FORTY-SIXTH YEAR NUMBER 34

SUDAN, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS

BY DALTON

AT CRYSTAL CITY the other day, the Mexican-American school board majority turned down seven of 15 demands made by the head of German parents group.

There's some kind of irony in that, because Crystal City is where the Mexican-Americans fussed, demonstrated, boycotted, protested, rioted and wrangled until they achieved some political power and finally got their people elected to the school board, ousting the Anglos who wouldn't give in to all their demands for such things as bilingual classes, Mexican-American teachers, and I don't recall just what else.

There are a lot of Germans in that country and their demands may be every bit as valid as those made by the Chicanos.

Among the rejected demands was one for teachers to speak in English or if that were not possible, in German.

Given tentative approval, though, were these:

1. That a course of German education with credit value be introduced.
2. That German food be served once a week.

Ach du lieber. Out there in the halls are lining up little groups of Jews, Italians and one lone Chinese, waiting their turn to be heard.

IN CALIFORNIA last week a 6-foot python escaped from its cage and the owner warned that it had a mean disposition.

As authorities searched for the reptile, nervous residents of the area were advised that pythons generally favor trees for housing. Said one official:

"If a python drops from a tree, don't try to catch it. If it drops on you, stand still and pretend you're a tree."
Yeah. Petrified.

The Hornets put their stingers to work Friday night as they over-powered the undefeated Vega Longhorns, 28-14. It was an exciting ball game and a great win for the Hornets. This gives the Hornets a 3-2 season and a 1-1 district record.

The Longhorns got on the scoreboard first about midway of the first quarter as HB Dickie Robinson ran one yard for the first TD. The Hornets defense put a great rush on the Longhorn punter causing the kick for EP to fail. The Hornets got on the move late in the first quarter and moved the ball from their 8 yard line to the longhorns 33 yard line as the first quarter ended.

The Hornets scored early in the second quarter as HB David Weaver ran 20 yards for the Hornets first TD. He also kicked the extra point to give the Hornets a 7 to 6 lead over the Longhorns.

The Hornets defense held the Longhorns after the kickoff forcing them to punt on a fourth down. Hornet David Weaver fielded the ball on the Hornet 10 yard line and battled his way back to the Longhorn 43 yard line. The Hornets then moved the ball to the 2 yard line where QB Bo Lance went over on a keeper for another Hornet TD.

Weaver kicked the extra point to give the Hornets a 14 to 6 lead.

With only 56 seconds left on the clock in the first half, the Longhorns scored again as FB Ronnie Fangman ran two yards for the touchdown. QB Bronc May ran for the extra points which tied the game 14-14 at halftime. Also the penetration were tied 2-2 with the Longhorns leading with 11 first downs to the Hornets 10.

The third quarter was a scoreless period but the Hornets got a drive going late in the quarter as FB Edwards made a 37 yard run to the Longhorn 14 yard line. The Hornets pushed to the 8 yard line as the period ended.

On the first play of the fourth quarter the Hornets fumbled and the Longhorns recovered it on their own eight yard line. However, Hornet defense held the Longhorns again, forcing them to punt on fourth down. The Hornets came up with the ball on the 42 yard line and two plays later HB Weaver ran around left end 35 yards for another Hornet score. Weaver also kicked the extra point to give the Hornets a 21 to 14 lead over the Longhorns.

The Longhorns were unable to move the ball against the Sudan defense and the Hornets took over on the Longhorn 40 yard line.

With only 54 seconds left, the Hornets lost the ball on the Longhorn 14 yard line, on a fourth down play. The Longhorns were trying hard to score as time ran out. They tried three passes which were incomplete and faked a punt on fourth down. However, the ball went over the quarterback's head, and as he picked it up and tried to run with it found a lot of Hornets to bring him down on the 3 yard line.

With only 6 seconds left on the clock, QB Lance ran a sneak and scored as time ran out on the clock. Weaver kicked the extra point and the Hornets won 28 to 14.

HB David Weaver had a good night for the Hornets as he made 132 yards on 13 carries. He also kicked 4 out of 4 extra points for the Hornets. McNabb was second top carrier with 85 yards on 16 carries. The Hornet defense was led by King, Chisholm, and Lopez who did an outstanding job.

