WOODWORK

OUR FAMILY JUST spent a quiet weekend at home. Well, anyway, it was quiet from a standpoint, as one of the most eloquent speakers in the household could only whisper, and two of the other three members of the family living at home also had the flu.

There was plenty of coughing going on at times to break the silence, and in fact, there were occasions when it sounded like the pneumonia ward.

You know, it really is frustrating not to be able to talk. I tried to work out a system of communication where I cough once for yes, twice for no and five times for "Where are the nosedrops?" but I never could get the idea across to the others.

If having company in misery really does lessen the pain, we suppose we had plenty of that relief because just about everybody around has had the flu or someone in their family has had it.

There was a time when people just had colds, the croup or the flu. Now the big domes of medical science have to call it something exotic like Asian flu, Hong Kong flu, London flu or a "virus". This doesn't make it hurt any less.

We received communications from three different sources in the state this week regarding the current influenza epidemic, which is being labelled England, or London flu (I think I'll call it King George's Revenge).

Bill Boykin of Texas Press Assn. reported the leading communicable disease nationwide, and second in Texas with 58,404 cases, was gonorrhoea. I thought that was a town between Fort Davis and Monahans.

The State Dept. of Health takes a historical view of the flu, saying the London flu apparently began in Rumania in mid-September of 1917 and was soon epidemic in Europe. It's called London flu because that is where it was first identified as a separate strain of Influenza A virus.

At the end of January some 12,663 cases of flu had been reported to the state health agency. This, they said, was less than half the number of cases reported at the same time in 1972 during a Hong Kong flu outbreak. We know this will be great comfort to you who are trying to decide whether to go ahead and die or continue to try and get well.

Influenza epidemics develop rapidly. Incubation period is short, says the state agency, usually 24 to 72 hours. The period of communicability is probably limited to three days from the onset of the disease. The flu is generally a self-limited disease, with recovery in two to seven days, so yawl hang in there.

Symptoms of flu include fever, chills, headache, sore throat and severe shrinking of the pocketbook.

If you don't have the flu this year, don't be upset; you'll probably get it in 1975, according to Dr. Vernon Knight of the Baylor College of Medicine. Dr. Knight, asserting that this year's outbreak in Texas isn't serious (he hasn't had it yet), says the one in 1975 may be. He says vaccination treatment of flu is difficult since a new strain of virus appears every three or four years. Epidemics occur when a new strain affects the population, since there is no immunity against the virus. Thus, he says, the prediction of a 1975 or 1976 flu epidemic for Texas comes from the fact that the last new viral strain to infiltrate Texas appeared in 1973.

MISS BANDY NAMED '73 BETTY CROCKER HOMEMAKER OF TOMORROW

Cecilia A. Bandy has been named Sudan High School's 1973 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. Chosen on the basis of scores in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to high school seniors here and throughout the country last Dec. 5, she will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for American Homemakers of Tomorrow. In addition, she remains eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be selected from all school winners in the state in judging centering on results of the Dec. 5 testing, will receive a $1,500 college scholarship. A 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," will also be presented to the state winner's school by Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation. The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $550 scholarship.

In late April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia—each accompanied by a faculty adviser—will gather in Washington, D. C., for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Personal observation and interviews during the tour will be added to state-level judging results in the selections, to be announced at a dinner in Williamsburg, of the 1973 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. Scholarships of the four national winners will be increased to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000. Instituted in last year's Betty Crocker Search, a $1,000 Nutrition Scholarship is also part of the program again this year. Recipient of this award will be the participating student who plans a college major in nutrition or a related field, ranks among the highest in his or her state on the overall examination and, from those meeting these two criteria, achieved the top score on the exam's nutrition questions.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK SET FOR MARCH 5-9

The period of March 5-9, 1973 has been designated as Public School Week in Texas by Governor Dolph Briscoe, an annual custom for the past twenty-three years in special observance of increased emphasis on our education system in Texas.

During this period, parents are encouraged to visit the public schools, and all citizens are urged through special programs to recognize the tremendous importance of our system of education. Our goal is to make Texas public schools the finest in the nation, and to achieve this our citizens are urged to take an active interest in the school system and to cooperate with their school board, superintendents, principals and teachers, stated Briscoe.

After March 1 it will be necessary to go to the county tax office or substitution in person as 30 days are required for mail delivery. In any case, owners will save themselves time and trouble by using the computerized forms.

Bullish on central air conditioning? Consider investing just a little more in a long-term, blue-chip Gas air conditioning system.

Only a Gas air conditioning system pays you regular dividends for many happy years. That's because the heart of a Gas cooling system is a simple gas burner, rather than an electric, mechanical compressor. A clean-burning gas flame doesn't wear out—so there's less to go wrong, fewer maintenance calls, a longer life with no loss of original cooling capacity. And because natural gas is the prime energy source, you'll also save money on operating cost.

Call one of our air conditioning specialists this week—before the summer market becomes really active. He'll make a free, no obligation, survey of your home and give you a quotation on the cool investment.

Most of your phone system is invisible. However, your phone company is not.

