NUMBER 52

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

THE EMPIRE STATE building, we are told, contains enough floor space for a city of 80,000 persons.

Probably has the world's tired-est cleaning woman, too.

IT SEEMS THAT every other youngster aged 12 to 20 these days plays electric guitar—all exactly the same way.

If all these string-twangers who try to play like the Rolling Stones instead of like the Atkins were laid end to end, we'd have more peace and quiet.

IN RECENT YEARS, the automobile makers must have signed some kind of mutual agreement not to sue each other no matter what one says about the other in its advertising.

For years, in the style of "Brand X" advertising, the car ads would compare their own models with Car A, Car B, etc. Nowadays, they come right out and compare their car with Ford, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Chrysler or whatever the opposition has to offer.

Then the other company comes out with an ad using some other basis of comparison and showing their own car to be the best.

What this means is simply that everyone will still buy the kind of car they prefer, and quite often the final choice is made on performance for the man selling the car more than for the car itself, especially in a small town.

SURE SIGNS that one isn't as young as one once was is when one of the oldtimers in show business dies and nobody except you seems to remember them.

Billy Rose and Sophie Tucker both died last week. Some of the people around the office where I spend my time had heard only vaguely of Sophie Tucker.

And a typical conversation between me and these young adults regarding Billy Rose went something like this:

"Check the files and see if we have a one-column mat of Billy Rose. He died."
 "Okay. Who is Billy Rose?"
 "Who is Billy Rose? (Incredulously) Why, he was a famous, uh... showman."
 "Never heard of him. What did he show?"
 "Well, I don't recall offhand. But he was once married to Fanny Brice."
 "Who was Fanny Brice?"
 "Well, you know — Baby Snooks."
 "Who was Baby Snooks?"
 "Never mind. (Then desperately) Rose also was married to Eleanor Holm."
 "Who was Eleanor Holm?"

Kinda reminds me of the story about Willie Mays. A sports writer interviewed him, and at the end of the talk, he asked Willie:

"Do you think you'll ever break Ruth's record?" To which Willie replied, "Sure".
 And as the writer strolled off, Mays called out a question of his own:
 "Ruth who?"

Two Vacancies To Be Filled In School Board Election

The Sudan School Board Election, to elect two new board members, has been set for April 2.

The election was called at the regular meeting of the school board Monday, Feb. 14.

Two of the present board members will be retiring after serving their three-year terms. These two are Willey Mudgett, president of the board, and Noeland Parrish, vice president.

The five hold-over members are Guy Walden, secretary, Leroy Fisher, W. C. Masten, Frank Lane and Marvin Bowling.

Anyone desiring to run for a place on the school board, Sudan School Superintendent W. E. Hancock said in making this announcement, must file by Thursday, March 3, in the office of the superintendent. All school board candidates must file 30 days prior to the election date, April 2.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN TO MEET THURSDAY

The Sudan members of the Lamb County League of Democratic Women will be hostess for the meeting to be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Community Center. Mrs. R. D. Nix is Lamb County vice president of the league.

Mr. Hamilton, Springlake school teacher, will be speaker for the meeting and refreshments will be served.

LOCAL SCOUTS WIN PONIES IN CONTEST

Three members of the Sudan Scout Troop 635 won ponies recently in a member enlisting contest within their troop.

Ponies were awarded to Brad West, Reagan Baker, Ernest Paul Gage. The Shetland ponies were donated by Burnice May who is also donating three ponies to the Cub Scouts. Rules for the cub-scout contest will be announced at a later date.

Banquet Honors Cub Scouts

The annual Blue and Gold Banquet for Cub Scout Pack 635 was held Thursday night in the School Cafeteria when the theme was "American Heritage".

Members of the four dens presented a skit on care and proper display methods of the American Flag.

Skinny Gage, outgoing cubmaster, introduced the new Cubmaster Gordon Taylor. Gage gave the invocation and Thomas Lee Harper gave the benediction. Den Mothers are Den 4—Mrs. Harold May; Den 1—Mrs. Thomas Lee Harper and Mrs. Louis Fields; Den 2—Mrs. Glenn Chester and Mrs. Dale Hanna; Den 3—Mrs. Lendel Harlin and Mrs. Powell Legg.

