WOODWORK

BY DALTON

TWO OF the favorite program of our kids are "Underdog" and "Superman". I think I'll write up a series and submit it, utilizing the most attractive features of each of these money-makers. I'll call it "Superdog"—the amazing hero who thinks he's something on a stick...

A COUPLE of our good friends (we have three) moved to Monday recently, and I sometimes get mail from them, in spite of the ZIP code setup. They are Rev. and Mrs. Frank Weir, who formerly lived in Sudan. Mrs. Weir sends along a clipping every now and then of a column entitled "Page One" authored by Kathryn Duff of the Abilene Reporter-News.

Although she's never said so, I get the impression that Mrs. Weir assumes (correctly) that I am interested in Miss (or Mrs.) Duff's column because it is written in a vein similar to my own, with one major difference: she gets paid real money for hers, and has more readers, too.

But I question the column heading. After all, to entitle one's column "Page One" seems a bit unfair to the Associated Press, United Press International and all the local staff writers for the Reporter-News who might accidentally get something on the front page.

Suppose, for instance, she's out at McMurry, Hardin-Simmons or ACC at a cocktail party, (please, you preachers, I'm kidding) and some guy comes up to her, leans in and says, "Hi-ya, babe, who're you?" And she says, "I'm Kathryn Duff. I write 'Page One' for the Reporter-News."

And he goes away, thinking, that must be one wordy female, if she writes the whole front

Tech Preps For Bowl

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech's football Red Raiders don full pads next week getting ready for their Sun Bowl date with University of Georgia at El Paso Dec. 26. This week the Red Raiders are going through conditioning drills under the direction of their co-captains, linebacker C. C. Willis and end Jerry Don Balch. Next week Coach J. T. King and his crew take over.

Georgia, coached by Vince Dooley, Auburn's quarterback in Tech's Gator Bowl win 11 years ago, posted a 6-3-1 mark in regular season play—identical to Tech's.

Georgia gained wins over Vanderbilt 7-0, Clemson 19-7, Kentucky 21-7, North Carolina 7-7 and beaten by Alabama 31-3 in the opener, by Florida State 17-14, and by Auburn 14-7.

Tickets are on sale at the Texas Tech Athletic Department for $5. A mailing fee of 50 cents should accompany each mail order.

Olton Socks Sudan Teams

Sudan's cagers lost a double-header to Olton Tuesday night, with the boys going down 51-42

although three players scored in double figures for the Hornets.

Corley Baker had 10, Mike Smith 11 and Danny Masten 14 points for Sudan in the losing effort. It was the second game for the Hornets, who earlier lost a 33-31 decision to Frenship. In that game, Baker led all scoring with 17 points.

Others on Coach Henry Hall's squad include Mike Bellar, Robert Williamson, Larry Morgan, Mike Fisher, Hector Salas, Ronnie Brown and Danny Martin.

The Hornet boys B team lost a 41-34 contest with Anton B Monday night, although Bob Gilyard scored 15 points. Others on the B team include Gary Gatewood, Robert Sloan, Marcy Arce, Rodney Bowling, Harry Williamson, Ronnie Hill, James Roberson, Paul Roberson, James Grant, Cary Logan and Eddy Boyles.

The boys will play at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Whiteface tournament, meeting the winner between the host team and Amherst. In the same tournament, Sudan's girls, coached by Hank Brown, will meet Ropesville at 3:30 p.m. today (Thursday).

The girls lost their third game in five starts at Olton Tuesday, going down 40-30. Joyce Williams led Sudan with 12 points, and Sherry Caddel had 24 for Olton. Last week the Hornettes took a 54-24 licking from Sundown.

Or suppose the occasion arises when her column must be continued on page six. At the end of the part on the first page that is to be continued, most papers put a "see line" or "jump line," which will clue the reader in on what to look for inside the paper, like "See VIET NAM on Page 6". Well, can you imagine the confusion if you write "See PAGE ONE on Page 6"?

In spite of all these handicaps, I still enjoyed the Duff columns.

