AT HOUSTON, the same team of doctors made three heart transplants in five days. But on one of them, there was a hint that the heart donor, a beating victim, might not have been legally dead at the time they took his heart out to give to another man. It appears that he was medically dead, but not legally, a fine line of distinction determined by insufficient time to perform an autopsy.

Possibly they will revive an old song to be played over the speakers into the emergency rooms of this hospital, for the encouragement of any patients brought "Does Your Heart Beat For Me?"

POOR OLD GEORGE, Washington, that is. The father of our country is being trod upon by Congress (why should he be any different from the rest of us?). The House the other day approved a bill that would give the nation four long weekends a year by moving three national holidays to Monday and creating a new one - Columbus Day - also to be observed on Monday.

The Senate hasn't voted on this measure yet, but if it passes as the House version stands now, George's birthday will no longer be on Feb. 22 - at least not very often. Washington's Birthday would fall on the third Monday in February, which probably would surprise him a lot if he were around to note it.

In addition, Memorial Day would be on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October, and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October.

July Fourth, won't be changed to July Sixth, thank goodness, nor would the measure affect Easter, Thanksgiving, Christmas or my birthday.

The bill is supported by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and I haven't decided yet how I stand.

MRS. KLEIN MUSIC TEACHER OF YEAR

Mrs. Mildred Klein of Lubbock, who teaches piano students here each Tuesday, was named Outstanding Music Teacher of the Year Monday in Lubbock at the annual Lubbock music teachers banquet.

Mrs. Klein has taught piano here for two years and expects to be teaching here again this fall.

This outstanding music teacher award, which has only been given five or six times, makes Mrs. Klein eligible to compete in the state contest.

Six Sudan students of Mrs. Klein's were sent by her for National piano auditions in Littlefield, with the awards being given by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. Those students are Ken Burgess, Greg Burgess, Renay Jordan, Gayle Rogers, Roy Don Dudgeon, and Sharon Wilson.

All these students made high ratings, the news release stated, and Miss Wilson made the Critic's Circle, which requires a grade of 98, for the second year.

Saturday night. All decorations were scenes from "The Roaring Twenties" featuring a real live automobile from the '20s, old fashioned lampson each table, a "Joe's Speakeasy" bar (for cokes, etc.), strange and noisy favors, a wind-up "Victrola" and some records to match the era, and a real live impersonation by Billy Gore and Nita Whiteaker of Bonnie and Clyde.

Steve Martingave the welcome for the Junior Class and Robin Davis responded for the seniors. The invocation was given by Mickey Logan.

The senior class will and the class prophecy was read by the seniors, and the banquet meal was served in the flickering dim lights of the candle-lamps.

The sophomore class members served the meal, dressed in appropriate "flapper dresses and zoot suits" for the 1920 setting.

Following the banquet was the prom with a combo band from Clovis providing the music.

Sponsors for the junior class are Bill Adams and Miss Kathleen Crow. Senior class sponsors are Larry Magness and Mrs. Mary Tollett.

THE CARDINALS 1968 LITTLE LEAGUE TEAM WITH COACH KEN MEYERS

Devotional

BY HAZEL HOUSE

Matthew 10: 5-10, 14-16, 26-32, 38-42.

"He that receiveth you receiveth me, and he that receiveth me receiveth Him that sent me."

When Jesus first sent out his disciples, He gave them a message to preach. This message did not take 30 minutes or 45, but it was a short message. He told the disciples to preach, saying "The Kingdom of heaven is at hand."

And Jesus did not first send his disciples to preach to the lost world, but he sent them to preach to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. He gave them power and, not merely telling them to preach, He told them to preach and then to go out and work, to heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils.

Then he told his disciples how to go on the journey throughout Israel, and also instructed them not to worry or become discouraged by those who would not listen, and He said "be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves."

And Jesus said "what I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light; and what ye hear in the ear, that Preach ye upon the housetops."

As Christ's disciples today, have we realized that the admonitions of Jesus to His disciples can also be a message to us? Do we just talk, do "busy-work", physical action, personal glory-seeking jobs in the church, in Israel, or do we go to Christ in prayer asking for His power to witness and trust Him, believing in Him, that He will do what He said He would do? Do we go first to preach Jesus to "the lost" in Israel?