Gage, who has been cubmaster for 3 1/2 years, resigned to become Scoutmaster for Sudan Troop 635 which has been reorganized and meets each Monday night in the Community Center. The Scout troop is being sponsored by the Sudan Volunteer Fire Department but look forward to support from other local organizations also.

District Layman's Banquet Scheduled

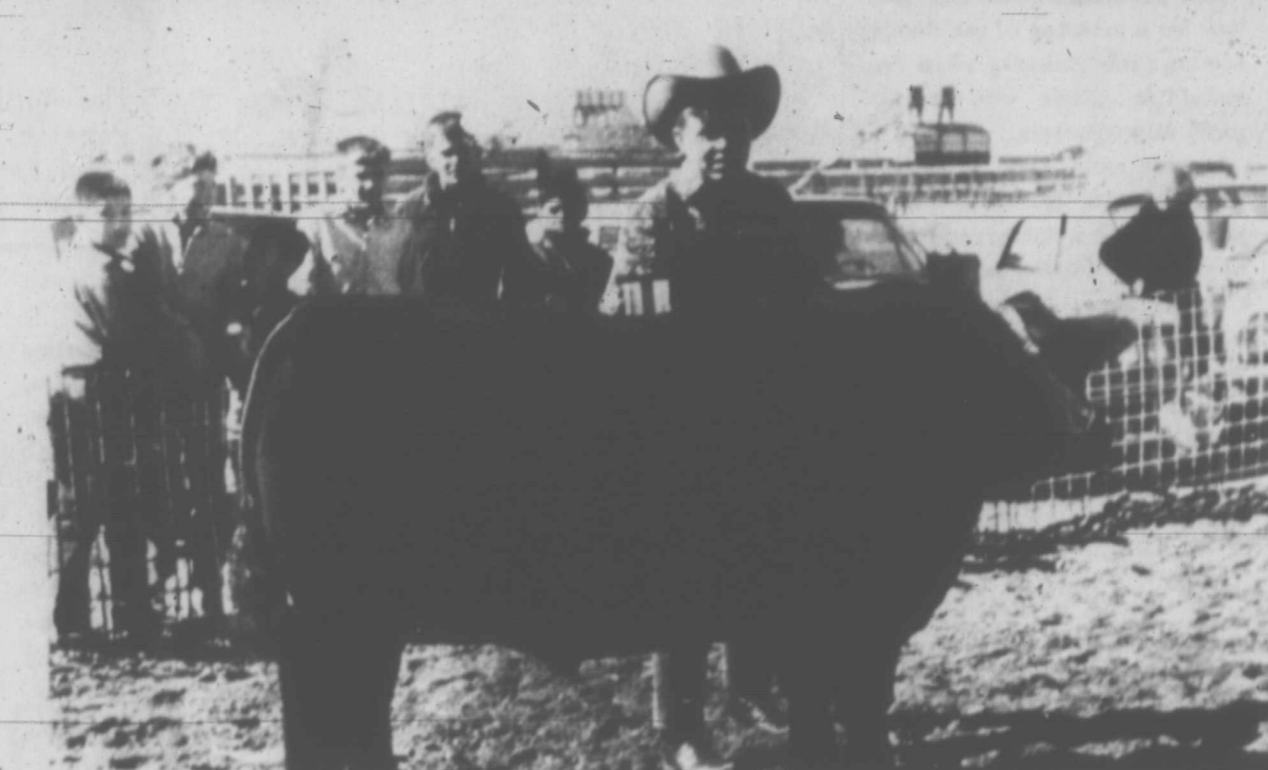

The annual district layman's banquet is scheduled to be held at the First Methodist Church, Plainview, on Friday, February 18, beginning at 7 p. m. Dr. Paul Bumpers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Lubbock, will be the guest speaker. All men of the local Methodist Church are urged to attend this banquet. It is always one of the highlights in the laymen's activities.

Any boy age 11 through high school age, who wishes to become a scout is urged to attend one of the meetings.

The Cub Scouts are sponsored by the Sudan Jaycees.

PROJECTS SHOW WINNERS NAMED

The Showmanship Award was presented to Alvin Benton Saturday at the Annual 4-H-FFA Projects Show held in Sudan at the Livestock Barn.

