WOODWORK

BY DALTON

TWO DECADES ago, few people would have taken seriously any suggestion that man would by the late 1960s walk on the surface of the moon. But it should happen pretty soon after you read this, unless some hitch develops in the meantime.

There are many dangers involved in this venture, and prayers for the safety of the astronauts will be on the lips of many during the trip.

Not on Madelyn O'Hair's lips, though. She doesn't believe in prayers, and she has a lot of supporters, mostly not so vocal as she is. She has a lot of opposition, too, and this is as it should be, although some of the activities of both sides in the controversy are rather ridiculous.

Church classes everywhere have been bombarding the President, the space agency, and the astronauts with letters urging that they pay tribute to God during their journey. This is fine, and they should do so if they want to. But many have suggested that they carry along plaques and signs to stick up on the moon reading "Here We Are By the Grace of God" (wording suggested by a Plainview church group) or something of that nature.

If the spacemen carried along everything that people want them to, they'd have to hang a baggage car on the tail end of the spaceship.

Union leaders in the Rio Grande Valley came up with the most ridiculous suggestion. An official of a farm workers union sent a grape boycott bumper sticker to the astronauts, asking that they leave it on the moon.

The official said the bumper sticker reads "Don't Eat Grapes." If they put that one on the moon, it will truly be a grape day in history.

The Flat Earth Society is sticking by its guns, conceding that the moon may be round, but that the earth is flat like a pancake. The members are upset because some people aren't taking them seriously.

They quote scripture to back up their contention, just as a lot of other people do these days.

TECH MAKES WATER SURVEY

Texas Tech Research shows 9.8 million persons live in the areas to be served by the Texas Water System plan to import surplus water from the Mississippi River through Louisiana into Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Dr. Vernon T. Clover of the Department of Economics at Tech said the survey shows that number living in the 174 counties part or all of which are within 30 miles of the proposed import channels and reservoirs or in areas of present or potential irrigation under the plan.

"The 153 Texas counties involved," he said, "contain 8.8 million persons, while 235,000 live in 10 counties in New Mexico and 686,000 live in 11 counties in southern and western Louisiana."

The department's figures show that the total population in those counties increased one million between 1960 and 1966, a 12 per cent gain.

"In Texas," Dr. Clover said, "there are 3.7 million persons in the affected counties along the Sabine River in East Texas plus the northeast counties in Texas and in the northern counties, including Dallas and Tarrant, westward to the edge of the High Plains of West Texas."

"One million live in the counties on the High Plains of West Texas. The coastal counties, including the city of Houston, in the 'man-made valley' created by the import route in that section of the state, have a population of 2.8 million."

More than 800,000 persons live in the two-county area to be served around San Antonio in South Central Texas, the survey showed. The remaining 500,000 population in the counties involved live in the El Paso and middle Rio Grande areas.

Most of the water to be taken by the project, Dr. Clover pointed out, is removed from the Mississippi near the mouth and presently flows into the Gulf of Mexico. Enough will remain in the tributaries to serve the marshland near where it will be diverted, he said.

COTTON USE ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN

The greater use of cotton in linen supply services will be stimulated through an advertising campaign to be launched this fall by the Cotton Producers Institute.

According to CPI trustees from the High Plains area, the linen supply industry is currently using approximately 400,000 bales of cotton annually. Services include such items as rental sheets and pillowcases, towels, tablecloths, napkins, and uniforms.

In the towel field, cotton's position is being challenged by paper. In sheets and pillowcases — as well as tablecloths and napkins — hospitals, hotels, restaurants, and other institutional users are turning to durable press blends. Blended uniforms are making inroads too.

CPI will feature full-page ads in national publications stressing the freshness, softness, absorbency, and hygienic qualities of cotton. The economy, efficiency, and convenience of linen supply services will also be emphasized.

The advertising messages will be directed to executives in the

By HAZEL HOUSE

Scriptures: Psalms 40.

"If ye then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take ye thought for the rest?"

This is written to declare the faithfulness of God to love us with an eternal love; and to proclaim the gospel Good News that Jesus Saves!

