FORTY-NINTH YEAR NUMBER 24

SUDAN, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS

THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1973 10 CENTS PER COPY

—by dalton

CALL ME a communist, a spoiler of the land or whatever you want to, but I still think all this emission control stuff on automobiles is a bunch of hokey. By leading down the engines with all that stuff, the government has contributed to the fuel crisis, since the control devices cause poor performance and even poorer mileage per gallon.

I'd be in favor of keeping some form of emission control on autos, perhaps about what was on cars in 1969-70, but this adding to it every year is a bit much for drivers in non-metropolitan areas.

Now the Environmental Protection Agency proposes to cut auto smog in Texas by forcing installation of anti-pollution devices on pre-1968 cars. The Texas Air Control Board opposes this federal plan, but the federal boys plan to go ahead with it on Aug. 15 unless convinced otherwise.

How do you convince them otherwise? I dunno, unless you write or call your congressman, or ...maybe even your state representative.

BOTH TEXAS SENATORS, Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower, reported this week that they supported the Senate vote for legislation clearing the way for construction of an Alaskan pipeline. The idea is to bring oil from Alaska to the other United States (except Hawaii, which I guess will have to get by on fish oil).

Ecology came into this project in a big way, too, with opponents of the pipeline saying the land would be ruined by the pipeline, that there is danger of spillage by ruptured lines. Anyway, both of our senators say it is high time to build the pipeline because of the great need for the oil.

I don't know about that, but just thinking about Alaska gives me cold chills. Seems to me they ought to build two pipelines—one to carry cool air from Alaska to Texas in the summer and another to take hot air from Washington to Alaska in the winter.

Recently we met some fine people from Alaska, and they love the country. They claim that when you're doing the Lord's work, as they are, that you don't really notice the weather. Then they tell about how it gets 40 below, and when you park for a few minutes, you have to hire a little man to stand by the car and rub the engine with his parka so it won't freeze while you're gone after your coffee icee, or whatever they drink up there. One advantage, I suppose, would be that with few people and so much area, they can always find a place to park the car.

Okay, so that's putting it on a bit thick. They really did say you have to have some kind of special device to keep the radiator from freezing or the motor warm, or something, while you're away from your vehicle. And I suppose I'm being unfair to Alaska, since I've never been there. But I just flat don't like cold weather, and I'm thankful

Baseball News

The Littlefield Babe Ruth All-Stars were edged 3-1 by Leveland Tuesday in the state tournament at Graham, and lost 7-6 to Del Rio Thursday after letting a 6-0 fifth inning lead slip from their grasp. This second loss eliminated them from a final spot in the battle for state champion.

Bill Turner pitched for Littlefield in the opening game and John Marquez in the second game.

Highlights of the first game were a steal to second by Ronald Farmer in the first inning, a stand-up double by Kyle Martin in the fourth, Perrin and Holley on base due to errors by Leveland, Perrin scoring on a walk, Turner getting to second after hitting a pop-fly to shallow center resulting in a Leveland error in the sixth.

In the second game, Littlefield held Del Rio scoreless until the fourth inning. Littlefield erupted for four runs in the fourth, Vargas and Farmer doubled, Perrin singled and scored after Marquez got on base on error.

However, Del Rio used four hits, three walks and two Littlefield errors to score six runs and tie the game. Littlefield couldn't score in the sixth, but Del Rio got one run on a sacrifice fly to give them the 7-6 win.

CORRECTION:

The score given for the Sudan-Amherst Little League teams second game last week was 9-3, the final score of the Plainview American - Littlefield game. Plainview North defeated Sudan 10-7.

4-H Conducts Fund Drive

Lamb County 4-H youth will be conducting a county-wide fund raising activity Saturday, August 4 for the State 4-H Center. This is for the development of a state 4-H educational center, this is a much needed facility. This will enable 4-H'ers across the state to have facilities where they can conduct 4-H training activities for youth and leaders.