Benton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Benton, is a freshman student at Sudan High School. Although it was his first time to show an animal he won the award due to his care and cleanliness of his pen, his ability to show his animal to the best advantage, and his general attitude during the entire show.

Rodney Bowling won Grand Champion Beef with his Angus steer. Others receiving prizes in the beef division were:

STEERS - Rodney Bowling, first; Vicki Ray, second; Bowling, third.

HEIFERS - Cary Logan, first; Rodney Bowling, second; Tracy Bowling, third.

In the Swine Division Phelps Blume won Grand Champion with his heavy barrow. Each of the four classes in this division named three winners. They were:

LIGHT GILTS - Barry Potter, first; David Williams, second; Damon Provence, third.

HEAVY GILTS - David Williams, first; R. D. Nix, second; Barry Potter, third.

LIGHT BARROWS - Mickey Gilbert, first; Alvin Benton, second; Dexter Baker, third.

HEAVY BARROWS - Phelps Blume, first; Bill Black, second; Phelps Blume, third.

Phil Farmer's lamb was named Grand Champion in the Lamb Division and also won first place with Kevin May receiving the second place ribbon and Mark Hanna, third.

E. G. Gaston, vocational agricultural teacher at Springlake High School, was show judge and is reported to have done a fine job.

Don Ham, FFA advisor, said that the show was well attended with 35 entries. The entries were fewer than last year but it is believed that a higher quality of animals were showed.

Ham announced that a great number of Sudan residents are due credit for the success of the show. This includes the Young Farmers Organization who readied the barn and aided in many ways throughout the show, and a special thanks to the merchants who supplied the prize money.

Merchants giving donations included Central Compress, Feeder's Grain Inc., Lumpkin Foods, The First National Bank, Bowman Insurance Agency, Fairview Gin, Fertilizer Sales and Equipment, Foxworth-Galbraith, Nix & Grigby Delinting, O. K. Tire Service, Farmer's Co-op Assn., Lamb County Butane, Joe Foster, Melton Cleaners, Doty's Garage, Western Mills, Frank Rowe, Copal's Cleaners, Baccus Chevrolet, Brown Implement, Whiteaker Insurance, Olin Nix Implement Co., Sudan Motor Co.

Ham stated that some of the animals winning prizes in the Sudan show will be entered in the Lamb County show to be held in Littlefield this weekend and later in the Lubbock show which will be held in March.

Again the 4-H and FFA members wish to express their thanks to all responsible for the success of the annual 4-H-FFA Projects Show.

Congressman Walter Rogers To Be Honored At Reception

Congressman Walter Rogers, a veteran of eight terms in U. S. House of Representatives and second ranking majority member on the House Committee of Interstate and Foreign Commerce, will be honored at a reception, Monday, Feb. 21 at 7 p. m. in a Littlefield Community Center.

The reception is being conducted by members of the Lamb County League of Democratic Women and the Young Democrats of Lamb County and is being held to give the people an opportunity to meet and get acquainted with the Congressman for this area, as Lamb and Bailey Counties move into the 19th Congressional District.

Rogers, chairman of the Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation will be making his second trip to this area since the redistricting became effective. However, this will be the first time that he has the opportunity to visit the people and become better acquainted with their problems.

In making the announcement of the reception, Mrs. R. D. Nix vice president of the Lamb County League of Democratic Women, said this would not be a partisan meeting and that it is to be open to the public.

This reception is for all the residents of Lamb County and delegations are expected from each community in the county.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Marvin Bowling was confined last week to a hospital in Littlefield.

NOTICE Of City Election

This is City Election year and any person wishing to run for either mayor or city councilman must file by March 5, 1966. A mayor and two councilmen will be elected.

Sudan City Election is set for April 5, 1966.

Rotary Banquet Held Tuesday

The annual Rotary Ann Banquet was held Tuesday night at the Sudan High School Cafeteria. The publicity committee announced that some 50 Rotarians and guests attended.

Kenneth Bruggess, president of the Rotary Club, was master of ceremonies.

The tables were decorated by Mrs. W. E. Hancock and Mrs. Nolan Parrish with the Rotary theme being carried out in all table decorations.