You never see the complicated electro-mechanical gear that makes your phone work. For example, we have machines that periodically check every line. They look for trouble even when there isn't any. It's one form of automated preventive medicine we use to keep your phone ready to use when you need it. But, even these intricate systems of lines and devices are just a part of our operation. We're mainly people. Thousands of us dedicated to service. For every one of us that you see there are 8 others doing the behind-the-scenes jobs that keep your phone buzzing. We are all committed to our "One-to-One" service policy. So, even though you may not see us all face to face doesn't mean we can't deal with each other one to one.

It's Your Move

"Return to Me," God is saying to all of us, "that I may return to you." (Zech. 1:3.)

Why should you be like your parents and grandparents, who heard God's call to repentance and ignored it? The unbelief of previous generations has done you no good; you owe it no allegiance. Thoughtful people should not imprison themselves in others' ignorance. Life's greatest issues are not resolved by majority opinion, but by personal investigation. Skepticism about God, common in our world today, derives from neglect, rather than study.

The initiative is yours. God has already expressed Himself repeatedly in history and in the lives of many people now alive, so His message is available. If you are waiting for some climactic moment of insight or vision to break into your life and convince you of God's interest in you, you will probably wait until your death. To find God, you must look for Him. It's your move.

Return to God

To return to God means, first of all, to come back to a supernatural way of thinking. Life is more than Matter and Motion, Coincidence, Chance, Fate, or Luck. You are more than a body with a name, age, sex, race, permanent address, and previous experience. You are a unique creation in a purposeful world. In you and your world are primarily energy. Since the spirit is not made of matter and, therefore, not subject to the five senses, science considers it super-natural. But actually it is more natural to you than your body. You can lose all the functions of your body and still remain alive — but once your spirit leaves your body you are dead. Your return to God must begin with your spirit, for "God is spirit" (John 4:24) and fellowship with Him is spiritual.

Turned by God

God will return to take control of you — not like a dictator, like a coach. Encouraging you, developing your abilities, teaching you how to live. And His most important principle is that achievement comes, "Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit," says the Lord of Hosts.

God's return to you means that His Spirit will enter your body. You need no longer be led by human judgment alone, for your spirit will be in contact with God's Spirit, and you will no longer be limited by your abilities alone, for your power will now be the expression of His power. When you return to God He will do great things for you.

Perhaps you have thought, "If God really cared about me, He would show Himself to me." That's good reasoning, but the fact is that God has already disclosed Himself in Jesus. If you have missed Him, why don't you turn back and find Him?

Hale — was held on the "free flow of information" measure. This proposal is H.B. 10, sponsored by Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls.

It grants a "news source" confidential privilege, and allows Texas journalists to get more information about governmental, law enforcement and other matters important to the public.

The House Judiciary Committee approved the bill 16 to 4 and sent it to the House floor for debate this week.

H.B. 6, the "open records" measure, will allow the public and press access to most all records of government, city, county and state, that are not closed by state statute. A few other restrictions were placed on the bill — sponsored by Rep. Lane Denton of Waco.

All of these government in the sunshine" measures follow the pattern of New House rules which open committee meetings, and follow the trend toward "openness."

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL

By Bill Boykin

Texas Press Association The Texas Legislature swept away some of the clouds last week and made important moves toward "government in the sunshine."

In addition to passing the revised "open meetings" law — patterned after Florida's famous "sunshine law" — House committees approved a new "open records" law for Texas and placed on the House calendar a "free flow of information" bill.

Changes in the Texas open meetings law will allow the public and press to be informed of all "quorum" meetings of public bodies. It was approved 132 to 13 by the House of Representatives and moved over to the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

Closed meetings will be held to a minimum under the exemptions in the new law. It was authored by Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur and submitted as a part of House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.'s "reform package."

YOU & HEW

Consumer news FOR you — ABOUT you — from the U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

SAFER DENTAL X-RAYS — A recent survey by HEW's Food and Drug Administration indicates many dental patients get almost twice as much exposure as necessary to X-rays because dentists over-expose X-ray film in their patients' mouths so they can get the X-ray pictures more rapidly. HEW recommends that patients and dentists agree to use X-rays as little as possible, and that — when used — exposure of X-ray film be no more than the time recommended by its manufacturer.

HOME EXTINGUISHER RISK — HEW's Food and Drug Administration warns homeowners that home fire extinguishers containing carbon tetrachloride are unsafe to use on fires and also risky to keep in homes. Inhaling carbon tetrachloride vapors can cause permanent harm to the liver, kidneys, heart or lungs, and may cause death. HEW advises homeowners to take home fire extinguishers to their local fire departments, where experts can inspect them and dispose of dangerous ones.

MEDIHC PLACES VETERANS — Since 1970, HEW's Medical Experience Directed Into Health Careers (MEDIHC) program has placed nearly 8,000 veterans in jobs in the health field or in health occupations education. HEW says more than 20,000 veterans with military allied health training and experience return to civilian life each year, and studies show more than two-thirds of them would like to find health-related civilian occupations. The MEDIHC program, administered by the states in cooperation with HEW and the Department of Defense, offers job counseling to these veterans, and refers them to job openings in the health field. Interested veterans can get more information about the MEDIHC program by writing to MEDIHC, Building 81, NIH, Bethesda, Maryland 20014.