Personals

WILL SPEAK TUESDAY—Charley Lynch, 1955 graduate of Sudan High School, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 8, to the RA boys and Brotherhood men at the Sudan First Baptist Church. Lynch graduated in 1959 from Texas Tech, where he was an all-conference basketball star. He now is freshman basketball coach at Tech. Any men and boys in the community are welcome to the event Tuesday, and should bring a covered dish for the supper preceding the talk.

Sudan Students Learn About Income Taxes

Sudan High School is among the 1700 schools in Texas training students in how to prepare their income tax returns this year. Principal Ralph S. Stewart said 18 students will receive several hours income tax instruction early in February. In Texas, 235,000 students will get this training. The free material furnished by the Internal Revenue Service will be taught by Mrs. Mary E. Tollett.

Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director for Internal Revenue in the northern half of Texas, feels that the schools and teachers are doing an outstanding job with the simple tax course. He explained, "Taxpayers pay 97% of all federal taxes through voluntary compliance. Teaching taxes teaches the student to pay all the taxes he owes. It also teaches him to keep records and take all the deductions he has coming to him. This course teaches students to pay the right amount—no more, no less. Students taking this course make only one fourth as many errors as their parents make on their tax returns."

During the past 5 years, approximately 125 Sudan High students have completed this course. Mrs. Tollett said "This course has created a great deal of interest in bookkeeping classes. As many of our students work during the summer and on a part-time basis, they have prepared their own returns in class."

R. D. Ormand of Arlington visited Thanksgiving Day in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ormand.

YOUTHFUL LAMENT. This little lad learned that being generous sometimes has its setbacks. Visiting the one, he offered the mama a lick of his ice-cream cone, but the mama bit off more than the boy expected. Jim Broadwood, 2, looks forlornly at the remnants of the cone.

REPENTANCE, WHAT IS IT?

Scripture: St. John 3: 3-6; 6: 35-39; Romans 10: 8-13; St. Matthew 27: 3-5.

"Repent"—What is repentance? How does one repent of their sin?

Repentance, I think, is one of the most misunderstood words of our day. But, you may say you know what it is to repent; to repent is to be sorry for your sin. True, but it is more than just that.

To be sorrowful for a sin, or sins, is the first step in repentance. But if that is all you do (just be sorry), it is not the right way to truly repent. For instance, even Judas Iscariot was sorry he betrayed Jesus and returned the thirty pieces of silver but then he went out and hanged himself. Simon Peter was also sorrowful because he betrayed Jesus Christ in denying Him three times. Then three times Christ gave Peter the opportunity to say "yes" in answer to the question: "Lovest thou me...?" Peter repented, sought forgiveness and followed Jesus into life.

So, being sorrowful can lead to remorse and death; or, being sorrowful can lead to the next step in repentance: To recognize in sorrow a sin in ourselves and the need of a Savior from it, we then call on God to forgive us for it. This is the sorrow that leads to joy and life eternal. Be sorrowful, ask forgiveness, then what? In repentance we have some things to do: We must die out to the love of our sin—hate sin. We must repudiate sin, turn away from it and with all our faculties seek to follow the Lord Jesus.

It is possible then to be sorry for our sin, and then try to save ourselves. I heard a minister say recently that some people confused reformation as repentance. And therein, I believe, is the great confusion about repentance.

We are really sorry about sinning then we just say "I'll quit it, I can overcome this thing, because it is not good. I can do better things than that." And

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: Kathryn Hall, Defendant, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable District Court of Lamb County at the Courthouse thereof, in Littlefield, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 21st day of December A. D. 1964, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 6th day of November A. D. 1964, in this cause, numbered 5669 on the docket of said court and styled C. S. Hall, Plaintiff, vs. Kathryn Hall, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:

This is a suit for divorce alleging cruel treatment to such an extent that it rendered plaintiff and defendant further living together as husband and wife wholly insupportable, alleging that there were 4 children born of the marriage of plaintiff and defendant, said children being as follows, to-wit: Steve Hall, a boy, 18 years of age, Cecilia Kay Hall, a girl, 16 years of age, Nancy Dawn Hall, a girl, 11 years of age, and Julia Ann Hall, a girl 9 years of age, and Steve Hall and Cecilia Kay Hall, 2 of the children born of the marriage of plaintiff and defendant, are living in the home of the plaintiff, and the other 2 children, above named, are living with the defendant and their whereabouts is unknown, alleging that plaintiff owns 1 1958 Chevrolet automobile and Lot No. 3, in Block No. 76, of the College Hill Addition to the City of Plainview, as shown by the map or plat of said Addition, recorded in the Deed Records of Hale County, Texas, lying and being situated in Hale County, Texas, as his sole and separate property.