Included in the evenings activities was the program which was given by Mrs. Otis Holiday of Olton, reviewing a Broadway play "The Rainmakers".

Guy Walden was presented a Rotary 15-year perfect attendance pin. Reed Markham made the presentation.

All Rotary Anns were given a brooch made up with the Rotary Emblem, and the Rotary Sweetheart, Miss Donna Gaston, was presented the sweetheart pin.

Members of the program committee for the banquet were chairman Nolan Parrish, W. E. Hancock and Rev. Jack Riley.

Study Club Has Valentine Meeting

"Today's Valentine" was the theme for the program at the meeting of the 1935 Study Club held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. C. E. Nichols with Mrs. Wesley Hargeshimer as hostess.

A book review "Love is Eternal" by Irving Stone was given by Mrs. Kenneth Wiseman.

"It is books that teach us to refine our pleasures when young and to recall them with satisfaction when we are old" was the motto for the evening given by the program director, Mrs. J. W. Olds.

Project for the meeting was Valentine's for Shut-ins.

Mrs. J. M. Bullock answered roll call with the topic "Vacations in the United States"; Mrs. C. E. Nichols gave "Community Improvement"; Mrs. F. M.

HOUSE TO VOTE ON POLL TAX BILL

Bill Clayton, member of the State House of Representatives from Springlake, reported this week that the House is meeting in a special session at the present time and that the governor has indicated that he did not wish to open his call to any other legislative matter except the voter registration matter.

A bill was introduced and co-sponsored by 84 members of the House and referred to the State Affairs Committee of which Clayton is a member.

The bill requires the annual registration of all voters with no registration fees required.

Date of registration will be the same with Jan. 31 set as the registration deadline.

The bill also provides for a 15-day registration period to be held in March for residents who did not pay their poll tax this year but who wish to vote in the coming elections.

Clayton said that the continuity of the bill is provided for in two separate acts. First, in case that the Supreme Court upholds the ruling of a lower court out-lawing the poll tax as being unconstitutional. The Attorney General has appealed the recent court ruling to the Supreme Court.

Second, the people of Texas can vote to abolish the State poll tax in the November election.

Clayton said that he anticipates that the House will pass the bill by next week with the necessary two-thirds majority. And if the Senate acts as quickly the special session could end next week. However, if opposition arises or a filibuster occurs, the session could last the full thirty days allotted for this special session.

A public hearing concerning this bill was conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Austin, with anyone who wished to testify being able to do so.

Upon receiving a two-thirds majority of both the House and the Senate, the bill will be put into effect immediately.

CAGERS CLOSE OUT SEASON WITH WINS

Both teams for Sudan closed out the season with wins against Silverton and Farwell.

The girls defeated Silverton 50-23 Friday after being beaten in January by the Silverton fems, 35-31. The halftime score was Sudan 20, Silverton 9 and the guards held Silverton to a final low score even though reserve guards played most of the last half.

Joyce Williams led the scoring for Sudan with 14 points, Sharon Baker scored 13 and Vicki Masten 9.

Sudan met Farwell here Monday night in a make-up game and defeated them 52-41 with both Joyce Williams and Vicki Masten scoring 22 points each.

In the boys game against Silverton, Corley Baker led the scoring with 16 points followed by Mike Bellar, Danny Martin and Ronnie Hill with 14 points each. The final score was Sudan 69, Silverton 54.

The Hornets closed out the season with a 5-5 record by downing Farwell 84-82 Monday night. Farwell led at the end of the first half, 46-40 and the lead went from one team to the other with Sudan coming out on top at the final whistle.

LETA WARREN NAMED HOMEMAKER OF TOMORROW

Leta I. Warren, Sudan High School student, has been named 1966 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow of Sudan and will represent her school in the state contest.

Miss Warren scored highest in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by senior girls Dec. 7 and is now eligible for state and national scholarship awards. She has already earned a special award pin from the program's sponsor, General Mills.

Test papers of all school winners in the state are being judged and a State Homemaker of Tomorrow and runner-up will be selected soon. The State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 college scholarship, and her school will be awarded a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica. The second ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 educational grant.

Next spring, the State Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow from every state, each accompanied by a school advisor will join in an expense paid tour and the all-American homemakers will be announced at a dinner in Washington D. C.