Back the Hornets this week as they go to Hart!

The B-team, coached by James Farmer, won their tilt with Vega Saturday morning at Vega, 14-8. The game being postponed from Thursday due to bad weather.

Ernest Jefferson recovered a fumble and went all the way to score. Curtis Chester recovered a fumble and also intercepted a pass when the long yardage gained was called-back due to a penalty.

The eighth grade was overcome by the Vega team 30-0 although Sudan played a fine ballgame. Farmer reports that Vega had an outstanding team in the younger division.

The Junior teams and also the B-team will host teams from Hart here Thursday with the games scheduled to begin at 4:30 p. m. The B-team game will begin at 7 p. m.

EARLY FREEZE HITS AREA

The earliest freeze for this area was recorded Thursday morning, Oct. 8, along with snow and a strong north wind. The temperature dropped to the low 30's Thursday morning, but dropped to a record low of 26 on Friday morning. These were the earliest freezing temperatures recorded by the weather bureau since 1894 when recordings began.

Last year a freeze was recorded for October 13.

According to local farmers the damage was not as severe to cotton as was expected due to the fact that the leaves were killed in degrees, allowing the drying of bolls more gradually. However, very late cotton did suffer considerably from the

PP & K Winners Named

Winners were announced this week for the local Punt, Pass & Kick competition held recently sponsored by Keith Glover Ford. Kyle Martin had high score for early frost.

The local area is experiencing the harvesting of a bumper crop of milo according to local grain elevator operators.

"Saturday was the biggest day we have had in all our thirty-odd years in business here," J. H. Vincent of the Sudan Elevators said this week.

More than two million pounds of grain were weighed in on the company scales Saturday.

This speaks well for the grain crop and also for the efficiency of the Sudan Elevator crew and equipment in being able to take care of any amount of grain coming in.

Marvin Tollett, manager of Feeders Grain, Inc. reported that they have weighed in some 375 car loads of milo or some 40,000,000 pounds during the season. He added that the irrigated grain has better than average yields with the dry-land grain suffering somewhat due to lack of moisture.

On the whole the farmers have reported good harvesting weather for the grain.

TODAY'S LARGER NUMBERS OF DEER ARE MATCHED BY MORE DEER HUNTERS, BUT THE WARY BUCK IS STILL AN ELUSIVE CREATURE AND ONLY THE SEASONED HUNTER, WITH THE RIGHT EQUIPMENT, HAS A FAIR CHANCE OF BRINGING HOME VENISON.

Some Claim a Right to Lie

"Credibility gap" is a term which newsmen began to use during the Lyndon Johnson administration.

More recently, a highly respected television newsmen has admitted that a credibility gap exists between the news as it happens and the news as it is sometimes reported.

Howard K. Smith, ABC's anchor man, has said, referring to the handling of Vietnam War news, "The networks have never given a complete picture of the war."

"For example," he continued, "that terrible siege of Khe Sanh went on for five weeks before newsmen revealed that the South Vietnamese were fighting at our sides, and that they had higher casualties. And the Viet Cong casualties were 100 times ours. But we never told that. We just showed pictures day after day of Americans getting the hell kicked out of them. That was enough to break America apart. That's also what it did!"

Another example: Sen. McGovern has frequently mentioned a "Gallup poll or survey" taken in Vietnam which reportedly showed that "65 per cent of the people in South Vietnam want all Americans out of their country."

The senator may have believed the report, but it has been revealed that it was a total fabrication. ABC newsmen who first released the report have since admitted that there was no such survey, saying that the report was given them by a source which they fail to identify.

"Right to Lie"

Arthur Sylvester, who at that time was Assistant Secretary of Defense in the Kennedy administration, defended his telling a lie to the people of the United States, saying "The government has the right to lie."

"The Right to Lie" is the title of a recently published book by Dr. Robert L. Wolk and Arthur Henley.

One statement made by these authors is, "Everyone lies. And the person who denies that he lies is the most egregious liar of all. The tendency to throw a blanket guilt over lying is psychologically erroneous. It is based on the false premise that all lying is 'wrong.' It is not."

Should we believe this? Or is it a lie?

