FORTY-SIXTH YEAR NUMBER 50

WOODWORK BY DALTON

IN THESE DAYS of galloping socialism, there comes a voice of protest from two people who want to be president and vice president of the United States. Not a very lucid voice, but a voice. In fact, even for persons like myself who would like to see a lot of the giveaway programs eliminated or drastically restricted instead of increased every year, these two are going a little far.

We received in the mail the other day a printed sheet boosting one Jacob J. Gordon of Worcester, Mass. "for U. S. President in 1972", with Shirley St. Germain ("mother of seven sons") for the vice presidency.

Their pictures were included. Gordon looks like a tough customer, which fits what he recommends, and she looks sort of like Mercedes McCambridge. Gordon is described as a combat infantry veteran of World War II, with the Purple Heart, Bronze Star and Silver Star. The things they promise to do if elected are astonishing, to say the least, and here are some of them:

1. We will end the Vietnam War in 72 hours and eliminate the draft. Our present army ... tried to fight with one man on the firing line while eleven uniformed welfare recipients lounge safely in the rear...

2. We will eliminate the income tax and the Internal Revenue. The wealthy paid no taxes while over one trillion dollars was extorted from the average American ... by a prostitute Congress over the past 20 years ...

3. We will end inflation. All labor unions will be abolished (this guy may get some votes, yet).

4. We will pay off the national debt in five years.

5. We will eliminate America's race problem. A certain area will be taken by eminent domain and designated as America's black progressive area where America's blacks can realize their aspirations if they choose (but don't get off the reservation, you guys.)

There were some other promises, equally drastic, without specifying just how some of these things will be accomplished.

I'm still not sure whether these people are serious or not.

GIRLS B-TEAM AND THE CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY WON AT ANTON TOURNAMENT

B-Teams Win In Anton Tournament

The three teams representing Sudan in the Anton tournament placed first, second and third to bring home a crop of trophies.

The Sudan B-team girls won the first place trophy last Saturday night at the tournament by defeating Happy 58-23 in the finals. Sudan took an early first quarter lead of 15-4 and led 29-10 at the half. Nonetheless Sudan came back to score a big 20 points in the third period to further their lead. Tanya Chester scored a total of 33 points while Deanna Phillips put 17 points through the hoop. In the first game of the tournament, Sudan downed Anton 37-15 after getting an impressive lead of 23-4 by the half. Tanya Chester again led the scoring for Sudan with 11 points. In the game Friday against Witharrel, the Sudan team again gained what seemed to be an easy victory by scoring 39 points to their opponents 20. Chester was high point with 25 points. They led 14-6 at the half. Starting guards for the B-team girls is Libby Chisholm, Sharon Beavers and Rene Markham.

The sophomore boys brought home a second place trophy after losing to an Anton team 34-44 in the finals. Brad West was high point for Sudan with 8 points, followed by Keith Downs with 7 and David Heard with 6. Sudan led 17-12 at the half but Anton put 18 points on the scoreboard during the final period to take the lead. They defeated the Amherst boys Thursday 32-14 with Larry Baker taking scoring honors for Sudan with 12 points. The score was tied 10-10 at the half but Sudan went ahead by scoring 22 points in the second half while holding Amherst to only 4 points.

The Sudan freshmen boys won consolation after losing to Anton 32-28 in their first game. Sudan half played catch-up during the fourth quarter but couldn't overtake the margin that Anton had built up. Mark Hanna was high point for Sudan with 7 points. However, the score was in favor of Sudan Saturday when they defeated the Amherst team 43-24 with Hanna putting 18 points on the board for Sudan.