Green Thumb Tips

Do you know that sweet alyssum seeds may be sown in pots indoors and within a few weeks will open white flowers if set close to the glass of a sunny window?

Assuming you brought a bushel basket of potting soil in to the house last fall, use some of it to fill a flower pot over an inch of any roughage such as gravel or broken pot pieces. Firm the soil lightly, scatter seeds on top, cover with a sprinkle of soil (no more than 1/4 inch) and keep watered as necessary.

If you live where soil is unfrozen at times during winter you should harvest parsnips during every open spell. It doesn't pay to leave them until spring for if they start growing again their taste is going to be bitter when you eat them. Just as the starch in the roots changes to sugar when frost arrives in fall, so the sugar changes back to starch with a new season's growth.

The reason many people do not like the taste of parsnips is that they've eaten them after the sugar-starch change.

FISHING'S 5 SENSES

Anyone who tries to put down a few basic rules on fishing will probably find it difficult to accomplish in the proverbial "25 words or less."

The fishing experts at Mercury outboards have tried to meet that challenge by reducing the general reminders of successful fishing to just five words.

Deliberately simplified, these rule-ideas are keyed to man's five senses: hearing, seeing, smelling, feeling and tasting. Let's run through the list.

HEARING — That's how fish detect careless fishermen during the day, but how anglers find the lunkers at night.

SIGHT — The ability to see fish usually works to the fish's advantage... he sees the fisherman first. The angler must use his eyes to observe shore and stream characteristics, and locate fish-holding locations ahead.

FEELING — Rather than a strictly physical sensation, this is the ability to "sense" a waiting fish, a feeble nibble, or anticipate a strike. In casting, it's the properly timed back-swing, the gently thumbed pool, or the feathered line. Incidentally, fish "hear" by feel.

SMELLING — While an unsympathetic spouse may have some words on this matter, the fisherman can use the fish's sense of smell to good advantage by selecting the choicest baits or garnishing artificial lures with a delectable morsel.

The final category, TASTE, say the Mercury lads, is what's enjoyed by the entire family after you've followed the rules.

So, keep your fishing procedures attuned to the cryptic "five senses" — both yours and the fish's.

This is about a Chevelle—a very special one—with a bulging hood, a black grille and red stripe nylon tires. Start it up and you've tuned in on 396 cubic inches of Turbo-Jet V8.

Get it moving and suddenly you're a driver again. With gears to shift. A clutch to work. Even a set of gauges to read, if specified.

Now take a curve, surrounded by a machine that delights in crooked roads.

This, you see, is an SS 396. A Chevelle, yes. But what a Chevelle.

Devotional

By HAZEL HOUSE

IS THERE "A STRANGER AT THE DOOR?"

Scripture: St. Matthew 7:12-14; Isaiah 53: 6; St. Luke 24: 15, 16.

If Jesus came to our town
And walked up our Main Street
I wonder if you'd know Him
If you by chance should meet?

Would you see the nail prints
In Jesus' loving hand,
Would you feel as you passed by,
His Power, and Love for man.

If Jesus came to your house
And knocked at your front door,
Would you take time to ask Him in
Or would you Him ignore?

If Jesus came to our church,
And sought to find you there
I wonder if you'd know Him
Or if you'd really care?

If Jesus came to our town
Would we go our own way
Too busy with our own thoughts
Of things we planned that day?

If Jesus spoke to your heart
In a voice so small, so still,
I wonder if you'd hear Him
And answer "Yes! I will".

If Jesus spoke in tones so loud
The earth would shake like thunder,
And in the quiet after storm
You'd hear and heed—I wonder!

Would you know Jesus, Son of God,
Who died that we might live,
Who set us free from sin and death,
His joy, His peace and love to give.

Our Living Lord today is here,
He calls "Come, Follow Me",
And all who hear and answer "Yes!"
Will live Eternally!

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
From the Bible
Pray one for another—
(James 5:16)

If there is someone we wish to see made whole and perfect, in need of prosperity, success or happiness? Is there someone we wish to see exercise wisdom and good judgment in conducting his affairs? What ever need another person may have, we pray for him. We pray knowing that God is present and works unceasingly in and through the one for whom we pray.