Praying for divorce and dissolution of the marriage relation now existing as between plaintiff and defendant, praying for we start out to do our reforming by sheer will power. Some of us make it, too. But, if we do and that is all we do—we are still lost! We are still "natural man" and blind to spiritual truth and can neither understand, obey or please God. We have no power but our own will power, and we still do not know Jesus. We have not turned from our way to His way, accepting and following Him, we are still going the wrong direction, and there will be other sins, and other needs, which human strength cannot overcome.

Your Adam-like nature does not change, and without asking God's forgiveness and accepting the new nature of Christ (given to all who repent and turn to accept Jesus as Savior and Lord), without true repentance which includes the necessity of a blood sacrifice (death penalty for sin), you cannot know the joy of being a redeemed born-again child of the Most High God. The new-born nature is just that: a new nature, not a reformation of the old nature.

Some moral persons live lives above reproach, but never know the Lord Jesus Christ. All they, too, must come the way of repentance, for without Christ as redeemer and Savior from all sin, there is no salvation for man. They may not need much reformation, but they need the "new nature of Christ" in order to enter God's Kingdom.

Do you know Jesus? Have you asked Him to forgive and save you, as you turned from your sin toward Him? Then you can know Him and His way, as He leads you upward one step at a time, but in the direction toward abundant living and an eternal Home with Him!

Repentance: Be sorry for sin, repudiate it (with God's help which He will provide, die out to the love for your sin), ask forgiveness and redemption of God, and accept Jesus Christ as your personal Savior. Then you are, as God promised, His child. A new-born child, learning now how to walk, to talk, to read, to pray, to worship, to serve, to walk upward, growing up, your joy and faith increasing as you grow in love with your ever-present Lord and Friend, Christ Jesus.

So Repent, and really Live! Jesus is the one who can do all that He said: He can save sinners into peace and joy and love and life eternal.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandator hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Littlefield, Texas, this 6th day of November A. D. 1964.

Attest: Ernest L. Owens, Clerk (Seal) District Court Lamb County, Texas 11-12-64c

Holiday Mold and Carnation Tree

To grace the table this season we have a very special little Christmas tree made of fresh flowers and an exquisite dessert of molded eggnog. Developed by Carnation Company's home economists with instant nonfat dry milk crystals, for lightly rich flavor and delicate texture, this recipe is as practical as it is beautiful. The instant crystals are convenient and economical to use and they provide all the proteins, B vitamins, calcium and phosphorous of whole milk for your family.

CHRISTMAS EGGNOG MOLD
(Makes 6 servings)

Mix 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon each salt and nutmeg in top of double boiler; stir in 3 cups water. Separate 4 eggs. Beat the yolks with 1 whole egg. Stir with 1 1/2 cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals, into gelatine mixture. Stir over boiling water until mixture coats a metal spoon. Cool. Stir in 1 tablespoon vanilla; chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold with 1/2 cup mixed candied fruits, into eggnog mixture. Turn into 6-cup mold; chill until firm.

TO MAKE THE TREE: For a base use a piece of pyramid-shaped oasis or styrofoam (available at florists and variety stores, already cut) 10-inches high and 4-inches in diameter at the bottom. Soak thoroughly in cool water. Using miniature variegated pink carnations, insert stems directly into base. The tree will last from four days to a week, longer if refrigerated.

The light is sweet, and a pleasant thing it is for the eyes to behold the sun.—(Eccles. 11:7).

Our eyes are constantly nourished and renewed by the life of God within us, so let us remember to thank Him for His healing, vitalizing life that flows freely through every part of our bodies.

