WOODWORK

BY DALTON

A CHINESE WHO knows how to use one of the things claims that an abacus is better than a computer for much of his work—and he is a systems analyst, whatever that means. And whatever it means, it sounds like the sort of thing for which one might use a computer, so this speaks highly for the abacus.

Our next question, class, is what is an abacus? Well, it's an ancient Chinese invention, sort of the forerunner to the modern electronic digital computer. It consists of rows of wooden beads on wire strands. It can be used for addition, subtraction and multiplication, and quickly, by one who has been checked out on it. This fellow who claimed it was faster than a computer for many problems is named David Wang, and he did a five-number multiplication in just a few seconds, according to the Associated Press.

He carries one of the things with him. It's about 10 inches by five inches. And using it to check various figures, Wang is hardly ever wrong.

Personally, I've never seen an abacus, but I did see one on the television show, "Kathleen Jones." (I'll insert here the information that I always find that show, which should surprise those who know I like very little that is on TV). This Chinese lad on the show used one, and although I had heard of the device this was my first knowledge that the accent was on the first syllable (Ab'-a-cus) instead of my own pronunciation, A-bach'-us.

AT WHAT AGE should a person retire? Well, certainly there is no definite age for a person to quietly fold up his working tools and head for the resting chair. Because some people grow old, and others (I have known) were old from the time I first met them, even if in actual years they were only 25 or 30. In other words, some people are just naturally young and others naturally old.

The Young at Heart organization in this county is a fine example of people who are further along life's path than many others, perhaps, but who remain youthful and active in their thinking — much more so than many of the chronologically younger set. Such groups are an inspiration.

I WILL PASS up my football predictions this week since I can't seem to find my list of who is playing.

MRS. THOMAS GORDON TAYLOR

Wolf-Taylor Ceremony Read

Wedding vows for Mrs. July Loren Wolf and Thomas Gordon Taylor were solemnized Saturday evening, Oct. 9 at 7 p. m. in the First Baptist Church in Coahoma.

Officiating for the services was the Rev. Harvey Hahn, pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Hurlingham.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Wolf of Coahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor of Sudan.

Mrs. Jack Kimble of Big Spring sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Because". Organist was Mrs. Curtis Casey of Truscott. The bride sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned by her mother of white pique de robe featuring a scalloped neckline, fitted bodice and long petal point sleeves. Side panels complimented the belled skirt. The front of the gown and chapel train were appliqued with lace and re-embroidered with red pearls. The front veil was accented with a tailored tulle. A crown of seed pearls encircled with regular held her fingerly veil of illusion.

Her small bride was topped with a cascade of white Gladiolus showered with pearl leaves and pink roses. The maid of honor, Mrs. Kay Wolf of Coahoma, sister of the bride, wore a pink and coral velveteen dress fashioned with scalloped neckline and full pleated skirt. Her hairpiece was a baby pink chignon. She carried a large baby pink man beaded with ribbons and streamers.

Mrs. Cindy Taylor of Sudan, sister of the groom, and Mrs. James Anderson of Coahoma were bridesmaids and wore baby pink velveteen dresses styled identical to that of the maid of honor. Their head pieces were of coral as were the large bouquets they carried.

Best man was E. A. Newsome of Sudan and groomsmen were Mike Martin and Rickie Humphreys of Sudan.

Serving as usher was Mike Smith and Kennel May of Sudan. Lighting the tapers were Terri Wolf, sister of the bride, and Bobby Davis, cousin of the bride, of Big Springs.

Ring bearer was Jackie Kimble of Big Springs and the flower girl was Suzanne Erwin of Rowell.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlor and the table was decorated in the bride's chosen colors. A white ruffled net over a pink cloth covered the serving table highlighted with a bride and groom centerpiece with greenery, flanked with white candles in crystal holders. Crystal and silver appointments were used. The traditional third wedding ring was topped with a bride and groom. These in the company were Mrs. Harold Pinner and Mrs. E. W. Patterson of Coahoma, Mrs. Hilton Wilson of Searcy and Mrs. Curtis Latham of Tullis. Presiding at the register was Mrs. Deanna Smith.

For the wedding trip to Abilene the bride wore a moss green cashmere suit, black patent accessories and a carriage from the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of Coahoma High School where she was editor of the school paper, who's who, class favorite, member of FHA and secretary of the literary club.