The varsity girls also continued their winning ways by defeating Happy 46-44 Friday and Bovina here 39-33 Tuesday. In the game with Happy, the forwards had a hard time finding the basket during the first quarter, but when they did they poured in 23 points during the second quarter. They led by one point at the half, led by five points at the three-fourth mark of the game and were tied 43-43 as they went into overtime. All overtime scores were made from the free throw line with Sudan making three out of seven and Happy only making one out of four. Val Newell led the scoring for Sudan with 11, followed by Angela Pickett with 10, Minnie Williams with 8, Pam Nix and Georgia Ray with 6 each, and Joan Harper 5. The Bovina game was close throughout with Sudan finally getting a three-point edge in the third quarter. The final score was Sudan 39, Bovina 33. Angela Pickett and Pam Nix were tied for high point with 12 points each. The Bovina team made five of the 22 free shots allowed them by Sudan.

The B-team girls were upset 31-29 by the Bovina fems Tuesday night after a very close battle. Bovina led by one point at the half and the score was tied 23-23 at the third period. Tanya Chester scored 20 points for Sudan.

The boys varsity team came out on top 59-58 in a squeaker win Happy Friday. The game was tied at the half with Sudan falling behind in the third period but came back to score 20 points in the final period to take the lead by one point. Scoring for Sudan were Weaver with 14, Boyle with 16, Glover with 13, Lance with 10, West, Engram and Edwards with 2 each. The Bovina team came on strong during the second period to take a 36-22 half time score in their tilt here Tuesday night. Although Sudan attempted a comeback in the second could not overtake Bovina who won by a score of 71-60. Weaver scored 16 points for Sudan for the high top of the score Tuesday night in a squeaker with Bovina, 47-46. (continued on page three)

FIRE REPORT

The Sudan Fire Department answered three calls this past week according to fire chief Orville Hill. The crew was summoned to a grass fire about 5 miles east of Sudan on Tuesday night when fire was burning along the highway right-of-way.

Later they were called to the Byron Lynn farm some three miles north of town when a shed was destroyed by fire.

Saturday afternoon a grass fire blazed out of control on the Harold May farm west of town and badly damaged a residence located over one-quarter of a mile from the original fire. The house was estimated as being 50 per cent destroyed by the blaze although firemen worked desperately to save the structure. The house was unoccupied.

OUTSIDERS TOURNAMENT BEGINS HERE TODAY

The Sudan Booster Club will sponsor an Outsiders Basketball tournament here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. There will be eight teams entered, two from Sudan; two from Morton, two from Amherst, one each from Littlefield and Lubbock.

DAVE LLEWELLYN

Right Reading of Jesus' Parables

"My love is like a red, red rose."

The Scottish poet, Robert Burns, spoke in this verse feelings known to the heart of every man, didn't he? You've heard these words; perhaps you have even recited their thought. But just what is it that this line says?

The Problem

Does it mean that the one whom you love, like the rose, prefers to live out-doors, close to nature? Does it mean that she is deeply passionate, as the reddest red? Or is she tender, because she is badly sunburned? Or might the "red, red rose" be the color of her lips?

Does it mean that she has the fragrance of the rose? Or might her charm be like the rose-bud that blooms beautifully, but then is quickly withered? Is she like a rose because she is pretty—or prickly?

In fact, is this line even talking about a woman at all? Perhaps it is not about the person he loves, but rather about his feeling of love.

Robert Burns used an analogy, a comparison, to express an attitude and a concept about love. This use of images, or pictures from life, is invaluable for conveying some kinds of information—especially feelings or attitudes. But such images must be interpreted with great care.

A Principle

One rule must be obeyed: any interpretation of an image, or picture from life, must make sense in the whole picture—and not just a part. To know what Burns meant by "My love is like a red, red rose" you must study the entire poem.

Here is another example.

Jesus told a story about a widow whose case was ignored by an unjust judge. This woman finally got justice from him because she pestered him until he judged her case, just to get rid of her. Jesus then said, "Shall not God avenge His own elect, which cry day and night unto Him, though He bear long with them?"

Many people have interpreted this parable, which is recorded in Luke 18, to mean that people ought to pray and beg God, day in and day out, to answer their prayers. This interpretation, however, does not fit the entire story.

The very next thing Jesus says is, "I tell you that He shall avenge them speedily." God gives to our prayers immediate action.

