MINISKIRTS are dreamy, if one can believe a report from the University of Georgia, and not only that, some of those dreams related to miniskirts may be for mature andiences only.

Two University of Georgia psychologists have "studied" 30 girl students in an effort to relate miniskirts and sex dreams. The 30 coeds were asked to write down their dreams each day and then their hemlines-to-middle of knee measurements were taken. Conclusion: The shorter the skirt, the more likely sexual symbolism in her dreams. Says NEA Preporting on this: "Plenty of dreamy chicks these days headed for corrective psychiatry!".

(Here I must digress, but it does seem like they could just leave a nice wide shoulder by the highway, and bury the auto accident victims on the scene. Probably too practical, though).

What did they do with all these bodies? Well, they put them in an "apartment house for the dead, " a 10-story building which just holds bodies.

"Ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people." II Cor. 6:16.

Where does God dwell? All that it takes for people to decide God is dead is for them to be looking for God in the wrong place. If God is absent from the place where the search is being made, He must be dead. God is very much alive and near to those who are aware of the place of His abode, and are communing with Him. The Prophets spoke of a time coming when one individual would not be teaching another individual about God, but all would be taught from within. (Jeremiah 31:33-34) We are now living in these times. We are to turn within ourselves to our Spiritual nature where we can commune with God. God dwells in us and walks in us. Fortunate is the person who knows that his life is not his own and that God is living his life for him. If God dwells in us, walks in us, then we can commit our life to Him and He will live His life through us. When we realize this, we will quit sturggling and striving and just vield our life to God and watch Him live in us.

This is not as easy as it sounds. The moment we start living this kind of life, the false ego within us starts to make battle with this way of living. He has been on the throne of our life so long that he is not going to give up without a fight. He will return many times, sometimes in disguise, trying to restore his former position. This is the 'Old Man' spoken of in the Scriptures. (Eph. 4:22-24) This is the reasfor dying daily that Paul talked about. There is a new life beginning within us and we must feed and nourish it until it becomes an adult within us and can sit on the throne of our life. This 'babe in Christ' must be protected until it has grown in wisdom and stature' to the point where you will quickly discern the difference between the false-self on the throne of your life and the Real-Self, is the blending of the Spirit of God with our Spirit, until they, two, become Ope. In this ONENESS, we have Christ living our life. It matters not how far we may be from this at the present, this is our goal and we are to work with this principle until it is an accomplished fact in our life.

Do you seek to dwell where God dwells? When you go to God, you must know where to find Him. God does not change His dwelling place just because you are seeking for Him some other place. Yes God is everywhere, but you cannot know His presence is everywhere unless you go within yourself where God is manifesting to you. If you find Him there, you become aware that He is everywhere. You have a Spiritual nature and this is where Christ operates in your life. "His spirit bareth witness with my spirit, that I am a child of God. " (Ro. 8:16) Learn to dwell with God where He is. Dwell with His abiding presence that is within you. "The toils of the road will seem nothing, when ye get to the end of the way." This dwelling place is the end of the search!

In everything God works for good with those who love him,-(Rom. 8:28).

Let us have an open, recep tive attitude, and feel just a little curious as to what our good for today will be. Go to meet your good with a keen awareness that the action of God's Spirit within us is powerful, wise, loving and harmonious. As we trust the Spirit of God at work in us, we will certainly meet with what is, or will be, our very highest good,

WHOM CAN WE THANK FOR THIS?

Labor Day is meant for rest and recreation but that shouldn't rule out constructive activity. Why not, then, set aside a little time to consider why it's one of our most important holidays.

The way the meaning of the word "labor" has changed over the years is one clue to why this anniversary is increasingly significant to all Americans. When the holiday was started nearly a century ago, men really labored-and hard. Then the one-day respite provided much-needed relief from toil. Today, people still work diligently and ambitiously-but the enervating drudgery and sheer expenditure of muscle are no longer the standard pattern . . . thanks to modern facilities and a huge expansion in creative occupations. Moreover, the worker of 1969 has both the opportunity and energy to enjoy his day off and the fruits of his labor.

This has been brought about by the ingenuity of industrial science, which-coupled with a remarkable partnership between employer and employee-has made the American worker the most productive in the world. In counting our Labor Day blessings, we should bear in mind the need to maintain a balance in the relations between management and employees.

While resolving to extend the cooperative spirit that enhances our economy, organized labor and management might do well to sign another pact: a contract to work jointly to improve the lot of those Manning, who was away on vawho still do not share in the material and social cation with his family.

benefits of our times. Industry has already taken substantial steps in that direction-through such efforts as manpower training for the hard-core unemployed and affirmative action to provide equal employment opportunities. But organized labor's participation is vital to making these programs more effective, and the determination to make such a contribution is an appropriate Labor Day resolution.

"Our group believes that increased, concerted effort by travel-oriented business is needed to meet the ever-growing opportunities and challenges to the Texas travel industry.

"Our objectives are to help Texas achieve preeminence both in numbers of travelers and their expenditures while in the state; to vastly stimulate the travel of Texans throughout Texas and to achieve a higher degree of active cooperation within the state's travel industry.

"We believe that the fine travel promotion programs of the Texas Tourist Development Agency and the State Highway Department deserve everyone's unswerving support but that those efforts must be augmented through aggressive activity by travel-oriented businesses. "

Scientist Raises A Question

Science and technology promise to open up to us vast new possibilities-and nobody is inclined to doubt now that scientists will be able to deliver on their promises.