The groom graduated from Sudan High School and was a member of the FFA, participated in football and other sports, and was named FHA boss.

The couple will make their home in Lubbock where he will attend Texas Tech and she will be employed. Their address is 2322 7th Street, Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor hosted the rehearsal dinner for members of the wedding party at the HiWay Cafe in Coahoma Friday evening. During the dinner the engaged couple presented gifts to their attendants. Approximately 25 were present.

Couple To Be Honored On Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Walker of Cleburne, N. M., and formerly of Dallas, are celebrating their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday, Oct. 17, 3-5 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church, Cleburne.

Rev. Walker was pastor of the First Methodist Church here from 1934 to 1937. He and Mrs. Walker also served as Wesleyan Union and Wesleyan Union of the Dallas Chapter 1905, Order of the Eastern Star.

During that time he was post-graduate of the State of Texas Order of the Eastern Star.

The couple are now living in Cleburne, where he is associate pastor of the First Methodist Church. They have one son of Albuquerque, N. M., and four grandchildren.

In reporting this news here, friends of the Walker's said "They are a beloved couple who have given much in service to their church and community, and we wish them many more happy anniversaries."

Guests at a church social meeting in Belmore, Rev. Walker presided at the following year which he had written, a copy being sent to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Salem:

"MY WIFE AND I"
My wife and I make a wonderful pair,
So long as we stay out of each other's hair.
I know it must be said for her to stay out of mine,
Yet, she's big and generous enough to think I'm fine.

I'm not perfect, this I surely know,
In my daily life it is bound to show.

But she keeps on telling me I'm the best,
Which makes me feel sorry for all the rest.

She may have been perfect from the start,
But living with me she lost part of the art.

So, the bulk of us here on perfect earth,
Let's be like in things if it isn't too late.

One has to know how to determine his wife,
When faced with replacement fees.

You can hold your tongue, be thoughtful and brave,
If, perhaps, the other chooses to leave.

When my wife turns a complaint in,
I simply get up and go
Not caring to be around,
I just amble down town.

While I'm gone she has time to settle down,
And really decides she'd rather have me around.
So, when I return she greets me with a grin,
And our little home is again a haven of bliss.

When I know my life she begins to cry,
And I could too if I'd half way try.

Because I deliberately made her sad,
And I'd begin to think how to make her glad.

We will soon be married fifty years,
I've been to town a lot, she has shed many tears.
Now my head is bald and her's is grey,
But we are still rejoicing along the way.

WHO MEETING HELD

Mrs. Max Ballou led the topic discussion, "Mandatory Message of the Bible" at the Bible Study held Monday evening by members of the W.M.U., First Baptist Church. Present were Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. James Arnold, Mrs. Margaret Nelson, Mrs. Halbert Harvey, Mrs. Oscar Vinton, and Mrs. L. F. Meeks.

Burglar Baffled

DALLAS — The first commercial application of a new glass designed to foil hit-and-run burglars proved its worth here recently. Attempts to smash a jewelry store window (see inset) to steal a valuable display of watches were futile. The theft-detering product is PPG Duplex H-4, a new glass with an aircraft type inter-layer of vinyl plastic that is four times as tough as that used in automobile safety glass.

TECH TO MEET OUR NEED SATURDAY

Texas Tech and Oklahoma State will collide here at 7:30 tomorrow night to officiate a weekend of football at Tech.

Stanley will be Tech's Day and Tech is in the midst of its Fourth Anniversary observance.

Also, Oklahoma State, the Red Sox, is a part of Tech's 10th anniversary. The two teams first met in 1935. Tech's 10th anniversary, and the Red Sox hold a 7-5-3 record. The last two games played here, in 1954 and 1955, were exciting 13-13 ties.

Among those from Tulsa attending the Tech-TCU football game Saturday evening in Lubbock were W. V. Tury, Doyle Weidman, Rev. Jack Riley, Ramsey Nichols, F. M. Smith, Ralph May, Jack Van Ness, Ronnie Gotwood, and Tom King. The wives of these went also.

SHOWER HONORS MRS. TAYLOR

Mrs. Judy Taylor, wife of the late of Tatum Taylor, was honored with a lovely shower Saturday afternoon, Oct. 8, in the home of Mrs. Lester Shanks. Guests called between three and four thirty.