Mrs. L. F. Meeks led the concluding study of the book "Frontiers of Advance" at the meeting of the WMU of the First Baptist Church, when the group met Monday afternoon.

Present were Mesdames Meeks, John Byth, Oscar Vinson, Dexter Baker, Homer Morris, Halbert Harvey, Willie Hazel.

The WMU Circle of the First Baptist Church will observe the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions, Dec. 6-13. A mission program will be presented Wednesday night, Dec. 9.

An Associational Brotherhood meeting of the Baptist Churches was held at Frio last Tuesday night with Homer Morris in charge of the program.

The Maranatha GA's of the First Baptist Church met Monday afternoon for a community missions program when they visited the Spanish Mission and gave gifts to Rev. and Mrs. Moses Padillo.

Attending were Angela Pickett, Donna Hill, Betty Baker, Debora Stanley, Susan Benton, Debbie Churchman and counsellors, Mrs. Carol Gene Baldrige, Mrs. Tom McKenzie.

Mrs. Joe Foster led the continued study of the Book of Romans at the meeting of the Ladies Bible Class of the Church of Christ Monday afternoon.

Present were Mesdames Weaver-Barnett, Bernard Wilson, C. E. Nichols, M. E. Blake, Quinton McCaghren, Joe Fisher, Paul Mathews and Foster.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church met Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Bertha Vereen for the last in a series of studies on Spanish Americans. The group met at 6:30 for a Mexican supper served in the Spanish American atmosphere at tables with Mexican cloths and decorations.

Invocation was given by Rev. Jack Riley, a guest of the Guild. The devotional was given by Mary Tollett and the program, conducted by Linda Wood, included a film "North of the Rio Grande".

LUBBOCK — Recently there appeared in the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain an article by Robert Dietsch in which the current one-price cotton law was roundly denounced as a flop, and the article was subsequently rebutted by a letter from American Textile Manufacturers Institute President William E. Reid to the Scripps-Howard Editor-in-Chief, Walker Stone.

In view of Reid's position as spokesman for the textile industry, we think his letter worth reproducing in part here:

"A great many highly knowledgeable people — farm leaders, market experts, textile manufacturers and others — disagree with Robert Dietsch's opinion that the Government's new cotton pricing policy is a failure. Also many of us who have spent our lives in manufacturing and selling cotton products feel that an unintentional disducted by Mary Olds. Each member is reminded to bring a gift, wrapped and labelled as to the contents, for a shut-in, to the next meeting; and also a gift for a fellow guild member.

Linda Wood dismissed the meeting with prayer. One guest, Jack Riley and the following members were present: Mary Olds, Vera Nix, Laura Hay, Ruth Ellen Riley, Mary Tollett, Dorothy Drake, Eloise Curry, Anita Wallace, Ruby Shannon, Lenda Wood, Frances Potter, and the hostess, Bertha Vereen.

service has been done to the vast cotton industry of this country.

"In the first place, any conclusion now is bound to be premature. The new price policy has been fully effective only since August, and partially effective only since April 11. In all fairness, how could anyone expect to eliminate in this brief period the deep-seated ills of the whole cotton economy, generated during eight years of the admittedly inequitable two-price cotton system under which our mills were required to pay one-third more for American-grown cotton than foreign mills paid for the identical product?"

"The textile industry never ought, never wanted and tried to avoid payment to it of any cotton equalization fee. What it has wanted, and all it gets under the new law is the privilege for American mills, employing American workers, to buy American-grown Cotton at the same price the product is sold to our foreign competitors.

"The new price policy achieved this through a system of "payments-in-kind" utilizing in the process the government's vast stock pile of surplus cotton. In making the price adjustment, the government did reimburse the mills for the difference between the price they paid for the cotton and its new price, on that portion of cotton which moved into production between April 11 and the beginning of the new cotton crop year, Aug. 1.

"Unlike most other agricultural commodities, cotton has little useful value until it is processed into one of its thousands of outlets in the apparel, household or industrial markets. Thus cotton's strength is related directly to the strength of the textile industry through which the product moves to market.