Metrics Take the Pundit's Measure

Preparing readers for the switch-over to the metric system of weights and measures, the Better Business Bureau of Central California's publication, Report, advises some changes in the old adages. Here's what they say we'll be hearing soon: "A miss is as good as 1.61 kilometers; there isn't 0.06 gram of truth in it; he felt 3.05 meters tall; he was wearing a 45.43 litre hat." And those with inferiority complexes might be inclined to hide their lights under 0.363 hectolitres." Good luck!

Major appliance manufacturing topped all previous totals for the 12th straight year, a record 31,199,000 units in 1972.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Is it true that this year's Federal income tax return asks questions related to Federal revenue sharing?

A) Yes. Your 1972 Form 1040 and short Form 1040A ask two questions related to the sharing of Federal money with state and local governments. One question asks the location of your principal place of residence (state, county, locality & township); the second question asks for the number of your dependents who are filing a return of their own or who did not live at your principal place of residence at the end of 1972.

You must supply the correct information in your answers to these questions to ensure that your state, county and local community receive their rightful share of revenue sharing funds.

Q) Does every taxpayer have to give his state, county, locality and township in answering the revenue sharing question on place of residence?

A) All of this information may not be required. Only certain states have townships and these are specified in your tax form instructions. If your state is not listed there, you can leave this column of your tax return blank. Secondly, there are a few places, such as Baltimore City, Md. and St. Louis, Mo., that are not within a county. Once again, these areas are listed in your instructions.

Unless you lived outside the U.S. on Dec. 31, 1972, you must enter the abbreviation for your state in the column provided. In addition, if you lived inside an incorporated city, town, or village, print the name of the municipality in the "locality" column. If you did not live inside the boundaries of such a location, check the box in this column.

Q) Can you give me some tips on how to guard against dishonest tax preparers?

A) The IRS offers the following advice to taxpayers seeking assistance from commercial income tax return preparers: never sign a blank return; do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil because it can be changed later; do not allow your refund check to be mailed to the preparer; avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles; and avoid the preparer who advises a taxpayer to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income.

In addition, taxpayers should insist that the tax preparer sign the return he prepares and enter his tax identifying number. Finally, be sure to keep a copy of your return.

Q) What are the rules for deducting finance charges on department store revolving charge accounts?

A) You may deduct the "finance charge" levied by retail stores on your revolving charge accounts if the charges are based on your unpaid balances and computed monthly. Also, in the case of bank credit card plans, you can deduct the finance charge if no part of this amount is for service charges, loan fees, credit investigation fees, etc.

However, if you buy items on the installment plan and the carrying charges are separately stated, but the interest charge cannot be ascertained, deduct the lower of (1) 6 percent of your average unpaid monthly balance or (2) the actual charge for the year. For more details, see IRS Publication 545, "Income Tax Deduction for Interest Expense." Use the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a free copy.

Q) I had no income tax liability for 1972, but I'm filing a return to recover income tax withheld from my pay. Can I still designate $1 of the tax withheld towards the Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

A) No. You can only make the $1 check-off if you had an income tax liability. This does not mean that because you are getting a refund, you can't use the $1 check-off, but it does mean that you must be able to show tax on line 20 of your Form 1040 or line 21 of your short Form 1040A to use the check-off.

Energy Action

Since 1776, citizen concern has brought about important changes in this country. But activism didn't stop with the Revolutionary War. Today we're urging industry and government to help eliminate pollution... and now there's another problem: Our available energy is dwindling faster than it is being replaced. While industry searches for new sources, Amoco Oil Company urges everyone to conserve their personal energy share. Insulate your home against fuel waste; tune your car to avoid burning unnecessary gasoline; and turn off electrical appliances when not in use. You'll save energy—and money. Z

Pledges Support to Scouting

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Chief of the Army Reserve, Maj. Gen. J. Milnor Roberts, has pledged continued Army Reserve support to the Scouting movement in the United States.

In a statement issued this month—February, which is Boy Scout Month—General Roberts said that the members of the Army Reserve have enjoyed working with scouts as part of their community involvement projects. "We hope to continue to serve as partners in the scouting movement in the years ahead," Gen. Roberts said.

Army Reserve units—there are 3,400 in cities and towns across the country—have been working with scouts on a regular basis. Some Reservists instruct scouts who are preparing for merit badge tests while others, particularly those in construction and engineering units, repair scout camp, build access roads to these camps, and improve recreational facilities.

Throughout the year, Army Reserve units have assisted scouting councils in preparing for camporees and transported scouts to the camping sites.

A Pittsburgh, Pa. unit is currently converting an old strip mine into an amphitheater which will be used for one of the Scout Jamborees this August. The amphitheater will hold over 60,000 scouts and adult leaders when completed.

Army Reserve aviators also teach flying skills to Explorer Scouts.

General Roberts cited these as just a few examples of the types of scouting projects in which Reservists have become involved. "We urge scout leaders in areas where Reservists are not working with them, to contact the units. We're ready to help," he said.