Mrs. John Harmon of Littlefield registered the guests. Pink and white were the colors used for party decorations. Performing the serving hospitality were Mrs. Shanks, Mrs. Bob Martin, Mrs. Dorman Carter.

The hostess gift was an electric blanket. Hostesses included Misses Shanks, Martin, Harmon, W. C. Martin, B. A. Harremore, Joe Salem, G. W. Martin, and Paul Chisholm.

Rev. Mrs. Hazel House brought the message at Y. L. Methodist Church Sunday morning. Mrs. M. M. Gann returned home Tuesday after being confined in a Lubbock hospital. Mrs. Bonnie Bédins is a patient at the Medical Arts Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Nix were in Lubbock Monday to attend the funeral services of David Kline.

President Johnson's stilling bill is now about all that stands between the cotton industry and a new and drastically changed cotton program.

Senate and House differences in the omnibus farm bill which covers cotton, wheat, feed grains, dairy products, rice and wool have been resolved. The bill, numbered H-9811, is essentially what the administration wanted all along and the late law as soon as Congress completes action and he is released from the hospital.

Provisions for cotton are contained in Title IV of the bill. As near as can be determined before a printed version of the complete bill is available, here is what cotton farmers can look for in 1966, 1967, 1968, and 1969:

1. A loan price of 21 cents per pound on Middling-inch cotton at average location in 1966, and a loan price of no more than 90 percent of 'estimated' world price for each of the remaining three years.

2. A mandatory 12.5 percent acreage reduction for any producer wishing to participate in the program.

3. Two kinds of direct compensatory payments:

A. Price support payments, in 1966, of 9.42 cents per pound on projected yield from domestic allotment (65 percent of effective allotment). After 1966 the amount of this payment will be set by the Secretary, but the combined loan value plus the price support payment must equal 65 percent of parity on 87.5 percent of effective allotment. Parity is now 41.76 cents per pound, and is not likely to go down. So, if the Secretary reduces the loan price he will be obliged to raise the support payment.

B. Acreage diversion payments, in 1966, of 10.5 cents per pound on projected yield from diverted acres. After 1966 the diversion payment, too, will be set by the Secretary, but cannot be less than 25 percent of parity. Producers each year will be allowed to divert anywhere from the mandatory 12.5 percent up to 35 percent of effective allotment.

4. One half of direct payments may be made at the time the producer signs up to participate in the program. The other half will be made at the Secretary's discretion.

5. Projected yield will be determined by means of a moving average adjusted to reflect trends and uncontrollable circumstances, but it is not specified how many years will be used for this purpose. Presumably the Secretary can use two, three, four or five years.

6. Secretary will make 250,000 acres available for planting by farmers who want to overplant allotments and forego loan and payments. All cotton grown by those who take this route must be exported, and a performance bond probably will be required as under the current program. Method of apportioning this acreage to individual producers is not clear.

7. Sale and transfer of allotments between growers will be permitted within the state. A two-thirds majority vote in a county referendum will be required; however, before allotments can move across county lines, and the Secretary is instructed insofar as possible to hold such referendums in connection with the annual cotton marketing referendum. No sale or transfer of allotments will be permitted between January 1 and June 1 of any year. No restrictions are in the bill itself on movement of allotments between farms of the same ownership. However, such movement will likely be subject to ASC committee approval and the Secretary could impose restrictions through these committees.

8. Small farmers with allotments of 10 acres or less or with proven yields from total allotment of less than 3600 pounds of lint may plant their entire allotment and still qualify for the 21 cent loan, 9.42 cents per pound support payment on 65 percent of allotment and 10.5 cents per pound diversion payment on 35 percent. If these small farmers actually divert 35 percent of their allotments, they will be eligible for an additional diversion payment of 10.5 cents.

9. Cropland adjustment program provides the Secretary wide authority to retire whole farms from five to ten years. He is given $200 million for this purpose, with some restriction as to the percentage of cropland that can be retired within a county.

10. Cotton allotment holders can release 65 percent of their acres to county committees and receive a land diversion payment from the other 35 percent without planting cotton at all.

11. No change in present release and re-planting regulations as such. But sale and transfer of allotments, cropland adjustment and provision number 10 above will obviously curtail the number of acres released.