Why clutter up this message with words, when the only real need of any man is a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

God, in His great Mercy and loving kindness, offers us forgiveness of our sin, and eternal life by our faith to accept Jesus Christ as Lord. One by one, as we accept Christ as our personal Savior, God the Father accepts us as His Child. And Jesus said "Fear not, little flock, For it is your father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

Are you fearful that you are not good enough to be God's Child? I would remind you, then, that Jacob was not "good," Zacchaeus was not good, and in fact none are good, except God. It is God in Christ who is good, and who can take us as we are, and mold us, and make us more like Him day by day, if we trust Him and give ourselves to Him.

Have you been almost overcome by the temptations and evil around you? Has your sinfulness taken such a hold upon you that you cannot look up? Then, call upon God as the Psalmist of old, and remember to believe in this as you seek the Lord:

"But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou

Involvement in Social Change

Should the church today be actively concerned about the social issues of our time?

This question has been hotly debated by proponents and opponents of social involvement for the church in this explosive generation.

To say that the Founder of the church was not concerned with the social ills of mankind when He walked the streets of Jerusalem and the shores of Galilee is a perversion of the truth.

There was disease—and He healed multitudes of the sick and suffering.

There was poverty—and He told a rich young man, "Go and sell what you have and give to the poor. And come and follow Me."

There was unhappiness among the people—and the Master gave them His rules for true happiness.

But there was also slavery. Both black men and white had been enslaved and were forced to do whatever their owners ordered.

Why didn't the Master organize a gigantic demonstration and force the government to act to end this exploitation of man by man?

There was injustice in the enforcement of the laws, too. Why didn't He lead a march and make the government officials put an end to the unjust discrimination between the favored and the unfairly treated?

Was He insensitive to these gross inequities? Didn't He care about them?

Of course, He cared.

But He had a greater mission to perform.

He had come to earth to open the way for men to escape from a far greater slavery—the slavery to sin.

He refused to be sidetracked into righting the wrongs which to some seemed to be the most important, knowing that this was not the way to achieve the most lasting reforms in society.

Society Changed His method was to change the lives of men. Changed men produce a changed society.

When Saul of Tarsus, while on his murderous mission to Damascus, met the Master, he instantly became a different person—so different that he was later known as Paul, the Apostle.

When Peter, who tells us that in his earlier life he "walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine... and abominable idolatries," came face to face with the Lord, he became a totally different person.

These changed men told others the good news of a new life in Christ. Can anyone dispute the fact that society was radically changed by the influence of the early church—as it emphasized the mission that Christ had given it to perform?

If you believe that the church should change society, there are many who agree with you.

But why not do it as the Master did?

A fantastic lake in Texas is the impoundment generally known as "Alcoa," near Rockdale. It is one of the most "constantly good" fishing lakes of its kind.

Alcoa furnishes good fishing for bass, crappie, bream and catfish practically the year around.

This lake was built by the Aluminum Company of America, when it opened its plant near Rockdale back in the early fifties.

Alcoa Lake was stocked by the Old Game & Fish Commission, kept closed for a reasonable time, then opened to public fishing. Since then thousands of pounds of wonderful fish have been taken from the lake.

Alcoa has permitted a concession on the lake, where boats can be rented or supplies bought. There are certain necessary restrictions, but none any good sportsman wouldn't approve.

It is a picturesque spot. Heavy smokestacks of the aluminum plant form a background that is most interesting. Part of the shoreline is rocky. There are also many cattails, reeds and willows along the banks. These furnish fine cover for the fish.

Alcoa Lake is kept at a fairly constant level because the company pumps in water from the San Gabriel and Little rivers some 12 miles away.

This lake is unusual from another standpoint. It has a "built in" hatchery, which produces a good crop of brood fish earlier than most other lakes in Texas.

Actually there are two lakes, connected by a deep channel. In one of these lakes the water used in the cooling process is released. This water is 10 to 20 degrees warmer than the water in the main body of the lake.

Fishing is not permitted in this water. As a result big brood bass are developed and they spawn early. Their young eventually work on out through the channel into the cooler water where they grow big and sassy.

State biologists go to this warm section every year and take a number of large brood bass for their own hatcheries. This gives them production much earlier than could be normally expected.

Alcoa also is one of the best crappie lakes and many fine strings are caught in the deeper water. Bream are very plentiful along the shoreline, offering good sport for fly and light tackle fishermen.