At the time of the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago, there were some genuine riot scenes filmed by television newsmen. But there were faked scenes, also. There is documented evidence of scenes which were shown to the American public as news - which were really "staged" by network cameramen.

Expensive Mistake

How do you like to be lied to? If you don't like to be on the receiving end of lies, do you think you should be on the giving end?

Jesus said, in a conversation with some Pharisees, "The devil is a liar and the father of it."

The Bible also tells us what will happen to those who pervert the truth. "The fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers . . . and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone."

Liars may not like the company that they will have in the hereafter, but they will have to remember that they themselves chose it.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Regardless of how many warning reports you get about the weather, there are times when a sudden, unexpected, unpredictable squall hits while you're on the water. And it can upset the best fishing plans.

Sudden storms strike whether you're on the Gulf, on a lake, on a stream, even on a pond. You're likely to be caught while fishing the Gulf, more frequently than anywhere . . . probably because you are farther from shore. Isn't that natural?

Anyway, sometime back a group of us went to Freeport. We had plans for going out to the snapper banks early the next morning. When we retired for the evening everything looked fine. We had listened to the weather reports and everything was "go". But when we stuck our head out the door at 2 a.m. there was a storm blowing. We went back to bed and tried again at 6 o'clock.

Despite the fact that the wind was still high, we got on one of Raymond Muchowich's boats and headed out. We hadn't gone five miles until practically every man on the boat was sick from bouncing on the high waves. So, we turned around and headed back.

Another time four of us left Austin for Greer's Ferry lake near Little Rock, Arkansas. When we boarded the plane in Austin it was a beautiful spring day.

We drove the 70 miles from Little Rock, to our fishing area, under a star-filling heaven. But at 4 a.m. we were awakened by wind cracking through the tall pine trees and thunder and lightning that made us wonder if the world was coming to an end.

I could go on and on reporting dozens of such incidents. Each time conditions seemed fine, but turned out different. Sudden weather changes call for more than just having a weather eye out. You need to be prepared for such emergencies.

Always be sure to have good rain gear along, not just some flimsy something, but real gear that not only will keep you dry but warm. Then have either a tarp or some plastic material to protect your fishing equipment and other paraphernalia aboard. This especially if you're fishing salt water.

Those who carry cameras will do well to keep them in tightly closed plastic bags. In fact, every tackle box should have a few of these large-size plastic bags just for emergencies.

Naturally, life jackets or other safety equipment is a must. Under existing laws in most states, and certainly those covering boats that go out into the Gulf, there are legal requirements about life jackets. This is something every individual should carefully check for his own protection.

Coast-guard approved safety cushions offer some security but they are far from adequate under certain conditions. If all go overboard who's left to toss you a cushion? Or even a life-saving ring. If you can't swim, wear a life jacket at all times. It's better to be called a sissy than a corpse.

There's another good idea, too. When you are on the water and see indications of an approaching storm, crank up that motor and head back to shore. Or, if you are too far away from your camp, head into the nearest land and make your boat fast. Be sure all your gas tanks are closed well, and that your motor gets protection. Without either of them you may be grounded for quite a spell.

For boat equipment it is well to always have with you either a large tarp or several painter drop cloths made of plastic. They take up practically no space, yet they furnish good, one-time protection against the elements.

If you must fight out a storm, try to head into the waves and keep the passenger load weight low. The heavy rain may beat into your face, but it also tends to hold down the force of the waves.

Sudden squalls are very frequent during the hot summer months, especially on the Gulf. Most of them give only a short notice of their approach, so be ready and keep a weather eye out for signs of any disturbance of the elements.

E. D. Mitchell, past district director, review his conservation plan of his farm with B.T. Kisner, soil conservationist.

CONSERVATION REPORTS

By B. T. KISNER
Every farmer is a steward of the land. He only manages it during his lifetime then someone else takes up the responsibility. The condition he leaves the land in at the end of his stewardship will show how he measured up to his responsibility.

A good steward leaves the land in as good a condition as possible. The question is how can a farmer be a steward? This is answered, "by developing a conservation plan that will treat each acre according to its capabilities and according to its needs." Of course we must do more than just plan, we must apply the needed practices. But the first basic step is to plan. Would you build a house without a plan or blueprint? Of course not, so neither can we start a conservation program without a plan.

