IN CONNECTION WITH the tragic shooting of Robert Kennedy last week, someone on TV said more than 5,000 persons died of gunshot wounds in the U. S. last year, as compared to only 30 in Great Britain. I find this hard to believe, but if true, it certainly should give us food for thought.

I do not, however, believe that strict laws on sales of guns will make much difference, and I think that San Francisco's so-called "Turn in your gun" week is foolish. If they make guns harder to buy and pass stronger laws against carrying them, it seems to me they are just taking away the protection of the law-abiding people. Those who obey the law would be at the mercy of those who are committing the crimes.

If a man is planning to assassinate another person, he couldn't care less that there is a statute making it unlawful for him to carry a gun.

FELLOW by the name of Bob Cochran, automotive editor for Newspaper Enterprise Assn., notes that the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. has published its annual book of facts and figures about cars. Says Cochran: "These vehicles (81 million cars and 16.4 trucks and buses) traveled a total of 967 billion miles during 1967 (how they arrived at that figure, I'll never know) and consumed nearly 78 billions gallons of fuel. And people wonder why the auto and petroleum industries are sitting on their corporate hands regarding the electric car situation."

Speaking of cars, there's one advantage to buying a car locally that the dealers here don't stress enough, it seems to me. They don't have the impersonal touch that the dealerships in the larger towns have.

If you buy a new car in a larger town, you may get a better deal on initial price, or you may not. But when you start having this new car serviced, you find out in a hurry that service in the large dealerships is terrible. You can't get anything done when or how you want it, and many of them are downright crooked.

This last statement constitutes a strong charge, I know, but too many car buyers in large towns have complained they get bills for work not done, or not ordered, or not really needed.

Locally, the car dealers couldn't get away with treating their customers this way, even if they wanted to.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY MEETING - SET

A meeting of the Auxiliary of the South Plains Hospital will be held Tuesday, June 18, at 7:30 p. m. in the hospital dining room. Guest speakers at the meeting will be hospital director Rowell and the director of nurses, Mrs. Grissom. They will outline the needs for the auxiliary and aid in planning future projects. All members and other interested persons including Sunday school classes, clubs and organizations are invited to attend.

MEASUREMENTS ARE IMPORTANT as any person who sews will tell you, but the women of the summer sewing course became very skilled in measuring and making drapes. They group completed drapes for the living room and dining area of the Homemaking Cottage.

BUSY, BUSY. -- Shown above is the high school summer economics class as they work on their projects of lined drapes. Mrs. Sue Burgess, standing at left, was instructor for the course.

Cardinals Lead Little League Play

As the Inter-City Little League season enters its final month of play, the Cardinals retain a slim lead with a 8-3 record. The Angels are hanging onto second place after giving the Cardinals their third defeat Friday. In third place and reaching for second are the Dodgers, who have a 6-4 record. The Amherst Braves are fourth and the Cubs are the cellar team this season. Ken Minyard's Cardinals defeated the Cubs 7-3 Monday while the Dodgers downed the Angels 14-12 in a thriller.

Bobby Newman's Angels won over the Cubs 19-7 Thursday and came back Friday to squeeze by the Cardinals 6-5.

Most of the teams have five remaining games with the Cardinals to meet the Dodgers today while the Cubs and Braves battle. Tomorrow, Friday, the Braves and Angels will see action as will the Cubs and Dodgers. On Monday the Cardinals will host the Braves as the Cubs will go against the Angels.

TRASH FIRE BURNS FENCE

A trash fire at the residence of Mrs. M. M. Gann got out of control Monday afternoon and burned approximately six feet of backyard fence before it was distinguished by the Sudan Volunteer Fire Department.

The fire was discovered at 3:30 p. m. by a neighbor and reported to the fire department, Mrs. Gann, who was resting at the time, stated that the fire would have done considerable more damage had not the neighbor, Mrs. A. E. Aills reported it.

The center will be open for all youth from 13 years-of-age through college age and is planned to be open on Monday and Friday night. There is also a possibility that it will open each afternoon. This depends on the reception of the project by the townspeople.

The active date for the opening has been set for June 21.

In addition to games and books, a concession stand is planned.

It was also announced by a spokesman of the First Baptist Church, initial sponsors of the project, that a work and organizational meeting will be held Friday (June 14) at 6 p. m. at the Center. All interested persons and organizations are asked to attend. They stressed that organizations and church groups are needed for sponsorship.