Texans will have a heavier general election ballot next November than usual with the appearance of 16 proposed Constitutional Amendments on the voting agenda.

In the public drawing in Austin, Secretary of State Crawford C. Martin drew numbers from a hat to determine the sequence in which the amendments will appear on the November 8 ballot.

At the top of the ballot, getting the Number One designation, is the amendment "to provide that all land owned by natural persons designated for agricultural use shall be assessed for all tax purposes on the consideration of only those factors relative to such agricultural use."

Other proposed amendments are less confusing in their text.

Some of the others, and their number on the ballot, are: Abolishment of the poll tax (Number 7), allowing members of the Armed Forces who are residents of Texas to vote (Number 14) and $200,000,000 in water development bonds (Number 11).

All together, the proposed amendments contain about 14,300 words.

To help Texans understand the proposed Amendments, they will be published in Texas newspapers beginning in August.

The Russians Had A Way With Redwood

That rustic chapel in the upper left hand corner is a real old-timer. Built by the Russians in 1812 as part of the Fort Ross complex in Northern California, it was one of the first redwood structures in the area constructed of split boards from the trees that form its setting. Although damaged slightly by the earthquake of 1906, the chapel was restored — using the original redwood boards — in 1929 and is a feature of the State Historical Park today.

The Muscovites were among the first white settlers to use redwood in their building but obviously a material that can withstand the rugged coastal climate with its damp, fog-drenched days for more than 150 years is a material to consider for a modern-day home in the same area. For that matter, in any part of the country where extremes of weather or decay-producing elements must be considered in addition to aesthetic qualities, redwood is ideal.

Award-winning architect Charles Warren Callister put durable, beautiful redwood to use in board-on-board siding combined with cedar shakes in the distinctive residence that has been dubbed "Little Fort Ross" by the neighbors. (The second-growth redwoods that flourished after the Russians had cut the original forest are now of sufficient size to be used again as lumber.) The wide variety of redwood siding patterns and finishes is described in a colorful new idea booklet published by the California Redwood Association. Redwood Siding, incorporating a fingertip guide to siding selection, can be obtained by sending 10¢ to Dept. ARS, 617 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

CREATIVE CAREERS

by Ruth Wade Ray

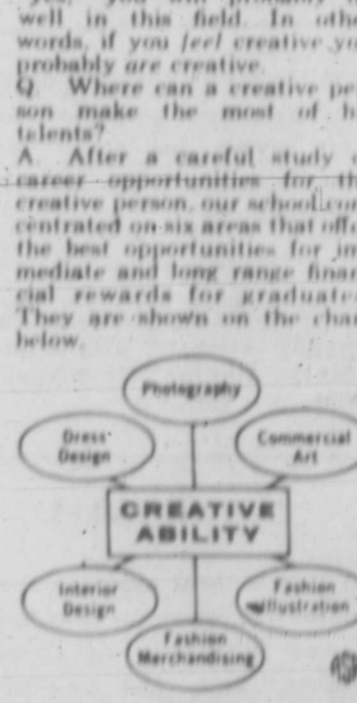

Ruth Wade Ray, Director of Ray-Vogue Schools, the oldest professional arts school in the U. S., now beginning its 50th year, answers high school senior questions about continuing their education in the creative arts.

Q: How can I tell whether I have creative talent?

A: You can test yourself or ask your high school counselor to give you a creativity test. Ask yourself: "Do I like to do things in an unusual way, bringing my own personality to bear on the project at hand? And, 'Do I like to think up new ideas?' If the answer to both is 'yes,' you will probably do well in this field. In other words, if you feel creative you probably are creative."

Q: Where can a creative person make the most of his talents?

A: After a careful study of career opportunities for the creative person, our school concentrated on six areas that offer the best opportunities for immediate and long range financial rewards for graduates. They are shown on the chart below.

Q: If I decide on a creative career, how much schooling will I need after high school? A: For most careers, two years of full-time study. This is true in the fields of Interior Design, Dress Design, Commercial Art, or Fashion Illustration. Photography and Fashion Merchandising require only one year of full-time schooling. Q: If I want more information on a professional arts career, where is the best place to find it? A: Your high school counselor will be able to help you. And you can get further information to Student Councilor Ray-Vogue Schools, 750 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611. Specify which area interests you—otherwise you'll receive general information.