This planning service has been available for years through the Lamb County Soil and Water Conservation District. The District has some 1650 plans with farmers and ranchers in the county. These plans are in various stages of completion. This is a good start but we need more farmers to make decisions as to how they will carry out their conservation program. How else will the proper practices be installed in their right sequence.

The SCD has the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service Technicians and others that have studied Soil and Water problems and can help develop these conservation plans with farmers and ranchers. When it is time to apply conservation practices assistance is available for layout installation. To be a steward plan your farm, and then farm according to a plan.

AREA COTTON GINNERS NEEDED

Roy Wilson, manager of the Texas Employment Commission Farm Labor Office in Littlefield, reports that there is a shortage of experienced cotton ginnings in the area, but it is expected that sufficient labor will be available to fill requests from local gin managers when the cotton harvest begins.

This new labor estimate is based upon the recent destruction of crops in the South Texas area by hurricane Celia which will cause more cotton harvest labor to come in to Western Texas for the cotton harvest here. Wilson states that in the event local labor cannot be obtained from other areas by his office.

Gin managers who will need gin labor and farmers who will need trailer hands are encouraged to visit or call Wilson, 385-5107, at the TEC office at 425 XIT Drive, a few days before actual need to insure that the labor will be available when needed.

The Texas Employment Commission assists employers and workers alike, without charge. The TEC refers workers to job openings without regard to religion, race, color or national origin. Wilson extends an invitation to workers seeking jobs and to employers seeking workers to visit the local office. He is assisted in the office by Lois Vrabel.

The I In You

Time was when any young girl with beauty designs on herself was advised to emulate the models from the pages of the glossy magazines. As a result, there was an abundance of straight-haired, wide-eyed, cardboard-stiff ingenues types running around. Words like "neat" and "keen" issued forth from their mouths in balloons.

Today (thank heavens . . . sigh), it's fashionable to be individual. If you have dark hair and an olive complexion, you don't have to spend your days wishing you were fair haired and rosy-cheeked. What the new individuality means is that not only can you be yourself (whoever that is), you can also be fifty other different people.

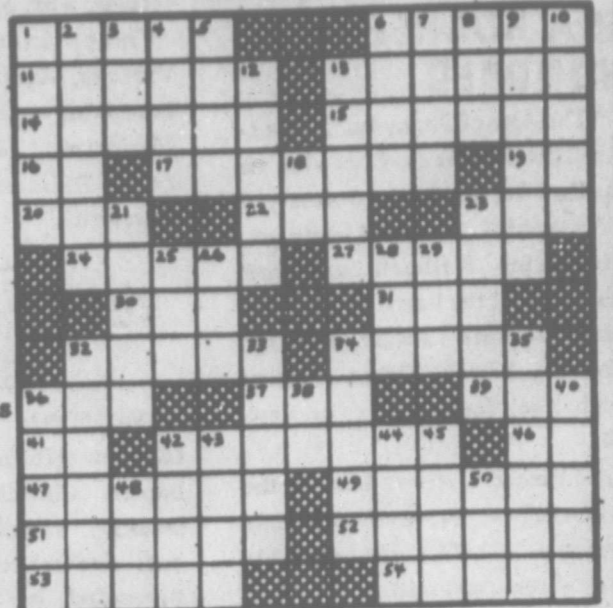

If you feel like playing Greta Garbo—in your own particular way—don a maxi trench coat, a knitted cloche or tailored poplin hat, let your hair hang down and slightly curved and accent your eyes with smoky Gray Realgirl eyeshadow. Want to try on a French impressionist image? Sweep your hair up in the washerman style, slather on some Plum Tussy Eyeshadow, and don a softly clinging crepe dress. As you can see, cosmetics and fashion are all for you—whatever image you choose.

Is this type of image picking different from the old copycat emulation? You bet it is! Because you never lose sight of the real you—you can shift from individual to individual with ease. What you're doing is admitting there are more sides to you than can be seen—and you're doing it naturally!

Understanding The Bible

By DAVE LLEWELLYN

Some time in your life, undoubtedly, you have taken a reading test. The results of that test told you that you read at a rate of so many words per minute and comprehended a certain percentage of what you read. The curious evaluation often rendered by such testing is that your reading rate is very fast but you don't understand what you read.

