FORTY-EIGHTH YEAR NUMBER 31

—by dalton

THE THIRD annual Republic of Texas Chilympiad is scheduled for Sept. 29 to Oct. 3 in San Marcos, when a lot of folks who think they can cook good chili will compete for honors.

A four-man team from San Marcos claims victory in a recent Chili Festival at Hatch, N. M., and they think they're going to bowl over the opposition in Texas, too.

Lorenzo Rodriguez, a pressman at the San Marcos Record, leads the team, and he says he is the only human to have received a ChD. (Doctor of Chilosophy).

Forty-two contestants entered the event last year, and a crowd of 20,000 was reported at festivities which included an air show. There'll be an air show of World War II vintage aircraft at 2 p. m., Oct. 1, at Gary Air Field.

As of last week, 16 had signed for this year's event. The championship pot of red will be auctioned off to the highest (and hungriest) bidder after the judging about 3:30 p. m. Sept. 30. It would be nice to have the cracker concession down there.

WE REALLY don't know if any are available in groceries here, but "Organic Eggs" as labeled on egg cartons are twice as expensive and no more nutritious than regular eggs, according to Dr. David B. Mellor, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The label is supposed to mean that the eggs are from chickens which have been supplied "natural" foods, Dr. Mellor says. However, he asserts, overwhelming evidence indicates that an egg is an egg. "That is to say, if a hen has a sufficient quantity of nutrients, she will form an egg and eggs will have the same quantity and quality of nutrients." "Of course, this will vary with the size of the egg," Mellor added.

Some may dispute Dr. Mellor's claims, but he is supposed to be an authority, and he cackles we're getting gypped if we pay extra for those organic eggs.

KNOTHOLES: The musical drama "Texas" which played its final outdoor performance of the summer in Palo Duro State Park on Aug. 26, drew a record total in 1972 of 82,248 persons. An "open horse show" has been scheduled in connection with the 55th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair Sept. 25-30, according to a release from the fair people. That should be a real attraction for all those folks who want to see the inside of a horse. Some 1,800 Texas Angoragoats were airlifted to Russia Sept. 1 to help upgrade the mohair industry in the Soviet Union. I guess we have mohair than we need in Texas. Football began locally with the game Friday night. If you're a fan, as most of us are, you'll love it. If you aren't, you're going to get aw-

HORNETS gaining three slick yards on a very wet field.

HORNETS DOWN THE DOGS, 19-8

Coach Jim Warren's Sudan Hornets and the Amherst Bulldogs splashed through a slow-moving defensive duel for more than three quarters of the football game here Friday night, but with Sudan winning over Amherst in the last quarter, 19-

8. The game was played on a field that was as much as two inches deep in water. Fumbles and interceptions and penalties were plentiful, but the Hornets scored a touchdown in the first quarter. Starting the game, Amherst moved the ball downfield, and Hornet FB Danny Williams intercepted a Bulldog pass. After short yardage, the Hornets gave up the ball on downs, and Amherst gained three first downs before Hornet Kevin May intercepted another Bulldog pass on their 45 yard line.

So the Hornets were on the move, making two first downs and marching all the way to the Amherst two, with FB Gary Edwards, TBs Richard Tamplin and Pat Hedges making the yardage. Hornet End Roby Lynn took the ball on the two and plunged over for the first TD of the game, to give Sudan the lead over Amherst 7-0, following the extra point off the toe of QB Kim Engram.

After several fumbles, and changing of the wet ball for a dry one, QB Randy Miller intercepted a Sudan pass which set up the drive that took Amherst to the five yard line, where FB Butch Sutton went over for a Bulldog TD. HB Stanley Miller, picked up a bad snap from center and ran over the goal line for two points, and at halftime, it was Amherst over Sudan, 8-7.