12. The Secretary will be prohibited from selling CCC stock cotton at less than 110 percent of the loan price, except if he determines that production in any year will be less than 60 percent, in which case he can sell CCC stocks at market price.

These are some of the basic provisions in the bill pertaining to cotton. Other provisions, as well as administrative regulations from USDA, will have much to do with the final effects of the bill on High Plains cotton producers and cotton production. They will have to be studied as they become available.

The South Plains Cotton harvest is off to a slow start this year. The Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture closed 4,700 samples during the week ending Friday, October 8th, according to W.K. Palmer, Chairman of the office. This brought the total samples classed for the season to only 7,200. At this date last year 13,000 samples had been classed.

'66 CAPRICE
BY CHEVROLET

Caprice Custom Coupe—with exclusive formal roof line that comes on no other Chevrolet.

Caprice Custom Sedan—with superb new Body by Fisher elegance inside and out.

Caprice Custom Wagon—with fine new look of hardwood paneling on sides and tailgate

Everything it takes to create a distinguished luxury car has gone into these new Caprices.

Beneath the formal styling elegance that sets the Custom Coupe apart, for instance, you'll find thick wall-to-wall carpeting, comfort-contoured seats and the look of hand-rubbed walnut on the instrument panel, glove compartment and inside door panels. You can order a finely instrumented console, together with new Strato-bucket front seats.

In the Custom Sedan, a new Strato-back front seat is available with bucket-type contours separated by a fold-down armrest. And in the equally opulent Custom Wagons, offered in 2- or 3-seat models, you can even order carpeting for the cargo area.

Each model rides super Jet-smooth. And for incomparably smooth power, you can specify Chevrolet's advanced Turbo-Jet V8 in either a 396- or 427-cubic-inch version.

The price of it all? Somewhat more than you're used to paying for a Chevrolet. But less, as your dealer will happily confirm—than the select class of fine cars these new Caprices invite comparison with in every detail.

1935 Study Club Has Meeting

"Parliamentary Procedure" was the subject topic at the meeting of the 1935 Study club held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Jack Riley. Co-hostess was Mrs. Max Bullock.

Mrs. Terry was program director and Mrs. Gordon Taylor presented a paper on "Parliamentary Procedure". Mrs. Nichols discussed "Constitution and Duties of the Club Officers." Mrs. Smith answered the roll call with a discussion of "Current News of Our Nation". Mrs. Marvin Tollett's topic was "Space".

The motto for the evening was "Life is not too short but that there is always time for courtesy".

The project for the evening was "Donations to Penny Art and Penny Music Funds."

Mrs. Hay presided at the business meeting when plans were made for the club to have a fishing pond at the annual Halloween carnival. Mrs. Hay closed the meeting with the reading of the Club Collect.

Other activities during the evening included the signing of a "Get-Well" card to be sent to Ben and Mrs. Willie Hunt.

Present were Misses May, Nichols, Taylor, Tollett, Smith, Terry, Barnett, Getwood, Hancock, F. M. Smith, Beulah Wiseman, Sara Woods, and R. D. Mix.

BY HAZEL HOUSE

"O, WHY WILL YE DIE?"

Scripture: St. John 3:16; Romans 10:9, 10; 14:6.
For fear of—these three words could describe actions of many persons today. Quite a few people would seek the truth more often today, I think, if they were not afraid. For fear of being laughed at by the people around them; for fear of having to give up something of physical or material value which they have held on to for so long; for fear of ridicule or being left alone; for fear of...

Do you know the truth, or are you afraid to face the Truth? Do you know how to live, or just today live forever? If you know how to live forever, do you know how to talk others out of it?

Christians may think need to go back to their "that water" evangelism. Possibly because in so doing we would just have to tell our neighbors in being saved from a miserable hopelessness and death into joy and love and eternal life. We need to tell others in a way that is not confusing to someone who does not know the way, and is lost.

If I am searching for a way to get to a certain place (and especially if I do not have a map), I want to get my instructions from someone who knows the way. I want to be told how to go, in such a manner that I can know which way to go.

Some persons, when starting to give directions, seem to get confused and by the time they get through telling me how to get there, I almost wish I had never asked them in the first place.

I am afraid too often we clutter up the way into eternal life with a lot of words and terminology which may be understood only by other Christians, and thereby the lost one becomes even more confused. So I know there are those who have heard, but actually do not know the way into eternal life—how to get there, I mean.