It is like the student who flipped through Tolstoy's "War and Peace" at 10,000 words per minute but, when he finished and was asked what it was all about, could only reply, "It was about Russia."

Understanding is the purpose of reading, obviously. Bible study suffers from the same problem as ordinary reading. Many people have trouble understanding the Bible when they read it. Not all of the Bible is hard to understand but many parts of it are — and to get a grasp of what the Bible says as a whole is generally difficult.

Helps to Understanding

Fortunately, there is help — a lot of help. There are now over 50 English translations of the New Testament available, and many translations of the Old Testament. There is no longer any need to be confused by archaic words and syntax.

But there is more. God has given readers of the Bible His Spirit to explain His Word to them. Jesus said, "The Holy Spirit, Whom the Father will send in My name — He will teach you all things."

But how, then, is it that there are many things we do not understand when we read?

Jesus said, "When He, the Spirit of Truth, is come, He will guide you into all truth." But some of us, having preconceived ideas on many subjects, may need a good deal of leading by the Holy Spirit to get us to a knowledge of the truth.

Again, God has provided another way to be taught about His Word — people who have themselves been taught by the Spirit.

One of Jesus' disciples, Philip, was sent by the Holy Spirit to meet a man who was driving through the desert. When Philip met the man, he saw his Bible open to Isaiah, so he asked whether he understood what he was reading.

"How can I, unless someone guides me?" the man replied. Philip then explained to him the passage.

The church, as is pointed out in the letters of Paul, is intended to provide people who can explain the Scriptures to others. The Holy Spirit is still the teacher, but sometimes He chooses to teach through people.

Spiritual Wisdom
Also, Christians' studying together teaches them, through personal contact, what they would never have thought to ask otherwise.

Understanding the Bible is not like understanding any other book. The Bible requires more — and it has more to give. Paul told Timothy that the Scriptures were "able to make . . . wise unto salvation."

Unlike any other book, the Bible is able to make you spiritually wise. It is able to, but won't if you understand it only mentally.

God gives this definition: "To depart from evil is understanding." The Bible will make you spiritually wise only if you "take heed" to it.

The bride was attired in a street-length dress of white wool and silk featuring princess styling with detailed stitching. She wore a hat of cerise, purple, and pink silk flowers and carried a bridal bouquet of baby mums and pink roses.

The bride carried a nosegay of white stephanotis, white sunburst chrysanthemum, baby's breath, and pink sweetheart roses.

Ushers were the bride's nephews Garland Wade of Austin, Larry Drake of Amarillo and John Drake of Arlington.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall when the serving table was covered with a white lace cloth and featured an arrangement of pink and white flowers flanked by white and shades of pink tapers. Highlighting the table was a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink flowers.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Bob Drake of Sudan, Mrs. O. H. Kinchen, Mrs. Billie Wolfe and Miss Brenda Drake.