The Lamb County 4-H'ers have set a goal of $6,000 to help meet the District II goal of $75,000. This Saturday county 4-H youth will be giving Lamb County residents their opportunity to donate to today's facility for the youth of tomorrow. This will be done in a door-to-door campaign. The activity will begin with a kick-off breakfast held in the county courthouse at 8:30 a.m. After briefing, the youth will be dispersed to all parts of Littlefield. At noon the participants will meet at Laguna Park for a sack lunch picnic. After the picnic all remaining communities will be covered. If there is anyone who is not contacted, who would like to donate, they can mail their donations to Box 432, Littlefield. Checks may be made to Lamb County 4-H Center Development Fund.

The first donation to this campaign that the Lord has some work to do down here, too.

I would like to visit Alaska sometime, though. In the summer, between the hours of noon and 3 p.m.

CRAIG HARPER

HARPER ATTENDS F.B. SEMINAR

Craig Harper represented Sudan High School recently in the 11th Annual Citizenship Seminar sponsored by Farm Bureau and held at Baylor University, Waco. Some 500 junior and senior students from all parts of Texas were present. Craig was among the group leaving from Lubbock July 16th by chartered bus and returning July 20th.

Speakers at the seminar were Cleon Skousen, author, lawyer, and former F.B.I. agent from Salt Lake City, Utah, and Dr. C. L. Kay, assistant president of Lubbock Christian College.

Intensive courses were given in four fields -- Citizenship, Our American Heritage, the Proper Role of Government, and Threat of Communism.

Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Harper. He will be a junior at Sudan High School in September.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION SLATED AT AMHERST

A Fiftieth Anniversary celebration for the City of Amherst will be held Saturday, August 4, with events and entertainment for all ages. The celebration, sponsored by the Amherst Lions Club, will get underway at 9 a. m. with registration in City Hall. There will be a parade at 10 a. m. with trophies to be given for the best riding club, best dressed male ole timer, best dressed female ole timer, and the best decorated bicycle.

A fiddlers contest will begin at 1 p. m. with prizes offered for the top three places. That afternoon at 4 p. m. a barbecue will be held at the park after which a drawing for prizes will be held by the Lions Club (tickets are available from any Lion). A street dance begins at 8 p. m. and will be free to the public.

Everyone is urged to make plans now to attend the celebration.

Following is a brief outline for the beginning of Amherst.

Amherst began in 1913 as a cattle shipping point on Pecos & Northern Texas Railroad. Served the 300,000-acre Springlake Ranch, which was established in 1902 by W. E. "Colonel Bill"

Halsell (1850-1965). According to local tradition the shipping point was named for Amherst College, Mass., alma mater of one of the railway officials.

When, in 1923, the economy of the high plains began to switch from ranching to farming, the Halsells divided much of their land to sell to the influx of new settlers. Farms could be bought for $25 an acre.

They set aside land at the railroad depot for a town and donated lots for a school and churches. First permanent building was the Amherst Hotel built by Halsell Land Company by prospective buyers and visitors. It also had space for a bank, general store, and office. For years it was the most popular hotel between Clovis, N. M., and Lubbock, Texas.

The first General Store was opened in 1923, a Post Office in 1924, and the First National Bank in 1925. The town's first newspaper was the "Argus". By 1930 Amherst had a population of 964. Today citizens number 835 and the economy is based on cotton and grain, hog raising and cattle feeding.

NEW MECHANICS CLASSES AT SPC

Beginning with the Fall Semester at South Plains College, a half-time program in Diesel and Automotive Mechanics will be offered. Tentative plans call for classes to run from 7:00 p. m. to 11:00 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights and from 7:00 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. on Thursday, allowing fifteen hours of instruction a week for sixteen weeks which is the number of hours required by the Texas Education Agency for a half-time program.

This program is being initiated primarily for beginning students who are working during the day.

To qualify for admission, applicants must have a high school diploma or the equivalent. For further information, contact either Claude Kirkpatrick, Coordinator of Diesel and Automotive Mechanics, or Don Yarbrough, Dean of Continuing Education at South Plains College, Levelland, Texas 79336.