The power of God is still the same today as it was yesterday and will be tomorrow — He has all power. It is available to you and me, if we believe in Jesus Christ. For Christ said "All power is given to me in heaven, and in earth."

Do you believe God? Then you know He loves us, even as He knows the evil, the secret things we try to hide in our hearts. He sees us just like we are, but He loves us and died to save us from sin and death into eternal life. He wants you and me to be His child and to live forevermore with Him.

Jesus Saves! This is the Good News He sends us out to preach — and then to love each other, seek out those in need, those who are sick and in prison; to be Christ-like in word and in deed. Nothing in this universe is so small or insignificant that God does not notice and care about. Do we care about others, especially the least and the lost?

Jesus said it was "life", not just words or deeds, but all of us — all that we have, all that we are which we are to lose in Him and for His sake.

It is not the person who makes "a big show" before the world that will find life abundant. But the person will find abundant life who gives himself or herself to Jesus; to let Jesus cleanse our hearts from secret sins or ugly thoughts, that He may come in and live in us, making Himself known to others through us. But our will must become His will, our "doing" must be His way; for He said "not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my father which is in heaven". We give ourselves to Him, and He does the work in us and through us. No joy can equal the joy of knowing that Christ Jesus has made Himself known to another person through you!

If you hear! God's Words, do them! Jesus said if we loved Him, we would keep His words, His sayings.

Because He loved you, He died for you that you might have life. Do you care? How shall you

Play It Cool with Potato Salad

Potato Salad is delightful—whether it goes to a family picnic or simply stays at home. The ageless appeal of the energy-giving potato is glorious in French or cottage fried variety, mashed, baked, hashed brown, in a stew, salad, patted into a pancake or fried to a chip.

Mounds of potato salad dominate warm weather menus. This year, we're catering to the potato's Irish heritage by adding a touch of green—beans, that is, and snappy ones too.

POTATO GREEN BEAN SALAD

- 2 pounds potatoes
- 1 pound fresh green beans
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon fresh minced onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Mayonnaise

Cook washed unpeeled potatoes in small amount boiling salted water in covered pan until just tender. Drain and cool. Cut green beans into 1-inch pieces; cook, covered, in small amount of boiling salted water until tender. Drain and cool. Peel potatoes; cut in 1/2-inch cubes; combine with green beans in large bowl. Combine salad oil, lemon juice, onion, salt and pepper; toss gently with vegetables. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours. Serve with mayonnaise. Makes 5 servings.

An all-round cleaner second to none.

The bill voted May 9 out of the House Agriculture Committee to extend the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 did not contain all of PCG's recommendations but was the only practical approach to passage of legislation this year," according to Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The Committee voted 28 to 5 in favor of extending the present law without amendments. The Act covers current programs for cotton, feed grains, wheat, wool, tobacco and dairy products. It expires at the end of 1969.

Johnson was in Washington during the week of May 5 to confer with House Committee members and urge their support of an extension.

The PCG Board of Directors voted April 3 to work for an extension of the cotton program during this session of Congress to give producers sufficient time to make plans for future operations.

It also was noted at the time that it would be desirable to get legislation passed before 1969 when a new administration and a different Congress might prove less sympathetic to agriculture.

"We had hoped continuing legislation or at least a four-year bill could be passed and that it could incorporate some needed improvements," Johnson said, "but as the situation developed we had to agree with Mr. Poage that a one-year simple extension was the most we could hope to get this year."

He referred to Congressman Bob Poage, Waco, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and the major proponent in Congress of passing a farm bill this year.

Poage felt that even if he had been able to get a long term measure voted out of his committee it would have been by a much narrower margin than 28 to 5. And the bill will need all the support it can get from committee members and others if it is to overcome the strong opposition that will develop on the floor of the House.

This need for broad bi-partisan and industry-wide support was given also as one of the reasons for the "no amendments" feature of the committee's decision.

"PCG, the Department and most others would have liked to see some improvements," Johnson commented, "but all of the proposed changes were of a controversial nature and any of them that the committee might have recommended as amendments could have created enough friction to doom the whole effort."

Another reason committee members agreed to support no amendments when the bill reaches the House is the ever-present threat of limitations on the program benefits that could go to any individual farmer.

"Voluntary farm programs would be rendered almost completely ineffective both as a means to control overproduction and as a method of protecting producer income," Johnson noted, "and I cannot visualize any conditions under which we would support legislation of that kind. It would ruin farmers, big and little alike."