Time floated slowly through the next quarter, but in the final frame, Lynn took a pass from Hornet QB Kim Engram and after breaking several tackles, ran 91 yards for another Hornet score. Try for extra point failed and Sudan led Amherst, 13-8. Making this touchdown possible was the fine blocking by the Hornets, especially a spectacular block by Danny Williams who had to block out the last Bulldog close on the heels of Lynn as he headed for the end zone and the touchdown.

Exchanging fumbles again, Hornet End Brad West intercepted a pass and scampered through the water for some 20 yards for the final score of the game with 1:53 left in the game. When the gun sounded, the Hornets had the ball on the Bulldog 25, and the score read Sudan over Amherst, 19-8.

Who's Best?

"I'm the King!"
 Mohammed Ali then Cassius Clay made popular the "I'm the best in the world" boast.

The Olympic games just finished gave us some new noisy boasters, although Bobby Fischer's conduct at the world chess championship should make him the best boaster of all.

Actually, it's an old art. All of the ancient epic heroes were great boasters — Achilles, Ajax, Odysseus, Beowulf. The Bible has some good boasters, too. Remember what Goliath said when he saw David?

"Am I a dog, that you come to me with sticks? Come to me and I will give your flesh to the birds of the sky and the beasts of the field."

He sounds pretty self-confident, and that's what boasting is all about, confidence. Politicians boast a lot, and so do actors. Advertising people boast for a living.

They all compete, for money, attention, votes.

Boast in the Lord

Competition and self-confidence in boasting, however, sometimes signal ignorance.

Imagine David yelling back at Goliath, "You clumsy oaf! I may be little, but I'm going to whip you." That would have been stupid. Listen to his actual boast:

"You come to me with a sword, a spear, and a javelin, but I come to you in the name of the Lord of Hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, Whom you have taunted. This day the Lord will deliver you up into my hands, and I will strike you down and remove your head from you. And I will give the dead bodies of the army of the Philistines this day to the birds of the sky and the wild beasts of the earth, that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel, and that all this assembly may know that the Lord does not deliver by sword or by spear; for the battle is the Lord's and He will give you into our hands."

It is made clear in this boast that anyone who bucks God is a dead loser. But the score counts only at the end of the game.

Who wouldn't reasonably have bet on Goliath? A spiritual man wouldn't.

And a reasonable man would rightly find a spiritual man foolish, until the final gun. "The natural man," the Bible says, "does not accept the things of the Spirit of God; for they are foolishness to him and he cannot understand them for they are spiritually understood."

The wise people of the world who despise spiritual truth seem to know how to run the race, but they run out of gas on the home stretch. You see, "God has chosen the foolish things of the world to shame the wise, and God has chosen the weak things of the world to shame the things that are strong."

"Let him that boasts boast in the Lord."

Not All Are Rebels

Those who are striving to fracture our society and cause it to disintegrate have evidently adopted Bismarck's motto: "Divide and conquer."

There have been strong efforts — some of which have partially succeeded — to break us up into conflicting groups: black vs. white; labor vs. management; women vs. men; young vs. old.

The inciting of hatred between segments of our society is a primary method being employed by those who want to weaken us and destroy us.

But, while there are diversities among us, it is not true that there must be harsh conflicts. We need each other.

The young among us need the older ones, and the older need the young. Women need men, and men need women. Labor needs management, and management needs labor. People of each race need and depend on people of other races.

Alien Philosophy

While the Christian philosophy is based on love, which heals wounds and brings people together, there is an alien philosophy which has gained some adherents — the most vocal of whom are young.

This has led some to generalize that there is a generation of young people rebelling against their elders, creating a "generation gap."

But it is not true that all young people are rebels.

Many members of the younger generation are more sincerely and enthusiastically committed to sound, enduring values than their elders.

In Miami Beach, during the Democratic National Convention, a group of young people began a Gospel concert in an open area outside the convention hall.

A mixed audience gathered to hear them. In the audience were some children from a nearby swimming pool, some senior citizens, and some out-of-state visitors.

A Zippie pulled the plug to the amplifier. Others jumped on the platform and pushed the Christians around. Some of the protesters yelled, "Jesus freaks, go home!" Members of the Christian group stood quietly, each pointing one finger toward heaven.