The fact that you may not see how anything is being done is explained in the phrase "though He bear long with them." God gives you faith and patience to accept His action in the proper course and in the proper time. This does not mean you should not speak repeatedly to the Lord about a matter, but you should realize that He heard you the first time.

This parable was to teach "that men ought always to pray, and not to faint." Jesus concluded, saying, "When the Son of Man comes, shall He find faith on the earth?"

Faint not; have faith. Jesus is not warning us not to faint with exhaustion from ceaseless praying. He is warning us not to faint or lose heart from frustration because we don't have faith that our prayers are heard and God is acting on them.

EASY STEPS KEEP FURNITURE CARE-FREE

I've had a stack of letters from my readers in the last few months asking me what's the proper way to care for furniture. I'm not at all surprised at the lack of information most homemakers have about how to treat their prized tables, desks, buffets, and other pieces. After all, with all the wax and polish manufacturers out to promote their own products, it's very simple to get confused. But it's easy to give your hardwood pieces the treatment they need and deserve!

Although everyone lives with wood furniture, there's a certain tendency to lose sight of just how "irreplaceable" hardwood really is. Of course, all furniture should be treated with a certain degree of respect, but pieces made from genuine hardwood are seemingly indestructible. Should damage occur, there's always a way to fix them, and in most cases you can make repairs yourself. Plastics and other synthetics which imitate the look and feel of wood can never be restored once they are scratched, nicked or broken, nor do they have the beauty, elegance and character inherent in every genuine hardwood piece.

Now with the new super finishes available, wood furniture is stronger and more durable than ever before. These new finishes provide a built-in resistance to stains, scratches, blows, spills of all kinds, and heat, as well as moisture.

With or without the new super finishes, here's how to keep your hardwood furniture looking its lustrous best:

Dust furniture several times a week with a soft cloth, moving with the wood grain.

Any questions on wood? Write to Rhonda Racz, Hardwood Institute, Suite 1422, 551 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y. 10017.

BASKETBALL-----

vina led 27-23 at the half and Sudan lagged until the final minutes of the game. Baker scored 11 points for Sudan.

The eighth grade team were involved in a tournament last week at Springlake when the girls were defeated by Olton, 25-18 in their opening game. Olton took an early lead and maintained it throughout the game. Mary Ann Bellar led the scoring with 12 points. The Sudan girls came back on Saturday to down the Springlake "7" by a score of 49-3 with Mary Ann Bellar scoring 14 for Sudan, followed by Janet Sloan with 12. Sudan was defeated 20-17 in the finals by Hale Center with Bellar again scoring 12 points. Sudan lagged by only one point at the half. The eighth grade girls won their game here Monday with Farwell, 18-13. Sudan led 10-9 at the half but Farwell narrowed their lead to only 2 points at the end of the third period. Mary Ann Bellar and Janet Sloan shared the high point honors with 6 points each. The seventh grade girls also won their game Monday 25-17 with Linda Edwards leading their scoring with 10 points. Sudan led 13-7 at the half and enlarged this to a 21-8 lead at the end of the third period.

The eighth grade boys won their game with Farwell 29-27 after leading 20-4 at the end of the first period. Tamplin was high point with 18 points. The seventh grade boys lost their game 20-17 to Farwell after leading 13-10 at the half. Donald Johnson scored 6 points for Sudan.

The upcoming week is the final week for regularly scheduled basketball games. The varsity teams will play Farwell there Friday and will close out the season with a home game Tuesday against Kress. The seventh grade team will be engaged in a tournament at Olton and then will be involved in the beginning today. All junior high team will go to Hart Monday night here February 11-12-13.

Economic Growth Is Predicted in '70s

The nation's economy will grow about 4.3 per cent per year during the remainder of the 1970's, according to Dr. Harold C. Passer, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs.

This would exceed the real growth rate since 1947 (4 per cent) and be considerably higher than the 3 per cent per year during the past 40 years

TAXES FACE TEXAS LEGISLATORS

The 62nd Session of the Texas Legislature convened for its regular session of 140 days on Tuesday, Jan. 12, 1971. One legislator commented, "Blood will run from every aisle in the Capitol when the tax bill is presented."

