ACTRESS Raquel Welch, who was a member of Bob Hope's troupe performing for the servicemen in Vietnam during the Christmas holidays, should sue the Associated Press. A story about Miss Welch which ran on the AP news service wire just before Christmas combined the writer's own questionable choice of descriptive phrases with an unusual typographical error when expounding on the actress' charms. First, the story called her "the eye-filling, 27-224-351/2 Raquel Welch." Now either the numbers got messed up somehow, or the adjective should have been "room-filling" instead of "eye-filling." Such a shape could only be the result of hitting the Christmas dinner trail too early.

Another phrase was not a typographical error, but the description nevertheless made me wonder. It said she "has large, hypnotic, deep-brown eyes. Her luxuriant chestnut-brown hair falls to her bosom."

From those two separate paragraphs, I somehow built up a picture of this kid as a two-ton tasterizer with hair on her "hest."

A SWEDISH scientist says he and his colleagues have found a drug in current use which seems to counteract the effects of alcoholic hangovers. He wouldn't identify it, but said that further testing is underway. He could really give it a test New Year's Day.

He wouldn't say what the drug is, but if it really cures hangovers, it probably has some kind of drawback. More than likely, it will give you lung cancer.

Coming in unexpectedly on Ross J. Newton of Cross Cut, who was vocational agriculture teacher at Sudan in 1929, were the four team members. Pictured in the same order in both pictures are, left to right: top row, Newton; Jack Lenderson of Muleshoe, a retired businessman; D. C. Terrell of Sudan, retired farmer; bottom row, Donald Robertson of Lubbock, who is in the cotton business; and Noel D. Lumpkin, retail grocer and owner of the Lumpkin Food Store in Sudan. After winning the state dairy team crown, the four finished 13th in the national contest in 1929.

I Resolve...

Our Scripture for this week is St. John 3: 1-6; 1 Thessalonians 2: 4.

New Years Resolutions? As I hear people talk of them I wonder if we are not still trying to save ourselves by our own strength, by good works.

Resolutions are only good when made through Christ Jesus. Remember Nicodemus was a Pharisee and a Ruler of the Jews, but Jesus told him "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God." So Nicodemus found that all the rules that he kept, and all the reformation of himself, would not take him back to our Father. Because our Father's Kingdom is a Spiritual Kingdom, and one must be born into it - as one also must be born into the physical.

So, it is well to make good resolutions when made with this thought in mind and heart, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." (Philippians 4:13). Our willingness to be obedient to Christ gives Him the best room in our lives to abide in, then to be able to talk to us and tell us what to do, which way to go, and how to stay in this straight and narrow pathway that leads ever upward.

To get power to keep our good resolves that we make? We can find that power in Jesus, and remember to keep a good resolution day by day takes strength and courage, as it is "ever upward" toward God that it leads. Jesus said He would be with us always, even unto the end of the world, and He said that All power in Heaven and in earth is given unto Him. If you need Power, ask our Father for it, in Jesus name believing. Have faith!

All of us, even the best of us are so human that we love to be noticed. We seek to be even dramatic, become at times enchanted by our own ways and words instead of God's, and we have to keep watch on our self-likeness instead of our God-likeness. Yet God looks at us - inside of us - and sees us just as we are, our thoughts, our selfishness. But He stands by to love us, anyhow, and to save us.

God has faith in us. Do you have any faith in Him? Will you take His word above anything else? Jesus only stayed on earth a few years after He was born in the manger at Bethlehem. When He went back to Heaven to prepare a place for each of us who accept Him for our Savior, (St. John 14:2) He entrusted to us, God's children, the gospel news of how to be saved from sin and death into eternal life. So, we know He had faith in man.

Are you keeping faith with Jesus, and telling others how to live always in Peace and Joy?

He will make straight your paths.—(Prov. 3:6)

The act of deciding is a great tension-easer, a great relaxer. When there is something before us about which a decision should be made and we delay coming to grips with it, we may find ourselves getting tense and anxious. To learn to make decisions, to practice making them as quickly as possible—once we have a clear-cut idea of what it is that seems to us to be the best course—this is to free ourselves.

Public Service To Increase Power

Power plant additions which will increase the company's electric generating capability by 225,000 kilowatts make up the major investments in a $17,818,000 construction program for 1968 were announced today by Roy Tolk, president of Southwestern Public Service Company. "We have invested more than $200-million in new equipment in the last ten years for just one purpose, meeting the needs of our customers. Our 1968 program is another step in a continuing effort to assure our 45,000 square mile service area of the electric power necessary for it to reach its full growth potential," Tolk said in announcing the electric company's 1968 plans.