It was obvious that the protesters were not willing to allow the Christian young people the freedom of speech that they demand for themselves. It was evident that they did not want to hear anything about the Man who came to bring "peace on earth."

The Real Gap

In this incident there was no "generation gap." Both the Christians and the protesters were young. But there was a gap — a wide and dangerous gap.

The real gap is not between young and old, women and men, black and white. The real gap is between those who are determined to disrupt, tear down, and destroy, and those who are dedicated to building "one nation — under God."

"Correct the Seasonings" with Worcestershire

Recipes in many modern cookbooks end, "Correct the seasoning." This means, taste your concoction critically; what does it need? Onion? Vinegar or lemon? A little anchovy paste?

One of the most flavorful and easiest ways to solve this is to use a bit of Worcestershire sauce. Here, in a single dash, you add about 20 different seasoning ingredients.

When commercial mayonnaise needs a bit of pepping up, to 1/2 cup of mayonnaise add 2 teaspoons of Worcestershire and 1/4 cup blue cheese and pour over a salad to serve 6.

Packaged heat-and-eat foods may be underseasoned for some palates. In a frozen Chicken Tetrazzini, for 4 to 6 servings, try adding 2 teaspoons of Worcestershire sauce to the mixture just before serving.

When cold roasts and chops have lost their flavor, re-heat in a packaged gravy mix to which you add a dash of Worcestershire sauce.

If your soups and stews lack excitement, correct the seasoning with 1 or 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce per 4 servings.

And don't forget to add a dash of Worcestershire sauce to tomato juice cocktail; the British wouldn't drink tomato juice any other way and they, after all, introduced the world to the original Worcestershire.

MINCED MUSHROOMS ADD FLAVOR 'A L'ITALIENNE'

Probably because Marie de Medici brought the elegance of Italian cooking and mushrooms to France as a bride in the 16th century, dishes enhanced with minced mushrooms are called a l'italienne to this day.

Hundreds of dishes taste better for a bit of minced mushroom. Scrambled eggs, for instance, allowing 1 tablespoon minced mushroom per egg.

Any tomato sauce, no matter how it is to be used, can do with mushrooms—1/2 cup per cup of tomato sauce. Serve over hamburgers, broiled fish, zucchini or omelets.

Minced mushrooms and ham—about 2 tablespoons of each to 1/2 cup mayonnaise—makes a delicious dressing for chicken, seafood or egg salad.

Many vegetables can be flavored a l'italienne, using 1/2 cup sauteed minced mushrooms for 4 to 6 portions of braised celery; stewed tomatoes; cooked peas or green beans; baked, stuffed potatoes or in butters for broccoli and cooked greens.

Mushrooms are a preferred ingredient in Italian pastas of different kinds. Sauté the mushrooms in olive oil or butter and add to any favorite pasta sauce. Or, for that matter, toss the mushrooms and oil with the spaghetti and add Parmesan or Romano cheese liberally. Obviously, the more mushrooms, the better.

Lottery Number Cut-Off Is 95

Colonel Melvin N. Glatz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas has announced that the Lottery Number Cut-Off for induction of non-volunteers for the remainder of the year is 95.

The Department of Defense has asked for 15,900 men from all states to be inducted during the last three months of 1972. This will require raising the Lottery Number for induction from 75 in September to 95 for the last quarter of the year.

Glatz said projections indicate that approximately 1,100 men will be inducted in Texas during the last three months of this year. Induction orders will go to men who are available and fully qualified for military service and who are in the 1972 First Priority Selection Group, which is made up of men born in 1952 and men who lost a deferment in 1972.

Orders for pre-induction Armed Forces Examination will continue for men in the 1973 First Priority Selection Group with Lottery Number 75 or below during the rest of this year. This group is made up of men born in 1953 who are not currently in a deferred status.