Alcoa is a popular lake not only with residents of the nearby towns, but with people from more than 100 miles away. It is one Texas lake where anglers are more likely to get a good mess of fish than perhaps from any other lake.

Near the concession building is a huge oak mott which provides ample shade for a park. Tables in the park make it a wonderful recreation area. Users help keep it clean by doing away with their own litter.

This is a lake of many regulars. The same people go there time after time. They are well acquainted with all the hotspots on the lake. Perhaps that is the reason there are so many good catches reported.

This fabulous lake also has meant much in the way of goodwill for Alcoa. The lake is a necessity for the plant and it could have been fenced off, like so many other similar impoundments. However, its gates have been opened by the company and everyone who fishes it is appreciative of its qualities.

I have set before you an open door.—(Rev. 3:8).

A door can be either a way in or a way out. We need to discover what kind of a door we are looking for. The doors of failure, frustration and insecurity, we need to close behind us, not in despair, but in the faith that already new and better ways are opening to us. Always the door to our good stands open, for God has put it there.

Sports Tips

WATER SKIING

Prepare for the "take-off" by floating shoulder deep in the shallows with the skis tipped up, tips out of the water, your body in a crouching position. When you have the skis exactly parallel to each other, tighten your grip on the tow rope and signal the boatman to begin his tow. Another tip for the dipper—a perfumed bath powder spray like Desert Flower helps keep skin soft after exposure to wind and sun.

Think Thin... Salad Psychology

It's summer—and have you noticed?—bathing suits reveal the excesses of winter dining pleasures. So plan salad meals, and make it fun!

Eating salads on a daily basis is kind to calorie counters. It makes you think thin...feel thinner! The secret-of-success in salad making? Man's oldest food: pure imported olive oil.

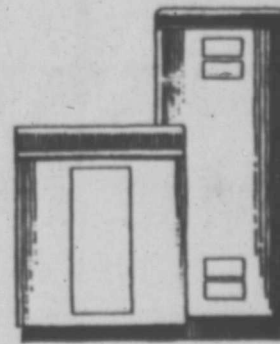

Man has been enjoying salads throughout the ages. People from ancient civilizations knew salads were good for them and that golden olive oil enhanced the true fruit flavor of the olive.

The salad, with pure imported olive oil, also insures unsaturated fats in your diet. The American Heart Association recommends the use of unsaturates to help maintain normal cholesterol levels.

Don't limit yourself to salad greens. Use green beans, artichokes, asparagus, corn and pimientos... what's your favorite? Add canned chicken, shellfish, sardines, meatballs. Mix and match your own ingredients; olive oil goes well with each of them.

Salads provide a balanced diet, perfect for summer. They will keep you alert, active...trim, thin! Start today.

SERVICE WITH A SMILE
... you get it with an electric water heater

Modern electric water heaters are dependable, doing their jobs of providing plenty of hot water whenever you turn on the tap... and at a new low water heating rate. You not only forget water heater worries when your water heater is electric, but in those rare instances when service may be needed, you still have no worries. That's because your silent servant, Reddy Kilowatt, springs into action. He'll fix whatever's wrong... quick as a magician pulling a rabbit out of a hat!

An Open Letter to the People of Texas...

The availability of an adequate supply of water has always made the difference between prosperity and want--between plenty and famine. For these reasons, water has played a major role in the Texas story--has been the essential element in placing a State known for wide open spaces in the position of sustaining--

- * The Nation's third largest population by 1985;
- * A high rate of growth in business, industry and finance;
- * The Nation's third largest agricultural industry.

Our State's growth projections in these areas nearly defies imagination, and yet experts tell us that these projections and future prosperity cannot be realized unless giant steps are taken now to assure Texas' future water resources.

The Texas Water Plan was developed to make maximum use of the available water in our State and to provide for additional out-of-state water as needed. This work has taken place during all of our administrations as Governor of Texas. The Plan comes to its first real public test on August 5, 1969, when you, the voters of Texas, are being asked to approve Constitutional Amendment No. Two, which will authorize the Texas Water Development Board to sell up to $3.5 billion in additional bonds over a 40-year period, in amounts as needed--money that will eventually be repaid by water users.

We urge you to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. Two on August 5. It may be the most important vote this generation of Texans will cast.

Sincerely,
