads "Are you helping your husband get ahead?" My wife's only comment was that I sure do need one.

ALTHOUGH it still is quite a while before the fall elections, millions of words are being said about the race. Some bill it as offering voters a definite choice between conservatism (mainly anti-federal spending) against liberalism. Some say Goldwater is the most dangerous man ever to run for office and if he's elected the nation is ruined; others say his election will be the salvation of the country; still others kind of wish someone were running besides Johnson and Goldwater.

Coldwater did say one thing

Vows Exchanged

Mariene King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Reece of Sudan, and Albert Thomas exchanged wedding vows in a single ring ceremony, Sunday, July 19 at 2 p. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Dudgeon.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Willie Hazel, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sudan. Attendants for the couple were Viola Reece of Visalia, Calif., sister of the bride; and Louis Blaylock of Muleshoe.

Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Thomas of Muleshoe. A reception followed the ceremony and the bride chose a yellow sheath dress with matching accessories for traveling.

The bride is employed at West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe. The groom is self-employed in Muleshoe where they will make their home.

Mrs. E. E. Crow and Mrs. E. W. Baccus are vacationing in Truth of Consequences, N. M.

Mrs. A. H. Woodward and son, Charles of Fort Worth, visited Friday with her niece and family, Mrs. Rodney Nichols, Mrs. Mary Bowman, Miss Bertha Vereen; and with her nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Vereen.

back there somewhere that I would give a hearty approval—that he was in favor of making social security voluntary. However, there are indications that he has changed his mind on this since then.

The trouble is, all these guys run for office promising to cut our foreign aid expenses, our federal giveaways, and other unnecessary expenses and then can't or won't carry out their promises. I'd be tempted to vote for the Devil himself if I thought he would cut down on federal spending and halt rising taxes.

However, the Devil isn't running this year, despite insinuations of the two candidates to the contrary, regarding each other.

BILLY JOHN FORD IS HOME FROM CANADA

The Intercity Little League All-Stars lost a tough 3-2 decision to the Muleshoe Little Leaguers at Plainview Friday night to eliminate the Sudan-Amherst team from the playoffs.

Gary Robinson of Amherst went the distance for the losers, and almost provided the blow that won his own ball game.

Managed by Joe Bellar and coached by Cleon Johnson, the Intercity team took a 2-0 lead when Rob hit a home run over the fence, scoring Rex Boyles who had singled ahead of Robinson. The Muleshoe team purposely walked Robinson in his subsequent trips to the plate.

Muleshoe came back to go ahead, however, and win the game, as the Sudan-Amherst nine left a couple of potential game-tying on base.

Scripture: St. John 6: 37-40; 8:24, 30-32; 10:17-18; 14:13-15.

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Amidst so many lies and confusion and chaotic conditions, how shall we know the truth? Jesus tells us how, in God's Word, for He also said, "If ye continue in my Word, then are ye my disciples indeed: and ye shall know the truth..."

What greater message could one preach than the Gospel of Jesus Christ? The cross, the death and resurrection of God's only begotten Son, who was sent by God the Father to complete His plan for the salvation of man.

What do you need? And what does the world need? A Savior—one who can take us just like we are, and as we follow Him, studying and obeying His word, make us into what we ought to be. A Savior, who has the power to give to us now eternal life; one who, when our physical body wears out or is destroyed, can give us a new eternal body and can take us immediately from this earth to the eternal Home in heaven, forevermore to be with Him.

A Savior, who has the power to lay down His life for your sin and mine, and the power to arise again. A Savior, who has the power to keep His promises to us: that He would never leave us, who love Him, alone in this world, but would abide with us, sending the Comforter to teach us all the way Home. And a Savior who said if we ask anything in His Name, He will do it!

JESUS IS THE ONE!

Jesus said "Because I live, ye shall live also." (St. John 14: 19). And He said "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you".

Is Jesus your Savior and Lord? Then does His words abide in you? Do you read His words in God's Holy Word to learn of Him? Jesus is the one — the only one whereby you can have eternal life. Take Him, accept Him now!

NEW DIMENSION IN COMFORT:

Cottons With
'Give' And Take

Cotton sportswear is now designed to "give" as well as take it. Heralded as the biggest advance since wash and wear, new all-cotton stretch fabrics are turning up in a variety of ready-to-wear styles for every member of the family.