Next hurdle for the bill is the Rules Committee, which is already swamped with appropriations and other pressing matters. However it is possible that the measure could be scheduled onto the floor of the House in about two weeks.

It is sometimes possible to bring legislation before the House under a "no-amendments rule," obliging a vote on the measure exactly as it comes from committee. But for obscure procedural reasons such strategy does not appear applicable to this particular bill.

So the House Committee was limited to an agreement that members will not offer amendments or support any that may be proposed by other Congressmen.

Poage's counterpart on the Senate side, Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, is not stumping for legislative action on farm programs this year. And he opposed the current cotton program when it was enacted in 1965.

But most observers are of the opinion he will not actively oppose an extension of present law for one year.

Current programs will cover 1969 crops regardless of the fate met by the House Committee's recommendations, since the present law does not expire until December 31, 1969.

If the present program is not extended or new legislation put on the books before that time the commodities involved would revert to the Agriculture Act of 1958.

Assuming that marketing quotas were proclaimed by the Secretary and approved by farmers, cotton producers would then have access to non-recourse loans between 65 and 90 per cent of parity with no price support or diversion payments.

Eighteenth District Congressman Robert Price of Pampa, member of the House Committee on Agriculture, this coming week-end will afford producers of cotton, wheat and grain sorghum an opportunity to discuss farm legislation and other matters with him. He will be in Hale County, recently added to his district, on Friday, May 16 and Saturday, May 17.

Ships World's Largest Heat Exchangers

The two largest pieces of chemical process equipment ever sent abroad are these very low-temperature heat exchangers shipped to Libya by Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. for Esso. These units provide the core of a major installation for liquefying natural gas to be shipped to Spain, and eventually to Italy.

Two massive very low-temperature heat exchangers—the largest pieces of chemical process equipment ever shipped abroad in assembled form—have just been shipped by Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. to Libya for the liquefaction of natural gas to be transported to other countries. Air Products not only engineered and built the units but also designed the gas liquefaction process.

Weighing a total of 250 tons each and measuring nearly 20 ft. in length and 11 ft. in diameter, these are the largest cryogenic heat exchangers ever built. The most largest units had the size of those were built by Air Products in 1963 for the U.S. Government's Helium Conservation Program. The new units were shipped from Air Products shops in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. to dockside in Jersey City, N.J. on a special train. Each exchanger consists of thousands of tubes, each 1/2 inch in diameter and 15 ft. long, arranged in a complex pattern to exchange heat between the gas and the liquid. The gas is then liquefied and can be used for industrial or as a fuel for power.

Flea Market
Set May 25

"Flea Markets" originated hundreds of years ago when thieves brought their stolen goods to the market place and sold it.

A committee "we, the Women" said in an announcement made this week that they the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce do not encourage stealing, but know that closets and garages are usually packed with items no longer in use.

To help rid your closets and garages of these items, and have fun in so doing, "We, the Women" will hold a "Flea Market" Saturday, May 25 at 429 Phelps Ave. in Littlefield, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Individuals, groups and organizations are invited to bring their unused items to the "Flea Market". Space will be assigned and ten percent (10%) of every dollar you sell will go to "We, the Women". Only "We, the Women" will have a food booth.

Retirement Planning

At one time, the average man's life expectancy was 47; today, any American-born can expect to live past 70. Now, with more than 18-million people past the age of 65 in America, the ranks of our retirement age citizens are growing—and by the year 2000 there will be over 28 million older persons.

Although retirement is basically a period of relaxation and enjoyment, like any new situation it presents its own problems. Chief among these is balancing the budget. According to a survey taken by the U.S. Department of Labor, older people spend proportionally more than younger people on housing and household operations, health care and food purchased for home preparation.

Another problem may be what to do once you've retired. There are organizations of retired people around the country who offer special courses and leisurely sight-seeing trips. You could develop an interesting hobby—one you never had time for previously—or start a small business of your own.

Before starting any business venture, however, check with your lawyer. If you must sign a contract or rent expensive equipment, consult him, for there may be hidden expenditures of which you may not be aware. At this time, it's also a good idea to update your will.

Because retirement means planning for the future as well as the present, women in the know understand the necessity of checking now with their Travelers' man to make sure their families have proper life insurance coverage. Remember, a happy and carefree retirement is up to you.
