BY PALTON

ALL IN ONE DAY I found out what a dulcimer is, learned of a unique statewide arts and crafts fair, was reminded that there is beauty in things we often consider ordinary, and read that the thing to do for mother is make her look like Susie Wong or Madame Chiang,

A fellow who lives in Slaton came into the office the other day and said, among other things, that he makes dulcimers, The first time he said it, I let it go by, figuring I hadn't heard him right. But a little later he he slipped it in there again, so I just came right out and asked him, "What in the world is a dulcimer#" It sounded to me like part of a mathematical squation-you multiply this times that and then count off three dulcimer places to the left.

He told me what one is, but we'll get to that later, After he left, I was plowing through the mail and a release from the Texas Tourist Development Agency told me this:

"AUSTIN-Slaton will be represented at the first Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair May 31-June 4 in Kerrville by Stinson H. Behlen, who had just visited me, and this arts and crafts fair sounds like it will be quite a deal, but that wasn't what he came in to tell me about. He came in to give me a list of "the beautiful things of life as seen around town this week," He had just jotted down some things he had noticed which struck him as being of unusual charm and beauty. Here are some of them;

"A 1934 Chevrolet driving down the street, looking like new...

"A beautiful hand-painted 'Garage Sale' sign . . . "A large array of climbing red roses at an empty house, God's handiwork is everywhere if you will just notice it. . .

"An antique tailor's pressing iron, being used as a door stop. . . "A woman working in her flowers, and wearing a bonnet. . .

"The cool, refreshing rain. . . and a mockingbird sings merrily..."

A man who can observe beauty in such ordinary things has to be one who has found peace, Behien also noted that he enjoyed playing his dulcimers, which gets us back to that,

A dulcimer, says the American Heritage Dictionary, is "a musical instrument with wire strings of graduated lengths, played with two padded hammers. " Behlen says he'd better not catch anybody beating on his dulcimers with a hammer, because they're designed for picking. (Immediately there flashed into my mind the picture of a recent 5-hour period when I was shut up in a tiny pickup camper with two printers near a lake while it rained like crary so we couldn't get out. For four and a half hours I played my banjo gaily and with abandon, and even sung 30 or 40 numbers so companions wouldn't be depressed by the rain. But I stopped when they began to discuss mer. I guess they thought it was Junior High a dulcimer. )

FIRE!!!- Shown above is a picture of the fire which severly damaged the First Baptist Church of Amherst building Saturday morning. The blaze reportedly started from wiring in the educational wing of the two-story structure. Firemen from Sudan, Littlefield and Earth answered the call and fought the fire for about an hour before it was brought under control but not before the entire structure suffere d from fire, water and smoke damage. The Sudan firemen are commended for their effort in saving the structure.

THE ARTS AND CRAFTS Fair will include Behlen and about 200 other craftsmen from all parts of Texas. The five-day event will be on the campus of Schreiner Institute, with fair hours 10 a. m. until dark Wednesday through Saturday and from noon until dark on Sunday. It will cost $1 for adults and 50¢ for children, Also, a food pavilion will offer visitors a wide selection ranging from barbecue to homemade ice cream and from hot buttered corn on the cob to turkey sausage and jerky, (That's what it said, but I'm not sure what turkey sausage is, either. )

One of the features of the fair will be a children's tent, where youngsters will be instructed in basic arts and crafts skills,

There will be a folk music festival and special stage productions in Kerrville at the same Fair visitors not only will be able to watch craftsmen at work but also will be able to buy their wares. Crafts to be represented include leather, wood-working (they could probably learn a thing or two from the old Woodworker), pottery, glass blowing, rag dolls, puppets-and dulci-

BECKY DUNLAP, who is a clothing specialist for the Extension Service at ASM, says that if you're still considering a gift for Mother's Day, you ought to give her an accessory.

Back to the American Heritage Dictionary, which says "one who, though absent, contributes to the commission of a crime," and I know my mother wouldn't have anything to do with anybody like that, A second definition says an accessory is something "supplementary, " So now you know what Mother wants most. Surprise her with a copy. of Family Weekly or Sears and Roebuck's four-days-only specials or some other supplement to your newspaper. Reading further gives more en-

Wedding vows uniting Susan Gustafson and Monte Roberts in marriage were read April 21 at

I don't know about those suggestions. My mon sure doesn't want to be nautical (she's a preacher, nostalgic sounds and I don't know how you would make anybody look ecological, emission control device to wear leaves Oriental, and that solves upkeep of the grounds. The City performs constant maintainance of the cemetery including irrigation. They recently restored another water well at the site to same plenty

The part to play in life's great game, Is not to strive for wealth or fame, . It's not to lay upon the shelf, Just everything we want for self. It's not for who our gifts are made, Nor should we hope to be repaid; To help another's burden's bear, Is one great reason why we're here.