Mike Mansfield Says Mexico's Attitude Is Beneficial to Foreign Investors

MEXICO CITY—“Mexico's attitude is beneficial both for Mexicans and for foreign investors,” said Senator Mike Mansfield, U. S. Senate Majority Leader, in a recent interview commenting on the Mexican government's policy toward foreign investment.

Senator Mansfield told reporters for the Mexican daily newspaper Excelsior that Mexico has been able to exercise sovereignty in such a way that it has attracted rather than discouraged cooperation from other nations.

He feels that foreign capital should be subject to the laws of the host nation and should not intervene in the internal affairs of the country in which it is operating. When asked for his opinion on President Echeverria's economic policy, which has been viewed with surprise in some private circles in the U. S., Mr. Mansfield said, “I am convinced that President Echeverria's policy to redistribute national income is an immense step toward achieving full social and economic development for the country. But it is only the first step, and, of course, the first step is always the hardest.”

The Senator pointed out, “I also believe that the Mexican government has achieved extraordinary results in every area in spite of the fact it is operating in really difficult circumstances such as the population explosion.”

Commenting on the introduction into the Cabinet of youthful Ministers, Senator Mansfield said:

The National Safety Council warns that the kitchen is an especially dangerous area of the house.

Food preparation need not turn into a disaster from fires, burns and scalds if a few simple rules are obeyed, according to the Council.

Don't wear trailing sleeves, large floppy neck bows, or flimsy clothes around stoves. Even though it may be a chore to get out of a bathrobe, changing into a close-fitting, tightly woven garment may save a life, the Council says.

Always use big oven mitts, turn pot handles and lids away from you when sneaking a peek at your cooking.

Milk Production Declines As Predicted... Broilers, Eggs Also Show Declines... Citrus Tree Plantings Increase... Cattle Feeding Increases.

Milk Production in Texas as well as the nation is following a year-long pattern of declines, which has been predicted by dairy group spokesmen. Texas milk production for June is 5 per cent below the previous month's production, although it is slightly above June of a year ago.

Nationwide, milk producing is 2.5 per cent less than a year earlier. Production during the first half of this year is running 2 per cent under 1972. The number of milk cows, nationwide, also has declined by 2 per cent.

The cost price squeeze in the dairy industry is also dramatized in the milk-feed price ratio. That ratio is down 27 per cent from a year ago. It is also the lowest June ratio since 1955.

EGG production in Texas during June is down 4 per cent from a year ago and 5 per cent under last month. Nationwide, a decrease of 5 per cent is noted from the same month a year ago.

Broiler chick hatch in Texas during June is down 7 per cent from a year ago and 10 per cent under the preceding month.

The turkey poult hatch for Texas during June is up 19 per cent from a year ago, but is 9 per cent under a month ago.

The June hatch of egg-type chicks in Texas is up 34 per cent from a month ago and 3 per cent above a month earlier.

CITRUS tree plantings are on the increase in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Licensed citrus nurserymen and private citrus nurserymen in the Valley reported 230,000 citrus moved from nurseries to groves during the period July 1, 1972 to June 30, 1973.

This is 12 per cent above the previous year when 206,000 trees were set out; these totals reflect new plantings in commercial groves.

Of the total, about 98 per cent are grapefruit; about 2 per cent oranges; less than 1 per cent lemons, limes, tangerines and tangelos.

The number of grapefruit trees planted was up 15 per cent from the previous year. More than half of the 1972-73 plantings were of the Star Ruby variety.

Movement of orange trees to groves continues to decline. Plantings at 4,000 trees were down 50 per cent from the previous season and far below the planting rate of prior years.

CATTLE on feed in Texas and the nation continues to increase. As of July 1, a total of 2,335,000 head of cattle and calves were on feed in Texas. This is 10 per cent above a year ago, 4 per cent above June 1, and 3 per cent above April 1.

Large feedlots—those with 1,000 plus capacity—numbered 234. Steers accounted for 1,513,000 head of the cattle on feed.