AMERICA'S MOST LOVEABLE LADDIE

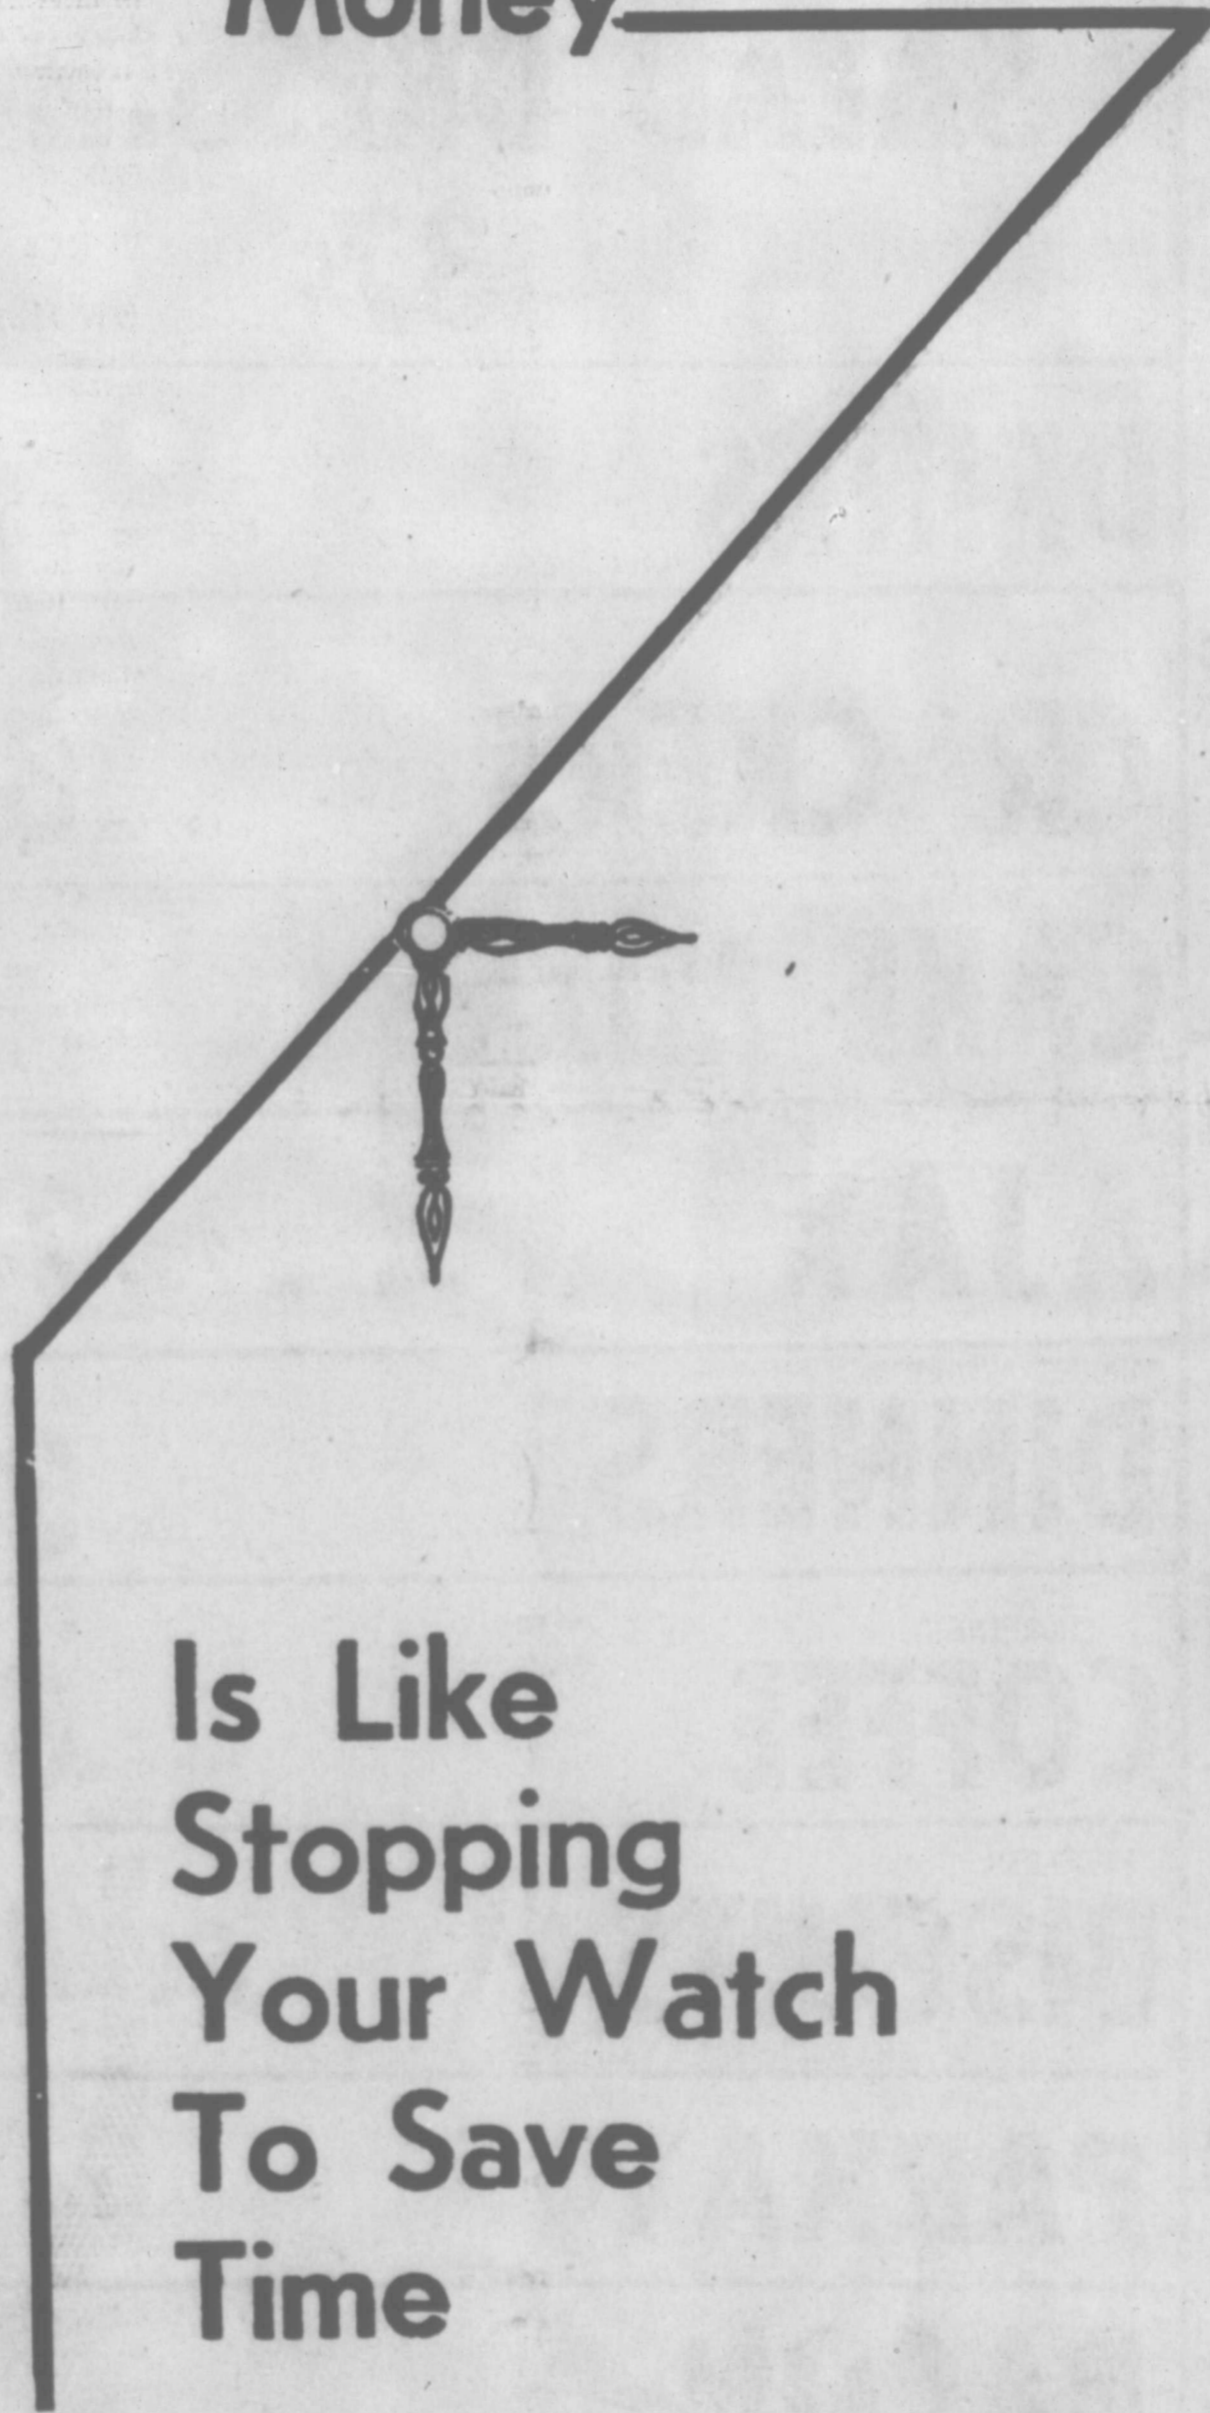

... direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat — you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.
