BY DALTON

HAL BOYLE, Associated Press columnist, is always coming up with a bunch of comments headed "Remarks Husbands Get Tired Of," or "Remarks Sure To Lead To Trouble" or something of that nature. So I've stolen his format and come up with some Remarks Which Weekly Newspaper Publishers Get Tired Of.

"I have a darling picture here of my little grandson Guthbert, and I want you to run it in the paper. It's no special occasion or anything, but he's so cute."

"You oughta print in the paper that old Joe Gotch is a dirty crook. He is, you know..."

"You mean you just publish a paper once a week? What do you do the rest of the week--go fishing?"

"You oughta print in your paper that the Democrats are ruining the country. They're a bunch of Communists."

"You oughta print in your paper that the Republicans are a bunch of fascists who want to ruin the country."

"You mean it costs $10 to run this little bitty ole ad in the paper just ONE time? You must be getting rich."

"I've got a story here that I want in the paper, and I don't want a single word changed, and I want it on the front page, with a big headline."

"The money from this project will go to the Men's Auxiliary of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who are providing knitting needles for underprivileged natives on the Isle of Capri. It's a very worthwhile project, so it ought to get big headlines on page one..."

"You oughta print in your paper that the preacher's daughter has been running around with that sot Joe Jones. I seen them packed out on a turnrow..."

"How come you don't print all the news from the Associated Press, like the war, and everything? The Lubbock paper does."