Cattle placements on feed in Texas feedlots from April 1 to July 1 were down 11 per cent compared to a year ago. Cattle marketed out of Texas feedlots is 4 per cent above marketings compared to the same period of a year ago.

Feedlot operators intend to market 1,238,000 cattle between now and September 30. This would be 6 per cent more than marketed during the same quarter last year.

Nationwide, cattle and calves on feed is up 2 per cent from a year ago. Cattle feeders plan to market about 1 per cent more than those actually sold during the July to September period of a year ago.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Adulthood and Morals

Ever since, in 1971, the 26th Amendment gave the vote to those who are 18 years of age or older, repercussions have been coming thick and fast.

Almost half of the state legislatures have now made 18 the age of adulthood.

This has brought with it some problems for college and university administrators. One area of concern to some university administrators is the matter of dormitory regulations—especially the rules allowing men students over the age of 21 to visit in the rooms of women students during evening hours—up to midnight, in many cases, or later.

The vice chancellor of one state university has declared that he favors lowering the age to 18 now.

But, while university administrators are scrambling to relax still further restrictions on student behavior, some voices are beginning to be heard on the other side of the issue.

Time magazine recently reported that Columbia University Psychiatrist Joel Moskowitz has voiced the prediction that students who have been living in sexually permissive dormitories may be expected before long to begin asking for more rules.

Why? Simply because they have found that the "new morality" is actually a trap into which they have been lured—and they want to get out.

MIT Psychotherapist Thomas Cottle has found from his conversations with college men and women that the "new morality" has caused some of its adherents "a special sort of insecurity and hurt."

If educators now take the position that, because of the legal adulthood of 18-year-olds, regulations set up to protect the morality of students should be scrapped, this will only prove that these educators are unable or unwilling to fulfill their responsibility to conduct the affairs of their institutions in keeping with the laws and in conformity with normal standards of moral behavior.

Adults are not supposed to violate the laws against fornication and adultery—so the new 18-year-old adults are in no position to claim this as a right.

But the taxpayers who pay the bills of the state universities—and the donors who contribute to the support of non-public institutions—have a right to be assured that their money is not being used to provide dormitory facilities which are being used for immoral purposes.

Even though there are a few states in which laws prohibiting fornication and adultery have been unwisely abolished, these laws are in effect in most states. In any case, God has not repealed the Ten Commandments. And the Scriptural exhortations against fornication are still in force.

We can do our young people no greater harm than to provide facilities that they are free to use to stain their lives with immorality.

WIRE SHORTAGE LEADING TO CRISIS

Texas Farm Bureau President J. T. (Red) Woodson said that a shortage of baling wire for hay could lead to a livestock feeding crisis this winter.

The farm leader said there are also shortages of fencing wire and cotton bale ties.

Woodson said Farm Bureau is encouraging steel mills to give high priorities to production and distribution of steel products necessary in the production of food and fiber.

He said steel industry officials give the following reasons for shortages of baling wire, fencing wire and cotton bale ties:

(1) Imports of steel and steel products have been drastically reduced because the U.S. has asked foreign countries to limit their exports to the U.S. This was done in order to reduce the balance of payments deficits. Also, these nations agreed to such agreements because they are not as anxious to acquire U.S. dollars which are rapidly dropping in value abroad.

(2) Domestic mills cannot take up the slack because they simply do not have the capacity. Some blast furnaces have been shut down by regulations of the Environmental Protective Agency.

(3) There is a world-wide shortage of steel. Available supplies are being used in construction of high-priority items such as automobiles.

HOMEMAKING TIPS

By LYNN BOWERMON

It's canning and freezing time again and even more people than usual are interested. Why the new interest? Better quality for lower prices are the answers. With inflation reflected in grocery price, more people want to save. Home preservation of foods is one answer.

Some preparation and precautions must be taken. Be sure you have proper equipment. If you plan to can, be sure you check tops of jars for cracks, chips and dents, discarding those with defects that would prevent airtight seal. Check your pressure cooker for safety. If you plan to freeze be sure you buy cartons or sacks designed for freezing. If unsuitable materials are used, many of the self defrosting freezers will dry out the frozen products. Improper canning methods can result in spoiled products and family illness. DO NOT use these canning methods: Open Kettle, Oven Canning, Intermittent Sterilization, acidification of low acid vegetables, addition of canning powders, compounds of antibiotics. These methods are unsafe and not recommended.