If we would be honest, each of us would have to say we do not want to die, but we want to live forever in a place where there is no death, no pain, no hate, no darkness, but only joy, light, peace and love. Since I know the way, I want to tell you that way.

Therefore, which way? Simple instructions, difficult to understand. The second is, however, that this eternal life is yours now immediately you start upward.

The plan for eternal life is a good one. God made it just fulfilled and completed it. You can have life eternal only as a free gift, if you will take Jesus.

Do you really want to live forever? Jesus is the way, the truth, and the life. You cannot buy one moment of life, but God will give you life eternally, if you will follow His plan. For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believeth in Him...

Whoever means me, and it means you. With the heart man believes, with the mouth Christ is confessed as your Savior unto salvation.

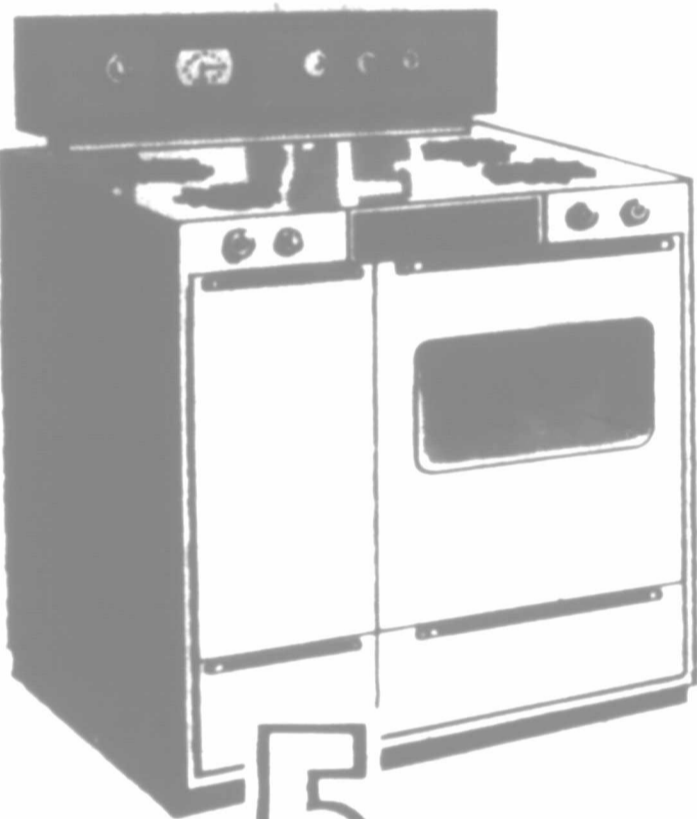

Why not choose to live forever! The truth is absolute and unchangeable. If Jesus Christ is anything, He is the truth.

Stir up the gift of God, which is in thee. (II Tim. 1:6)

When we feel capable of doing more than we have done, let us not feel defeated. Know that the Christ Spirit is urging us to stir up the gifts that are latent within us, ready to be used. Stir up those spiritual gifts as a painter stirs the pigment in the can bringing unsuspected brilliance to a drab color.

PTA Renews Invitation: Join Now!

As 50,000,000 American children move forward in the current school year, their parents and teachers will receive an invitation, issued to the nation, to join the PTA.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers now has under way its annual membership enrollment, aiming to add new members as it tackles 11 "critical issues" that affect children today — issues such as financing public education, educating for a changing society, helping disadvantaged children, waging the peace and coping with the responsibility of parenthood, including sex education.

This undertaking, to be carried out in a three-year action program, "will tax PTA resources to the utmost," says National PTA President Mrs. Josephine Moorhead. "It is not too much to say that the outcomes of these issues will have far-reaching, fateful consequences for our nation and its children."

A sample of the PTA's effectiveness in action—specifically, action to help disadvantaged children—was its Drive for Ap-palachia program of early 1955, when, in five months, PTA's throughout the country collected more than 1,100,000 children's books and sent them, in bookcase boxes to the hundreds of barren, one- and two-room schools in the Appalachian mountains.