These cottons look no different from any other and, if you pull them between your fingers, the "give" seems infinitesimal. But it's just enough to provide a new kind of comfort when the fabrics are made into slim slacks, back-spanning jackets, or narrow sheath skirts.

When shopping for stretch fashions, be sure the garment is labeled all-cotton stretch. This is your assurance it will have the added characteristics of coolness and launderability. Notice any other promises of service satisfaction on the label, such as Sanforized, color-fastness, and seam strength. The garment manufacturer who makes the extra effort to provide these characteristics is likely to give you good stretch quality, too.

COMFORT STRETCH—This fiesta-styled playsuit offers a new dimension in comfort. It's made from all-cotton thick in one of the new stretch fabrics that "give" in action. The outfit bears the Sanforized Plus label, assuring that it's wrinkle-resistant and won't shrink from its original fit.

TRIM—All cotton twill pants, tailored in the continental tradition, have built-in stretch. They "give" in action and return to their original trim fit as soon as tension goes. Sanforized-Plus for superior wash and wear. They come in black or sand colors.

CONFESSIONS OF A COLUMNIST
by Vant Neff

I am not a party man. I cannot believe that any one party has a monopoly on the best candidates for any government office.

Nor, for that matter, do I believe that all the best candidates necessarily share my own personal political convictions.

But what I do believe, and believe without qualification, is that as a responsible American I must vote... and vote for the man I think can do the best job in the office for which he is running.

The privilege of casting my yes or nay is something I do not take lightly. My vote—or any vote—is a serious matter. To regard it otherwise would be a betrayal of the ideals of our country.

This solemnity with which I approach the political process has more than once forced me to disagree with some whom I respect the most.

For example, it seems to me that General Eisenhower has unwittingly done considerable harm both to the principles he stands for and to the people he wishes to help.

I remember when the press turned to him during the Nixon-Kennedy election and asked what part of Mr. Nixon's duties as vice president had originated with Mr. Nixon himself.

The hesitation and implications of the guarded statement that finally answered their question was hardly the sort of thing to swing votes to the Nixon side.

Similarly, when the General recently issued a statement on the kind of person he thought the next Republican candidate ought to be, the statement was so ambiguous that it hampered everybody without helping anyone.

I humbly suggest that the General, as a Republican leader and an indisputably dedicated American, should be more forthright in his statements, so that no one can misinterpret or read into them meanings that are far indeed from what the good General intends they to mean.

Forthrightness and the courage to stand up and speak out honestly and without quibbling are qualities that draw my deep admiration, and in both respects Mr. Goldwater has impressed me mightily. At a time when politicians are making insincere and often cynical appeals for votes, declaring "war" on Poverty, promoting a "moment of Prayer" and turning out lights in the White House, and making every conceivable concession to the labor unions, it takes fortitude for a man, on the eve of a convention, to say, "I am for Civil Rights, as my record proves, but I cannot vote for this bill because..."

What the Senator objected to was that, in his judgment, much of the bill is unconstitutional, unenforceable and a threat to the civil rights of all Americans.

Whether you agree with his stand or not, it would be difficult not to respect such courage and integrity. You know and he knows that what he said could well be a huge handicap to his political career. But that didn't stop him from saying what he believes.

In my travels, both in this country and abroad, I meet more and more people who believe that our nation needs a leader who can act as they think an American should.

And the more I travel and see first hand what's really happening, the more I listen to the "smart talk" and to senseless slogans of the politicians, and the more I agree with those who wish for courage and integrity in American leadership.

I see present-day countries with one hand reaching out for American dollars and the other holding an anti-American poster. Name some? Indonesia, Algeria, Panama... and that's only the beginning.

I see American soldiers with old World War II planes and equipment in a crucial war against the Vietnamese Communists—a war that we don't fight to win because it might annoy the Red Chinese. When in Heaven's name are we going to realize that the Red Chinese couldn't possibly hate us any more than they already do now?

And when will we quit pussy-footing and either fight to win or get out?

I see U.S. Government officials in decision-making posts who seem to prefer left-wing "liberation" to the American way and show little hesitation in extending U.S. aid and encouragement to countries that feel as they do. Russia, they keep telling us, is really going to get friendly, if we just don't oppose them. But what about the logging of our Moscow Embassy with all those hidden microphones? Non-payment of U.S. and U.N. debts? Russian help to countries who must hate us to get Communist aid? Threats to our planes that would fly to West Berlin without Russian permission? Threats to bury us?