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

To paraphrase the song, "For it's a Long, Long Time from New Year's Day until trout season," for most of us, when the cold winds of mid-winter drift the snow knee-deep in the driveway and even the dog isn't anxious to go out any more, the average fisherman becomes a little difficult to live with. He says crazy things like "It's the end of the world, spring will never come again." Then it's time to think about a quick vacation to other climes.

Most people will head south. They take along their regular Mitchell and Ambassador fresh water fishing outfits and have a ball with bonefish in the Bahamas, barracuda in Bermuda, pompano in Palm Beach, or mackerel by Miami.

But the angler looking for something different might consider going West or even North! The steelhead fishing is at its peak in the Pacific Northwest and the north border lakes country offers the best in ice fishing, as well as skiing, skating, ice boating, and other winter sports.

Both the steelheader and ice fisherman will need a line which will not be affected by near-freezing water temperatures. We've always found Platyl monofilament perfect for these conditions. It doesn't stiffen up and turn brittle, like some. Garvis has just come out with a new monofilament called Bonnyl, which is even better, according to early reports.

Cold weather angling calls for special clothing like insulated boots, waders, and underwear. Hand warmers and "hot seats" make a lot of sense too.

Regardless of whether you head north or south, or stay in your own backyard during the cold months, the fisherman can usually enjoy his sport in some degree. Anything to help him endure those inactive months will be appreciated by those who have to live with him. Happy fishing!

"About all children are deprived of nowadays is self-reliance."

By Mary Whitman

"It always seemed somewhat magical to me to make dimensional objects from flat paper," says artist Lois Ehlert.

So she settled down one day to produce thirty-seven animals that a child could cut from flat paper, fold, and stand up. The result was a substantial play-book called Scissor Shapes, released by Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wis., world's largest producer of children's activity items. Youngsters can color the animals with crayon, reinforce them with light cardboard if they like, stand them on windowsills or put them in cages.

A mobile-making book was another idea she devised, so the child could punch-out colored shapes, tie them with yarn, and hang them up to sway in a breeze.

The popular counting book called Animals to 100, 1-2-3 came about when she filled with torn tissue paper. A colorful 800 took shape to help a child count zebra stripes and leopard spots. As a youngster masters his numbers he also enjoys the art, and may try his own version of it.

Even a toddler who wields unsteady crayons and crumples and tears for new effects is an artist at work, and enjoying it. His books can give him an appreciation of color, texture and shape that will last all his life.

Any youngster can carry the gains into family living. Boys can use design sense in their simple home repairs or major household buying later. Girls can turn a trained hand to entertaining. For example, they can give a party as the artist does. One of her favorite devices is to make a picture out of food. A flower design can be formed on a platter with circles of cheese, some celery, some olives. Or a wreath of fresh fruit can be arranged on a tray.

Personal art is often more satisfying than anything a child can buy.

Early playbooks that engage the eye and hand can go far in adding to youngsters' skills.

SARDINES ON THE GO

SARDINES, ONE OF THE WORLD'S MOST NUTRITIOUS FISH ARE FOUND IN ALL PARTS OF THE GLOBE.

MOST OF THE SARDINES IN TOMATO SAUCE WHICH USED TO BE PACKED IN CALIFORNIA ARE NOW PACKED IN SOUTH AFRICA AND BROUGHT TO THE UNITED STATES WHERE THEY ARE SOLD IN THE FAMILIAR OVAL CANS UNDER WELL KNOWN AMERICAN LABELS.

THE COUNTRIES OF NORTHERN EUROPE WERE SO AWARE OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE FOOD VALUE IN THE SARDINE MESSING THAT WARS WERE FOUGHT FOR THE CONTROL OF THE FISHING GROUNDS.

VIRTUALLY ALL OF THE TRULY AMERICAN SARDINES ARE CAUGHT AND CANNED IN MAINE. THE SMALL FLAT CANS OF FISH ARE POPULAR WITH OLD AND YOUNG ALIKE. THEY ARE DELICIOUS, NUTRITIOUS, AND NATIVE TO OUR SHORES.