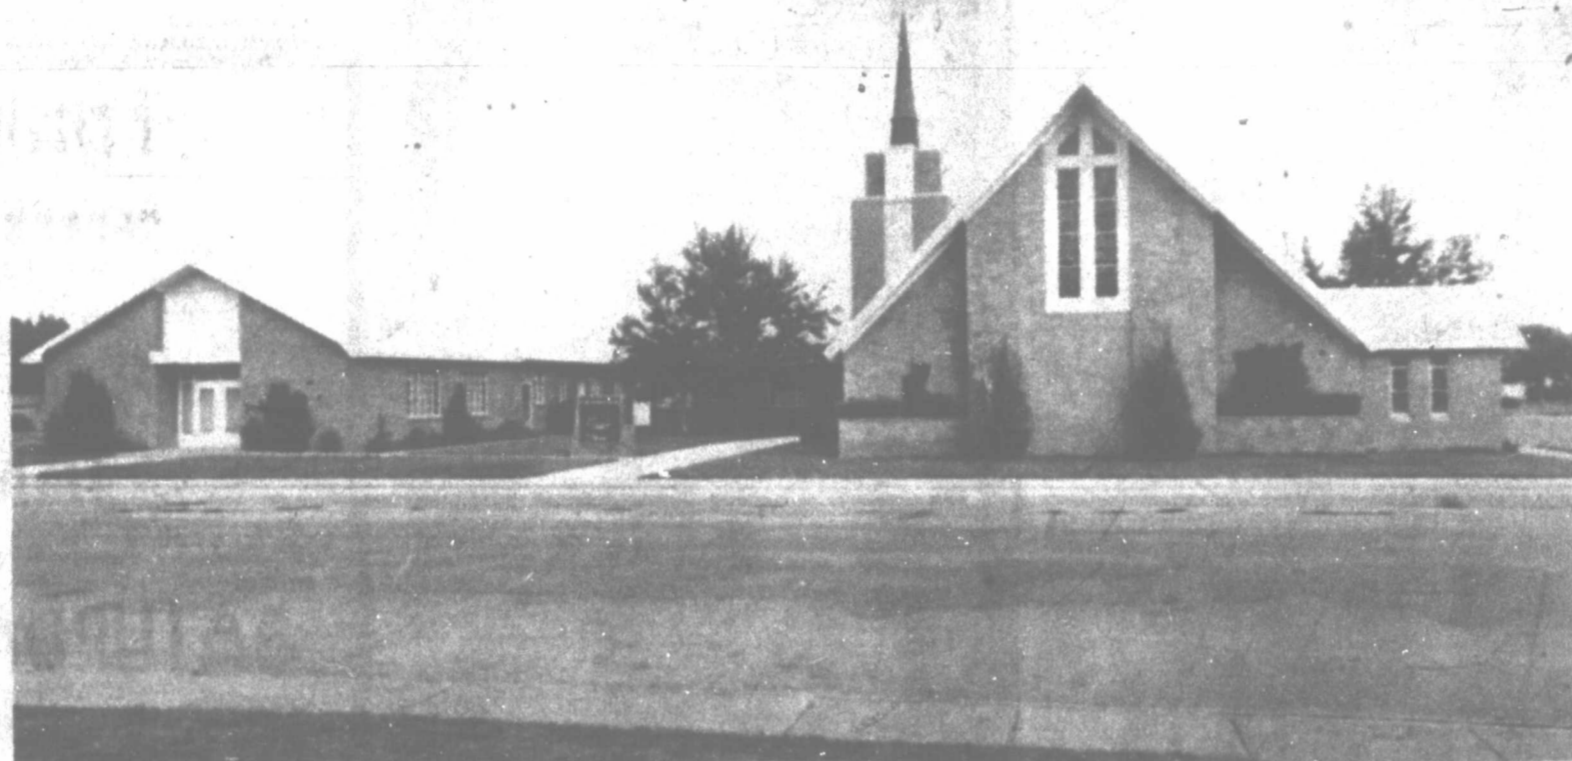

"I always like to read your newspaper every night before I go to bed, because I like to go to sleep with nothing on my mind. Heh, heh, heh..."

"Don't you ever get anything right in your paper?"

"You oughta print colored comics in your paper like all the good papers do..."

"I guess I'd better renew this paper for another year. Ain't nothing in it, but my wife said we oughta take it..."

"You oughta print..."

DEDICATION SERVICES will be held Sunday at the new church plant of the First Methodist Church. The building, just recently freed from debt, was completed in 1961. Open house will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Dedication Services Slated At Methodist Church

Dedication of the new First Methodist Church facilities here is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 3, when Bishop O. Eugene Slater of San Antonio will dedicate the building and preach at the 11 a.m. service. Bishop Slater has jurisdiction over some 400 Methodist churches in the western half of the state.

Other featured activities of the day will include lunch to be served from 12:45 to 2:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria and Open House in the church Fellowship Hall from 3 to 5 p.m. More than 250 former members, pastors and friends of the church have been invited to participate in the dedication day events.

Construction on the new modern church plant began in 1958 and was completed in 1961. With only 250 members and active participation by approximately half that number, the $165,000 structure now has been paid for, according to Rev. Robert Brown, current pastor, who also explained that rules of the Methodist Church preclude dedication of a church until it has been completely paid for.

Mrs. C. M. Furneaux, charter member of the church who still holds active membership, traced the beginnings of the church to a small group which met and organized a union Sunday School in a two-room frame building in Sudan in 1920.

"Average attendance was 15, but by working together we soon increased our number", she said. Actual organization of the First Methodist Church of Sudan was in 1922 with one meeting a month scheduled in the school building. Rev. D. C. Ross of Lubbock was the church's first pastor.

During the pastorate of Rev. J. E. Payne (1924-26) a church building and parsonage was constructed in the south part of town and the first service was conducted there March 15, 1925.

In 1933 the church building and parsonage were moved to the present location of the church. Sunday School classrooms were added and Bishop H. A. Boz of Fort Worth directed a dedication service in 1935. In 1954 the old parsonage was moved away and a new brick parsonage was built on the corner of Ormand and Hay Street.

Four former pastors, who served during the building program, will be special guests for the dedication program. They include Rev. Ellis Todd of Wellington, pastor when the educational building--first part of a two-phase building program--was started. Erected in four units the building was completed in 1960.

Also to be special guests will be Rev. Grady Adcock of Lubbock, pastor in 1960-61; Rev. Frank Weir of Lubbock, 1961-64; Rev. Jack Riley of Amarillo, pastor from 1964 until succeeded this year by Rev. Brown.

The second phase of the building which include the construction of the sanctuary, began in 1960 and was completed in 1961. A consecration service was held Oct. 22, 1961, with Bishop Paul V. Galloway of San Antonio in charge.

Most of the former pastors and their families have responded to the invitations sent, and some of those expected are: Mrs. Caradine Hooten of Arlington, Va. who is the widow of the late Dr. Caradine Hooten. Dr. Hooten was pastor of the church here in 1928-29; Rev. Herbert H. Hamilton of Tyler, 1939-42; Rev. Walter G. White of Pampa, 1955-57.

Former pastors who cannot be present Sunday are Rev. U. S. Sherrill of Abemathy, Rev. Floyd Dunn of Quanah, Rev. M. A. Walker of Sanderson, Rev. Leroy M. Brown of Corsicana, Rev. Sam A. Thomas of Dalhart.

