EVER FEEL like bopping your wife or husband in the kisser? Of course you have, unless you've only been married a few days, and even then the thought probably has crossed your mind.

Of course, thinking about it and doing it are not the same in the eyes of society (although the Lord can't see the difference), and only one out of five persons answering a survey on violence say there are situations they can imagine in which they would approve of a husband slapping a wife's face.

This is a 20 per cent figure. But 22 per cent said they could imagine situations in which they would approve a wife's slapping a husband's face. From this viewpoint, this smacks of blatant discrimination.

The percentages, thankfully, drop sharply when the same group was asked about shooting one's mate. Only 3 per cent would approve a husband shooting his wife, and 4 per cent could imagine some justification for a wife shooting her husband.

The inescapable conclusion is that more husbands than wives need shooting. However the Harris poll didn't say what proportion of men and women were interviewed.

EVERYONE has had the experience of being about fifth in line of cars when the light turned from red to green, only to wait while the four in front creep slowly through the intersection, then have the light turn back red just as you get there.

At Detroit the other day, an engineer reported on the results of a test. It was found that if motorists stop farther apart at a red light and start as soon as the light turns green, instead of waiting until the car ahead has moved, more cars will get through the intersection.

Tests indicated that if this were widely practiced, 20 or more cars might safely pass through the standard 26-second green light instead of the usual 15.

KNOTHOLES: Eight million teenagers now get weekly allowances from the parents, according to survey by a soft drink company. I'd tell you what the average is, but you parents would kill me. Hal Boyle poses this question: "Are you a 'gimp' without knowing it? There is a 50-50 chance that one of your legs is shorter than the other." (Personally, I always figured my own odds a lot higher than that) ... The hair on your head, we're told, is strong. Reportedly, if an average man's hair were shorn and woven into a rope, it could support a weight of 10 tons. I know some people with enough stuff on top to lift the Queen Elizabeth II out of the water.

Two Seniors Make WTCC Accademic Team

Two Sudan youth have been named to the "All West Texas Academic Football Team", according to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Nominations were made from the more than 400 high schools in the 132-county area served by the WTCC. Selection was based on academic achievement, character, citizenship and leadership. Nominations were submitted by local school officials.

In order to qualify the students had to be seniors, maintain better than average grades and be selected to represent his school on an all-district team.

Harvey Willeby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Price, and Larry Hanna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hanna, were named as lineman and linebacker to the defensive unit.

Both have been outstanding in sports, especially during their four years of high school. Hanna has a grade point average of 90 and Willeby's is 89. Sudan was the only town in this area to place two on the team.

Junior Teams To Host Tourney

With only two weeks left in basketball season, the varsity teams have little chance to grab the district championship. Highlighting next week's play, the junior high teams will host a round-robin tournament beginning Thursday, Feb. 5 and continuing through Saturday, Feb. 7 with four games to be played daily.

Amherst-Bula girls will open tournament play Thursday at 4:30 p. m. to be followed by the Amherst-Bula boys at 5:40 p. m., Sudan-Sundown girls at 6:50 p. m. and Sudan-Sundown boys at 8 p. m. Friday, Amherst will play Sundown and Sudan will be pitted against Bula. Saturday, Sundown will play Bula and Sudan will close out the tournament against Amherst.

Trophies will be awarded for first and second places, to be decided on the best won-loss record. In case of a tie, total points scored will be the deciding factor.

The Varsity boys lost both their encounters this week. In the game Friday against Vega the final score read Sudan 51, Vega 58. Vega led 37-31 at the half. Larry Hanna led the scoring for Sudan with 20 points, followed by Jerry Bellar with 17.

KATHY RICE

Kathy Rice, a senior student at Sudan High School, has been named as a member of McCall's Teen Fashion Board. Kathy's name was submitted by the local Homemaking teacher, Mrs. JoAnne Bray. Students are nominated to serve on this Teen Fashion Board on the basis of their interest in homemaking and homemaking education. Kathy's interest has been indicated by her excellent class attitude, good grades in Homemaking, by the fact that she is now enrolled in the third year of homemaking, and by her active participation in Future Homemakers of America. Kathy is serving her third year as an officer in Future Homemakers and this is her fourth year as an active member of the organization. Since FHA is an integral part of the overall Homemaking program, Kathy's activity in FHA was a strong point in selecting her as a member of the Board.

During a school assembly, Thursday, Jan. 22, Kathy was presented with a membership card, a certificate, officially naming her to the Board, and a membership pin.

As a member of the McCall's Teen Fashion Board, Kathy will receive periodic mailings from McCall's to be shared with other students in the homemaking classes. She will also be asked to give her ideas and opinions on various fashion subjects. These ideas may be used in McCall's publications. Girls from all over the United States are members of the Board, and all of the ideas they submit will be used - in compiled form - from time to time.

Kathy is the daughter of Mrs. W. L. Rice and plans to attend South Plains College where she will major in Home Economics.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Barnett spent the weekend visiting their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sorrells in Quinlan, and then spent a week in Fort Worth attending a workshop where their son, Weaver Barnett, Jr., was a teacher, and also visited Mrs. Barnett's mother and sister.
