WOODWORK PUBLIC NOTICE

The CITY OF SUDAN will be sprayed for mosquitos by Cardwell Flying Service Thursday, June 13th, or the first late afternoon the weather is permissible after June 13th.

THE KID on Main St. says a conscience is "something that makes you tell your mother before your sister does."

DO YOUR FEET HURT? The American Podiatry Assn. sends us some information about how to take care of feet, and after reading it over, I concluded that it's no wonder mine are in such bad shape. They don't get the kind of tender, loving care they should have apparently.

The Podiatry group (when I first glanced at the material, I thought it had something to do with beans) says we should use a soft brush or wash cloth to wash our feet daily about two minutes, working up a good soapy lather. Then, they say, "It is important that no excess moisture is left between the toes. Do not rub with a towel, but blot dry. Dust a foot powder onto your feet and between your toes."

Feet are about the ugliest portion of most human bodies, and mine are certainly no exception. Nobody ever told me not to rub a towel vigorously between my toes, so I've been doing it for years. If some of my family caught me brushing my feet with a lot of lather and then patting them gently to blot them dry, they'd probably think I just went around the bend.

The pod people also say we should stand with our feet parallel, with toes pointing straight ahead and weight equally distributed on both feet. This is tough to do when one foot just barely reaches the ground, but I realize most folks don't have that problem. And toes pointed straight ahead? I've noticed that when I'm just casually standing around, one foot usually points toward Plainview and the other toward Muleshoe.

We can't vouch for any of the information, but we did think it would make a good column feature.

KNOTHOLES IN THE WOODWORK: The constitution writers still are fussing about whether to put in a right-to-work provision. I don't know about all that, but I certainly feel that everyone should have the right to join—or not to join—a union, and definitely shouldn't be required to join a union before they can work. . . Coors distributors have started paying 15 cents a pound (up from the former 10 cents) for aluminum beverage containers returned to their redemption centers. There are about 24 cans in a pound. . . Texas Parks & Wildlife Dept. says that unfortunately, chiggers are not an endangered species, and so it's okay to kill them.

There was also a special emphasis placed on safety procedures and skill development in various phases of tractor operation.

CROP OUTLOOK DIM

Cotton production prospects on the Texas High Plains become darker by the day according to officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization representing 25 counties surrounding Lubbock.

Looking a week backward from June 7, they point to a series of devastating hail storms across 11 counties in the North and Northeast sections of the area where most cotton is irrigated, and to a continuation of dry weather over the South and Western counties where most of the cotton is highly or totally dependent on rainfall.

The sand of the past week added to the worries of area farmers as to what to do now. Hail the previous weekend damaged or destroyed many acres of cotton on irrigated land with the sand finishing it off. Many dry land fields had not been planted.

With mid-June crowding the practical planting date, farmers are considering replanting grain sorghum, peas, pinto beans or soybeans as alternate crops. These are some alternate crops which can be planted relatively late in the season to partially compensate for the loss of the primary crop.

Earlier in the year officials were looking toward 3 million acres of cotton in the 25 counties. Now they calculate that figure could be significantly reduced, and at best much of the Plains

SERC HOLDS MEET

The Southern Environmental Resources Conference, meeting in Oklahoma for its annual convention, has elected Texas State Representative Bill Clayton (D-Springlake) as its Chairman for 1974-75.

The S. E. R. C. is charged with the development and planning of water resources in seventeen southern states. Delegates from each of the member states adopt policy for the conference by resolution and then provide information, testimony and research for Congressional and state organs dealing in water development and water resource management.

Representative Clayton, a 12 year veteran of the Texas House, was acknowledged by the Conference to be one of the leading authorities in the South on water resource management and development.

Following his election, Representative Clayton stressed that he hoped to lend greater emphasis to the Conference's role in acting as a liaison between state governments and federal committees handling current or potential water problems.

At its resolutions session on Thursday, the Conference adopted platform statements in several areas of concern to the member southern states.

These resolutions included an opposition statement to any actions by the federal government which would preempt the states in their regulation of surface waters; a resolution opposing any federal land-use legislation which would not allow the

TOPS

When Texas Tops 634 met Monday, June 10 in Community Center at 3:30 p. m. there were 10 members present.

The meeting began with the reciting of the Tops Pledge in unison. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the Tops Fellowship song was sung by the group.

Kathy Gatewood was named Queen of the Week.

DO protect your plants from pests. The average garden is crawling with creatures that feast on your flowers. You can control more than 120 different kinds by spraying Spectracide containing Diazinon, an all-purpose, non-persistent insecticide from Ciba-Geigy.

DON'T pick your posies in full bloom. Select a cutting just before it reaches its prime, and it will look lovelier longer.

DO mass colors rather than mixing them. A pretty garden should leave you an impression of soft-petaled harmony.

DON'T ignore these suggestions, and your garden can become a garland, wreathed in beauty!

The People Bomb Keeps On Ticking

The most heavily populated country in South America is Brazil; in North America, the United States; in Europe, Russia; and in Asia, China. ***

Of the ten biggest cities, five are in Asia: Shanghai, Tokyo, Peking, Bombay and Seoul. ***

Yet the country with the highest birth rate is in Africa: it's Swaziland, with 52 births annually per thousand persons. ***

The people of India increase about 12 million a year. This creates a demand for over 4 million new jobs annually; 2 1/2 million houses and 12,000 schools. ***

Even in the United States, experts estimate that only about one-third of pregnancies are desired by couples. ***

Yet never have women had so many good methods with which to plan their pregnancies. Some, like Delfen and Conceptrol, can even be obtained in drugstores without prescription. ***

The world now has 3.8 billion people. But unless births are better controlled, by the time today's baby reaches the age of 70, he will live in a world of 15 billion - and his grandchild will smash elbows with 60 billion.