"The objective of the new cotton law was and is to rejuvenate the vast cotton economy of the nation. Although it is much too soon to make a final judgment, the facts to date do not justify Dietsch's blunt conclusions.

"Until the new cotton law revived hopes, the cotton economy of the nation was deeply discouraged. Consumption was trending downward steadily; cotton acreage, already severely restricted, was facing inevitable additional restrictions; government costs of the cotton program was skyrocketing, with no relief in sight; textile mills were turning away from cotton in favor of other fibers; cotton's markets were being undermined by a variety of competing products. Altogether, there was a growing loss of confidence in the future of cotton at every level from the farmer to the mill.

"Today this confidence picture is being reversed. Cotton consumption is up at the rate of 2,000 bales per day over a year ago, and the Department of Agriculture is predicting further increases. Cotton is reentering market after market that it was losing.

After years of decline, cotton is on the move again. It is a source of grave concern that many Scripps-Howard newspapers have given their readers such a premature and one-sided view of the situation."

IT'S A FACT!

Eventually, in England and America, the idea of hanging the Christmas stocking and stuffing it with ingenious little gifts developed. In the Gay '90's, women would "ooh and ah" at finding new bones for their corsets tucked within their stockings.

Ancient Dutch tradition proclaimed that St. Nicholas would leave no gifts on Christmas Eve unless he saw the children's wooden shoes set in a row by the fireplace. Thus, he knew the children were all asleep.

sponded to our needs during the illness and death of our precious mother and companion.

We shall ever be grateful to those who visited and comforted her at the hospital, for those who brought such an abundance of food and served our physical needs, for the beautiful floral offerings, for the innumerable cards and other comforting acts, too numerous to mention.

The beauty and perfection of the service was a tribute so typical of our Mother's life that we shall be everlastingly grateful and comforted.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS
By VERN SANFORD

Most hunted animal in Texas, except the deer, is the ringtail.

For two months hunters will take this animal any way they can — with lights, dogs or traps. Afterwards, the fur will wind up on some woman's back in the form of a beautiful coat.

Only fur-bearing animal left in Texas that commands a worthwhile price on the market is the ringtail. In recent years the pelts have held steady at about $1.25 each for the better ones.

Many Texans never have seen a ringtail. This sly diminutive creature spends most of its life in the dark. It beds down in a den during the day. And it will not venture into the open until well after dusk.

Then, unlike most nocturnal prowlers, it retires before daylight arrives. Only on very rare occasions will you see a ringtail during daylight hours.

Although the ringtail ranges over much of the dry Western half of the United States, the biggest population is found right here in Texas.

There are more ringtails in the Edwards Plateau of Central Texas than in any other comparable region.

This animal is mistakenly called the ring-tailed cat. But, it isn't a member of the cat family. It's a carnivore closely kin to the common raccoon.

Average ringtail is about 20 inches long, including tail and is the common mistletoe which grows in mesquite trees.

It isn't unusual to have a ringtail answer a predator call. But considering this diet composition, it sort of makes a person wonder what motivation could possibly prompt the animal to be attracted by the dying-rabbit cries. Perhaps it is curiosity more than anything else.

Usually ringtails live along rocky ledges where they den in crevices.

Females hatch their young in the spring and average between two and four offspring. Young ringtails are almost helpless at birth and don't open their eyes until 31 to 34 days later. At about four months they have the same overall look of adults. But, of course, they are smaller in size.

One reason the ringtail isn't better known is because very few exist in captivity. Unlike coons and other similar animals, the ringtail doesn't show up around farm houses as pets. Seldom are they caught when young. This is because the young rarely venture out until they are grown. Also the very nature of the ringtail's living habits, in the narrow and confining rocky crevices, make the young difficult to capture alive.

It isn't unusual for several adult ringtails to den together. But when you find them out prowling at night they almost invariably will be traveling alone.

Most hunters seek them simply by walking slowly through the woods, swinging a bright light through the treetops, searching for the glow of eyes.

Many ringtails also are trapped. A few are freed by packs of trained hounds. Regardless of the method used, the Texas hunter finds great pleasure in seeking the animal.