"This was a special project," Mrs. Moorhead recalls, "and our routine programs can be equally effective in advancing children's Magazine, used as a basic text by PTA-sponsored study-discussion groups in many communities. In other scheduled articles, parents will be given suggestions on how to prepare for a conference with the teacher, as well as challenging views on IQ tests, ability grouping and student cheating.

The PTA's official magazine also provides regular services to thoughtful parents: previews of motion pictures—graded for children, adolescents and adults; reviews of television programs along with names of their sponsors; regular reports on "what's happening in education" and news of medical developments that affect children's health.

All is information that will be used by PTA's as they program their current attack on critical issues. Other matters on that action calendar are equalizing educational opportunity; clarifying the responsibilities for educational decision-making; extending and strengthening community services;

Combating moral, spiritual, and civic apathy; eliminating certain health and safety hazards and safeguarding individual rights and liberties.

YOUNG HOMEMAKERS MEET THURSDAY

The Young Homemakers of Sudan met Thursday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p. m. in the Homemaking Cottage with Hal Wills, cosmetician from San Angelo, as special guest. Other guests at the meeting included Edith Bryant of Littlefield and Adline Schaeffer of Lubbock, also connected with the cosmetic company displaying their products.

Betty Withrow, president, presided at the business meeting when it was announced that the organization will have the convention at the Halloween carnival.

Refreshments were served by Kay Wiseman and Beverly Burger.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. on Nov. 1.

W SCS MEETS

Mrs. W. V. Terry led the program at the meeting of the W SCS First Methodist Church, when the subject topic was "Participation on War and Poverty".

Mrs. Frank Lane, President, presided at the business meeting. Serving as hostess was Mrs. W. H. Lyle who served rolls with coffee.

Present were Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Lyle, Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Finberton, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Purmaner, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Matt Nix, Mrs. Joe Burt Mathman, Mrs. Shelby Morris, Mrs. Bruce Newman, Mrs. J. W. Louie, and Mrs. Ralph May.

From the Bible

I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shall go.—(Psalms 32:8)

Every problem has its perfect answer in the Mind of God, but we must be quiet all our thoughts long enough so that we hear the answer. God is always speaking the perfect word of guidance for each moment as it comes, but we must listen for this guidance.

Don't you know we're only brothers,
When we're really one at heart;
How we differ from all others
Is the way we play our part.
Love we have for one another,
That's the way we really know
That we're one another's brother,
And how far for each we'd go.

Treatment for Burns
Camp burns can be treated with at least two common substances that doctors suggest.
First is tea. Tannic acid in tea soothes blistered skin and is excellent for treatment of sunburn.
Second is the white of an egg.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

MAKING A GUN RACK—A home-made gun rack can be a thing of beauty. Furthermore the cost can be held to a minimum, if you will scout around the shops.

Just find an old-fashioned used glass-door bookcase desk, take out the shelves and replace with clamps for gun barrels. Leave the drawers as they are to hold accessories.

Desk slab serves as a good workbench.

CAMOUFLAGING A HUNTING JACKET—You don't have to buy expensive camouflage clothing to go hunting.

You can create the same effect by taking an old hunting coat and canvas cap and scrawling all sorts of zig-zag heavy lines and spots in greens, browns and blacks on the cloth. Use grease pencils or the kids' crayolas.

After drawing the designs, run a hot iron over the backside of the cloth. This will set the colors and make a good waterproof jacket and cap, perfectly camouflaged.

WHEN VARMINT HUNTING—An ordinary sponge makes a good gun rest when varmint hunting. Attach sponge with rubber bands to the forearm of gunstock.

DURABLE TENT PEGS—You can buy 1/2-inch steel concrete reinforcing rods cheaply at most junk yards. Get a few and cut them into 12-inch lengths for use as tent pegs.

These pegs can be driven into hard, even frozen, ground without splitting. And they won't slip.

EMERGENCY CAMP LAMP—For emergencies always carry in your car two alligator clips, a standard lamp socket, a 6/12-volt—15/25-watt bulb, and a length of flexible, extension cord, lamp wire.

Then if you need a light, you can rig up one quickly from your car battery by attaching clips to one end of extension cord, bulb to the other.

Clamp clips to battery terminals and the bulb will light.

MORE ACTION FROM LURES—Carry along in your tackle box a supply of buttons of assorted shapes, colors and sizes. Then, when you want a more zippy jig just thread a button in front of the lure.

You can vary the action by using different button sizes.