MONEY IN VEGETABLES CONFERENCE TO BE HELD

Another economic opportunity is "knocking on the door" of West Texans. There's money to be made in vegetable production and marketing.

And that's what two upcoming conferences are all about, announces County Extension Agent, Buddy C. Logsdon.

A "Money in Vegetables" conference will be held in Lamesa at the Forest Park Community Center on September 20 and in Plainview at the Hale County Agricultural Center on September 21. Both sessions will begin at 1 p.m.

Each conference will feature discussion on the potential for local vegetable production, what vegetables can be produced pro-

A DAY TO HONOR HUNTERS

September 23, 1972 has been declared a "Day to Honor Hunters." The move was initiated by the hunters, enacted by the Congress and President Nixon. Sporting clubs throughout the nation are holding festivals on this day.

The day has stimulated another movement, a "Hunt the Hunters Club," formed by Friends of Animals, Inc. and its legislative arm, the Committee for Humane Legislation. According to Alice Herrington, head of the organizations, a $10 hunter-hunting license fee, paid to the Committee, will net the donor a definitive anti-hunting magazine, an "I Don't Hunt" arm patch, and information on campaigns in the field of battle, namely the Halls of Congress.

The group plans to ask Congress to ban hunting on public lands which it claims hunters turn into "private butcher shops." Miss Herrington also stated "We intend to free Mother Nature from the ecological havoc wreaked by self-styled 'wildlife managers' who burn, bulldoze, flood, and cut national forests to make them hospitable to deer, ducks, hand-raised turkeys and pheasants at the expense of other wildlife and nature's balance."

To undercut the wildlife managers Miss Herrington said the group will ask the Congress to transfer from Fish and Game Commissions to the General Treasury the 11% excise tax on rifles, shotguns and ammunition and the 10% excise tax on handguns and bullets. She said these taxes have netted the wildlife managers and the hunters about $500 million since 1937. "These funds should be expended on behalf of all the people, not just the hunters, and the people could logically demand that they be earmarked for the purchase of land to serve as wildlife sanctuaries," she concluded.

The Texas AGM University specialist explained that the sewing spectacle will come to South Plains Mall on Sept. 15 and 16.

The Fungus Among Us

A fungus is a colorless plant that has neither leaves nor flowers. When it attacks clothes, it's called mildew. When it attacks toes, it's called athlete's foot.

Like the common cold, athlete's foot afflicts most of us at one time or other. But, unlike the common cold, it can be treated and defeated with relative simplicity.

Which is a good thing, because at least 16 million of us will experience the between-the-toes cracking, peeling or itching of athlete's foot sometime this year.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I have already earned over $750 from a part-time job. Will my parents still be able to claim me as a dependent next year?
A) Your parents will not lose the dependency exemption if you are a full-time student during some part of each of five calendar months of the year, or under 19 years of age at the end of the year. They must, however, furnish over half of your total support and you must meet the other dependency tests.
For more information, write your Internal Revenue district office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication 532, "Tax Information for Students and Parents."

Q) Are state unemployment benefits taxable?
A) No. Unemployment benefits paid to you by a state are generally not taxable. However, payments made by a state to a state employee, not covered by the state's unemployment compensation laws but covered under a comparable collective bargaining agreement, are taxable.
Unemployment benefit payments from a fund to which you voluntarily contribute, whether union established or set up as a private nonunion fund, are taxable to the extent that the amounts received exceed your payments into the fund.

Q) How can I get a copy of the Federal income tax return I filed last year?
A) Write the Internal Revenue Service Center where you filed your return, giving your name, social security number and signature as it appeared on your return. Identify the return form, the approximate date you filed your return. Enclose a check or money order to cover the one dollar-per-page charge. No charge will be made for copies of tax returns furnished taxpayers in an area designated by the President as a disaster area.

Q) Are personal property taxes deductible?
A) Yes. If a state or local tax is imposed on personal property on an annual basis and is based on the value of the personal property, it is deductible if you itemize deductions on your return.