The company's generating capability will go to 1,717,000 kilowatts, twice what it was ten years ago, with the completion of a 210,000 kilowatt addition to Nichols Station, northeast of Amarillo, and the installation of a 15,200 kilowatt gas turbine in the Guymon, Oklahoma area.

The Guymon installation will be used principally for peaking purposes during periods of high usage, but will also provide area protection, complementing transmission line power sources in the Oklahoma Panhandle. The plant will be operated by remote control from Guymon and can be brought up to full production in a matter of minutes.

In view of the concern about reliability of service which is prevalent in some areas of the nation and in political circles in Washington, Tolk pointed out that Southwestern Public Service Company will have adequate reserve capabilities in 1968.

Water and electricity will begin combining forces for efficiency and economy in 1968 with the beginning of the utilization of the Sanford Dam Project by the 11 member cities of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. The major pumping on this system will be done electrically on a controlled peak system supervised at the Southwestern Public Service Company's dispatching center in Amarillo, with the most efficient generating units being utilized, thus keeping production costs as low as possible.

Other improvements planned in the 1968 program will strengthen the electric company's 4200 mile transmission system which interconnects 10 major power plants and provide for additions to distribution facilities in communities throughout the service area.

"1967 was a year of decision on the High Plains and this is the basis of our optimism for 1968 and other years to come. The thoughtful consideration and financial support which has been given this year to plans and programs to bring imported water to this area typifies the initiative of the people of this region. This 'It can be done' spirit benefits the world and the nation as well as this region, for no other area is better suited to agricultural development. With supplemental water, this territory will play a major role in feeding the world, and the diversified development of agriculture and industry will make it one of the most productive areas of the nation," Tolk concluded.

A PART OF SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY'S $17,818,000 CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM FOR 1968 WILL BE ADDITIONS TO THE 4200 MILE TRANSMISSION LINE NETWORK SUCH AS THE LINES BEING INSTALLED BY THIS CONSTRUCTION CREW.

SLOW MOVING VEHICLES POSE HIGHWAY PROBLEMS

Using the farm tractor for an all-purpose runabout is a dangerous practice. Do not use a tractor for trips not directly related to field work.

Slow moving vehicles are one of the major problems of rural highway travel. Many of them are inadequately lighted or lack proper identification with which to warn motorists.

It is up to the operators of slow moving farm vehicles to practice courtesy whenever they can. When it is possible the farm operator should pull his equipment onto the shoulder and allow faster moving traffic to pass. Although the farm operator has a privilege to move his farm vehicles and equipment upon the roadway he should be willing to pull off the road for his own protection. This may prevent himself, his farm vehicles and farm equipment from being involved in an accident.

Utilization of a farm tractor as an all-purpose runabout is a dangerous practice that can sharply increase the chance of a serious accident. The farm tractor is not built or equipped for all-purpose travel. The increasing tendency of farmers to jump on the tractor for short trips not directly related to field work must be discouraged. In many areas of our state, the use of farm tractors as utility vehicles is becoming an increasing problem in highway safety.

Besides offering little protection for the driver, the farm tractor has poor brakes, instability and low speed. Tractor operators should allow extra time when crossing traveled roads and not try to beat approaching cross traffic. If he has attached farm trailers or equipment, it will take him even longer to clear the crossing.

A problem we might take a look at is, for instance: A pickup pulling a cotton trailer going 30 miles per hour down an open highway, or 44 feet per second. An automobile is one mile back of the pickup and trailer traveling 60 miles per hour, or 88 feet per second. The rate of overtake of the automobile is 30 miles per hour or 44 feet per second. It will take the automobile two minutes to overtake the pickup and cotton trailer. Another frequent hazard encountered on country roads is the blind corner. Rural intersections are often obscured by high crops, brush or large trees. Owners can perform a valuable service to themselves and the public by cleaning corners of fields which border on intersections. They can also keep their driveways clear so that they can see traffic before pulling onto the road and so that they can be seen by drivers on the road.

Intelligent use of road requires understanding, courtesy and judgment. Caution, forethought and consideration are the basic ingredients for all prescriptions for rural highway safety. A typically rural American characteristic--neighborliness--can help to increase safety on public roads.