Taxes, like the weather, are widely discussed but little understood. Since they hit the pocketbook, everyone is agin 'em.

Early last year it was estimated that the current legislature would have to find $350 million of new money. It is now stated that a raise in taxes of from $650 million to $800 million will be necessary. So it will be seen, that in these changing times, the picture can change very rapidly.

It's a woman's WHIRL

Don't put your best tires forward. Put them on the rear.

No doubt you've been told the reverse—that mounting the best tires on the front gives you better control in case of blowouts or skids. But the National Bureau of Standards has just completed a tire survey which shows that loss of rear wheel traction on curves and rear wheel lockup in panic stops are two major contributors to accidents.

Furthermore, they say that where the tires are of equal quality, 64 per cent of failures occur on the rear tires.

Another point to ponder is that the tires on one out of four cars are dangerously underinflated. Not only that, the Bureau states that 80 per cent of the air pressure gauges at service stations are inaccurate.

This makes a pretty good case for buying your own tire gauge, doesn't it? And it's a small cost considering the big safety factors involved. Then, too, this is the time of year when underinflation is most apt to occur since cold weather brings about a drop in tire pressure.

The survey also warns that one out of eight tires on the highways is seriously bald. In fact, N.B.S. recommends that authorities take legal action against the use of bald tires.

So, be sure your tires have at least $\frac{1}{8}$ -inch tread at the part where the wear is the greatest. To test, insert a penny sideways into the tread. If the top of Honest Abe's head shows, you are heading for trouble.

Just to be on the safe side, wise motorists have a wheel alignment and balance check every six months.

Is Breaking Law Way to Do Good?

"We must break every law to save three million Soviet Jews," said Rabbi Meir Kahane, leader of the Jewish Defense League, recently. "The time has come for us to bury our respectability before it buries us."

The rabbi was referring to plans by his organization to take action—legal or illegal—to direct attention to the plight of Jews in the Soviet Union.

There is no doubt that the Jews in Russia need help. What we can do to help them is another question, since they are under the control of a government that apparently pays little attention to humanitarian considerations.

But the way to help them is definitely not to violate the laws of this country. That only succeeds in making criminals out of people with supposedly good intentions.

Larry Fine, executive director of the JDL, said on January 11, "We feel that, by creating a crisis, we will force the Russians to let the Jews go."

However, the board of governors of B'nai B'rith, Jewish service organization, declared that the deeds of the JDL were the "lunatic-fringe action of an unrepresentative, notoriety-seeking group."

Lawlessness Never Right

Much as we may sympathize with the declared motive of the JDL to seek freedom for Jews in the Soviet Union, we cannot approve of lawlessness. "The end justifies the means" is a Communist doctrine which must be shunned by all who truly value liberty and justice.

Abraham Lincoln warned the people of the United States "never to violate the laws of the country and never to tolerate their violation by others."

"Let reverence for the law be taught," he continued, "in the schools, seminaries, and colleges. Let it be written in primers. . . . Let it be preached from the pulpit and proclaimed in the legislative halls, and enforced in the courts of justice. . . . In short, let it become the political religion of the nation."

Is this advice from Lincoln out of date? Have times changed? Is it now all right to break laws that we personally do not approve of? Or is it permissible to "do evil that good may come?"

Vice President Spiro Agnew, speaking to the American Legion convention in Portland, Ore., last September, said, "Ours is a system rooted in law. It's based on respect for law, and on laws that deserve respect. . . . We have a First Amendment that guarantees the right of free speech and free assembly. But smashing windows, burning offices, and assaulting people in the streets are not acts of speech or assembly. Those are trespasses upon the equally sacred right of others to be safe in their property and in the free enjoyment of their liberty."

Obedience Required

Although some religious leaders have declared that it is all right to break the law when "the end justifies the means," they did not get this teaching from the Bible.

Here's what the Bible says on this matter: "Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready for every good work."

It is not a "good work" for any minister, priest, or rabbi to advocate disobedience to law—for any purpose or at any time.
