ATHLETIC AWARDS BANQUET HELD

The Athletic Banquet at Sudan High School Cafeteria was held Monday night with Coach Jim Warren as master of ceremonies. He introduced Bobby Phillips, a junior, who gave the invocation.

A meal of chicken fried steak, creamed potatoes, green beans, tossed salad, hot rolls, tea, butter, and strawberry shortcake were served to approximately 150 athletes, parents, administrators, coaches and guest speaker, Richard Bell.

Mark Hanna gave the welcome. Following the meal, Warren introduced Bell, head defensive coach at Texas Tech, who at one time played at Arkansas where he was co-captain of the Razorbacks. He stated that Sudan was known over the area for their hustle in all phases of sports, due a lot to the coaches teaching things to the athletes which can be used throughout life. He also said that if an athlete doesn't improve, he stands still and the greatest thing for an athlete is to be yourself on a team, to have respect and love each other, and to do what you can for the other individual. An athlete must take a positive look at self due to the fact that mental attitude and interest count all during life. Bell also stressed character in an athlete as important and that they need to establish faith in God, and to have a one and one situation with Jesus Christ as he quoted scripture from the Bible. Bell said, "The outcome of Sudan in Class B will depend fully on 'attitude'."

Tables were decorated with trophies won by local athletes, with jerseys of seniors attached to stage curtain. Seniors are Debra Edwards, Jo Gaye Doty, basketball, and managers Debbie Ritchie and Raelene Poe; Tommy Seymore, Curtis Chester, Mark Hanna, Pat Hedges, Terry Graves, Roby Lynn, Don Noles.

Basketball awards of trophies were presented to girl athletes by their coach, Al Scott, who expressed gratitude to all athletes for making this such a great year (his first) at Sudan. He recognized managers of both the junior varsity and varsity teams who were Debbie Ritchie and Raelene Poe, varsity; Norma Salazar, Mary Martinez and Gayla Freeman. Other athletes receiving special recognition were Mary Griffith for outstanding guard, Joan Hedges for outstanding forward, and Shelley Hargrove for most spirited.

Gary Campbell, head boys' basketball coach, introduced Coach Sonny Wiginton who assisted in coaching the junior varsity basketball team. An award was presented to each member of this team which included 13 boys as well as managers. Campbell stated that each athlete received one local

He recognized parents, school officials, school board members, and Booster Club for their help throughout the year and in sending boys to them. He also recognized the cheerleaders for 1973.

Warren stated, "Progress comes to a halt without Son's help. If Son doesn't do 'it', then Coach Essex has to, and if Coach Essex has to do it, it doesn't get done," to delight the audience.

Warren made presentations to the football team members. Pat Hedges was introduced as outstanding backfield man of year, and Richard Tamplin as outstanding lineman. Tamplin received the "Fightin' Heart" award.