For freezing be sure to follow the 5 points to success: good quality, careful preparation, proper packaging, proper loading of the freezer and recommended length of storage time.

For further canning and freezing information, call Mrs. Bowermon at 385-4004 or write to Box 432, Littlefield, 79339. Free freezer and canning books are available.

Harrison, an appliance salesman, waltzed so strenuously at a company party that he suffered a fatal heart attack. Was his widow entitled to collect workmen's compensation for his death?

The company said no. "Obviously, he was not at work when he was dancing," the company reasoned in a court hearing.

But Mrs. Harrison pointed out that the party had taken place on company premises, under company sponsorship, as part of a company contest—and that all the company's salesmen were expected to show up.

The court decided that the dancing had indeed arisen out of the job, and granted the widow's claim. The court said the party was simply the company's way of inspiring its employees to greater effort.

Workmen's compensation laws generally cover accidents that occur in the course of employment. As a rule, courts have included any recreational activities that are closely connected with the job.

This is especially true when the company plays an active role in the event.

Thus, in a case arising out of a company picnic, the court granted compensation for an accident largely because of the participation of the company president. It seems he would use these occasions to present special prizes to employees and to give them pep talks about "our one big family."

Still, not every recreational occasion is covered. In another picnic case, a woman employee was hurt during a foot race. But when she sought compensation, the company pointed out:

- 1) that it paid only part of the cost of the picnic;
- 2) that the picnic was held on a non-working day, away from the company premises, with no pressure on anyone to attend; and
- 3) that the company had nothing to do with the arrangements.

The court decided it would be stretching language to call the woman's injury "an incident of her employment." Result: no compensation.

Apple-Bacon French Toast

Delicious, hearty breakfasts have no effect on the weather, but they certainly can and do brighten spirits — from the little folks right on up to Dad. Apple-Bacon French Toast delights Mother too because it's an easy-do, calling for a package of frozen cinnamon swirl French toast that needs only heating through in the toaster or oven. Serve it with juicy apple rings sautéed in butter and brown sugar and then top it off with crisp bacon strips. What a delicious and hearty breakfast or brunch dish this is!

APPLE BACON FRENCH TOAST

Makes 3 servings

- | | |
|--|--|
| 2 tablespoons butter or margarine | One 10-oz. pkg. frozen cinnamon swirl French toast |
| 2 apples, pared, cored and sliced in rings | 6 bacon slices, cooked and drained |
| 2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar | |

Melt butter in large skillet. Add apple rings and sauté 3 minutes; turn. Sprinkle brown sugar over apple rings. Continue cooking over low heat until sugar is melted and apples are tender.

Meanwhile, prepare cinnamon swirl French toast in toaster or oven according to package directions. Allow 2 slices per serving and top with apple rings. Spoon butter-sugar mixture over apples and criss-cross 2 bacon slices on top.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Daytime Fishing Facts
It's only natural that fish spend most of their time in sheltered areas—places where small fish can hide and where large fish can forage for food.

But there's another reason—COMFORT—the fish's comfort.

For the same reason that you seek shade, even more so does the fish. You have ways to protect yourself from the sun's rays—the fish doesn't.

You can wear a hat or close your eyes. A fish can do neither. He doesn't have eyelids to close.

So, he does the only thing he can do—seek the shade. He heads for the brush, the lily pads, the shelter of a dock or goes down deep enough in the water to escape the intense rays of the sun.

This should tell you something—which is that fish can be caught on topwater lures early in the morning and late in the evening. Also why they are close to shore and in shallow water during those special hours and on cloudy days.

It also tells you that when the sun is out and blazing, look for the fish in some shady spot or down deep.

So, as some anglers often say—"You gotta think like a fish to catch a fish."