Some of their achievements. however, do cause us to wonder how much farther we should go with science unless there is a corresponding advance in other

For example, a brain stimulant is expected to be available soon, able to cause changes in the brains of children-presumably to enable children of average or below-average mentality to cope with the demands of present-day schooling. Other chemicals are being developed, to be used as "brain controllers," primarily for the purpose of "supplemental therapy," along with more traditional methods of affecting the thinking of children-or others.

Most Serious Question But, said Dr. David Krech, in discussing this subject with a conference of educators in Atlantic City, "I must confess to you that I cannot avoid a dread feeling of unease about the future. Who will control the brain controllers, and to what end?"

Many thinking people believe that our greatest need today is not for more brilliant men, but for more men in positions of leadership who are possessed of unquestionable integrity - men of real character.

Important as science is-and proud as we are of the scientific achievement of our fellowmen in this time-we cannot afford to overlook the fact that the ultimate and most urgent necessity is for us to have in positions of leadership people who can be trusted with the awesome powers which are available to men in our age.

ENMU TEAM LOOKING GOOD

With only a few days remaining before fall practice begins, .14 recenthigh school graduates are expected to report to Eastern New Mexico University to compete for berths on the 1969 Greyhound football team.

Of the 14, 11 players were named to either All-League, All-District of All-State teams during the 1968 campaign, and four of them participated in the 1969 New Mexico North-South All-Star game.

Leading the list are Willie Hall, Clovis; Rick Trujillo, Lovington. Jack Valliant, Ruidoso; Steve Ross, Albuquerque; and Chuck White, Indio, Calif.

Hall, a running back at Clovis, is expected to compete at the wingback position for Eastern. At 5 feet 9, 175 pounds, he was a member of the New Mexico All-Stars South team in 1969. He was also named the outstanding offensive back in the state at the conclusion of the 1968

Trujillo, 5 feet 0, 170 pounds, earned All-State honors at the quarterback position while at Lovington High School. He is expected to add good depth to the quarterback position during his freshman year with the Hounds.

Valliant, 6 feet 1 1/2, 175 pounds, played at the linebacker position for Ruidoso High School, and received All-District honors for four years before being named to the New Mexico All-Star team in 1969.

Ross played the entire All-Stargame at the offensive guard drinking if driving, and drive defensively. "

"As your Governor, it is my responsibility to lead our state efforts in traffic safety. I urge all Texans and visitors who will be driving this weekend to use utmost care and good judgement, " Smith said.

The Labor Day holiday will officially begin at 6 p. m. Friday, August 29, and run through midnight Monday, September 1. During this time, the Texas Department of Public Safety estimates that 44 persons will be killed in traffic mishaps within the state.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, joined the Governor in urging all motorists to obey the law. He noted that the DPS would have all available uniformed patrolmen on duty over the holiday weekend in a special "Operation Motorcide. "

Both the Governor and DPS Director Speir urged Texas motorists to adopt the slogan "Drive to Stay Alive" as their personal

Famous Scenes 'Come Alive' at Movieland

BUENA PARK. CALIFORNIA: Fred MacMurray meets Fred MacMurray-in wax sculpture, that is. He paid a visit to his friend Allen Parkinson, founder of the internationally known Movieland Wax Museum to see the set from "The Absent-Minded Professor," complete with shaggy dog and flying Model T.

Movieland Wax Museum, renowned as the "star's hall of fame," depicts over 125 of Hollywood's greatest names in scenes from their most-loved movies, and tourists are flocking in record numbers to see their favorites of screen and television. Authenticity and breath-taking realism seem to make the scenes come alive. Some luminaries have donated their original costumes, such as Sophia Loren's dress from "Two Women" and Gloria Swanson's fur from "Sunset Boulevard." Visitors walk through a mansion's patio to see Clark Gable in "Gone With the Wind" and down the yellow brick road to see Judy Garland in "The Wizard of Oz." Among the newest additions are Bonanza's Cartwright family and the Smothers Brothers. Occasionally excitement heightens when sight-seers realize that one of the stars has come out to see his or her set and is strolling through the Museum among them.

Admission to Movieland includes the Palace of Living Art, million-doilar addition that brings great works of art 'to life' in wax sculpture. Here, one sees scenes like the "Mona Lisa" or "Whistler's Mother" as the artist must have seen it to capture in painting or sculpture. Both attractants, open daily, are located in the tourist

When ham is on special, your family can eat "high off the hog" for a number of meals. And you'll be able to fix some quick and flavorful main dishes that go easy on the budget, too. Rice with Ham and Pineapple, made with Minute Rice, has a Chinese touch in the clear sauce flavored with pineapple, onion, and green pepper.

Rice with Ham and Pineapple

1 chicken bouillon cube

11/3 cups water 11/3 cups packaged enriched pre-cooked rice

½ cup chopped onion 1 medium green pepper,

cut in thin strips

(% to ¼ inch thick) 2 tablespoons shortening 1 tablespoon cornstarch

8 slices leftover cooked ham

1 teaspoon sugar 1 can (8-% oz.) pineapple

tidbits ½ cup water

Dissolve bouillon cube in 1-1/3 cups water in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Stir in rice. Cover; remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Meanwhile, sauté onion, green pepper, and ham slices in shortening in a large skillet until onion is tender, but not browned and ham is slightly browned. Remove ham and ornstarch and sugar in the same skillet. Add pine apple and 1/2 cup water. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened and clear. Spoon rice onto platter and top with the pineapple sauce, reserving a small amount of the sauce. Arrange ham slices over rice and add remaining sauce. Makes 4