I see our government "dedicated to a policy of overpopulation and in general treating the taxpayer's hard earned dollars as if they really did grow on trees. And I read where Dr. H. H. H. a man who did much to further this policy has resigned his position as chief economic advisor to the President, because he couldn't possibly afford to live on his salary (a mere $20,000 per year).

Let's face it, the country's foreign affairs have been permitted to deteriorate dangerously. What we need now more than ever before is leadership, steady, courageous and straight forward leadership that has a knowledge of the grave dangers we face instead of trying to fall us into a false sense of security by pretending there is no danger. We simply cannot risk the world's worst of "Let's not look at it and maybe it will go away."

IT'S A FACT! by Thompson

What's cooking on radio? The lady in the kitchen can find out with a handy portable radio. Homemakers are one big reason why radio, far from being "through," is bigger than ever on the American scene!

Washing or ironing isn't cause for blues if you can take a portable with you. More listening hours are spent with portables than with plug-in sets or car radios. The average portable radio fan listens 9 hours and 7 minutes a week!

No need to do housework in a vacuum! Moving from kitchen to living room chores, America's "indoor travelers" can and do take entertainment with them: all of all portable radio listening takes place in the home!

Radio enjoyment carries over to precious moments of relaxation. In fact, a portable, say "Eveready" battery makers, is the housewife's "lively companion"—from the time she makes morning coffee to the moment she rinses out her stockings before going to bed!

that is capable of installing and servicing these systems. They can take care of any and all repair and replacement parts on these systems.

We suggest you contact Birkelbach Machine Shop, Phone 385-5123 or at 1012 E. 9th in Littlefield for any information on an irrigation system.

HOW'S YOUR KNOWLEDGE OF GROOMING?

Grooming yourself for success means, among other things, knowing how to dress the part. Here are questions and answers to test your sartorial savvy and help you get the most from your clothing dollars.

Which suiting materials are most likely to shed wrinkles? Wool and wool blends. Wrinkles disappear from wool clothes when they're rested because each wool fiber is made up of coiled protein molecules. These "coiled springs" are stretched in use and gradually coil back to their original positions.

If raf cut of suit is most popular? While the Ivy look and the advanced fashion look have their proponents, the moderate or classic look still represents close to 50% of all men's suit sales. Shoulders are trim, lines straight and slim, trousers either plain or pleated. Both two and three button models are popular.

Would you wear a vest with a sport jacket? Yes! Matching vest and sport jacket is one of the newest trends for cool weather wear. Are jeans still considered a man's wear? Yes, thanks to new processes developed by research scientists. Even the creased wool trousers are not affected by dry cleaning, and the usual wrinkling or discoloring rain storms.

What are the most popular colors in the women's wardrobe? In the 1960's, the checkered and plaid patterns, particularly in wool sport jackets, are difficult to combine with other patterns. But you can wear a striped shirt and a floral patterned skirt or your outfit and not clash. How can you wear a suit with a sport jacket? With dark shoes are preferred, it is okay to wear brown shoes if you have a lot of tie that matches them.

This is the year when every woman can be her own Mainbocher, Triguere, or Dior. Thanks to new developments in cottons and patterns, you can afford a one-of-a-kind wardrobe in fabrics and fashions that suit you best by sewing it yourself. Evidence of the rising trend in high-style home sewing is seen in a packaged fashion show program offered the nation's clubwomen by the National Cotton Council and McCall's Patterns. The collection reflects fashion's interest in texture and color by focusing attention on cotton piques, ottomans, double knits, boucle corduroy, pin-stripes, and all-cotton stretch. Cotton's color story is illustrated in bold border prints and pastel denims. For more information about the loan wardrobes, write the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 12285, Memphis, Tennessee.

Why this particular pickup is the most popular truck in Sudan

What's the secret of this pickup's popularity? Many people say that it is its many quality features..... Good ride... and its double-walled body and cab.

Yet, in the final analysis, perhaps what convinces people the most that it is a good, sound value..... is the name on the back of the truck. A lot of people have come to rely on the name - CHEVROLET - the emblem that appears on more than 22 million cars and trucks on the road.

Don't truck with anything less than Chevrolet ... best selling trucks in Sudan