Much materials and equipment are needed for the center and anyone having tables, chairs (both folding and lounge), ping pong equipment, books, a piano and paint (any color), that they would like to donate are asked to call 227-6211 or 227-6601 and the articles will be picked up.

The adults who participated in the program were Mesdames Don Ham, Pudd Wiseman, Calvin Wiseman, James Withrow and U. J. The high school students participating in the program will receive one half credit toward graduation. The girls have each made a lined drape and have learned to make decorator paper flowers. Girls participating are Rhonda Pierce, Vjeki Williams, Ellen Williams,

FLAG DAY

FLAG DAY 1968

"We meet to celebrate Flag Day because this flag which we honor and under which we serve is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation.

"The choice is ours. It floats in majestic silence above the hosts that execute those choices whether in peace or war. And yet, though silent, it speaks to us—speaks to us of the past, of the men and women who went before us and of the records they wrote upon it.

"We celebrate the day of its birth, and from its birth until now it has witnessed a great history, has floated on high the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people."

—Woodrow Wilson, June 14, 1917

Devotional

BY HAZEL HOUSE

Scripture: Isaiah 40: 25-31; 41: 4-10; St. Matthew 10: 38; and St. Luke 19: 10.

How great is God? Can He do for you and me the things He has promised? Then do we live like we know that He can and will?

How great is your God? How much time do you give to serving Him and doing what He wants done? Who, or what is your God?

God, the Almighty, the Creator of all, the only True and Living God, has spoken—but have you heard His Word? Just hearing sounds does not always mean we have really heard, for I could hear the sounds if you spoke to me in Chinese; I would hear the sounds but they would be meaningless without an understanding, without an interpreter. A Christian has an interpreter for God's Word: the Holy Spirit.

Is Jesus the Lord of your life? Can you claim the great promises He has made to His disciples, who are called by His name? Then you can, indeed, be of good courage now for the Father said He was "with thee... I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness."

But, if you have another god before Him, someone or something you serve and give yourself to—ask yourself these questions. "What, or who, rules my life? What is first in my thoughts and my heart? Can this give me love, joy, abiding companionship—can this raise me from physical death and spiritual death and be powerful enough to transport me from this earth to another kingdom of eternal beauty and joy and light and love?"

If you are not a child of the Eternal God, your Creator, you are lost (because God said Jesus was the ONLY WAY for mankind to have eternal life) but Jesus came to seek and to save that which was lost. We find in God's Word, in Isaiah, the prophecy of Jesus' coming and what He would be like on earth, a suffering servant, a great Redeemer.

Then, when Jesus came, He said if we would be great, be the servant of all, as He was. Jesus said if we would be worthy of Him we would take up our cross, and follow Him.

Most people would accept salvation if they could get it and still go the way they want to go. They would readily answer, if asked, that they want to live forever; certainly they want to live where there is no suffering, no fear, no death. Yes, they probably would say they believed in God and that Jesus was the Son of God. But—

"This business about being humble, about being a sinner: now, I'm not so bad, at least I live a cleaner life than some in the Church live." (God help us, Christians, if we claim to be a child of God and then fail to follow His instructions on how to act like one of His Family.) "And this about suffering for the sake of others, serving others, isn't that going a little too far? I don't mind doing things for other people, giving clothes or food, or a donation, but I work hard and I want to kind of rest or do as I please when I get off from work or when I have the children in bed."

But, you see, that is going your own way—which seems right to you—and not God's way. Jesus knows we need rest, both physical and spiritual, far better than you or I know it. Jesus is the way Home—the way of the cross. It is our accepting Him, His will, not ours, that is important. The way is upward and narrow, and He said few would find it, yet it is so plain a path.

Jesus! Just take Him and let Him take you. Trust Him, and He will save you and keep you. Let Him use you in His service; abide with Him, for He promises never to leave you, to give power to the faint and to those that have no might He increaseth strength; to all who love and accept Him as Lord and Savior.

Jesus and the Father are One, Almighty, Eternal, but so loving and merciful toward you and me! Such a love for us is past our understanding, yet we can appreciate that Jesus suffered loneliness, shame, pain and death that you and I might have life; that we might be able to return to our Heavenly Father through Jesus Christ our Lord.