Rev. Thomas, who was pastor in 1934-35, said in his letter "Sudan is one of the highlights of our ministry - the sanctuary was one of the most worshipful I have ever seen. We know that the new building has been built with the same love and dedication, and will serve a wonderful people in the years to come. Our sincere best regards to the membership of Sudan Methodist Church. We will be thinking of you on this special day, Sept. 3rd."

went to Mrs. E. M. Davis, 89. Henry Miller received an award for the person living the longest in Lamb County. Mrs. Lola Mae Kirby of San Francisco, daughter of W. A. Scott, received an award for the greatest distance traveled.

Registration records showed that 27 persons attended who had lived in Lamb County for 50 years and 160 had lived here for over 40 years.

Devotional

By HAZEL HOUSE

"YE SHALL BE MY WITNESSES.."

Scripture: Joel.

Have you read the book of Joel? When I read "Tell ye your children of it, and let your children tell their children, and their children another generation," I see more clearly than ever before how God is depending on you and me to tell our children His words of warning and prophecy, and also to tell of His love and forgiveness through our Savior, Jesus Christ.

How long has it been since you heard anybody telling about the great and terrible day of the Lord "and who can abide in it?" But you may say, "People do not want to think about anything so fantastic and so terrible. Besides, it might cause a feeling of fear." That may be, but God said tell it — so to whom do you listen? But God did not say just to tell them about the terrible day, when the sun shall be darkened and the moon turned into blood, but also to tell this:

Turn unto the Lord your God, (right where you are and just as you are), with fasting, weeping and with mourning, for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness. And whosoever shall truly call upon the name of the Lord shall be delivered.

The Lord Jesus, then, is our only hope, as we look at the prophecies that have already come to pass as God said they would, and look at the prophecies for the future yet to be fulfilled. We surely can realize that man cannot save himself but must have a super-natural power, a Savior, to give us a new life of peace and joy and love, to last through all the "terrible day" and through all eternity. We cannot truly enjoy even the pleasant moments we have here on earth unless we know in assurance that we have a Way made for us through the unknown future, into eternity, for we are ever conscious of the limitation of our human mind, of our bodies short life, and always "then what?" I do not believe that man dies when the physical body dies, and I doubt if anyone believes that (They know it is not so, if they believe God). However, neither do I believe all of you are eternally alive just because you have physical life. No one has eternal life, only eternal death, (for the day Adam and Eve sinned, mankind died spiritually and became a sinful creature, as God had told him he would) until one has said "I'll take Jesus as my Savior, my Redeemer from sin." (As in Adam all died, even so in Jesus Christ shall all be made alive) Only in Jesus is there any life, so only Jesus can give life.

When we appreciate the fact that Jesus loves us enough to die for us just so that we can have eternal life, to take all our guilt away and to set us free from sin — even though we do not understand why God loves us so much, we accept His plan for our salvation, for our life.

Then, to our great joy and amazement, He starts giving us a sample of our eternal blessing and delight and joy right now. Once we are in the family, He gives us a job to do for the building of His kingdom; He stays with us, He abides with us; and He gives us assurance (a peace that does pass the understanding of those who do not have Jesus) of His great love for us.

Do you know Jesus? He is seeking you, and wants to give you the greatest gift you are ever to be offered — eternal life! You do not have it unless you have Jesus, for He said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

Serving the Investor's Needs

The captains of American industry learned long ago that the synonym for "success" is "pamper," and for "growth" it is "coddle."

Of course, another name for all this indulgence which obviously is designed to spoil today's consumer is "service."

It's a fact that no one benefits more from this attitude than the American consumer. The lady of the house has only to suggest that she would like another dial on her dishwasher and she gets three. She has asked for, and gotten, ovens that clean themselves, toothbrushes that operate electrically, and breakfast cereals that all but play a tune.

Even the world of investment has come to share in this era of emphasized "service." For example, the mutual fund industry, founded on a simple, unadorned principle, has grown and developed over the years on its ability to provide the individual with many services not readily available in other investment media.

As a result, the development of services available to a mutual fund shareholder is extraordinary. According to the Investment Company Institute, has kept pace with the rapid growth of the industry itself—from one million shareholders with assets of $7.5 billion in 1955 to nearly four million shareholders and $40 billion of assets today.

Satisfying the shareholders' wants began some 30 years ago with the very concept of the mutual fund idea: diversification of investment and continuous professional management, linked to immediate redeemability.

Since that time many other services have been added. These include the systematic accumulation plan which allows the investor to invest moderate sums of money (as little as $25) on a periodic basis; the withdrawal plan which allows the investor to withdraw money from his investment to help supplement current income; the automatic reinvestment of income and capital gains distributions; and assistance in tax reporting since the shareholder is advised by his fund of the federal tax status of his distributions.
